Minutes of the meeting of January 7th were read and were approved with the following correction with relation to the proposal of Northern Woodwork Company for window trims and windows for Municipal Skating Rink: "Motion was made by Alderman Baker seconded by Kinghorn and carried that the proposal of Northern Woodwork Company for frames only in the amount of $45.00 be accepted."

Mrs. Mary Shaw representing the Carnegie Library Board appeared before the Council and presented a communication showing the action of the said Library Board in increasing the salary of the Assistant Librarian from $50.00 to $60.00 per month and requesting the favorable action of the City Council in the matter. Motion was made by Alderman Myhrum, seconded by Christofferson and carried that the matter be laid over until the approval of the regular salary schedule.

H. A. Brumund, representing the heirs in the Anna Kretschmar Estate, appeared before the council and offered a settlement for Lots 19-22 of Block 54, Original Townsite, of $130 per lot and agreeing to pay the 1935 taxes on the four lots. A motion was made by Alderman Salveson that the matter as disposed of at the meeting of December 10th, 1935 be re-considered and that the same be laid over to the next meeting. The motion was seconded by Alderman Myhrum and carried.

Paul A. Lundgren, representing M. M. Kirsch, appeared before the Council and offered a settlement for Lots 19-20, Block 63, O. T. S. of $300.00 in full settlement of accumulated taxes against the said property. Motion was made by Alderman Christofferson, seconded by Myhrum and carried that the matter be referred to the Tax Committee of the Council. Mr. Lundgren also brought up the matter of establishment of legal residence of one Albert Zavoral who had for some time been living in Beltrami County; which county had served on the City and the Township of Norden a notice to determine the legal residence of said Albert Zavoral, Mr. Lundgren representing the Town of Norden. He suggested that the Township enter into agreement with the City that there is no legal responsibility on the part of Beltrami County and that the matter be settled between the City and the Township of Norden. A motion was made by Alderman Myhrum, seconded by Christofferson and carried that the City Attorney be instructed to contact the Beltrami County Relief Office and order the Zavoral family sent back to Thief River Falls. Mr. Lundgren also represented Mr. Mayer-Oakes of the City in the matter of the City paying hospital and medical bill of one Squire McMullen, father of Mrs. Mayer-Oakes who was injured on December 25th by being struck by a car driven by Omer Helland. A motion was made by Alderman Myhrum, seconded by Salveson and carried that the matter be referred to the Poor Committee.

A motion was made by Alderman Myhrum, seconded by Christofferson and carried that the City Attorney be instructed and directed to draft an ordinance requiring the licensing of taxi drivers within the City.

The City Clerk was instructed to cause notice to be published calling for proposals for official paper and depositories of public monies for the fiscal year 1936 bids to be opened on February 11, 1936.

Applications for public dance permits were presented by Campus Freshmen, dance to be conducted on February 11th and American Legion Auxiliary Drum Corps, dance to be given on January 24th. Motion was made by Alderman Myhrum, seconded by Christofferson and carried that the same be approved and granted.

Applications for licenses to sell milk and cream within the City were presented by Waldie Christenson, Hardy North Dairy and Anna L. Olson, the same being approved by the Dairy Inspector. Motion was made by Alderman Christofferson, seconded by Salveson and carried that issuance of license be approved.

Application was presented by Mrs. Mary Rafford requesting a reduction in the accumulated taxes against Lots 6 and 7, Block 11, Porter's Addition and offering to settle the same for the sum of $400.00. The matter was on motion referred to the Tax Committee of the Council.

On motion of Alderman Myhrum, seconded by Alderman Christofferson and duly carried the Bond of the City Clerk was fixed at $5,000.00 and the bond of City Treasurer at $2,000.00.

The following Committee appointments were announced by the President of the Council: Electric Light and Waterworks: H. W. Kinghorn, Chairman, Salveson and Myhrum; Municipal Buildings: S. Salveson, Chairman, Christofferson and Baker. Finance: C. Christofferson, Chairman, Kinghorn and Griebstein. License, Printing and Insurance: P. O. Myhrum, Chairman, Griebstein and Baker; Roads, Streets and Walks: Emil Griebstein, Chairman, Myhrum and Salveson. Taxes: John Baker, Chairman, Christofferson and Kinghorn; Poor: C. Christofferson, Chairman, Griebstein and Kinghorn.

Alderman Christofferson introduced a resolution approving for payment the sum of $414.00 to H. P. Land and Sons for excavation of ground on Rink site and moved the adoption of the resolution. Motion seconding the adoption was made by Alderman Salveson and the resolution was declared unanimously adopted.

Alderman Myhrum introduced a resolution approving for payment various current bills against the City and moved the adoption of the same. The motion was seconded by Alderman Baker and the resolution was declared duly adopted.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned to Friday, January 24th at eight o'clock P. M.

EMIL GRIEBSTEIN,
President of the Council.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

James Turnwall spent a few days the last of the week — with friends in Thief River Falls.

Henry Hansen was a business caller in Thief River Falls Monday.

Proteins Needed

Neither plants nor animals can live on carbohydrates alone. All but a few of the simplest organisms need foods that include nitrogen in their composition—the so-called proteins. There is an unlimited supply of nitrogen in the atmosphere. It comprises four-fifths of the air we breathe.

POULTRY

FOWL POX WEAKENS NEW LAYING CROPS

Disease May Strike at Any Time of Year.

Supplied by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.—WNU Service.

No matter how high poultry prices may go next fall and winter, the new crop of layers which farmers are now building up will never be profitable if fowl pox gains a foothold.

Outbreaks of fowl pox, if promptly diagnosed, may be suppressed by proper cleaning and disinfection of the premises and by destruction of all infected birds. If a large number of fowls are infected, destruction is not so practical a measure as sanitation coupled with vaccination.

While the disease may be more frequent during the coming fall and winter months, it may occur at any time of the year. Chickens and turkeys of all ages are susceptible to fowl pox, but the effects are more serious in young cockerels and pullets than in mature fowls. The death rate in young stock may be high in some outbreaks. Fowls that do recover often are stunted. In pullets that are laying and in older laying stock, the malady lowers production and in some cases stops it entirely.

All birds in the flock should be vaccinated if symptoms of the disease are detected or if there is danger of fowl pox being introduced into the flock. Either fowl pox or pigeon pox vaccine may be used, but pigeon pox vaccine is less effective. Its use is best limited to cases where a severe reaction may cut egg production or injure weak birds. Immunity to the disease lasts from six months to the life of the bird.

The best time for vaccinating flocks on infected premises is in late summer, at least two months before the birds begin to lay. Pullets that are to be vaccinated should be given sufficient time to recover completely from the effects of the handling and treatment before entering production.

Eggs for the Incubator Need Careful Attention

Eggs to be used in an incubator should be selected from healthy, vigorous hens that are good producers, says Prof. A. L. Romanoff of the department of poultry husbandry at Cornell university.

"Use eggs uniform in size, shape, and color and of good shell texture, because all of these qualities are transmitted to the new generation of chicks. Do not wash the eggs to be used in the incubator, as washing destroys the cuticle, an outside layer of the shell that keeps out harmful bacteria."

Professor Romanoff advises that eggs be kept only for a reasonable time before they are placed in the incubator. They should be protected from dust, dry or humid air, and extremely high or low temperatures. The wrong temperature may kill the developing chick even before incubation.

Peat Moss Found Useful

Known and used by thousands of farmers and dairymen as a sanitary and highly valuable bedding for animals, German peat moss is equally useful to the gardener and poultryman. It is pure vegetable, the best humus making material, and has high moisture retaining power. It also neutralizes acids resulting from artificial fertilizers. It is valuable as a summer mulch covering, to keep grass green and ideal for use in chick brooder houses and poultry runs, as it is noninflammable and prevents spread of vermin.

In the Poultry Yard

An egg a day does its bit toward keeping the doctor away.

Both disease and worms can better be controlled when hens are confined.

The demand for frozen poultry in England continues at satisfactory prices.

There are three chickens on farms for each person in the United States.

Infertile eggs, produced from flocks without males, are most satisfactory for preserving purposes.

Keeping only standard bred flocks for breeding is an important factor in determining egg size, shape and color.

It is an economic waste for farmers to rear a new flock of layers each year, disposing of the two-year-old hens because they will not produce enough eggs to pay their board.

The raising of a flock of geese is so simple that every farmer should avail himself of the opportunity. The expense is very small. The birds require very little care, either summer or winter.

Nationality of Columbus

Christopher Columbus' father was Domenico Colombo, a woolcomber and weaver, whose family had been Italians for generations. His mother was Susannah Fontanarossa, a native of the small Italian town of that name. Both were Roman Catholics. It has been claimed by some investigators that his mother had Jewish ancestry, also that the family had fled from Spain to Genoa because of the Jewish persecutions of the time. Evidence of this is unconvincing, as is the evidence of other claims that Columbus was born in Portugal and that the family (really Kholombian) came from Armenia.—Detroit News.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

South St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Supplies in the cattle division included about forty loads of Canadians, some of which were held from late last week. There was a slow undertone in the cattle trade, steers opening weak, she stock steady to weak, with later bids around 25c or more lower, many going into the afternoon before selling. Short fed and plainer grade native mixed and steer yearlings brought $6.00-8.00, good 1220 lb. beeves $9.25. Most warmed-up and shortfed heifers brought $4.75-6.75, some better kept $7.00-7.50. Beef cows bulked at $4.75-5.50, good grain fed natives up to $6.25. Cutter grades earned $3.50-4.50, sausage bulls mostly $5.25-5.75, fat beef bulls $5.85-6.25. Vealers were about 50c lower, desirable kinds $8.50-10.00, cull and common $4.50-6.50. Medium to good stocker yearlings and calves were noted at $5.50-7.00.

Hog trade was unevenly 15-25c higher, most early sales being on shipper account. Better 140-240 lb. weights brought $9.50-9.75, mostly $9.65 down late, well-finished 240-310 lb. $9.35-9.65, mostly $9.50 down on late rounds. Heavier weights sold down to $9.10 or less. Packing sows cashed at $8.50 to mostly $8.60, feeder pigs $9.50-9.75.

Fat lamb trade was slow to open, a few native sat $10.00 appearing weak to 25c lower, with bulk good to choice lambs held around $10.25 still unsold late. Common and medium natives were salable around $8.00-9.25. A few fat native ewes sold at $4.00-4.50, bulk of the fed ewes being held around $4.75 unsold. Native feeding lambs were salable at $8.50-9.50.

BRUNO HAUPTMANN IS GIVEN REPRIEVE BY N. J. GOVERNOR

Convicted Kidnaper Saved From Electric Chair by Late Action

Governor Harold G. Hoffman defended his reprieve of Bruno Hauptmann Friday with a statement defying impeachment proceedings, attacking the prosecution and expressing his own doubts that the condemned man was ever in the Lindbergh nursery.

Only a few hours before Hauptmann would have walked the six paces from his death cell to the electric chair but for the 30-day reprieve, the governor struck back sharply at critics of his mysterious activities in the case.

"I am worried", he said, "about the eagerness of some of our law enforcement agencies to bring about the death of this one man so that the books may be closed in the thought that another great crime mystery has been successfully solved."

One of these critics was the chief Hauptmann prosecutor himself, Attorney General David T. Wilentz.

Charley Retzlaff Lasts 85 Seconds With Louis

Charley Retzlaff, raw-boned North Dakota rancher, finished lying on his side, his glassy eyes staring at the lights, exactly one minute and 25 seconds after he raised his hands Friday night for his scheduled 15-round fight with Joe Louis in the Chicago stadium. Thus Louis, the ring's most murderous puncher since Jack Dempsey, scored his 23d knockout in 27 fights to the accompaniment of screams and cheers from 16,486 spectators.

Mahnomen Lumber Yard Is Destroyed by Fire

Mahnomen suffered the greatest fire loss in its history early Wednesday morning of last week, when flames destroyed the Wilcox Lumber Company Yards. The loss, which is covered by insurance, has been estimated to be $30,000. The only part of the yards which escaped the blaze was the north shed which contained shingles and other incidental lumber supplies. An insurance adjuster came Wednesday and made his report as "a total loss", and payment is expected to be made promptly on the policy which covered the buildings and contents.

CROOKSTON HARD PRESSED TO BEAT PLUMMER 18-15

The Crookston high school basketball team, playing on its own floor last Friday evening, was obliged to use its first-string players to squeeze out an 18 to 15 victory over the fast Plummer high school team. The same evening Crookston defeated East Grand Forks 30 to 21.

No 1936 Tax Levied for Plummer Village Needs

The village of Plummer is in the enviable position of having levied no taxes for village purposes for 1936, it was announced last week by Mayor Arthur H. Carlson following action taken by the village council January 6. The elimination of the tax levy for 1936 is made possible by the successful operation of the Plummer municipal liquor store, it was explained.

4-H ACTIVITIES WILL BE FEATURE OF VALLEY SHOWS

Silver Trophies Will be Presented to Livestock Exhibitors

Four-H club exhibits, contests and demonstrations will be featured throughout the week of the Red River Valley Winter Shows which will be held here February 3 to 7. Activities will open with livestock and crops judging contests for 4-H club members from all Northwestern Minnesota counties. Silver trophies and numerous other awards will be made to winning teams and highest ranking individuals at a special banquet which is being arranged for club members and coaches.

H. A. Pflughoeft, district club leader, will serve as general superintendent of the boys' and girls' 4-H club division. He will be assisted by C. C. Chase, Mahnomen county agent, who will have charge of the 4-H club livestock show. Attractive cash prizes are being offered to 4-H club exhibitors in the dairy, beef, calf, pig, sheep, poultry and farm crops divisions. Championship and reserve championship winners in the potato and corn club departments will be awarded free trips to the 1936 Minnesota State Fair through the courtesy of the State Agricultural society, R. A. Lee, secretary. Other free trips to the Northwest school short course will also be awarded.

Silver trophies will be presented to the exhibitors of the champion junior beef calf, junior sheep, junior pig, and to the 4-H club member ranking first in showmanship. These loving cups have been donated by the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, Minnesota Ninth District Bankers association, Red River Valley Livestock association, and Crookston Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

Cubs Down Rexalls to Tie for the Lead in Intermediate Hockey

Defeating the Rexall hockey team Monday evening by the close score of 2 to 1, the Cubs tied the former team for leadership in the intermediate league. Williams opened the scoring for the Rexalls in the first period, but Parbet tied the count a few minutes later. Moline soloed thru the Rexall team in the second period to give the Cubs a lead which they held thru a wild final period that was marked by erratic play and by several penalties for the Rexalls. The combination play of John and Kenneth Jaranson was most effective for the Rexalls, while the defensive play of Moline and Lund for the Cubs was outstanding.

Senior Hockey Six Loses to Grand Forks; to Play Crookston Here Sunday

The local hockey sextet lost a one-sided game to the fast Grand Forks Cavaliers last Sunday to the tune of 9-2. The locals managed to hold the Grand Forks outfit to 3-2 at the end of the first period. After that the Cavaliers displayed a fine brand of hockey and ran circles around the local team with an excellent passing attack. The locals expect to show improved form in a game here with Crookston next Sunday. The Thief River Falls squad won from the Crookston team 3-1 a few weeks ago and are out to more than duplicate that performance.

Independent Basketball Tilt Wednesday Canceled

The Roamer Girls, a traveling organization, who were scheduled to play the local independent basketball team last night cancelled the game, it was announced yesterday. Alvin Christopherson, manager of the independents, said that he is endeavoring to secure a game with the girls club when they return to this section of the country some time in February or March. The Red Lake Indians are furnishing opposition to the independents at Redby Saturday.

Checker Tournament to Commence Monday Night

The opening of the checker tournament announced last week, which was scheduled to start Wednesday evening at Al's Coffee Shop, has been postponed on account of the extremely cold weather until next Monday evening. Four pairs will play each night in the week except Saturday and Sunday, according to present plans. A dozen entries had been filed up to Wednesday.

Services Held Friday for Ole L. Flattum

Services were held Friday at the Erickson-and-Lund Funeral home for Ole L. Flattum who passed away Thursday at the home of his daughter Mrs. E. Overland. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiated at the service. The body was taken to Preston for final services and interment.

Mr. Flattum was born Oct. 14, 1852 in Ringerike, Norway coming to Highland Prairie in 1860 where in 1872 he married Mary Torgerud. In 1904 he took a homestead near here and later moved to this city where he lived until 1921. For the next four years he made his home in Northfield when he moved to Preston where he lived until Feb. 1935, coming back at that time to Thief River Falls where he had since lived.

Surviving are four daughters and three sons, Mrs. E. J. Overland, of this city; Mrs. O. A. Nepstad of Ferdig, Mont.; Mrs. Anton Nepstad of Grey Cliff, Mont. Mrs. C. P. Peterson of Minot, N. Dak. and Alred of this city; Clarence of Grey Cliff, Mont.; and Roy of Preston and one brother, Carl Flattum of California and fourteen grandchildren.

His wife and one daughter preceded him in death.

PRINCE OF WALES BECOMES KING OF ENGLAND TUESDAY

Succeeds King George V Who Passed Away Monday Evening

King George V of England, who last year celebrated with a silver jubilee the 25th anniversary of his accession to the throne in 1910, passed away Monday night following a brief illness at Sandringham House, 100 miles from London. He was 70 years old.

Bronchial catarrh was the cause of the king's death. The body was brought to London, where funeral rites will be conducted next Tuesday in Windsor castle. The body will lie in state in Westminster hall from today until the time of the funeral.

The Prince of Wales, 41, eldest son of King George, Tuesday took over the rule of the British empire of nearly 500,000,000 people. The formal coronation of the new king will not take place until after a nine-months period of mourning is ended. He bears the title Edward VIII, and is the first bachelor king of England in more than a century and a half.

Auto License Extension Not Granted to Date

Indications were today that the Minnesota legislature would adjourn Friday noon without taking action on a bill to extend the time for purchasing motor vehicle licenses without penalty. Under the present law the penalty applies February 16. Alex Campbell, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in this city, said today that up to the first of the week less han 500 sets of plates had been issued from the local office, well below the total for the corresponding period of last year.

Sever A. Rustebakke Rites Held Saturday

Funeral rites were held Saturday at the Trinity Lutheran church for Syver A. Rustebakke who passed away at his home January 22, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiating. Interment was made at Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Rustebakke was born Feb. 1, 1846 in Valders, Norway coming to Black Earth, Wis., in 1866. In 1880 he was married to Tillie Ellofson in Callender, Iowa. He moved to Cylinder, Iowa in 1898 where he lived until 1911 when he moved to a farm in the township of North. Eight years later he moved to this city where he has since lived.

Surviving him are his wife, three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Clara Brooten and Miss Selma Rustebakke both of this city and Mrs. Anna Parbet of Ridgedale, Sask.; Martin and Theodore both of Scoby, Mont.; and one brother Gilbert Rustebakke of Niagara, N. Dak and 11 grandchildren.

State Gas Tax Yields $12,884,000 for 1935

The oil inspection division of the state last week reported that 595,105,217 gallons of gasoline were shipped into Minnesota in 1935, compared with 548,403,920 gallons in 1934. Last year's tax was $12,884,580.57, compared with $12,150,372.03 in 1934. Of the 1935 tax, $11,241,028.12 went to the highway department and $1,643,552.43 was refunded. In 1934 the highway department got $10,845,376.65 and $1,304,995.38 was refunded.

Republicans Plan No Endorsing Convention

Minnesota republicans will hold no endorsing convention this year, the state executive committee and advisory council decided Friday in St. Paul.

Thomas M. McCabe, state chairman, said the sentiment of the group was six to one against holding such a convention. Committeemen contended there were too many potential candidates and too much chance of dangerous inner-party strife.

The committee decided, instead, to hold a convention to pick delegates for the national convention and adopt a state platform. McCabe will call the convention and select a date for it.

Communities in State Requested to Sponsor F. D. R. Birthday Balls

Calling upon Minnesota Communities to do their part in the nation-wide effort to raise another million dollars for the war against infantile paralysis, Oscar M. Sullivan, state representative of the National Committee on the Birthday Ball for the President, is urging all the local chairmen and others interested to outdo the state's record of the previous year. There were 170 birthday balls held last year, and it is hoped the 1936 list will exceed two hundred. Already committees have been named and plans made in 155 communities.

A complete report on the proceeds of the 1935 birthday ball and the disposition of the money, has just been made by Keith Morgan, treasurer of the National Committee. It shows that $1,071,000 was raised, which was $68,000 larger than the amount raised in 1934. The 70% share of the $1,071,000 retained by the local communities was expended in a wide variety of ways, but the chief beneficiaries were organizations doing direct and constructive work for children and youths crippled by infantile paralysis. According to the plan 30% of the proceeds went to the President's Birthday Ball Commission for Infantile Paralysis research. This sum was $241,000, of which $110,000 was allocated in grants to 10 institutions to assist research. All the officers and representatives of the national committee serve without compensation.

State headquarters for the birthday balls have been opened at 302 Hodgson Building, Minneapolis and the state representative and his co-workers are prepared to help the local communities with advice and assistance.

Hotel Crookston Suffers Damage in Fire Thursday

A blaze that broke out in the card room in the Hotel Crookston at 5:30 last Thursday morning, forced lightly clad guests to flee in 22-below-zero weather and caused damage estimated at $3,000. C. J. Wittbecker of Fergus Falls, prominent Ninth district Legionnaire, returned to his room to find that the flames had consumed the lower part of a pair of his trousers, but that the upper part, with $86 in the pockets, was still intact.

RED LAKE INDIAN AFFAIRS SUBJECT OF BEMIDJI MEET

High Rent Charged on Fisheries Property Major Grievance

Substitution of a drive to reduce the rent on the Red Lake fisheries property in place of the campaign by the Red Lake Indian Reservation to acquire control of the entire shore of the lake appeared likely after a meeting in Bemidji Thursday in which the Red Lake controversy was aired fully says the Bemidji Sentinel.

The discussion was held at a meeting of the board of Beltrami county commissioners attended by Fred Dennis of Detroit Lakes, attorney for the Red Lake band of Chippewas, Peter Graves, leader of the band, representatives of the Bemidji Civic and Commerce Association, local sportsmen and others.

During the discussion it developed that one of the major grievances of the Red Lake Indians is the high rent charged them for the state-owned fisheries property in which the Red Lake fishery is operated. When the commissioners and others present offered to lend every possible assistance in an effort to secure for the Indians a low rent and long term lease to the property the Indian representatives appeared agreeable to the suggestion that they drop their efforts to secure a mile wide strip of land around the north shore of Red Lake to be added to the present reservation area.

The opposition of the Bemidji association, the commissioners and local sportsmen to the acquisition of that strip of land by the Indians was reiterated and was not measurably changed by the discussions. The unfairness of the treatment accorded the Indians by the conservation department was recognized by all those present, however, and promises were given that every effort would be made to secure a reduction in the rent of the fisheries property.

Christmas Tree Waste Cut Thru Operation of 1935 Law, Says Conzet

The usual annual waste of Christmas trees through indiscriminate cutting was nearly eliminated as the result of the Christmas tree law passed by the 1935 legislature, according to a statement issued by Grover M. Conzet, director of forestry.

Preliminary estimates indicate that approximately 1,800,000 Christmas trees were cut in Minnesota in 1935. Of this number approximately 1,200,000 were exported to other states and 600,000 were used in Minnesota; 450,000 trees were subject to the tax imposed by the Christmas tree law, while 150,000 trees, used by municipalities, were tax exempt.

The Christmas tree law, passed by the 1935 Legislature, required all trees cut or sold in Minnesota to bear official evergreen tree tags.

DOUBLES MONEY AT LOW INTEREST

Eveleth—Some people don't believe in putting their money out at bank interest rates, and are always looking for "quick money". An interesting bit of information relative to a depositor's faith in his home-town bank and the growth of a savings account through the semi-annual addition of interest payments is revealed by J. R. Schuknecht, cashier of the Miners National Bank at Eveleth. One of the bank's customers opened an account on September 18, 1911, with a deposit of $187, and from that time until April 25, 1915 interest and additional deposits brought the account to $1690.89. Since the latter date no deposits or withdrawals have been made, but the interest payments have accrued to the extent that on December 31, 1935, the account had reached a total of $[illegible].

Upton Close, Far East Authority, to Speak at Valley Winter Shows

Upton Close, one of the leading authorities on far eastern problems, an American explorer whose life has been packed with thrilling experiences during his travels throughout China, Manchuria, Japan, Russia and India, will address the mass meeting Wednesday evening, February 5, in the Crookston Armory during the forthcoming Red River Valley Winter Shows. There is no knowledge more needed by western people today than a concrete conception of Japan. What is Japan? Who are the Japanese? What are her aims and aspirations. Upton Close is recognized as one of the many forceful platform speakers of the day. His address "The World Parade and Our Place In It" will stand out as one of the most impressive addresses ever delivered before a Winter Shows audience.

Twin City Market Week to Offer Selling Aids Week of February 3-8

Aids to merchandise selling through retail advertising and show card window displays will be one of the main topics to be discussed at clinics to be conducted during Twin City Market Week, Feb. 3 to 8 when thousands of merchants from all parts of the northwest gather in Minneapolis and St. Paul for the semi-annual buying event.

The clinics will be addressed by leading advertising and display men of the Twin Cities, according to arrangements made by A. C. Gasser of the Minneapolis Civic & Commerce association and M. B. Lathrop of the St. Paul Association of Commerce.

C. S. Arnquist of New Richmond, Wis., president of the National Merchants association, and William Coulter of St. Paul, executive secretary, have arranged for the appearance of Dr. Glenn Frank as chief speaker at the association's annual banquet held in conjunction with market week for all visiting merchants.

Dr. Frank is president of the University of Wisconsin and one of the recognized authorities in the field of education, merchandising and general problems of the retailer.

Another nationally known speaker will be Congressman Wright Patman of Texas, who will address merchants attending the convention of the Northwest Shoe Retailers association at the Radisson hotel.

STRIKE THREAT ON W. P. A. PROJECTS WOULD END WORK

Christgau Declares W. P. A. Rules Make Demands Impossible

In reply to threats of a Minneapolis labor group to organize a state-wide strike among WPA workers unless another increase in wages is granted common labor, Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, today stated limited federal funds allotted the Minnesota work relief program make the demands impossible and any project where a strike is called will be closed down immediately.

"It is common knowledge," Mr. Christgau said, "that the limitations on our funds do not even permit us to employ all of the people on relief who are eligible for WPA employment. Our job now is to try to get more funds with which to employ these people, not to give higher wages to those already on the payrolls."

He said that all wage scales previously had been increased 10 per cent and that the 30-hour week, as requested by state labor organizations, had been adopted early in the program. The prevailing wage for skilled and semi-skilled manual workers was put into effect in the metropolitan areas recently after an agreement with building and trade associations that the work relief agency would be relieved of its guarantee of continuity of employment for this group.

"At the time these increases were made," Mr. Christgau stated, "the accredited labor organizations agreed that the rates should last for the duration of the program."

"Congress passed the emergency relief appropriation," he said, "with a view of providing work for 3,500,000 unemployed. The available funds will take care of no more. Congress is now in session and any changes in the present set-up of the work program, as I see it, must be initiated through that body."

He added that he anticipated no strikes among workers, pointing out that although WPA funds are limited, state funds for direct relief are even more curtailed and halting WPA projects in any part of the state may result in hardships to strikers and their families.

Farm Income of State $28,000,000 Over 1934, Says U Farm Economist

Minnesota's net cash income for 1935 was about $28,000,000 higher than in 1934, according to an estimate prepared by Dr. Warren C. Waite of the division of agricultural economics at University Farm, St. Paul.

"Present indications are that the gross cash income from the sale of the 16 principal Minnesota agricultural products in 1935 will be about 236 million dollars," says Dr. Waite. "To this should be added 20 million dollars in benefit payments received through the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, making a total of 256 million dollars for sales. This is an increase of 36 million dollars over the estimated gross cash income for 1934.

"Cash expenses for farm operation, which include taxes and interest, appear to have been about 132 million dollars. The net cash income from farm operation thus appears to have been about 104 million dollars, which with the benefit payments makes a total of 124 million dollars of net increase from farm operation and benefit payments. This is 28 million dollars above net income in 1934."

The 16 principal agricultural products included in Dr. Waite's list were butterfat, hogs, cattle, wheat, eggs, milk, corn, flax, oats, barley, potatoes, calves, chickens, hay, rye, and lambs-sheep. Included in his list of cash expenses were 20 such items as taxes, interest on debts, hired labor, veterinary fees, threshing bills, fertilizer, repairs to buildings and machinery, and similar costs.

Dr. Waite estimates that the state's net cash income per farm for 1935, including AAA payments, was $600, as compared with $87 in 1932, $231 in 1933, and $537 in 1934. For the 6 years, 1925 to 1929 inclusive, the average figure was well over $1,000.

TOO FAST FOR BUNNY CATCHES RABBIT'S TAIL

Benson.—The jackrabbit has always been emblematic of speed and the cottontail is not exactly slow, but one Bensonite showed a burst of speed New Year's Day that was too much for even a rabbit. Wm. Gustafson started the New Year right by taking his trusty gun on a stroll through the fields to pot a few rabbits. One smart cottontail hid in the brush, but for the eagle-eyed William the tip of the rabbit's tail sticking up out of the brush was tell-tale evidence. He made one headlong dive for the tail and came up with the rabbit. And now the cottontail has joined Mr. Gustafson's colony of tame rabbits and is no longer free to roam the weeds or hide in the brush.

HARRISON FORMS SPECIAL CLASS IN AGRICULTURE

Instructor Will Teach a Small Group of Non-Students

A new Agricultural class, under the supervision of Mr. Harrison, has been formed recently. This has been done to allow men and boys from the ages of sixteen to twenty-five who don't have access to high school, an opportunity to study agriculture in addition to shop and gymnasium work. The classes, which are to run for five weeks, meet from eleven to twelve A. M. and from one to two P. M. on Mondays and Wednesdays. At the present time, fourteen boys are enrolled. They are to start the term in the study of spelling, arithmetic, civil government, and agriculture. Mr. Harrison has as assistants Mr. Pope, who instructs the boys in woodwork, and Mr. Chalmers, who supervises gymnasium work.

A moving picture or film machine has been set up in the agricultural department in order to provide a visual education for the students. One demonstration is given each week.

All of the men and boys participating in the agriculture classes seem to enjoy working. Mr. Harrison is to be complimented on his work.

T. R. F. TO MEET EAST GRAND ON FRIDAY EVENING

Coach Lee Expects Team to be in Top Form for Game

Tomorrow evening the Prowlers travel to East Grand Forks, where they meet the strong Little Green Wave.

The Wave boasts an exceptionally strong aggregation with victories over Bemidji and Crookston.

In co-captains Kimblin and Peterson, Coach Reed has a strong defensive guard and a high scoring forward. In addition to these two, Reed has as starters, three lettermen, Rockwood, a forward; Sundeen a center; and Sorenson, a guard. Although the Wave has been defeated twice—once by Cass Lake and once by Crookston—both these set backs were on their opponent's floors. On their own floor they have run up top heavy scores on all opponents.

The Prowlers will be out to get a second victory in two starts over district opponents. At present they are on top with one victory and no defeats.

All other district contenders have lost at least one game. Coach Lee expects to have his five at full strength for this game and will probably start Bud Nelson and Ade Lorentson at forwards, Captain Mickelson at center, and Art Nelson and Jung or Nesse at guards. Besides these six, those making the trip will probably be Adkins, Don Lorentson and Olson.

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

We bet Alice P. was plenty tired the past week. Especially with Vernn W. over every night. Ain't love grand?

Likenesses: Bemidji's coach and Irvin S. Cobb.

Add new couples: Bob W. and Hattie G. (Seems to run in the Gustafson family!) Also Lucille H. and Don H. (Leap year isn't so bad, huh?) Also Marion D. and James P.

And did Dorothy J. and Eileen R. have a perfectly swell time at Warren, Sunday!

All you tall girls in high school must have felt pretty small when you saw that seven foot girl at the B. B. game Wednesday.

And is Peggy P. ever thrilled when Bill H. calls her up!

And Ray P. and Mae A. are going strong.

Dota N. still seems to have a longing for that certain Ed. S.

PEP SQUAD TO APPEAR AT GAMES

Newly Organized Pep Squad Now Completing Uniforms

Miss Ines Lunder's newly organized pep squad, which has participated in several pep fests this season, will soon make its initial appearance, on the basketball floor. Last year a group of Lincoln High School girls, under the direction of Miss Fletcher and Miss Lunder, appeared in uniforms on the auditorium floor between the halves of a basketball game. This squad performed a group of maneuvers, sang school songs, and presented new yells. Witnessing the District tournament, students of neighboring towns became interested in the same type of school spirit. This year practically all schools in this section of the state present a pep squad.

The pep squad of Lincoln High School was late in becoming organized this year, due to the fact that many of the students were active in other activities. The girls of the squad hope to have their outfits ready for the remaining games of the season. —Miss Lunder does not want the exact design of the outfits known, but she said that the outfits would be more elaborate and more costly than those of last season.

The following is an incomplete list of the members of the squad: Brunell Erickson, Lorraine Baken, Helen Anderson, Margaret Paupst, Ariel Riedy, Elizabeth Dahlen, Margaret Jacobson, Margaret McKechnie, Fae Belcher, Lois Nelson, Helen Granum and Violet Anderson. Some members have not signed up as yet. Miss Lunder announces that other girls interested in becoming members should see her immediately.

Cormorant Fishing at Night

In Japan cormorant fishing is done usually at night. Torches are lit, and as the fish, attracted by the light, gather around the boats or rafts, the birds are let into the water. This method of fishing also saves bait, for in daylight fishing with cormorants it is necessary to attract schools of fish by pouring a large amount of bait around each boat.

STUDENTS HOLD FIRST PEP FEST OF YEAR FRIDAY

Martha Storholm Presides; Grade Children Give Short Skit

The first pep-fest in 1936 and the last one of the first semester was held Friday morning, January 17. The pep fest was held as a prevue to the basketball game played between the Prowlers and Bemidji.

Martha Storholm acted as Mistress of Ceremonies. As usual, the pep-fest opened with the students singing the school song, which was played by Robert Douville and directed by Freddie Kavanaugh, president of the freshman class. Following the school song, six little boys from the Washington School trouped on the stage. They represented Coach Lee and his boys. One by one, they were introduced to the student body. "Coach Lee", Freddie Orwoll, said that he was going to bring his family to the game and urged us to bring ours. He promised that "his boys" would do their best to outplay the Bemidji Lumberjacks. "Mickey", Connie Gefton, who was presented next, assured us that he would try to lead the boys to victory. "Art Nelson", Marvin Stephenson, admitted that he "felt like a feather in the breeze". Although the outcome was uncertain, he and the rest of the boys would do their best. "Don Olson", Homer Matheson, announced that if he could play as well as he could act, there would be a good game. "Ade Lorentson", Donald Waage, reminded us that he and the other boys would keep the ball going "round and round" and would do their best to down Bemidji. "Milton Nesse", Luther Fjelstad, urged us to come to see the game and promised that it would be a good one. "Roy Lee", Billy Bye, said, "I may be small, but it's quality that counts. If Coach puts me in tonight, I'll do my best."

Then the pep squad sang a little ditty, explaining that the Lincoln High basketeers would undoubtedly conquer Bemidji. The tune was sung to the tune of the popular "The Music Goes Around and Around!"

Coach Lee, this time the real coach, gave us a little talk about the game, promising that it would be a close one, that Bemidji had a tough team, and that he would be satisfied if we lost by no more than ten points.

After witnessing the game, it is to be expected that Coach Lee was satisfied. Lois Engen and Edna Lee led many yells throughout the pep-fest. Robert Wessling led the final cheer for the Prowlers.

LIBRARY NOTES

Miss Leavitt has subscribed for the "Abridged Readers' Guide" which is a filing index for magazines. This corresponds to the one in the Public Library but is smaller, having twenty-three magazines indexed. Our library subscribes to thirteen of these magazines. Some new magazines in our library are the following: Readers' Digest, Current History, Scholastic, News-Week, Good Housekeeping, Hygeia, Nature Magazine, Popular Mechanics, and Popular Science.

The magazine rack has been remodeled, making the pockets deeper. Every magazine has been assigned a definite place in the rack.

All the magazines that are indexed in the Readers' Guide are being put on file. Some of them will be bound later.

The high school students are encouraged to use the magazines and the Readers' Guide. It is an important part of high school training to have such practice. Anyone who goes to college will find such knowledge useful. If you don't go to college, such training helps you to use the public library.

GYM GEMS

Another tournament is going to be played in class—this time it's Captain-ball. On Tuesdays and Wednesdays of each week the following gals and their teams will play—on Tuesday, 4th period—Anna Hanson and Bernadette Mulry; 5th period—Hettie Gustafson and Lois Morell; 6th period—Florence Hanson and Bernice Vigness; on Wednesday, 4th period—Katherine Jacobson and Ruby Gunderson; 5th period—Violet Langevin and Adeline Lorentson; 6th period—Margaret Miller and June Yatesund.

These gals and their teams will battle it out for a-day-a week for a month. The teams that score highest will play each other. And of course—there will be a reward. We'll have to see what it is, huh? We'll wait and see!

The color tournament is going full-blast with the Black team beating the yellow 22-2 and the Purple beating pink 14-6. And more games are coming up!

Maids From France to Louisiana

There were a number of young women sent to Louisiana in 1728 from France. Each of them had been given by the government a casket containing wearing apparel, from which they were called filles a la cassette, or casket girls. Other girls sent to the colony had been taken from houses of correction. It became at length a point of honor to be descended from the former and not from "correction girls."

"IF"

During 1935, Thief River Falls had only fifty-nine fires, accounting for less than ten thousand dollars damage. An enviable record you may say, and rightly. But, what would be the damage done if one of these fifty-nine were in a public school building, the High School for example? It would burn like tinder!

While on the subject, suppose it started during school hours! With 600 students, the three doors and the zero quantity of fire-escapes would never hold the traffic; Disorder and panic would reign, instead of the levelheadedness they tell us is essential during such occasional But, backed up with no training and no drills, formality would be cast aside and the first door sought! The result is unthinkable!

In the lower grades, we used to be subjected to frequent fire drills—simple, but thorough. But, since entrance to high school, we have had none. For four years we have had no fire drills. We just pass it off as something that can't happen. Yet it happens every day.

Our high school should have regular fire drills as a substitute for the panic which would dominate in case of fire. The building itself could use a few fire escapes located at strategic points!

With fire escapes and regular fire-drills, Lincoln High School would be a much safer place to polish our ABC's!

The Dramatic Declamation Contest will be held next Monday evening at seven-thirty o'clock. The contestants and their selections are as follows: Barbara Keep, "Prince of Illusion"; Evelyn Furuseth, "Cataracts"; Lorraine Lecholt, "Phantom Aeroplane"; Lorraine Baken, "Greater Love Hath No Man"; Violet Langevin, "Within the Law"; Ragna Folkedahl, "Mavericks"; Violet Anderson, "Blessed Damosel"; and Edna Swanson, "Lady With a Lamp".

Celeste Crown will play a piano solo.

ETIQUETTE

The ideal teacher is probably a person found only in the imagination, as far as some students are concerned. Of course there are others who think the ideal teacher is no teacher whatever. The following are items more or less agreed upon by the majority of the students as essential in the ideal teacher:

1. A teacher who explains, without an indifferent attitude, difficult points to those students who do not immediately understand the work presented is liked by all students.

2. Another desirous characteristic of the ideal teacher is one who makes the class period as interesting as possible, not the same routine over and over again.

3. Many students are won over by a teacher who is neat in appearance, one of whom they may be proud.

4. Students do not wish to be treated as children when they have reached the high school age and appreciate a teacher who treats them as an elder and not as his or her inferior.

5. A teacher who is kind-hearted and does not become disgusted at the least mistake made is one whom the students will remember as "one swell person".

6. A sparkling personality will have an inclination to make the students look forward to that class—not to dread it.

7. And, also, a teacher who neglects to recognize her pupils outside of school is not liked by anyone.

8. Finally, a teacher who shows favoritism is disliked by all, even those whom she or he favors.

The preceding article is not meant as an offense to teachers but just to indicate those points especially desired by the majority of the students.

BEMIDJI DEFEATS PROWLERS 35-29 IN CLOSE GAME

Prowler "B" Squad Victors in Preliminary Game With Alvarado Quintet

Friday night the Prowlers met their first defeat of the season on the home floor at the hands of a very strong Bemidji team. The final score was 35 to 29.

Jung made the first two points of the game, putting the Prowlers in the lead, but Bemidji immediately tied the score with two free throws. Then they barged ahead two points when Johnson put in a field goal. The two teams alternated baskets until the score at the end of the first quarter was 10 to 9 in favor of the visitors.

Mickelson gave the Prowlers a one point lead early in the second quarter, when he was credited with a field goal. Then both teams made a free throw and McCormick of Bemidji followed with a basket, putting Bemidji ahead. Here, the locals took time out. After the one minute rest period, Johnson made four more points for the visitors and Nesse brought the tally a little closer when he accounted for a field goal. However, Bemidji broke loose again and the first half ended the Prowlers on the short end of the score, 18 to 14.

The third quarter was both disastrous and encouraging for the Prowlers. It was disastrous when both Mickelson and Art Nelson went out of the game on personal fouls, and encouraging when Nesse, Bud Nelson, and Jung each made two points while Bemidji only made two points in the whole third quarter. This tied the score at 20 to 20 at the end of the third period.

In the last period Bemidji started somewhat of a rally that the Prowlers were unable to hold down which all led up to the final score, 35 to 29.

Even though the Prowlers were defeated, they deserve no end of praise for putting up a splendid fight against a team that last year competed in the state tournament.

The Prowler "B" team came out victors in the preliminary game against Alvarado by a score of 33 to 12.

The box score of the Bemidji game is below:

Bemidji	FG	FT	PF
Galloway	2	2	3
Johnson	5	3	0
Slasson	1	0	1
McCormick	1	4	4
Total	13	9	9
Prowlers
Mickelson	2	1	4
Bud Nelson	1	3	0
A. Lorentson	1	1	0
V. Jung	2	1	1
Art Nelson	1	0	4
Nesse	2	0	3
Olson	2	1	1
D. Lorentson	0	0	0
Total	11	7	13

The Progress staff joins the students of Lincoln High School in extending congratulations to Miss Tandberg.

AMONG THE 600

Miss Agnes Tandberg, English III instructor in Lincoln High School, won honorable mention in a nation-wide School Arts Travel Bureau contest sponsored by the "School Arts" magazine, which is published at Worcester, Massachusetts.

Miss Tandberg's article, which consisted of approximately 800 words, was based on her trip to Panama. Her article was illustrated with a photo of the woven goods of the San Blas Indians of Panama. Results of the contest were published in the January issue of the School Arts Magazine.

BAND WORKS ON NEW SELECTIONS

Orwoll Praises New Type of Musical Literature

The high school band has been working on a collection of works that will make dignified and interesting program material. It gives the members an introduction to fine musical literature that will inspire young players to a serious study of works of this kind in the larger forms, as their musical capacity and technical ability increase

Some of the numbers are "Triumphal March" from "Aida"; "Country Gardens"; "Themes" from "Mignon"; "Andante" from "Surprise Symphony", and "Elves Dance" from "The Nut Cracker Suite" by Tschaikowsky.

SHOP NEWS

The shop facilities are now being used by the agriculture short course boys as a part of their training. This work was begun on Wednesday, January 15. The first instruction unit was on soldering and fluxes. About fourteen farm boys were present at the opening of the course.

The shop will acquire, within a short time, a new machine called a routershaper. This machine, which runs at a speed of eighteen thousand revolutions per minute, is capable of doing many different kinds of work, including veining, molding, routing, shaping and rabbiting. It will be a very valuable addition to the woodworking equipment of the industrial department.

The members of the Shop I drawing class concluded their course of study with an examination in the assembly on January 17.

The eighth-grade shop students, under the direction of Mr. Johnson, have been engaged in the making of game-boards.

NORMAL TRAINING NEWS

The students are mounting standard pictures in art.

Charlotte Roberts and Corlan Dokken returned to school after a few day's absence due to illness.

LOCAL CAGERS BEAT GREENBUSH BY 29 TO 22 SCORE

Prowler Second Team Wins Over Newfolden Five in Preliminary Game

The Greenbush quintet nearly staged an upset on the Prowlers Tuesday night when they held them down to a five point lead at the end of the game.

The locals seemed to have their scoring ability in the first half, at the end of which period the score looked some-what as it should, standing at 22 to 7 in favor of the Gold and Blue! However, in the second half, Greenbush had its scoring spree, making a total of seventeen points to the locals' seven. This brought the final score to 29 to 24 with the Prowler basketeers on top.

Ade Lorentson was high point man for the Prowlers, making five field goals and two free throws for a total of twelve points. Mickelson was next with eight points, while Bialki was high for Greenbush, having twelve points to his credit.

The Prowlers seemed to be "off their horse" in this game, but they will be back in their old form again when they play East Grand Forks tomorrow night on the latter's floor.

The Prowler "B's" defeated Newfolden in the preliminary game by a score of 29 to 26.

Below is the box score for the Greenbush game;

TOMATOES give that TOUCH

THE soul of a salad was said by a French chef to be a touch of garlic, but the true salad lover knows that tomatoes contribute a touch to them, either as the main part or as an ingredient of the dressing, which can be obtained in no other way. Take, for instance, hearts of lettuce with this Thousand Island Dressing: Mix together one cup mayonnaise, three tablespoons canned tomato paste, one tablespoon chopped green pepper and ten chopped stuffed olives.

It is the tomato in this combination that gives it its individual taste.

In the following pear and tomato salad, too, the tomatoes give the dish a distinct and delicious flavor which it would not have without them.

Pear and Tomato Salad: Slice ripe, chilled tomatoes, and lay one slice in each of eight individual nests of lettuce. Place half a pear from a No. 2 can on top of each, cut side up. Mix one cream cheese with three tablespoons chili sauce, and pile in the pear cavities. Garnish with strips of canned pimiento, and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing. Serves eight.

Makes Mold Delicious

Meat and Cucumber Mold: Soften one tablespoon gelatin in two tablespoons water and dissolve in one cup of boiling canned tomato juice. Add one teaspoon lemon juice and salt and pepper to taste. When cool and beginning to thicken, add one-half cup mayonnaise, two cups finely cut meat, one cup diced cucumbers and two tablespoons chopped pickle relish. The meat may be one cup ham plus one cup chicken (or contents of a 6-ounce can chicken) or equal quantities of chicken and veal, ham and veal or any such combination. Pour into wet oblong mold and chill. Turn out onto platter and garnish as desired Serve in slices. Serves eight.*

Dead Leaves Decompose, Make Good Top-Dressing

Leaves ferment with a very gentle heat, and provide a mild top-dressing fertilizer, which does not coax tree roots to the surface, as might other soil-enriching substances. But they do keep the soil in sufficiently good tilth, to encourage seed germination and the growth of young trees. And let us not forget, says a writer in the Montreal Herald, that they have done good work! Every leaf has played its part in producing timber growth! From air, sun, rain and wind it has gathered wood making, as well as tree-breathing material.

Along tiny channels not to be seen by the naked eye, it passes its garnered matter through its stem to a supporting twig which sends it along from branch to branch, and from branch to tree-trunk, in the process of combining with the products of other leaves, and canals, to be digested and transformed into sapwood, enriching the trunk ring by ring. Next year, the succeeding ring will enclose this year's growth, by its embracing pressure, hardening it, and adding to the circumference of the trunk, which is the final purpose of the living existence of every single leaf that lives its useful life between winter and winter.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

In 1879 when Frank Russel was living at Squaw Point and the Thief River Falls neighborhood was a raw frontier candles were commonly used for lighting here. There were two principal reasons. Candles could be transported more conveniently and they could be made of tallow at home. Moreover kerosene was new and costly and many persons of middle age accustomed to candles and whale oil looked askance on the new "coal oil".

In the late fifties candles were made of sperm (sperm whale) oil and tallow candles were also common. Sperm candles sold in St. Paul for 60 cents a pound and cheaper kinds for 38 cents a pound.

In the east sperm oil and other fluids were used in lamps but candles apparently the most common and convenient. Camphene and other "burning", or lighting fluids were sold in St. Anthony, now Minneapolis, but these fluids were not considered as safe as candles. The St.Paul Pioneer carried the following announcement Nov. 2, 1860:

"To those who have become disgusted with star and tallow candles(and who has not) and are no longer willing to risk the lives of their children by using fluids, we would say. . . . that the best article for illuminating that has ever been brought to the city. . . kerosene."

Imagine kerosene being a novelty! Yet the first petroleum well was not "brought in", at Titusville, Pa.,until a few years before. One druggist bought five gallons of kerosene and five lamps from a Chicago agent who travelled to St. Paul by stage. He sold one gallon of kerosene for $1.40 and a remarkable lamp for the same price. We find that coal oil,or kerosene, had been advertised in St Paul as early as Dec. 15, 1859. A reported analysis of the values of burning fluids showed that sperm oil, lard oil and whale oil (evidently another kind) burned 60, 61, and 65 hours respectively, while a gallon of Breckinridge oil burned 170 hours. It was explained that coal oil would not explode or congeal and that a lamp with a small wick gave light equal to that of six sperm candles.

But a more unusual fact is that gas was used for illumination in St. Paul as early as1857. St. Paul's "Great White Way", lighted by manufactured gas, was officially opened Sept. 19, 1857. Private plants also were installed but citizens of St. Paul were urged to patronize the municipal gas plant, which was one of the states first public utilities.

Of course gas did not become common in the country, although some villages had gas lighting systems. In most cases the equipment provided for generation of the gas in the lamps. Kerosene lights soon became common. The cost was greatly reduced and the price was within reach of the most humble pioneers. Kerosene was used almost exclusively on the farms—until electricty came into use. Today electricity is used almost exclusively for lighting in most cities and villages while kerosene is most common on farms.

It is strange that while kerosene was already in common use in homes whale oil still was used for lanterns. These lanterns did not have glass chimneys, the flame being protected by a covering of tin with a glass door on one side and the covering on the opposite side perforated with star and diamond shaped holes. At the time there was some speculation about the possibility of the supply of whale oil being exhausted by the killing of all the whales!

It is also strange that no greater strides in lighting equipment in which kerosene was used were not made in the long period from the fifties to the time when gas and electricity became relatively common, the latter only about a quarter of a century ago. We know that lamps that generated gas from gasoline and kerosene were used as early as fifty years ago. Today many farm homes that do not have electricity do have a "parlor" gas lamp. But the majority of the kerosene lamps offered for sale are much like those of at least thirty years ago and the lanterns have not changed materially.

In this section "high line" electric service and individual plants are in use. While most of the homes in the country are lighted by kerosene lamps there are many houses brightly lighted by electricity. The cost of electric lighting has been reduced considerably in recent years but it is still many times more costly than kerosene.

Flash lights help out greatly now and it is probable that much night work such as repairing and performing minor chores could not be nearly as well and quickly done without them. When we are limited to small kerosene lamps and lanterns we realize that the pioneers were greatly handicapped at night, even after the introduction of kerosene. Before the situation was intolerable from our viewpoint.

Gas Not Out in London; Used in Homes, Streets

When electricity became an illuminant through the invention of the incandescent filament, many imagined that all the gas concerns in the country would become bankrupt. They proved false prophets, says Tit-Bits Magazine. Not only has the use of gas for heating and domestic cooking increased beyond computation, but the enormous improvement in gas-light during the last 40 years has made it a rival of the newer electric light.

For example, by far the greater number both of houses and streets in London are gas lit. In Westminster alone, the pioneer city of gas, where the headquarters of the Gas Light and Coke company still are situated, 55 miles of streets are gas-lit, and in the London area there are no fewer than 14,000 factories similarly illuminated.

But gas revenue does not depend wholly, or perhaps mainly, on the familiar gas bill, for not only is coke produced and used for more than formerly, but also 2,000 by-products of immense value and utility. For instance, they form the base in dyes, antiseptics, flavoring essences, scents, aspirin, creosote, motor spirit, carbolic acid, synthetic resins, and even mothballs, whilst the tar is used wherever road-making is in progress or road repairs have to be done.

Old Man Earth

Instead of being a mere infant of 1,500,000,000,00 years, as science has long believed it to be, the earth, Prof. F. A. Paneth tells us, has existed for approximately 3,000,000,000,00 years, notes a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine. He has gathered this information by patient analysis of meteorites. These, he believes, are infinitely more reliable indexes of the earth's age than rocks, since not only are the earth's oldest rocks hidden deep in its interior, but the helium present in them, by which age is determined, does not remain unchanged through millions of years as it does in a meteorite. The relationship of meteorites to the earth is established by the scientific theory that all meteorites have issued from an exploded planet, which parted company with a central solar body at the same time as the earth. Therefore, their ages will be identical.

U. S. and Canada Co-operate

As an aid in the effective enforcement of customs, immigration, and other regulations, the Dominion government has reserved from sale a strip of land 60 feet wide along the Canadian side of the Yukon-Alaska section of the International boundary. On the Alaska side of the boundary, the United States government has reserved a strip of the same width through its public lands. The Yukon-Alaska boundary is 740 miles long.

Tests Reveal Serious Seed Wheat Situation, "U" Farm Worker Says

Germination tests running as low as 35 per cent on some samples of 1935 wheat tested at University Farm, indicate that the seed wheat situation for next spring is one of the most serious that Minnesota farmers have ever had to face. This is particularly true because very little old wheat is available.

Dr. E. R. Ausemus, University Farm, has conducted extensive germination trials on 1935 wheat for the Minnesota experiment station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Samples of hard red spring wheats, of bushel weights ranging from 52.5 to 62 pounds, were tested. Germination results varied from 35 to 92 per cent. It was concluded that the heaviness of wheat has little or no relation to its germination. However, since about 20 per cent of all samples tested showed low germination, regardless of bushel weight, farmers are advised not to plant any wheat next spring without having it carefully tested.

There was a close relation between heavy seed and seedling vigor, says Dr. Ausemus. Heavier wheats produced much more vigorous seedlings that would be better able to withstand adverse weather conditions, poor seed bed preparation, spring freezes, or other hazards. Therefore, farmers should use the heaviest seed of good germination that they can obtain. Seed weighing 60 pounds or more per bushel is recommended. When light weight wheat must be used for seed, thorough cleaning and fanning to get rid of a large percentage of the lighter kernels will improve the stand. There is evidence, also, that treating seed properly with an organic mercury dust is likely to improve stands by killing fungi in or on the seed.

ERIE

Saturday afternoon, January 18, Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Prestegaard, pioneer settlers of Star township, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at their home. An inspiring and impressive talk was given by Rev. O. O. Bjorgan and the singing of a few hymns after which the honor guests were presented with a purse of money from their friends. Lunch was served. Ethel Parnow, Stella Shosten, Alice Dahlen and Celaine Prestegaard, acting as waitresses. Present were Rev. and Mrs. O. O. Bjorgan, Mr. and Mrs. A. There is romance in every life, if we had but the eyes to see it and the heart to understand.

SANDERS

Bill Wilde of Thief River Falls was a business caller at the Anton Larsen and George Swanson homes on Thursday.—Anton Larsen returned home Saturday from St. Paul where he spent a couple days. He made the trip with Bredeson from Thief River Falls who took a truck load of cattle there. —Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koop entertained a number of friends on Saturday evening for supper in honor of their daughter Mable who celebrated her birthday that day.

Peculiarities of Children

Girls suck their thumbs more than boys and 50 per cent of adolescents bite their nails, according to a scientist, who also noted that jealousies, fears and sensitivenesses do not appear in the average child until the age of four or five years.

Dead Weight

Dead weight is pressure produced by an inert body supported in a state of rest by anything. It is used literally and figuratively.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Oseid and daughter, Betty Jean, will leave Monday for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will remain for six weeks. Enroute they will visit Mrs. Oseid's brother at Las Vegas, Nev.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kelly and Leslie L. Hall motored to Minneapolis Sunday where they will attend a four-day hardwaremen's convention. While there Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will also visit with their daughter, Miss Violet, who is attending school.

Avoid Fresh Rabbit's Foot for Luck; It May Result in Tularemia

When daddy goes a hunting for a rabbit skin to "wrap his baby bunting in" he is running the risk of contracting tularemia. Winter hunters are especially warned by members of the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association, today, therefore, to take special precautionary measures against it.

Extensive studies made at the University of Minnesota have shown that tularemia is widespread among small animals of the woods. Rabbits, squirrels, mice, quail, sage hens are all subject to it. Unfortunately humans are susceptible, too, if the blood of any of these creatures comes in contact with an abrasion or small cut on the skin. And it is a very serious, often a fatal disease.

It is spread by two common routes. One is by handling infected animals. The rabbit hunter who handles dead rabbits with bare hands is running a grave risk. Stout gloves are absolutely necessary for safety. Cooking kills the germ, however, and so does freezing.

The other route of infection is by way of tick or other insect bites. It is by tick that the disease is carried from animal to animal and several instances of fatal tularemia are on record among humans who have been bitten by ticks. This danger is obviously to be thought of especially during the warm weather.

In any case, a rabbit's foot or tail may bring very bad luck indeed if the rabbit is sick with tularemia and Minnesotans are recommended by the doctors to choose horseshoes for lucky pieces.

16 TONS CANDY, NUTS SOLD AT WORTHINGTON

Worthington. — Enough candy and nuts to provide every person in the county with a pound and a half for Christmas was sold by Worthington merchants during the recent holiday season, a survey indicated. Approximately 16 tons, or 30,000 pounds of candy and nuts were sold here. With the population of the county at slightly more than 19,000 that amount would supply everyone with about a pound and half each. Since the distribution was not even throughout the county it is impossible to estimate how much was consumed locally and how many pounds local sale averaged for each of the 1,800 children of school age in this city.

Plummer School Notes

Mr. Ohnstad reports that his scouts are speeding up on their required tasks in order to become eligible for the week in camp this spring. The trip is worth any and all efforts. Any scout that is fortunate enough to get it will long remember it as a most pleasant experience. Harold Vatthauer leads the group and is even at this date working on the assignments of star rank.—The agriculture evening class met last Thursday. Many interested poultry enthusiasts were present. The topic—Culling for Profit—was discussed and actual demonstrations given. The lunch, coffee and doughnuts, to which all faculty members working in the building were invited was much appreciated too. Some of you are missing something. Make plans to attend next Thursday, Jan. 23. Diagnosis of diseases will be discussed. If you have any birds not doing well, bring them in dead or alive for a post mortem examination.

Miss Maki is directing the play, "The King's English," which is to be given at the next P. T. A. meeting. It is coming along very nicely. The setting is in the South Sea Islands.

The Plummer basket ball team played at Crookston last Friday night. We are always glad to go to Crookston or have Crookston come here because of the friendly relations that exist between the two schools. It is a double pleasure to play at Crookston, first, as already mentioned, because of the way we are treated, and secondly, because their fine modern gym adds to the enjoyment gotten from a hard-played basket ball game.

The game was very fast. The Plummer team took an early lead and held it for the greater part of the game, but Crookston took the lead in the middle of the fourth quarter, and won by a score of 18-15.

The local boys played a very good defensive game, but could not make their offense click against the Crookston defense. It would be difficult to pick out anyone as outstanding on the Plummer team because their fine game was due to the teamwork displayed.

On Saturday night, January 25, the Plummer boys will play the St. Hilaire team at Plummer. Plummer won from St. Hilaire early in the season and St. Hilaire is coming back to even the count, if possible. A very fast game is assured.

The following students are to take part in the high school declamatory contest which is to take place soon: Humorous—Marcella Norby, Carol Hovland, Helen Gilbert. Dramatic, Barbara Gilbertson, Margaret Saum, Julia Mack. Oratory—Donald Holberg.

HOG BECOMES BLAZING TORCH; FIRES STACK

Arlington.—A hog was transformed into a blazing torch at Arlington last week, and in the ensuing scramble nearly set fire to the entire farm buildings. William Hardel, Kelso township in Sibley county, was dipping his hogs, which were afflicted with some kind of itch, using a solution made up of gasoline and lubricating oil. One of the animals, after its bath, wandered over to the warm inviting fire of a feed cooker. In the twinkling of an eye lash, Mr. Porker was enveloped in flames, and made a dash for a nearby straw stack, which also developed into a roaring inferno within a few minutes. It took the combined efforts of the Hardel family and neighbors to keep the fire from spreading to buildings on the farm. All on account of a hog who had a bath and wanted to get warm near a feed cooker!

Observations on Trip to California

By Joel E. Shoberg

Salt Lake City is usually remembered in connection with the Mormons as it was here they set foot, and decided to remain after heavenly guidance had led them away from religious persecution in New York and Pennsylvania almost a century ago. The city bears every earmark of their activities, streets are named after their famous men, large monuments costing thousands of dollars adorn the streets with the image of their leaders, and the temple square in the northern part of the city is the towns greatest tourist attraction containing the temple, the tabernacle and museum besides a number of other buildings used for various religious ceremonies and work.

The Mormon temple is holy and may not be entered by anybody except bonafide mormons, men and women who have with their faith and acts solemnly shown that they are faithful believers. In order to gain entrance the seeker must go thru certain procedures and have affidavits from the unit where he belongs. These proofs are checked in a small building just outside the entrance and if found satisfactory a pass is issued for admittance. Certain services are held in the temple, and also the marriages and baptism of the select. The temple building in itself a masterpiece of stone architecture took 40 years to build and at a cost of four million dollars. The three stories are decorated from the outside with three different oracles representing at the bottom the earth and above the firmament, moon and stars and on top the heavens.

The tabernacle is said to be the only building of its kind in the world. It is 250 feet long by 150 wide and reaches 70 feet to the ceiling. The roof is completely round self supporting and is put together without a nail, all joints being spliced with split wood pegs, wedges and glue.

The choir of the tabernacle number 300 members. Every day at 12 noon an organ recital is rendered for the benefit of tourists and visitors and it was our privilege to attend this recital on Nov. 4. The capable artist Wade Naisbitt Stephens was at the organ that day and rendered for three quarters of an hour selections from Sowerpy, Franck, Jacobb and Rachmaninoff, and also played the mormon favorite hymn "Come, come ye saints". For those who may be interested in a radio program from this tabernacle may be stated that they broadcast every Sunday morning for one hour commencing at 9:30 Mountain time over all station connected with the Columbia network.

The mormon museum located in the reception hall of the temple square contains thousands of ancient articles connected with the development of the state of Utah, and carriages, tokens and utensils used by the pioneer mormons on their virgin trip to the west.

Our guide on the tour of the Temple Square was a Dane by the name Christensen and he informed us that the Mormons had many members among the Scandinavians, and every Sunday afternoon a sermon was given in the Dane-Norwegian language at one of the city Missions.

Salt Lake city has many tourist attraction besides those of Mormon origin. The mining industry of the state produces a wealth of over two and one half million dollars per week. Perhaps the largest copper mine is the Bingham mine south of the city, an open mine where huge electric shovels from 24 separate terraces literally are digging away a mountain. This earth is then trucked for 16 miles to undergo the process of refining. Besides the copper about 20 cents worth of silver is taken from each ton. This mine has a little city all by itself where the workers eat, sleep and recreate.

Just west of the Bingham mine is the Saltair beach, where there is salt, salt and nothing but salt. Huge machines take up the salt from the lake bottom and it is piled up much like cord wood piles back home, and is trucked to the refining plant for the finish. These plants are very large and employ regularly hundred of men. The railroads has extra spurs out here and take out whole train loads at the time. The salt air beach is world noted for its invigorating swimming in the water where the salt prevents you from sinking, and it is visited annually by hundreds of thousands of tourists from all over the world.

Weather Affects Sleep

Nearly every one has heard it remarked on stormy or rainy nights that it was "a good night for sleeping." But how many know that such is really the fact? Actual tests have shown that naps of children on rainy days are much longer and that boys are likely to sleep longer than girls on such occasion.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Stamps Prove Liquid Asset

In recent years the executors of the estates of wealthy men have found that their stamp collections represented the quickest and most liquid assets, and in many such collections have been sold for a profit, whereas other assets had depreciated.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

PEAS in party dresses

MODEST peas appear so constantly on our tables that one would think that they would get over their modesty, but they never seem to. Perhaps that's the reason why they appear new and green every year. But, around the holidays, they can be made to appear as "partified" as any other vegetable, providing one will take a little trouble to dress them up. Here are ways of doing it that will make them seem at home in even the most elaborate dinner.

Peas and Radishes Baked in Cream: Cook one cup sliced unpeeled radishes for four or five minutes in the boiling liquor from a No. 2 can peas; then drain. Add the peas to the radishes. Dice four slices bacon, fry crisp, drain off fat, and add bacon to vegetables. Season with salt and pepper and turn into a buttered casserole. Pour over three-fourths cup thin cream or rich milk, and bake thirty minutes in a 375-degree oven. You will get the best results by using the thin cream. Serves five or six.

Peas with Cheese

Peas au Gratin: Heat the contents of a No. 2 can peas in their own liquor until it is almost all absorbed, then spread them out in a buttered glass pie plate or shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, and pour over six tablespoons cream. Cover with one-half cup grated cheese, and dust with paprika. Place under broiler flame or in a very hot oven until cheese melts and browns and the cream bubbles. Serve from dish in which baked. Serves six.*

The Coconut Palm

The coconut palm is so widely disseminated throughout tropical countries that it is impossible to distinguish its original habitat. It flourishes on the coast of the East Indies, throughout the tropical islands of the Pacific and in the West Indies and tropical America.

TRACKS AND KILLS 25 LB. LYNX CAT

Battle Lake—Otto Pearson shot and killed an animal which seems to be a cross between a lynx and a bob cat. Pearson and Hugh Miles were fishing on Lake Clitherall and saw the tracks of an animal which were strange to them. After leaving the lake, Pearson secured his gun and followed the tracks, which led him into the Corliss woods near Clitherall lake. He finally located the animal and when he came close to it, shot it in the hind leg. The animal turned and started toward him, and he shot it in the chest and killed it. It has not been definitely decided whether it is a bob-cat or lynx, as it appears much like both, or a cross between the two. The animal was quite large, weighing 25 pounds and measuring six feet in length, being dark grey in color with short pointed ears and large paws.

OLD PIONEER DIES, WAS 102 YEARS OLD

Winthrop — Mrs. Wilhelmine Muchow, Sibley county's oldest citizen, both in years and time of residence, died at her home in Winthrop last week at the age of 102 years. Born in Germany in 1834, she immigrated to America on the same boat with her future husband, locating in Wisconsin in the early 50's. Shortly after, they started the trek westward, being the first to establish their permanent home in Sibley county. During the Civil war Mrs. Muchow carried on active pursuits on the farm and cared for her three children.

MARRIAGE IS KEPT SECRET 13 YEARS

Norwood.—Thirteen years ago Ellen Carlson and Arthur Fransen slipped away from the home in Red Oak, Iowa, and were married in Missouri. During the intervening years they kept their marriage a secret, even from their parents with whom each continued to live. Last week word of their marriage went the rounds. To friends who greeted the news with an old-fashioned charivari, Fransen said: "I guess it just isn't possible to keep a secret when there's a woman involved."

Settlers Followed Buffalo

The American buffalo, a clumsy and heavy animal, instinctively avoided soft swampy ground, and the gentlest gradients when ascending heights. The first settlers of the West, knowing this, followed the buffalo trails as far as possible, sure that so long as they followed these buffalo trails their wagons were safest.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS COMMUNITY CLUB

An unusually large crowd attended the Community club meeting on Friday evening considering the extreme cold weather, quite a number coming in from the country. Tom Belland gave a brief report on the skating rink. The cost to date has been $23.43, this was for labor and gasoline used to pump water and for preparing the ground for the rink. About five gallons of gasoline is left to use for flooding the rink when needed.

Roy Wiseth reported that the committee had given the school board $50 towards the plant the board recently purchased. Mr. Disrud then reported that the graduating class of 1935 had also given the board $50.

Mr. Disrud then reported that he had found a gas plate to be used in the basement for cooking purposes at a cost of $7, this was installed and the lunch committee had the use of it on Friday night.

The committees for the next meeting of the club, which will meet on Friday evening February 21st, are: program committee, Mrs. Alice Brandt, Misses Elizabeth Holappa, Anita Erickson; lunch committee; Mrs. Carl Christianson, Mrs. Owen Olson, Mrs. J. WINTER SHOWS AT CROOKSTON OPEN MONDAY

Twenty-sixth Annual Farmers' Week Program Will End Friday

EXHIBITS EXPECTED TO BREAK RECORDS

Interesting Speakers to Cover a Wide Range of Subjects

Elaborate plans have been made for the opening of the twenty-sixth annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston next Monday. Professor O. M. Kiser, secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock Association, reports unusual interest in the livestock department. The number of exhibits is expected to pass all recent records while the demand for sale catalogs has greatly exceeded expectations. This combination sale, which is the first to be held since the depression, reflects the marked improvement in conditions prevailing throughout this area.

Early entries also indicate that the poultry and farm crops entries will tax the exhibition buildings to capacity. John Saugstad, business manager, states that all industrial exhibit space has been engaged for some time.

Over forty speakers and judges have been engaged to address the various meetings and make the awards. M. L. Wilson, assistant secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C., will address a mass meeting Tuesday evening, while Upton Close, New York City, international authority on the Japanese and far Eastern situation will speak Wednesday evening. One evening during the week will be devoted to music. A mass chorus of 150 male voices from eleven scattered communities will present a special festival under the direction of T. W. Thorson. The chorus will be assisted by a string quartet from the St. Cloud Teachers College.

Other speakers include Dean W. C. Coffey; F. W. Peck, former cooperative bank commissioner, Washington, D. C.; W. H. Peters, Dr. E. C. Stakman, and Dr. H. K. Hayes, co-developers of the rust-resistant Thatcher wheat; Professor Henry Schmitz, chief of the forestry division; S. H. Rutford, state rural rehabilitation director; A. M. Foker; Miss Gratia Countryman, Minneapolis city librarian; Mrs. J. H. Lindal, barrister and home maker, Winnipeg, Canada; Mrs. J. J. Stewart; T. A. Erickson, state club agents; A. J. Kittleson, club assistant, and others.

Judging contests, 4-H club demonstrations, organization meetings and banquets will be held throughout the week. Copies of the official program may be secured through the Northwest School, Crookston.

BRAY TOWNSHIP JOB CONTRACT IS LET BY ELSBERG

Part of $818,687 State-wide Road Improvement Award

A contract for the gravel surfacing of 3.2 miles of County Aid Road No. 11 in Bray Township has been awarded to Oscar Schenkey of Middle River at a cost of $1,318. This improvement will extend east and west between State Aid Road No. 3 and County Aid Road No. 1. Oscar Schenkey was also awarded a five mile stretch of gravel surfacing in Red Lake County at a cost of $2,138, this improvement being on State Aid Road No. 11, extending five miles North from one mile West of Huot.

These contracts were a part of a state-wide letting aggregating $818,687, of which $405,240 represents farm-to-market road improvements off the state trunk system, it was announced this week by N. W. Elsberg, State Highway Commissioner.

Part of the work will start at once, and the rest in the spring. The projects include grading, bridges, monolithic culverts, bituminous surfacing, grading and stabilized base, check dams and stabilized base and surface courses in 33 counties, with a total of 61 separate jobs. Counties affected are Becker, Big Stone, Blue Earth, Cass, Carlton, Carver, Chippewa, Clay, Cottonwood, Crow Wing, Dodge, Douglas, Grant, Isanti, Kandiyohi, Lake, McLeod, Meeker, Nobles, Ottertail, Pine, Pennington, Pope, Red Lake, Renville, Rock, Swift, St. Louis, Todd, Wabasha, Yellow Medicine and Pipestone.

ALEXANDER WEIGHS 8-TON LOAD OF COAL

Charles Alexander, city weighmaster, this week reports having weighed the biggest load of coal in his experience. The load weighed 15,650 pounds, slightly under eight tons, and was consigned to the Goodridge school.

Old Age Pension Law Signed by Gov. Olson

Law Will Become Effective March 1; Provisions Outlined

The Minnesota old-age pension bill, which was enacted into law in the special session of the legislature late last week and was approved Monday by Governor Floyd B. Olson, will become operative after March 1, and includes the following major provisions:

Permits a pension up to $30 a month for persons over the age of 65, unless their income is more than that amount.

Spouse or children of an aged person are expected to contribute to his support if "reasonably able without undue hardship" to themselves or family.

Only American citizens or 25-year residents of the country are eligible. They must have lived five of the last nine years in the state, and here continuously for a year before applying.

Applications may be made to county boards starting March 1. If turned down, appeals may be taken to the state board of control or the court.

A person with property of $3,500 or less (any kind of property, according to the law) may be eligible for a pension. The state may, on death of the pensioner, however, file claim against the estate for recovery of pensions, such claims not to apply against the homestead or other exempt assets, and to have no prior right over other claims.

The amount of pension will be fixed by the county agency, to be based on actual need, with the $30 maximum, and with any other income deducted.

Inmates of public institutions are not eligible except in the case of temporary medical care. Persons who deprive themselves of property to qualify shall get no assistance. False statements in obtaining a pension are punishable by jail terms.

The pensions start March 1. The federal government will pay half, counties one-sixth, and the state the balance. The state appropriation is $2,750,000.

PENALTY ON AUTO LICENSE PLATES AFTER FEB. 15TH

No Extension Granted by Legislature, Campbell Reminds

Little more than two weeks remain for motor vehicle operators to secure their 1936 licenses without penalty, Alex Campbell, deputy registrar in this city, announced today. He added that no additional time to obtain licenses without penalty beyond February 15 was granted by the legislature which adjourned Saturday.

Those who fail to obtain licenses by Feb. 15 may not legally operate their cars and penalties for late applications start at 25 cents for the first day, 50 cents for two days and 50 cents a month for each month after Feb. 15 until a total penalty of $2.50 has been accumulated.

More than 750,000 motor vehicles are expected to be registered in Minnesota for 1936, Secretary of State Mike Holm said Saturday. Reports for 1935 have not yet been completed, but 724,000 vehicles were registered in 1934.

P. G. Pederson Honored at Am. Legion Meeting Friday for Services

P. G. Pederson was honored by the local Post last Friday when he was presented with an upholstered chair trimmed in mahogany and a Legion blanket for his services as finance officer of the post for the past ten years. Mr. Pederson was recently succeeded in office by George Werstlein.

Rev. John Flint Will Speak in City Feb. 7

Rev. John Flint of Underwood, Minnesota, will be the speaker Friday evening, February 7, in the Sons of Norway hall in the second of a series of programs sponsored by the Sons and Daughters of Norway. Reverend Flint, who has selected for his subject "Moral Values in the Nordic Faith", will be introduced by Judge M. A. Brattland.

Eddie Cantor at Avalon Theatre Sunday, Monday

Eddie Cantor, popular star of screen and radio, will appear at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday in his latest musical film, "Strike Me Pink". The story is adapted from Clarence Budington Kelland's "Dreamland", recently serialized in a national weekly. In the supporting cast are Ethel Merman, Sally Eilers, Wiliam Frawley and a group of Goldwyn girls.

Miss Helen Wassgren returned Saturday from Minneapolis where she spent the past two weeks visiting with friends.

Seek $4,000 Additional WPA Grant for Rooms in Enclosed Skating Rink

At a special meeting of the city council Tuesday evening it was voted to request an additional $4,000 WPA grant to cover the full cost of labor and materials necessary to provide two rooms over the warming room in the front part of the enclosed skating rink now under construction. Addition of the two rooms was requested by B. O. Norby and Olaf Neset in behalf of the Boy Scouts; C. H. Jung in behalf of the Thief River Falls Rifle club; and William LaFave in behalf of the local athletic club.

OUTPUT OF POWER IN CITY REACHES NEW HIGH IN 1935

Power Plant Turns out More Than 2,500,000 Kilowatts in Year

The Thief River Falls municipal power plant in 1935 set an all-time record in output of current, producing a total of 2,819,505 kilowatts during the year, compared to the previous high mark of 2,282,865 kilowatts established in 1934, it is revealed in records on file in the office of City Clerk P. G. Pederson.

Of the total output 1,905,855 kilowatts were generated by the McIntosh & Seymour Diesel unit, while 179,900 kilowatts were turned out by the water turbines. In 1934 only 62,100 kilowatts were produced by water power.

Gross billings for the year of $104,161.68 for light and power showed a twelve per cent increase over the total of $91,574.18 for 1934. The steady increase in billings during the past nine years is reflected in the following tabulation:

1929	60,352.67
1930	73,314.32

FEBRUARY P. T. A. MEETING SET FOR MONDAY EVENING

Prof. J. R. Schwendeman, Geography Authority, Will Give Address

The February meeting of the Parent-Teacher association will be held next Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Lincoln high school assembly room, A. M. Senstad, president of the group, announced today.

The principal address will be delivered by Professor J. R. Schwendeman of Moorhead State Teachers college, who has announced as his subject "Geography as a Basis for World Understanding." The speaker is widely recognized as an authority in his field.

Opening the program will be a piano solo by Doris Halvorson Pope, while the Lincoln boys' double quartet and the high school girls' sextet will sing groups of selections under the direction of Miss Erma Springen. Included in the group of boys are Robert Smith, Robert Quale, Lynn Booren, Jerome Salveson, Wendell Olson, Gordon Caldis, Vernon Wedul and Stanley Newland.

The girls' group, which will be accompanied at the piano by Helen Granum, includes Helen Rice, Audrey Anderson, Lois Nelson, Lois Morell, Judith Larson and Mona Mosleth. Lunch will be served at the close of the program.

COUNTY'S FLAX ACREAGE SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Farm Census Indicates 18,000 Acre Gain for Crop in Five Years

OATS INCREASED BY OVER 12,000 ACRES

1300 Farmers in County in 1934 Compared to 1100 for the Year 1929

An increase of over 18,000 acres in flax in Pennington County, Minnesota, between 1929 and 1934, is shown by preliminary figures from the 1935 Federal Farm Census released this week by Director William L. Austin, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. The 1934 acreage in this crop was 25,149. The production of 173,998 bushels represents an increase of almost 115,000.

The next largest increase in acreage of a particular crop was in oats which were grown on over 12,000 more acres in 1934 than in 1929. Corn increased almost 5,000 acres, wheat over 3,000, hay almost 3,000, and mixed grains almost 1,700 acres.

Increases in livestock between April 1, 1930 and January 1, 1935 in this county were confined to cows and other cattle. Cows increased 33 per cent, or 2,831 head, while other cattle increased 1,894 head. Sheep numbers were about the same on both inventory dates, while hogs declined from 2,232 to 1,934.

Pennington County had 1,300 farms according to the 1935 Census, with 803 operated by owners, 492 by tenants, and 5 by managers. The total value of the land and buildings of these farms was $5,455,810, or an average value of $4,197 per farm. These farms include 344,534 acres, making an average acreage per farm of 265.

HOW THE VETS MAY GET CERTIFICATES FOR BONUS CASHED

O. C. Paulson, Legion Post Service Officer, to Cooperate

Here are the steps necessary for a World War veteran to exchange his bonus certificate for cashable bonds, coupled with advice by the White House and veteran's organizations:

Blanks to be used in applying for bonds will be mailed by the veterans' administration to all its field officers and local offices of the veterans' organizations, probably Wednesday.

If a veteran has not borrowed on his certificate and has it in his possession, he should send it with his application to the nearest regional office of the veterans' administration or to the central office in Washington.

If a loan is outstanding against the certificate, the application should be sent to the veterans' administration office where the loan was obtained.

If the veteran has made a certificate loan at a bank, he should send his application direct to the veterans' administration in Washington.

After filing his application the veteran need take no further action as his account will be checked by the veterans' administration, forwarded to the treasury, and the amount due him will be sent him in bonds dated June 15, 1936, of $50 each, with any odd amounts covered by a government check.

O. C. Paulson, service officer of Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion, will cooperate in handling applications, it was announced today.

Pennington Livestock Judging Teams Entered in Crookston Contest

Pennington county will be represented next week at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston by livestock judging teams from the Wyandotte and Rocksbury Community clubs, County Agent R. M. Douglass announced today. Three members from each club will leave Monday for Crookston to enter the competition. This county also will be represented by a number of livestock exhibits and several 4-H club entries.

Rural School Spelling Contest Saturday at 2

A group of approximately twenty rural school pupils are expected to participate in the annual Pennington county rural school spelling contest which will be conducted in the court room at the court house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The winner of the event will represent this county in the Red River valley contest to be held in Crookston late next week in connection with the Valley Winter Shows.

LEGISLATURE ENDED SESSION LAST SATURDAY

Special Session Ends After Continuing Nearly Two Months

OLD-AGE PENSION IS MAIN ACHIEVEMENT

Enact Law Putting Old Personal Property Tax Back in Effect

An uninspired, dull special session of the legislature came to an end Saturday, eight weeks from the time is convened, with a record of achieving part of its task, of taking plenty of time to do it, and of contributing a reasonable amount of ammunition for the political campaign now getting under way.

From early December to late January the legislature struggled along, rarely breaking into major headlines, but plugging away at a leisurely pace to turn out its tasks.

Looking back, the legislature saw as major items in a special session called to enact social security legislation:

An old age pension bill which was generally regarded as acceptable compromise between sharply conflicting views—a pension that goes into effect March 1 and will cost the state at least $3,000,000 a year to start with.

A relief bill adding $2,625,000 to the $5,000,000 relief fund already existing, making all of it available for distribution by the state relief administration (formally recognized as such by law for the first time), with broad powers to regulate and control local relief agencies and to require local contributions; also to assure carrying out of projects with federal co-operation.

An important interim committee from both houses, to study a broad field of social security measures and take a long range look at administrative problems in connection with them; to check up on state and local relief methods, with a view to correlation and improvement of method; to investigate undue as a step toward passing legislation next winter.

A $2,650,000 highway bond bill for the highway department, of which $1,600,000 is to be turned into the state treasury for the old age pension fund.

Three important tax bills—a new delinquent tax law, permitting payment of back taxes in ten equal instalments; restoring the old personal property tax on household goods and farm machinery, which had been abandoned last spring; and a change in the income tax law so the state will have six years in which to seek recovery of taxes claimed due.

Two other welfare measures as part of the social security program—a $30 blind pension, affecting 800 persons, and child welfare and maternal aid.

PETIT JURORS FOR FEBRUARY COURT TERM ARE LISTED

Court to Convene Feb. 24; Jury Summoned for March 2

The list of petit jurors for the February term of Pennington county district court, comprising the names of thirty county residents, was announced today by Adolf Eklund, clerk of court. Court will convene February 24 and the jury will be summoned to appear March 2.

Thief River Falls residents selected for jury duty include L. J. Carny, Harry Roberts, Mrs. Anton Langseth, Halvor Rhodegaard, Mrs. Clara Holsknecht, A. E. Ander, H. K. Strand, Ben Erickson, Nick Waldorf and Sig Myrom.

Olness and Knut Kolstad, St. Hilaire; Robert Oahl, Cloverleaf; Clarence Peterson, Silverton; Mrs. J. P. Johnson and Sam B. Swanson, Mayfield; Ole Tronvick, Star; Mrs. E. K. Rime and Mrs. Edward Singer, Highlanding; Gunny Gunderson, Deer Park; Mrs. T. H. Halbash and Charlie Johnson, Numedal; Hilding Adolphson, Black River; Helmer Finstad and Peter Kolseth, Wyandotte; Mrs. Harry Myrom, Norden; and BJ. Bjornaras, Hickory.

Shorthorn Yields Four Calves in Eleven Months

With a record of four calves born to one of his Shorthorn cows in less than eleven months, Thor Berg of Wyandotte township may lay claim to having the most prolific cow in this section of the state. He reports that the cow gave birth to twin calves last March, and again came in with twins last Monday, January 27, setting a record that is likely to stand for some time.

Heads Odd Fellows

E. THOMPSON

Of Hewitt, grand master of the Minnesota jurisdiction of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, who will be present at joint initiation rites in this city Saturday evening.

N. W. ODD FELLOW LODGES CONVENE IN CITY SATURDAY

Minneapolis Degree Team to Initiate Class of 30 Candidates

District No. 35 I. O. O. F. of Minnesota comprising Young Pine Lodge No. 221, Thief River Falls, Clearwater Lodge No. 135, Red Lake Falls, and Fisher Lodge No. 87, Fisher will meet in the Sons of Norway hall Saturday night. The first degree will be conferred on 30 candidates by the crack degree staff of Hennepin Lodge No. 4, of Minneapolis. The degree staff will be in charge of Phillip Eckes D. D. G. M. of District No. 7.

Eighteen of the Odd Fellows Lodges in the surrounding district have been invited and a big delegation is expected. This will be one of outstanding events in the history of Odd Fellowship in this district. In Order to accommodate the crowd the Sons of Norway Hall has been engaged for the occasion. All Odd Fellows are urged to attend the meeting.

Grand Master Ed Thompson of Hewitt, and other grand officers will be present. The officers of District No. 35 are John Vigen, district deputy grand master, Fisher; C. Weltzin, superintendent of the Warren schools, is in charge of ticket sales for the banquet.

WARREN 5 PLAYS INDEPENDENTS FRIDAY EVENING

Locals Win Close Contest from Red Lake Indians by 38-37 Tally

The Warren Independent basketball team will meet the local Independent five Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The Warrenites are credited with a good ball club this year and will undoubtedly give the locals a real fight.

Last Saturday the Independents invaded Indian territory and returned with another victory under their belts when they nosed out the Red Lake Indians by a score of 38-37. The score was close throughout the entire game but the locals managed to stay in front most of the time.

The Indians took the lead in the first few minutes of play but were soon overtaken by the locals, the score at the end of the first quarter being 10-11. As the game progressed it became rougher and faster. In the last quarter the game took on the aspect of a rough and ready football game rather than the sport of basketball. The locals showed that they had the ability to dish it out as well as take it.

George Lee, Paul Dahl, Merle Lindberg, Tus Langlie, Al Christofferson, Scotty Cameron, Don Hermanson and Ingvold Hendrickson, composed the local lineup. A return game with the Indians is scheduled for later in the season.

LOCAL CREAMERY ANNUAL MEETING SET FOR FEB. 10

To be Held in Civic and Commerce Assn. Rooms in Auditorium

The annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association will be held Monday, February 10, at one o'clock in the Civic and Commerce association rooms in the basement of the Auditorium, it was announced today. By that time the creamery records will have been audited by the Cooperative Auditing Service.

Two directors will be elected at the meeting, the terms of President Hans Anton and Henry Kaushagen expiring at that time. Directors holding over include J. M. Thelge, John Funnesdahl and Christ Nelson.

The annual report will be submitted for consideration at the meeting and other business transacted.

Man Arrested in City Found to Have Been 13 Years in Penitentiary

C. W. Ross, who gave his home address as Muncie, Indiana, on completing a ten-day jail sentence here resulting from a charge of peddling without a license, Wednesday was taken to Crookston by Polk County Deputy Sheriff Kelly to answer a charge of shoplifting. That Ross has a long prison record was revealed when local police received a report on his fingerprints which were sent into the department of justice at Washington. The department advised Chief A. B. Stenberg that Ross had served eight years in the state penitentiary in Joliet, Illinois, and five years in Michigan City, Indiana, on charge of burglary and grand larceny. The records also showed that he had been returned from Devils Lake, N. D. to Joliet for a parole violation.

J. W. TAYLOR CALLED TO MADISON CONFERENCE

J. W. Taylor of this city, in charge of the Beltrami Island resettlement project, was summoned this week to Madison, Wisconsin, for a regional meeting of resettlement officials.

COUNCIL LISTS APPOINTMENTS, SETS SALARIES

Mayor Prichard Reappoints Police Force and Fills Other Posts

DR. C. M. ADKINS IS CITY PHYSICIAN

Council Lets Contracts for Materials Needed for Skating Rink

The city council at an adjourned session Friday evening reappointed virtually all present municipal employes, and made only a few minor changes in the salary scale now in effect.

At the same time Mayor W. W. Prichard announced the reappointment of O. C. Paulson as a member of the park board and of Dr. O. F. Mellby as city health officer, and the reappointment on an acting basis of the present police force including Chief A. B. Stenberg and Patrolmen L. W. Kandle and G. R. Lane.

Appointments made by the council include those of Dr. C. M. Adkins as city physician; Ted Lee, fire truck driver; Leslie Robinson, second driver; H. L. Schuster, regular fireman; John Jaranson, street commissioner; S. G. Wellin, assistant commissioner; Martin Owen, incinerator superintendent; Palmer Efteland, garbage collector; Dr. L. R. Twete, dairy inspector; Mrs. Gena Voldness, poorhouse matron; C. M. Evenson, poor relief overseer; and Carl Anderson, Auditorium janitor. Ole Legvold, superintendent of the water and light department, and other members of his staff were reappointed.

The principal changes in the salary schedule were increases of $25 a month in the salaries of the city clerk and deputy clerk, making them respectively $175 and $125 a month, the increase being granted in recognition of the steady increase in the duties of the office. The salary of the assistant librarian was also fixed at $60 a month, an increase of $10.

Seventeen on and off-sale beer licenses were approved by the council, as were nine off-sale beer licenses and six refreshment licenses. A few more applications remain to be acted upon.

Following the opening of bids on materials needed for the construction of the enclosed skating rink, action was taken to accept the bids of Ed Lee for plumbing equipment in the sum of $717. Also accepted were the bids of the Northern Woodwork company for millwork amounting to $1,224, and that of the Concete Steel company for joists for the main floor over the basement in the sum of $337.48.

E. C. Brooks of the Busch Sulzer Diesel Engine company of St. Louis was present to propose a compromise of penalties incurred by the company for its failure to complete installation of the new 1000 horsepower unit in the local power plant within the period of 100 days specified in the contract. After an extended discussion, action on the proposal was deferred to a later meeting.

Earl Long, representing the Workmen's Protective League, presented a resolution adopted by that organization requesting that cash payments be made to men employed on the city wood-cutting project. Mr. Long pointed out that the men need not only food but clothing and rent money as well. The matter was referred to the council finance committee for consideration.

FAIR BOARD BOOKS ATTRACTIONS AT MEETING JAN. 24

Six High Class Acts Purchased for Free Acts at Penn. Co. Fair

W. C. T. U. News Notes

The traveling public in New York state in 1936 will face 31 sign boards on the most traveled highways warning them of the dangers of drinking and driving. As each board is designed differently on the two sides, 66 warnings will tell the story of the hazards when alcohol is inside the car instead of inside the radiator.

These sign boards are being erected by the New York state W. C. T. U. and are guaranteed to be kept in condition for one year by the company which sets them up.

During the first two weeks of this month 25 daily newspapers in the state of New York carried large four column advertisements in "Alcohol Education"—reaching a circulation of one and one-half million people. This also was sponsored by the New York state W. C. T. U.

The well-known advertising firm of Frank Presbrey Company prepared the copy for three different advertisements for this purpose, using the most up-to-date methods of advertising approach and appeal.

Newspaper correspondents in the war zone have so much time on their hands that they have resorted to knitting. And using, we suppose, the wool that's been pulled over their eyes.—Toronto Saturday Night.

HOLM ANNOUNCES NEW HIGH MARK IN CAR REGISTRATION

More Than Three-quarters of a Million Vehicles Pay Tax in 1935

Mike Holm, Secretary of State, reports that the total registration for 1935 is the largest that has been recorded in any one year in the State of Minnesota. The high point before the depression was reached in 1930 when the total number registered was 744,271. The total number in 1935 was 753,076.

Of that total, there were 620,891 passenger cars, 105,630 trucks and tractors, 24,260 trailers, 241 buses operating beyond the limits of a single municipality or group of contiguous municipalities, 222 snowmobiles, and 1823 motorcycles.

The total net registration tax paid amounted to $6,993,684.78. This total, of course, does not include $785,307.54 which was refunded to the owners on account of the tax reduction provided by the legislature of 1935.

The following tables give an interesting account of the increase in registration year by year, and a detailed comparison of the registrations in the various classes for the years 1934 and 1935:

Total Annual Motor Vehicle Registration in Minnesota for Fifteen Years

Our Bird Neighbors

By C. B. Hovie

SAW-WHET OWL

Silently twisting turning and swooping a bird flew about the piers of the new bridge the other night. It seemed slightly smaller than a crow, and when alighting on a low bough of a nearby tree it was seen to be of medium to cinnamon brown color, spotted and streaked with white on the back and sides, whiter below. Eyes, yellowish and large for a bird of its size, looked straight ahead. To keep an object in view the head turned on the neck till the eyes looked directly back over the tail and wing tips. Head round with no ear tufts.

This bird had a wing spread of about 12 inches and a body about the size of an ordinary chicken egg. In February or March it makes its nest in an old woodpecker's nest hole or similar place and incubates its eggs while blizzards rage over the surrounding country. In the daytime it either sleeps so soundly as to be rather easily caught by hand or is nearly blind.

Mice are its principal food, altho an occasional small bird is taken. It stays about here the whole year round and deserves your protection. Altho the smallest of its family in the north country, all in all, a very interesting bird is the Saw-Whet owl.

Iowa Hog, Made Famous By Bets, at Winter Shows

"Floyd of Rosendal", the prize Iowa hog recently won by Governor Floyd B. Olson in a friendly wager with Governor Clyde Herring of Iowa, over the outcome of the Minnesota-Iowa football game, will be on display in the livestock barns throughout the week of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, February 3 to 7. Livestock breeders throughout this area are anxious to compare their hogs with the Iowa Product.

Upon delivery of the hog by Governor Herring in Governor Olson's office in the state capital, Congressman R. T. Buckler invited the Governor to display his prize at the Winter Shows. However the pig was offered to the winner of an essay contest on the subject, "Opportunities for Youth on the Farm." The winner of the covet prize was Richard Jones of Austin, Minnesota, who later sold the pig to the University of Minnesota. Through the courtesy of Professor E. F. Ferrin of the Animal Husbandry division, the hog will be shipped by express to the Winter Shows where O. M. Kiser, secretary of the Livestock Association, has prepared a special pen for the Iowa blue blood. "Floyd of Rosedale" will be the center of attraction through Winter Shows week which opens next Monday.

Commodore Perry's Flagship

When Commodore Perry sailed on his expedition to Japan, November 24, 1852, he was given the Mississippi for his flagship. However, after his arrival at Shanghai, his flag was transferred to the Susquehanna, the vessel which was designated as flagship of the squadron. The Susquehanna was built in the navy yard at Philadelphia, where she was launched in April, 1850.

Growing With Your Child

Why This Title?

Some of you have read the words at the top of this column many, many times. But you may have glanced at the heading "Growing With Your Child" over and over again without really giving much thought to what the phrase means. Why was it chosen, rather than "Learning about Your Child", or "The Management of Children", for example?

There was a reason, you may be sure. It was hoped that "growing" would carry with it implications and suggestions that would serve to indicate what an enlivening, inspiriting thing it is to develop along with one's changing problems. "Learning" about children might be all very well, but it has been found that people often store up an imposing amount of information without ever putting it to much use. We may be able glibly to recite the rules of child-training, but if we do not put them into practice, we are no better off than before we "knew" them—perhaps even worse off, because we now have acquired the uneasy feeling that things ought to be going better. "How to Manage Your Children" might do as a title, except that many of us become aware that the child is to be pitied who is "managed" by adults who overlook their own part in bringing about the behavior that they deplore.

But it is different to "grow" with one's child. Growth suggests advance, rather than laggard, idle waiting. Growth suggests adding to one's ability as well as to one's knowledge. Growth implies seeking a wider vision, rather than remaining contented with a narrow, rutted existence. Growth suggests life, and energy, and looking forward, rather than back.

All these things come our way when we make up our minds to grow with our children. It is cheering to have modern science tell us that it is entirely possible for us to change our habits and attitudes, although we may have more or less unthinkingly felt that our school days were over. Learning to do new things, to adapt to new ways, are among the very best ways to keep from seeming "dated" and shelved with other last year's goods. Growing with our children will mean constantly attempting to see things through their eyes, instead of peering uncertainly through the far from rose-colored spectacles that life and experience have forced upon us. Growing with our children will mean the exhilaration of adventure. It will mean finding ways of exercising our minds to keep them flexible. It will mean increasing the circle of our interests as our children grow older, so that we will not be left high and dry and forlorn when they develop to the point where they no longer need our care and attention.

Growth is accomplished in many ways. Just as little children need bodily exercise if they are to develop strong muscles, so growth in the sense of expanding our minds will mean exercise in searching out contacts that will enlarge our outlook. Reading is useful, but reading by oneself is not so stimulating as reading that is discussed in a group interested in putting their own experience to the test. Perhaps we can find others interested in exploring the same field that beckons us. It doesn't matter so much what new things we do or study as it does that we are doing something that challenges us and keeps us from getting stiff and rusty.

Derivation of Word "Puny"

The word "puny" is a phonetic spelling of the old French "puisne," which entered the English language in legal phraseology. "Puisne" meant junior, lower in rank. "Puny" has acquired the meaning of small in strength or size, weak, feeble.

STATE STUDENTS INVITED TO SHARE IN POSTER EVENT

Contest Sponsored by Minnesota Public Safety Committee

Hundreds of art students in Minnesota high schools are participating in the safety poster contest being conducted by the Minnesota Public Safety committee, according to information received by C. H. Zealand, director of the committee.

The students not only may win prizes in the contest, but also are given the opportunity of having their work displayed in thousands of locations in the state.

The winning posters will be used by the committee in its 1936 campaign to reduce traffic fatalities in Minnesota. Last year, the committee displayed the posters in 10,000 locations.

The posters submitted for consideration must be in the mails not later than midnight Saturday, Feb. 29, and should be sent parcel post to the Minnesota Public Safety committee in the State Capitol.

"The posters should visualize the accident hazards surrounding pedestrians and motorists", Zealand said. "Each poster should serve as a dramatic safety warning and should carry a powerful appeal for more careful driving and more cautious walking."

Prizes for the best posters include two $175 courses at a Minneapolis art school, a one term (fifteen-weeks) course at another Minneapolis art school and one three-months term at a St. Paul art school.

In addition, standard drawing outfits are offered for the five next outstanding entries and instructors or prize-winning students will receive leather letter cases.

Each student is asked to submit two posters. The posters must be 15 inches wide and 13 inches long, finish on bristol or reproduction board and be drawn with India ink to permit plate reproduction. They should carry a concise safety message, with action predominant.

Dunwoody Institute Trains Expert Workers

Many of our readers or their sons are interested in printing, automobile work, electrical work, machine shop, sheet metal, carpentry, drafting, farm mechanics, tractor work or similar lines. They would like to get special training to help them secure jobs, hold jobs or secure promotions in these lines.

Right here in our own home town or community we want the best workmen. They do the best job and give the greatest satisfaction. The home town shop with properly trained men can do the job. We may have to send away for some special tool or supply, but there is no reason why our workmen should not be able to do the job itself.

On the farm and in the town trained workmen are needed.

Five million dollars were given to the residents of the State for trade and industrial training to help realize the above ideal conditions.

Dunwoody Institute at Minneapolis is conducted without profit to help train boys and men to enter, to hold, and to secure promotion on the job.

THE OLD AGE PENSION

For many people, Minnesota's new old age pension law will probably be a disappointment. In recent years there has been so much loose talk of two hundred dollars a month for the aged that a paltry thirty dollars seems very little. But, taking everything into consideration, the legislature probably acted wisely in adopting this moderate plan. It is far better to start with less on such an experiment, and increase the benefits as we are able, than to start with a large sum that might prove itself to be too heavy a burden on the tax payers and that we would therefore be unable to pay.

And, after all, the taxpayer is quite an important figure in the picture. The state is nothing more than a large county and the nation is nothing more than a large state. The voters of Pennington County would probably hesitate about adopting any old age pension system if the entire cost of that system had to be charged to the taxpayers of this county. The fact that the state and federal governments pay the bulk of the cost under the system that has been adopted, changes only the appearance of things. The simple fact remains that our citizens will pay their full share of the bill just as surely as if it were charged up directly to them.

So it is perhaps well that we proceed a little cautiously. As time goes on we will discover defects in the present plan that we can improve. As the inevitable abuses appear we can take steps to eliminate them. Those who have looked hopefully forward to a more liberal plan and are disappointed in the terms provided by this one, can find consolation in the thought that at least a first step has been taken toward a more humanitarian manner of providing for the needs of the aged.

WE ARE GOING FORWARD

Preliminary figures on the 1935 farm census, released this week by the United States Department of Commerce, indicate that Pennington County has made good progress as a farming community during the past five years. From 1929 to 1934, the years covered by this report, the number of farms in this county increased from 1,100 to 1,300, with 803 of these farms operated by owners, 466 of whom are classified as full owners.

During this five year period there was a very substantial increase in the number of acres under cultivation. Corn increased 5,000 acres, wheat 3,000 acres, oats 12,000 acres, and flax 18,000 acres. Rye and barley acreage remained approximately the same. In livestock, cattle showed a big increase with a slight reduction in sheep and hogs. The report did not cover poultry or sweet clover, important crops in this territory.

If this progress continues, the 1940 census figures for this territory should be very interesting. In order to accomodate any further increase in farm population, new buildings will have to be erected, all available habitations now being occupied. The local picture certainly is a great deal more encouraging than it was ten years ago.

THE KING IS DEAD

It is natural for Americans to be a little scornful of European royalty and nobility. The pomp and the ceremony that are a part of the government in the few remaining old-country monarchies would not be tolerated in the United States. Fancy titles and all that sort of thing are a lot of hooey to us. And yet in some respects, it must be admitted, the people of those European monarchies do a better job of governing themselves than we do over here.

And whether we like or dislike the English, we must respect their government. Their royal family has learned its limitations and now is little more than a symbol of authority. What little power the King still has he holds, not by the divine right of kings, but by the consent of the governed. But as the symbol of authority, the King takes little part in the factional fights that divide the people from time to time. He is the executive who administers the laws as the people enact them, and no matter what group or faction controlls the policies of the government, the relation of the King to the people remains the same.

It is necessary to understand this relationship to appreciate the high regard in which the King is regarded by the English people. The same situation exists in Norway, Sweden and Denmark. And so it is that the death of a King, such as George V of England, touches the heart of a great nation in a manner that we in America can hardly appreciate.

Mrs. Tom Schall may be a capable woman and well qualified to fill the office of United States Senator, but the idea of a political office becoming a family possession to be passed along to a widow or a son has never appealed to us. There has already been too much of that sort of thing and the practice should be discouraged. Let those who aspire to high office prove themselves worthy by their own achievement. The mere fact that a husband or a father or a cousin possessed certain good qualities should not be a consideration in the selection of public officials.

A PARTING OF THE WAYS

Al Smith left little room for doubt in his Liberty League speech Saturday night, as to where he stands on the New Deal. There was no if or perhaps about his views. In plain, hard, fighting words, he charged the administration had broken faith with the party, had ignored almost in its entirety the 1932 party platform, and had drifted far from the principles of government championed by such Democrats as Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland.

Whatever the immediate results may be, Smith's Liberty League speech is likely to become an important historical document, representing, as it does, an open break between the leaders of the Democratic party that may mean a new allignment of the political forces of the country. And such a reallignment is about due. At the present time, party names mean nothing. There are conservatives, liberals and radicals within the ranks of both major parties, and party affiliation has come to mean little or nothing.

Both parties, and the country as a whole, probably would be better off if one of the parties were definitely conservative and the other were definitely liberal. Under the party arrangement as it now is, there are Democrats who should be Republicans and Republicans who should be Democrats, with a few in the ranks of both parties who belong in a radical group. Political parties, in spite of all their evils, are a necessary thing in a representative government, but a political party should mean some definite thing else it becomes merely a vehicle for the convenience of office seekers.

And Al Smith's Liberty League speech may have the good effect of bringing about the much needed reallignment of political parties. He, himself, certainly has burned his bridges as far as the present leadership of the Democratic party is concerned. He, and the conservative group he represents, will undoubtedly, as he says, take a walk. And with him will go the principles of Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland. Centralization of power is what those champions of liberty feared. And in this important respect the New Deal is founded on an entirely new principle.

NOW THAT'S OVER

Whether or not they approve the action of Congress in authorizing immediate payment to veterans of the adjusted compensation certificates due in 1945, most people are probably glad the matter has been disposed of. Considering the fact that the government will now pay the interest on those certificates that would not have been earned before another nine years had passed, the present settlement means that the ex-service men will receive a great deal more than they originally agreed to accept. The difference in favor of the veterans will be nine years interest at three per cent, and when the sum involved amounts to a couple of billion dollars, that difference is a large figure. The veterans themselves, however, are not to be blamed for this situation. The wrong of it may be charged to the politicians who have bought votes, not with their own money, but with public funds. President Roosevelt is to be commended for daring to oppose the measure.

A couple of years ago the legislature made several changes in the personal property tax laws. The purpose of the changes was, of course, to bring about a more equitable distribution of the cost of government. Instead of accomplishing this purpose, however, the reform measure relieved a group of taxpayers who were not in distress and had not complained, and added to the burden of those who already were carrying a too heavy load. And in the special session of the legislature, at the demand of rural members, the reform tax law was repealed. So now we are back where we were as far as personal property taxes are concerned. The blunder can be charged up to the adoption of an unwise amendment to the state constitution.

"Loyal administration" Democrats, who went into hiding after Al Smith's speech Saturday night, were out and around as chipper as ever after Joe Robinson took the hide off of Smith Tuesday night. Well, as long as this row continues the United States Treasury will be reasonably safe.

"INVESTIGATE" KANSAS!

(Industrial News Review)

It would be an excellent idea if the Congress of the United States were to adjourn for a month or two, and undertake an "investigation" of the fiscal policies of Kansas.

Kansas has no state debt. It has a fine road system developed on the "pay-as-you-go" plan, as were all other public improvements. It has a magnificent new capital building. It has first-class schools. And it has few of the special or "nuisance" taxes that afflict most other commonwealths.

Today American people of all occupations and all income levels are coming to realize that their greatest enemy is high taxes—and that their greatest problem is taxation. The federal government has been spending about twice its receipts for several years, and has added billions to the national debt, setting an all-time record. A large number of states have followed this suicidal example. The result has been frightened capital, discouraged investors, industrial retrogression, unemployment and foreclosures.

There isn't a person in this country who wouldn't benefit from tax reduction—and the persons of small and average means who are most interested in employment and industrial expansion and home-building, would benefit most of all.

Balance budgets and reduce taxation, should become a household slogan.

Did you notice how the coal dealers have been grinning lately?

That new Minnesota old-age pension may not look as good to a lot of folks as the Townsend plan, but at least it is a lot closer to realization.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette quotes a diplomatic editor as saying of a recent bride, "She is well known here, and her friends will be surprised to learn of her marriage."

It appears that there are now enough Democrats in Minnesota to make up two opposing groups of delegates to the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia next June.

State Champs Named in 4-H Corn and Potatoes by State Club Leader

Minnesota's 4-H corn and potato champions for 1935, just named by T. A. Erickson, state club leader, University Farm, are:

Corn champion—Wayne Smith, Dakota, Winona county, 20 years old, who produced 101.8 bushels of corn, dry weight, on one acre.

Potato champion—Charles Sandstrom, Embarrass, St. Louis county, whose one-eighth acre of potatoes yielded 70 bushels, or at the rate of 560 bushels per acre.

Mr. Erickson explains that members' records and stories of their projects were considered along with yields in picking state, district, and county winners. Wayne's acre of corn showed a profit of $29.80, and Charles' potatoes yielded a profit of $33.20, at which rate his acre profit would have been $265.60.

Both boys will receive trips to the 1936 State Fair and medals given by The Farmer, St. Paul farm paper. Next December, Wayne will receive a trip to Chicago to the National 4-H Club Congress. Charles attended the 1935 Congress as a 4-H crops judge.

Rowboats Used as "Tugs"

Before tugboats were used, sailing ships were sometimes brought into pier by the seamen, lowering small rowboats or lifeboats and towing the vessel in. In some cases the vessels were anchored in deep water and smaller boats used to transport passengers and cargo to and from the vessel.

Chilblains Are Due to Poor Circulation, Not to Weather, Doctors State

Some people have chilblains; others, whose feet get just as wet and just as cold, have no chilblains at all. The reason for this apparent discrimination, according to physicians of the Minnesota State Medical Association is not to be found in the elements but in a predisposition in some people to chilblains. This predisposition may be brought about by several different conditions.

Faulty circulation or faulty nutrition or both together are often to blame. Some focus of infection in the body may have a share in the trouble.

The first thing for the luckless victim of chilblains to do is therefore to see that his general condition is good—that he is getting a well balanced diet and that there is no chronic source of infection such as diseased teeth or tonsils that is aggravating the condition of his feet.

After that he can help along the circulation in his feet by vigorous movements of his feet several times daily while he holds his feet well elevated.

Prolonged standing in cold or wet and sudden warming of the feet afterward should be avoided if possible and footwear in any case should be warm, loose fitting and it should be kept dry. If he has a tendency to damp feet he should change his footwear frequently and an alcohol rub at that time would be beneficial, according to the doctors.

Cool evaporating compresses at bed time may help also.

If all these measures are unavailing, massage under expert supervision is suggested. But extremes of hot and cold in treatment should be avoided.

PUBLIC OPINION

Expressions of opinion on timely subjects are invited and welcomed to this department of The Times. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the name should be signed, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Editor Times:

The zero hour for the state and nation is at hand. Men and women in every walk of life, color or creed, must study the political issues before them regardless of politicians, their pet hobbies and official connections.

Minnesota is an agricultural state and agriculture is its basic industry in spite of such cities as Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, with their industrial and labor complex.

We may differ individually and politically as to methods of procedure, but the people as a whole in the agricultural sections are independent operators, which in turn gives them the incentive to think and act along independent terms.

We are not here to dictate as to how you or our farmers shall vote or not vote. That is their personal privilege. But, we do hope that our farmers will think twice before they mark their next ballot and if they do we rest assured that they will not hitch the cart before the horse.

It is true that a few scattering coins have been dropped into the empty bag—which is still empty—because the holes in the bag are so many and so large, that they drop out faster than they roll in; because of waste and duplication of taxes both direct and indirect, both at home in the state and the nation as a whole. It is the joke of the hour to think and realize that good, honest American citizens believe that "Santa Claus" has moved from the North Pole to Washington, D. C. It is bad enough to make one small children believe in "Old Nick" but when the men in charge of governmental affairs appear in this "fool" act, it is time to call a halt, regardless of what party may be master of ceremonies.

It may be interesting to know that in spite of all the hot air about higher prices of stocks and bonds, that agricultural products are lower by about 18 per cent than a year ago. This is worthy of consideration by our farmers.

You should also consider another fact that the total public debt of Minnesota, per capita, is $290, or $1,122 per family, and that these tax spenders are taking out of our pockets $6.71 per week or $349 a year per family. This is the average but you must consider another fact that hundreds of families in Minnesota for some reason or another are not taxpayers. Hence the tax you pay is increased to much larger figures than those represented in the above outline!

In view of these facts we must all of us make "politics" our business in the next few months in order to save our state and nation from economic distruction!

Therefore, fellow citizens, let us do a little thinking of our own and not always be voting cattle for political demogogues!

Danger of Centralized Government

The plan to dismember the M. & St. L. Railroad is a glaring warning against centralized control in the Washington government of matters affecting only states.

This plan was petitioned for by C. & N. W., C. B. & Q., C. G. W., C. S. P. & P., C. R. I. & P., G. N., I. C. and Soo Railroads. It has had the backing of the RFC and likely of the I. C. C. It provides for abandoning 503 miles of the M. & St. L. system, and selling the rest to these different petitioners for operation by them.

Just think of the poor people living along the portions to be abandoned! Seventy towns having 99 grain elevators left without railroad transportation!

Knud Wefald, of the Minnesota Railroad Commission has been putting up a mighty hard fight against this grossly unjust plan, and is going to keep up the fight to the last ditch, so it behooves commercial clubs and other organizations to get busy and pass resolutions against such nefarious interference by the Federal Government, and send the resolutions to Mr. Wefald, so he can use them to back up his agruments.

Minneapolis receipts from the M. & St. L. terminal in Minneapolis is given by the National Grain Journal as 10,123,726 bu. of wheat, corn, barley, oats, rye and flax.

If our part of the state lays down now, because they figure not being directly interested, we are pretty sure to wake up some day when these Washington brain trusters will favor some more abandoning of railroads which we are more directly interested in.

Let us do all we can to retain what little is left of our dwindling "State Rights."

ANNOUNCES $25-A-MONTH TIME PAYMENTS AND A NEW UCC 6% FINANCE PLAN

Any New Ford V-8 Car Can Now Be Purchased for $25 a Month with Usual Low Down-Payment

This $25-a-month time-payment plan enables you to buy a New Ford V-8 car through your Ford dealer on new low monthly terms.

After the usual low down-payment is made, $25 a month is all you have to pay for any type of new car, including insurance and financing.

Your cost for this extension of credit is only ½ of 1% a month on your original unpaid balance and insurance. This plan reduces financing charges for twelve months to 6%. For example, if you owe a balance of $400 for your car and insurance, you pay $24 for the year of credit; if the balance is $200 you pay $12. Your credit cost for one year is the original unpaid balance multiplied by 6%.

UCC plans provide you with insurance protection at regular conference rates. You have not only fire and theft insurance, but $50 deductible collision, and protection against other accidental physical damage to your car.

The Universal Credit Company has made these plans available through all Ford dealers in the United States.

News and Comment

By R. W. Hitchcock

One worthy act of the special legislative session was a House resolution urging Governor Olson to reappoint Mrs. Blanche La Du to the State Board of Control. Mrs. LaDu's second six years of noteworthy service on the Board of Control will expire in the spring.

Representative S. A. Stockwell, rampageous radical, again demonstrated his independence of thought and action, by taking the floor in a neat speech lauding Mrs. La Du. Mr. Stockwell declared that the Board of Control has a consistent record for nonpartisan service, having from the very beginning devoted its best efforts to the zealous care of the state's unfortunates in Minnesota's eighteen state institutions as well as undertaking other state-wide welfare activities solely in a spirit of service. Members of the Board of Control, Mr. Stockwell also declared, have been citizens of high character and pronounced ability. "But among them all", said the veteran solon, "I know of none more sincere of purpose, more untiring in her efforts for the state or more fitted for the important duties of the office than Mrs. La Du."

Mrs. La Du in her welfare and social work has won a nationwide reputation. She has been active in several national undertakings. She was appointed by Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, to be a member of the advisory commission to supervise maternal and child welfare undertakings under the new federal Social Security Act. She was last fall elected president of the American Prison Association and is the first woman ever to hold that office, an honor the more distinguished because of the fact that it came to Mrs. La Du as a complete surprise and was conferred by the national convention at which she was not in attendance.

Mrs. La Du's work in Minnesota has been outstanding. Many who have been interested in her welfare work do not know, perhaps, that she is a widow, the mother of two children, and that she has had to make her way in the world against adverse circumstances. She combines in an unusual degree the practical view point combined with a sympathetic understanding and noteworthy abilities. Her work as a member of the State Board of Control has commanded the respect and admiration of all who know of it.

The Minnesota state testing mill, one of hundreds of attempts by Minnesota legislatures to "do something for the farmer," was authorized in 1919, largely as the result of the belief on the part of many farmers that they were not getting a square deal in the grading of their wheat. The mill cost originally about $85,000 and there have been some additional costs since. It was originally devoted to the purposes for which it was established and experiments of value to agriculture in Minnesota were carried on.

For some years the mill has apparently seen of little use except to furnish jobs to political favorites. There has been agitation for its sale and disposal. Claims of waste and extravagance finally resulted in a suit, the case being tried before Judge O'Brien in Ramsey county. A number of illegal practices were enjoined but the court ruled that the commissioner of agriculture had considerable discretion in the management of the mill and but little was accomplished.

The mill is supported by a law which compels the State Board of Control to purchase flour for the state institutions from the mill. It has been repeatedly claimed that the Board of Control could buy more advantageously if allowed to purchase on the open market. Mills and business interests in institutional towns are especially aggrieved at what they term is unfair and wasteful competition protected by the state.

The payroll at the mill is about $1,400 per month. The mill has been under the supervision of Al Hansen, but this month its control was shifted over to John Bosch, capitalist and mortgaging holding president of the Minnesota Farm Holiday Association.

John T. Lyons, unsuccessful candidate for state auditor, brought an election contest against Stafford King which resulted in slightly increasing Mr. King's narrow plurality. Mr. Lyons employed 33 inspectors and observers in the recount and last week suit was begun by some of the inspectors to recover for the work performed.

The suing inspectors claim that they were promised $7 per day. Mr. Lyons and his bonding company allege that they were promised only 75 cents per day if Lyons lost and $7 per day with two big "ifs"—if Lyons won and if "the fees could be collected from the King forces or from the legislature."

One of the inspectors (Clarence Hendricks) testified that a meeting of the inspectors and observers was held at the Windsor hotel at which Charles Munn, newly elected railroad and warehouse commissioner, was present and that Munn said he had 250 jobs under him, that he couldn't do anything then, but the minute the legislature "let out" they would have a farmer-laborite in every office. Evidently, as Mr. Micawber was wont to say, the thirty-three inspectors and observers were working "on spec".

A cardinal virtue laid down in the farmer-labor bible is that wages should be high, but Mr. Lyons, farmer-labor candidate for state auditor, did not find it convenient to practice this virtue, but resorted instead to what he and others in politics denounce as "starvation wages". Once more it seems to be strikingly proved that it is easier to preach than to practice.

Stray bars from the swan song of the special session:—

. . . With scheduled adjournment less than 24 hours away, rural members staged a strike. In the midst of the House debate on the relief bill, anxiously being pushed by city members, the boys from the country, lead by Representative C. G. Mann of Pine county, moved to table the bill until the Senate quit playing ducks and drakes with the personal property exemption act so much desired by the country. Bitter words followed. "Would you starve 'em?" demanded the city members. "You wouldn't fool us, would you?" suspiciously retorted the boys from the country. One of the hottest fights of the session was staged, with party lines completely obliterated, and the edifying spectacle of raucous-tongued labor organizer Roy Wier of the minority battling side by side with stalwart Russ Sweitzer of the majority delighted visitors to the floor and one gallery hound hoarsely whispered to another, "Lookit! Lookit! The radical and the reactionary, standing up together!"

. . . . Senator Pat Farnand of Hibbing and Representative Charlie Wangensteen of Chisholm claim an all-time legislative record for speed with a local bill. It was introduced in the House and passed in both chambers in just 55 minutes. Charlie introduced it for it was a bill for Chisholm, his home town, and Pat timed its arrival in the Senate at the exact moment, when for sixty seconds Rules Committee Chairman Orr happened not to be sitting on the lid.

. . . The normally querlous and fault-finding House passed the La Du resolution unanimously and with kind words sped it on its way to the other chamber, but the normally courteous Senate fell on it and almost tore it limb from limb. Thirteen members of the minority, to whom "All-Party" is anathema, made a scene. They weren't mad at Mrs. LaDu. But they were mad. Hadn't the Senate turned thumbs down on that splendid lady, Mrs. La Sueur? Why now was it turning thumbs up for that admittedly fine lady, Mrs. La Du? It was the coldest day of the winter outside, but inside it was the hottest day of the session. Fervid oratory flowed free for two hours when 13 bitter-enders were finally subdued by 47 others. Everybody cooled off during the lunch hour and returned sensibly to eliminate the recomendation to the governor and unanimously to sing the praises of the lady member of the Board of Control.

. . . Lilting notes from the grand finale:—"the spirit that prompted this motion is as small as the body of the man who made" . . . "when I listen to the remarks of the senator I wonder what kind of a community it must be that produced him" . . . "If it is necessary to get a good bill, I will stay here until the ants drag my body in bits out through the keyhole" . . . Ibsen says, "When the devil wants that something should not be done he first gets a committee to be appointed."

Registered Stock Sale Is Set for February 6 at Valley Winter Show

The first consignment sale of registered cattle, sheep and hogs to be held since the depression has been announced by the Red River Valley Livestock Breeders' association for Thursday afternoon, February 6, during the forthcoming Red River Valley Winter Shows. According to O. M. Kiser, secretary of the association, over fifty head of livestock have been consigned and a catalog prepared for general distribution. The sale committee consists of J. H. Sargent, Crookston; Andrew Johnstad, Beltrami; E. E. Carman, Ada; and O. M. Kiser.

The following breeds of livestock will be included in the auction: Cattle—Holsteins, Jerseys, Shorthorns, Aberdeen Angus and Herefords. Swine—Poland China and Duroc Jersey. Sheep—Shropshire and Southdowns.

The consignment sale reflects the marked improvement in livestock conditions prevailing thruout the Red River Valley.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

The special session of the Legislature called by Governor Olson to pass social security legislation so that the state can avail itself of the benefits of the Federal Social Security Act has ended its "labors". Every citizen of Minnesota would do well to study the record of this reactionary-controlled body.

Specifically, the Governor asked the Legislature to enact an old age pension law and to pass an unemployment insurance act. It passed an old age pension law, if one may charitably call it that, but as to the latter it created an interim committee "to make a study of unemployment insurance." It might do well for this committee to enlarge the study to include the question of whether a starving person requires food.

The conservative accepts old age pension with about as much alacrity as a child takes a dose of castor oil. And, until the insistence for this kind of legislation became quite universal, he resisted every effort in this direction.

Let us look at the old age pension bills submitted by the conservative and liberal groups. The conservatives' bill provided for maximum monthly payments of $30; property exemptions of $4,000, which must include a homestead, a limited amount of furniture and burial lot; the amount of pensions paid must constitute a lien against the homestead; no payments of pension where there are children able to take care of their parents, whether they do so or not, and no uniform standards in the various counties. The liberals' bill provided for maximum monthly payments of $45; property exemptions of all kinds up to a total of $5,000; the payments would not constitute a lien against the homestead of the old folks; old folks would not be deprived of sharing in the act because of delinquency on the part of their children in failing to support them; and uniform standards of payment throughout the state, fixed by the Board of Control.

The bill finally passed was the conservatives' bill, with the lien feature removed. This was done because of the bitter fight against the proposed provision made by the liberals.

Liberals had all along suspected—in fact knew—that the tears shed by conservatives in the last regular legislative session over the plight of the real estate owner were of the crocodile variety. Abundant proof for that has now been provided.

While the liberals had a definite program for financing old age pensions, including corporate excess taxes for public utilities, an increase in the gross earnings taxes of railroads, an increase in the occupational tax on iron ore and similar taxes, the conservatives saddled the load on real estate. No special taxes for the pensions were created. Not a single one of the special tax bills proposed by the liberal groups was permitted to leave the rules committee.

It was an issue of whether real estate should foot the bill or the public utilities, the corporations, and the mining companies. The conservatives preferred to protect the latter and not the former.

True, about $1,300,000 was taken from the highway department for the pensions, but this admittedly can last but a short time. In the absence of any special taxes for the purpose, real estate must carry the load.

The Federal Government will defray one half the cost of the pensions; the state 37½ per cent, and the counties 12½ per cent. The county share must come exclusively from a levy on real property, as must the state's after the $1,300,000 of the highway funds are exhausted.

If ever a piratical crew of politicians attempted to pull the wool over the eyes of the people, the conservatives in the special session did so in the case of unemployment insurance.

These politicians know that an election is in the offing. It happens, however, that the Senators do not come up for election this year, but the House members must run the gauntlet of the voters. So we witnessed the strange spectacle of reactionary House members actually voting for unemployment insurance. But this was not done until after the Senate had killed the measure. In other words, the House reactionaries were spared the embarrassment of seeking reelection with a vote against unemployment insurance for their opponents to shoot at, while the Senate reactionaries "took the heat".

Politics is a great game, but there is not a little evidence that the public is getting "hep to it."

The State Fire Marshall's Division, Department of Insurance, states that the daily fire losses in the United States comprise the following buildings: Six department stores, eight public garages, three printing plants, three dry goods stores, 96 farm buildings, 1700 dwellings, five schools, five churches, 15 hotels and two theatres.

According to figures released by Dewey W. Johnson, Deputy State Fire Marshal, every day twenty people lose their lives as a result of fire. Statistics show that the losses of lives and property by fire is greater than the combined wars of the United States. Therefore, warns the State Fire Marshal's Division—

"Keep your premises clean and during this cold wave be careful not to overload the heating plants."

An increase of $21,568,317 in deposits in state banks during 1935 is shown in the report just issued by Robert D. Beery, state commissioner of banks. On December 31, 1935, the deposits totaled $228,517,062.

According to the report of the state bank call as of December 31, 477 state banks, one savings bank and five trust companies had a reserve on hand of $13,003,877, or three times the amount required by law. During 1935, depositors in 206 closed banks received dividend checks totaling $3,513,516, according to Commissioner Beery. Liquidation of 31 banks was completed during the year.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 27, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Supplies of veal calves have been of moderate to light proportions recently and trade opened fully steady this week, better grades $9.00-10.50, a few $11.00, common and medium $6.00-8.00. Cattle supplies were only moderate but trade on slaughter steers opened slowly on a steady to weak basis, with she stock fully steady. Most medium and plainer grade steers turned at $6.00-8.00, with some held around $8.50, most warmed-up heifers $5.75-6.50, some good short-feds up to $7.25, bulk beef cows $4.75-5.75, a few to $6.25, cutter grades mainly $3.50-4.50. Common and medium bulls brought $5.25-6.00, good heavy beef bulls $6.25 or more. Several lots of steers and yearlings suitable for stocker and feeder purposes were salable at $5.50-6.75.

Hogs were mostly steady with Saturday, spots strong to 10c higher. Better 160-250 lb. hogs brought $9.60-9.75, a few up to $9.85, these weighing 160-180 lbs. Bulk 250-310 lb. butchers brought $9.40-9.65, heavier weights down to $9.15 or under, better 140-160 lbs. $9.50-9.75, sows mostly $8.65, a few desirable pigs $9.25-9.75.

Good to choice lambs opened at $10.00 or 25c lower with bulk of the fed lambs held around $10.25 still unsold late. Several loads of fed ewes were held above $4.50, these remaining unsold up to a late hour.

DOG GIVES LIFE TO WARN OF BAD FIRE

New Ulm. —A faithful Irish setter gave warning of a fire and called the fire department at New Ulm but gave its life in the attempt. Scratching at the door and barking his warning to passers-by, the dog brought the New Ulm fire department running in answer to the call within five minutes. But in staying at his post, the dog gave his own life, for when the door was chopped down the Irish setter was dead, overcome by smoke.

HOBBY COLLECTOR HAS 1,000 PHONOGRAPH RECORDS

Fergus Falls—A hobby of collecting phonograph records is indulged in by a Fergus Falls man, and a collection of 1,000 records has been made, with "more to come." Talking before the Rotary club, Fenwick Fetvedt explained that quite a number of people make a hobby of collecting the records, with several firms in the United States dealing in them. Some of the rare old records bring a high price, as do rare postage stamps, Fetvedt declared.

Americans just now seem to be divided in two great classes—the "indigent" and the indignant.—Troy Record.

KENDAHL HIGH MAN IN BOWLING LOOP DURING PAST WEEK

Scores 212 Tuesday; Bratrud Clinics Still at Top of League

Anton Kendahl, bowling for the Land O' Lakes team, ran up the high score of the past week, tipping over 212 pins when the Land O'Lakes took two out of three games from Borchert-Johnson Tuesday. Carl Olson, 177, was high for the latter team. On Monday the Bratrud Clinics took two out of three from Hamms. Allen Ulrich 185, and Oren Brandon 201, being high on the teams respectively.

Douglass Booren with 188 pins Tuesday led the Land O'Lakes to a shut out over Glucks, for whom Phil Prichard was high man with 180. On Thursday of last week the Times won two out of three over Borchert-Johnson. Ken Halldin at 194 and Harvey Beaurgard ten pins below that were high for the two teams.

The Bratrud Clinic still leads the league with 27 wins and 9 lost games, an average of 750. The other teams line up in the following order:

	W	L	Pct
Grainbelt	22	11	666
Borchert-Johnson	22	14	611

Returns From Carburetor School at St. Louis, Mo.

Maurice E. Novak returned last Wednesday from the Carter Carburetor School at St. Louis, where he studied carburetion and motor tuneup. He now has complete facilities for repairing and rebuilding Carter carburetors, which are standard equipment on most of the cars built today. The Thief River Falls Oil company next week will have their equipment set up for motor tuneup work. This equipment tests mileage before and after the motor is tuned, making it possible to guarantee additional mileage and better performance.

BONUS BILL MADE LAW OVER VETO OF PRES. ROOSEVELT

Senate Monday Overrides Veto by Margin of 76 to 19

Immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus was made law by congress Monday over President Roosevelt's veto.

The senate, with its big democratic majority, voted 76 to 19 to override the chief executive's veto. The house had smashed it down last week 324 to 61.

The two ballots, which saw top democratic leaders go against the President on the 16-year-old issue, put the $2,491,000,000 bond-payment plan on the statute books.

They raised also for Mr. Roosevelt and his financial advisers the serious problem of finding funds to meet the new drain on the treasury.

Whether new taxes will be asked to meet this extra-budget outlay—estimated to require an immediate expenditure of $1,000,000,000—remained to be seen.

The new law itself merely authorizes an appropriation of $2,237,000,000 and makes available $254,000,000 already in the bonus certificate fund to pay the bonus 1945 maturity value in $50 cashable bonds. An actual appropriation will have to be made later in some regular supply bill.

PROWLERS DROP GAME TO EAST GRAND FORKS FRI.

Local Team to Meet Tough Crookston Team There Friday

The Prowlers lost a hard contested basketball game to East Grand Forks last Friday the score being 23-16. The Prowlers played the East Grand five on even terms throughout the game with the exception of the end of the second quarter when Rockwood and Borenson of East Grand Forks put on a scoring spurt. At the end of the first quarter the Prowlers led 6-4 and at the end of the third period Chalky Reed's team led 19-13. The floor being exceptional small the Prowlers had a hard time becoming accustomed to it. Personal fouls were committed regularly but the Prowlers did not have a man taken out while East Grand had two men withdrawn on personals. Mickelson starred for the Prowlers.

Feb. 4 the Prowlers meet Plummer there. On Friday Feb. 7 the Warren Ponies will play the Prowlers in the Auditorium. The Prowlers have previously taken games from both teams, and both teams are out to do all they can to bring the Prowlers to defeat. Tomorrow the Prowlers are meeting the strong Crookston quint at Crookston. Crookston has beaten East Grand Forks and has been beaten by Warren and Bemidji. The game will undoubtedly be a hard fought one.

Rites Held Friday for Squire McMullen Who Died Early This Morning

Squire McMullen, 78 years old, who was struck by a taxi Christmas night, died to-day at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes.

Mr. McMullen was born in Lincoln, Ill. and spent his young manhood there. On Dec. 25th, 1887, he was married to Eliza Ellen White of Forest City, Ill., and lived there until Jan. 1903 when he moved to Petersburg, N. Dak. The following year he settled on a farm near Wheatland, N. Dak., where he remained until 1928. During that time he spent one winter in San Francisco, Calif. and another at San Pedro with his only son. In 1926 he and his wife returned to Illinois where Mrs. McMullen died in 1933. Since that time he has made his home with his daughter at Thief River Falls.

He is survived by his two children, Milton H. of San Pedro, Calif. and Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes of this city. He is also survived by a brother, John W. of Fort Collins, Colo., and two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Pearl and Mrs. Kathryn Davis of Lincoln, Ill.

Chapel services will be held in the Larson Funeral Chapel Friday 10:30 a. m., Rev. E. A. Cooke, pastor of the Community church, officiating. Funeral services will be held at Forest City, Ill. Dr. F. T. Mayer-Oakes, officiating and interment will be in the Pleasant Hill cemetery there.

To Start Second Round in Checker Tournament

The checker tournament at the Coffee Shop is well under way now with the first round started on Monday. Winners of the first round were Vernon Myrin, Harry Lund, Murry Finley, Hal Ekeren, Dr. G. W. Booren and Frank Fisher. There are three contests left for the first round and it is expected that they will be played so that the second round may start today.

"FOLKS, AMELIA EARHART!" —FOUND IT REALLY WAS!

Chaska.— A woman driving through Farmington stopped at a filling station for some gas. The attendant was busy, so his wife proceeded to give the femine autoist service. The stranger showed a great resemblance to Amelia Earhart, the famous flyer, and the Farmington woman told her so. Then an idea came into the station attendant's wife's head. "I have some ladies in the house, and I want to play a joke on them. Come in the house. I'll introduce you as the famous woman pilot," and they'll never know the difference." Obligingly, the driver agreed. And the big joke of the whole thing was that it was later learned that this stranger was Amelia Earhart.

Scotland Yard's Name

Scotland Yard, famous all over the world as the headquarters for the London police, takes its name from a palace which once stood on the site and which was built for the reception of the kings of Scotland.

Rexalls Take Lead in Intermediate Hockey Tournament

The intermediate hockey schedule is now well under way with the Rexall team under the leadership of Don Houfek taking the lead. The Cubs led by Ray Parbst are second in the race while Ray "Streamline" Olson and his Bridgeman team are trailing the others. The Rexalls have won four and lost one; the Cubs have two wins, two loses and a tie; and the Bridgemans have tied one and lost three. Outstanding players for the past week have been Roy Moline, and Hess. Hess making three out of four goals when the Bridgemen team tied the Cubs.

LOCAL OFFICE OF NRS REPORTS ON 3140 PLACEMENTS

19,051 in District Seek Employment Thru Federal Service

Statistical analysis of the National Reemployment Service activity for 1935 released from the district office at Thief River Falls for District No. 1 reveals increased interest in the use of employment offices in this territory. The district office reports 3,140 placements made by offices in this district and 19,051 contacts made by applicants seeking employment during the past year.

Out of a total of 4,107 persons referred to jobs, 583 were placed on public works (contract jobs), 121 on non-relief Emergency Relief Administration jobs which were in operation previous to the present works program, 51 in other governmental jobs other than proposed employment projects, 346 on present operating works program relief jobs, 490 in other works program contract jobs and 1549 in miscellaneous private employment.

Out of the total placements made, 822 were women. A total of 203 persons were taken off relief rolls and placed in employment not requiring relief status. Two hundred twenty-two ex-service men with dependents were put to work in various types of employment. The service placed 1,693 persons in regular employment lasting one month or longer and 1447 persons on temporary jobs of less than one month.

As many as 1,678 men and 692 women who had not registered previous to 1935 placed their applications for employment. Over 3,800 persons who had registered previous to 1935 reappeared at the offices. Periodic revisits by applicants seeking employment during 1935 exceeded 12,860.

In addition to employer contacts by correspondence and other means of communication, employment office interviewers made 2,619 personal contacts with private employers seeking jobs for those registered with the National Reemployment service.

1936-4-H Essay Contest Deals With Cooperation

The fourth annual 4-H club essay contest on the general subject, "cooperation" will be offered to Minnesota 4-H club members in 1936, announces T. A. Erickson, state 4-H club leader, University Farm, St. Paul.

As in the previous contests, each entrant may write about one of several definitely selected phases of this subject, including "The Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and Cooperation", the "Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., and Cooperation," and the "Central Cooperative Association and Cooperation." A class will also be provided for members who wish to write on subjects of their own choosing. Trips, watches and other prizes will be given the winners by the foregoing organizations.

December 1, 1936, is the final date on which the essays may be submitted. Club members wishing to enter the contest are advised to consult their local or county club leaders.

PASSENGER TRAIN KILLS FIVE HORSES

Park Rapids—Five horses owned by Charles H. Smith near Park Rapids were killed last week when struck by the passenger train. The animals had wandered away from the home place in the storm the previous day and were on the right of way near a highway crossing when struck. Three of the horses were killed outright, and two with broken legs were later shot by deputy sheriff Glen Larson. A sixth horse was uninjured. The animals were valued by Smith at about $500.

F. L. CONVENTION IN ST. PAUL IS SET FOR MARCH 27-28

State Association Issues Call for Biennial Meeting

Farmer-laborites Saturday issued the call for their biennial convention, leaving it to the convention itself to decide whether candidates for state office will be indorsed.

Leaders, fixing the call for March 27 and 28 in St. Paul, announced that an intensive campaign to win control of the legislature will be waged along with efforts in behalf of the state ticket.

Indications were that the strongly worded platform which created trouble in 1934 will be toned down. Already proposals for the platform are being collected, and a tentative draft may be ready for convention consideration.

The state central committee of the Farmer-Labor Association issued the call for the convention as its major business at a session Saturday. Sentiment was divided should indorse candidates, as a big field of candidates is in prospect for most offices.

There are many candidates for governor already more or less actively in the field, and the senatorial race depends on ability of Governor Olson to participate actively. He has announced he will be a candidate subject to convention indorsement.

J. W. Taylor Addresses Junior C. C. Thursday

At a meeting of the Junior Civic and Commerce last Thursday, J. W. Taylor head of the Mud Lake resettlement project explained his work to the members. The meeting was held in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the auditorium. Alfred Cloutier served the dinner for the first time. The next meeting will be Feb. 6.

Montgomery Ward & Co. Issues Spring Catalogue

Montgomery Ward announced today the release of its spring and summer catalog. More than six million copies are now being distributed to as many families throughout the United States.

The book contains 100 more pages than last year's spring and summer catalog. So large is the number of copies that the shipment would fill 6 freight trains of the average length, 50 cars. About one half a million pounds of ink and enough paper to cover the United States are being used in making up the book.

Severe Cold Weather Continues This Week

This section Friday will have reached the end of the third week during which period the mercury has not failed to drop far below the zero mark, scarcely rising above that point at any time. The lowest temperature recorded during the past week was last Friday when the mercury dropped to -39.5. Readings for the following days were -16 Saturday, -23 Sunday and Monday, -25 Tuesday, -26 Wednesday, and -12 this morning.

Former Residents of Excel Township Die in Blaze Near Fairmont

Removed to a hospital at Truman with the aid of a ten ton tractor, Mrs. Henry Ehlert, 56 year old farm woman of near Fairmont Monday was given a chance for recovery after spending eight hours in a snowdrift when her home burned at midnight Friday and took the lives of her husband and son. The tractor was used to break a road after snowplows had failed.

Mrs. Ehlert revealed that when she reached the outdoors in a 20-below zero temperature she was without clothing of any kind. Passing through a blast of flame in the kitchen, which cost her husband's life, her night clothes were burned off and her body badly seared.

The Ehlert family at one time farmed in Excel township, Marshall county, leaving there about five years ago to live near Fairmont.

B. O. Norby Speaker at Rotary Club Tuesday

Following the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon, a classification talk was given by B. O. Norby, manager of the local Land O'Lakes poultry plant. Bob Booren gave a demonstration of sleight of hand and Harold F. Harrison supplied a group of piano solos.

Rocksbury Residents to Talk Electrification

Residents of the southern part of Rocksbury township were invited this week by County Agent R. M. Douglass to attend a meeting at Valhall hall Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock to discuss the feasibility of tieing up with the Goodridge rural electrification project. A full attendance is urged so that the matters may be thoroly discussed.

Ford Motor Company Issues Farm Almanac

Publication of a "Farm Almanac and Facts Book" which will be distributed to the rural population in all parts of the country was announced today by the Ford Motor Company. The book is of a convenient pocket size, containing 48 pages. It is unusual in makeup and content, presenting an extensive array of handy tables, statistics and charts for the assistance of the farmer and business man. Other sections are designed to aid the farm wife.

Magnus Johnson Still in Critical Condition

Attendants to former Senator Magnus Johnson, pneumonia patient at a hospital in St. Paul, reported his condition Wednesday "about the same" as yesterday. Johnson has been in critical condition since complications set in after he was struck by an automobile. His temperature and pulse were reported nearing normal yesterday.

CITY OFFICIALS WILL CONVENE AT CROOKSTON FEB. 6

Call District Meeting of League of Minnesota Municipalities

Municipal officials from fourteen counties in the northwestern section of Minnesota will attend a regional conference sponsored by the League of Minnesota Municipalities in cooperation with the City of Crookston Thursday Feb. 6.

Invitations have been sent to ninety-six cities and villages within driving distance of Crookston. In addition to city and village officials, delegates are expected from counties and townships. Mayor W. J. Kirkwood of Crookston is extending invitations on behalf of his city. Any person interested in municipal government is cordially invited to attend.

The Crookston conference will permit the officials in cities and villages within a reasonable distance to meet together and consider informally the governmental problems common to all. In all probability these subjects will include: (1) Works Progress Administration, (2) relief, (3) liquor, (4) business licensing, (5) debt refinancing, (6) assessment of properties, (7) tax limits.

"SALESMAN" TRANSFERS BUYER'S NAME TO CHECK

Pipestone—An alleged salesman for the nursery company took other things than orders for nursery stock from Pipestone residents last week. Securing a signed order from C. E. Hansen, the salesman then proceeded to copy the signature on a local bank check. He issued the check to himself in the name of Roy Petersen, in the sum of $4.40, and after endorsing it, cashed it at a Pipestone store. The forgery was promptly discovered at the bank, but the expert penman was conspicuous by his absence.

INK BOTTLE, LOST YEARS AGO, EMBEDDED IN TREE

Red Wing—An ink bottle discarded years ago was found embedded in the limb of a tree at the Goodhue village school grounds by John Bucholtz, who was engaged in trimming the trees. The part of the limb which had encircled the bottle was aproximately five inches in diameter.

Early Day Bridges

Before reading the article about the old plat of Thief River Falls in the January 16 issue of the Times the writer had begun an article on pioneer bridges. Naturally, the bridge sketched in the plat was a grandiloquent gesture, but, while the predictions were extravagant for 1884, time has proved that they were really modest. It was simply a case of an enthusiast using brilliant colors to paint a picture on the canvas of the future and failing to make it as rosy as reality.

But it is the bridge in which we are interested. It certainly is strange that the residents of northwestern Minnesota manage to get along with as few and as inadequate bridges as they did. It seems that motor vehicle traffic awakened the people to a realization of their needs and brought about a new era of bridge building.

Before presenting our comments on this phase of pioneer development, however, we wish to point out that one of the townsite proprietors, Frank H. Kratka, who did not arrive in the city until 1884, proved that he had faith in the rosy predictions of the prospectus. He erected a three-story building and waited until 1893 for it to become the "Great Northern" hotel. Carl Kretschmar made a deal with A. Wright for a sawmill site Feb. 7, 1891, according to the writer's records. By the way, these notes also reveal that Gottfried Adolph, former owner of the plat, became head miller and manager when Martin Furrell of East Grand Forks in 1891 purchased the North Spring flour mills, erected in 1888. Certainly developments soon got under way to bring to much more than a realization the prophesies of the prospectus authors.

In the study of bridge-building in pioneer days we must consider that an adequate span usually necessitated a heavy expenditure. The writer happens to know that a bridge at Henderson, Minn., built in the early 80's, cost $10,000, that is, that was the cash price, but actually cost the taxpayers $60,000 with interest on the bonds over a long period. Nowdays bridges invariably are built as trunk highway spans and federal aid in the construction. In the early years when taxes were and population also light such heavy expenditures were impractical. But conditions have changed. Here is what is written about bridges:

"Crossing streams was a serious problem at certain times of the year for travelers who made the overland trip from the Canadian boundary to St. Paul in the frontier days. The routes west of Thief River Falls and Thief river, being to the east and running south did not need to be crossed, but the Red Lake river often caused considerable trouble. Recently Mrs. Margaret Arnett Macleod of Winnipeg, writing of overland travel in Minnesota, told of difficulties encountered. She pointed out that there were 13 streams to be negotiated when the trip from Pembina to St. Paul was made on the Dakota side of the Red river and it is evident that there were many more when the route on this side was followed. Mrs. Macleod says that in some cases bridges were built by travellers and left for those who came after them, that some rivers could be forded in places and that others were crossed only by felling trees and building bridges. We know that the Red Lake river was forded at Old Crossing and elsewhere.

But the problems that confronted travellers were formidable, much more so than any that greet motorists that find bridges out detours marked. "Sometimes in frontier days when streams were swollen and time was short the travellers elected to "swim" across. We use the quotation marks because the people themselves did not always swim. Oxen were driven into the stream and the carts attached to long ropes fastened round the animals' necks so that they towed the carts and were not hampered by being harnessed to them. Horses swam well and it was seldom that animals were drowned. Men sometimes rode on the backs of their horses and sometimes when the current was strong a bold traveller would grasp his horses tail and swim behind him. here is a record of a priest crossing the Red Lake river this way once. He retained his grip with great difficulty and was nearly swept off into the current in midstream

Travellers built several kinds of bridges. Over narrow, deep streams bridges of logs were made, the spaces between the logs being filled with brush and earth. Wider spans required pontoon bridges made of floating logs fastened together. Sometimes when ropes were available suspension bridges were built. But in early frontier years facilities for bridge building were few.

ROOSTER WITH FOUR LEGS LEAPS LIKE KANGAROO

Cloquet.—Believe it or not, a rooster owned by William Curtis, farmer near Cloquet, has four legs and uses all of them with apparent ease. To prove it, he frequently chases a dog about the premises. The chicken is seven months old and weighs eight pounds. the secondary pair of legs are fully developed, appearing back of the usual appendages, and give the rooster very much of the effect of a kangaroo in its leaps around the barnyard.

SILVERTON

Martin Barstad accompanied by Leonard Moline of Wylie and Herbert Grinde of Thief River Falls visited last Sunday at the A. M. Barstad home in Smiley. Martin Barstad and Leonard returned to Wylie the same evening where Mr. Barstad is teaching. —Gilman Omundson of St. Hilaire has been visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Solmonson. —The county snow plow cleared road 18 last Thursday of drifts from the storm which struck the first of the week. Needless to say every one was thankful as it opened a large territory to car traffic. The terrific cold of the past week made cars and an open road a greater boon than ever to country residents.

Raymond Rustad of Minneapolis came for an indefinite visit at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Tornwall of Smiley.

Mr. and Mrs. Einar Barstad and daughter June of Thief River Falls were guests Sunday at the A. M. Barstad home.—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Woolson and daughters Bernice, Rhea and Dorothy were guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Patten in Thief River Falls. —Dorothy Skiblicki of Cloverleaf is making her home for the present with her sister, Mrs. John Rothnes and attending Hiawatha school. —Mrs. Theodore Bjorge, Mrs. Leonard Helgeland and Mrs. Ole Helgeland will be hostesses to the "Do-A-Way" sewing club on Saturday, Feb. 1st. The meeting will be held at the Bjorge home.

Friends of Mrs. Marit Hegrenes will be glad to hear that she was released from the hospital and is now staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Einer Barstad where she will stay until she can return to her home in Silverton.

Severin Barstad was a brief caller at Woolsons on Saturday. Mrs. Barstad and Severin spent Saturday in town where they visited with Mrs. Hegrenes at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Einar Barstad.

Elwell School Notes

A bean bag contest has been the chief interest at Elwell school during the extremely cold weather and ended with Hazel Hegrenes in first place with a total score of 165 points. Doris Hegrenes was second with a score of 140. Ruby Hegrenes third with a score of 135 and Vera Luhe 4th with a score of 125 points. The losing bean bag team at Elwell school gave a party for the winning team Friday afternoon, the losing team furnishing the lunch. Games and stunts were rewarded with prizes. Bernice Woolson spent the day at school and enjoyed the party very much. School has been held every day during the extreme cold with a good attendance except Wednesday when Margery Christensen was the only pupil. Margaret has a perfect attendance so far this term.

FIREMAN GROOMS FOR HUMAN TORCH ROLE

North St. Paul.—When a fireman takes afire, that's news. Andrew Kasper came perilously close to making the headlines in the role of a human firebrand when his coworkers on the North St. Paul fire department were forced to focus a hose shooting ice cold water at him as they battled a garage fire near that village. In efforts to prevent the spread of the flames to the house nearby, the fire fighters were forced to work at such close quarters with the blaze that Kasper's heat-saturated clothing began to smoke. Timely inundation from the hose prevented him from going up in smoke, it was reported.

KENDAHL HIGH MAN IN BOWLING LOOP DURING PAST WEEK

Scores 212 Tuesday; Bratrud Clinics Still at Top of League

Anton Kendahl, bowling for the Land O' Lakes team, ran up the high score of the past week, tipping over 212 pins when the Land O'Lakes took two out of three games from Borchert-Johnson Tuesday. Carl Olson, 177, was high for the latter team. On Monday the Bratrud Clinics took two out of three from Hamme. Allen Ulrich 185, and Oren Brabdon 201, being high on the teams respectively.

Douglass Bouren with 188 pins Tuesday led the Land O'Lakes to a shut out over Glueks, for whom Phil Prichard was high man with 180. On Thursday of last week the Times won two out of three over Borchert-Johnson. Ken Halldin at 194 and Harvey Beaurgard ten pins below that were high for the two teams.

The Bratrud Clinic still leads the league with 27 wins and 9 lost games, an average of 750. The other teams line up in the following order:

	W	L	Pct
Grainbelt	22	11	666
Borchert-Johnson	22	14	611
Bridgeman	18	15	545
Times	16	17	484
Land O Lakes	15	21	416
Glueks	10	23	300
Hamme	9	27	250

Returns From Carburetor School at St. Louis, Mo.

Maurice E. Novak returned last Wednesday from the Carter Carburetor School at St. Louis, where he studied carburetion and motor tuneup. He now has complete facilities for repairing and rebuilding Carter carburetors, which are standard equipment on most of the cars built today. The Thief River Falls Oil company next week will have their equipment set up for motor tuneup work. This equipment tests mileage before and after the motor is tuned, making it possible to guarantee additional mileage and better performance.

BONUS BILL MADE LAW OVER VETO OF PRES. ROOSEVELT

Senate Monday Overrides Veto by Margin of 76 to 19

Immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus was made law by congress Monday over President Roosevelt's veto.

The senate, with its big democratic majority, voted 76 to 19 to override the chief executive's veto. The house had smashed it down last week 324 to 61.

The two ballots, which saw top democratic leaders go against the President on the 16-year-old issue, put the $2,491,000,000 bond-payment plan on the statute books.

They raised also for Mr. Roosevelt and his financial advisers the serious problem of finding funds to meet the new drain on the treasury.

Whether new taxes will be asked to meet this extra-budget outlay—estimated to require an immediate expenditure of $1,000,000,000—remained to be seen.

The new law itself merely authorizes an appropriation of $2,237,000,000 and makes available $254,000,000 already in the bonus certificate fund to pay the bonus 1945 maturity value in $50 cashable bonds. An actual appropriation will have to be made later in some regular supply bill.

PROWLERS DROP GAME TO EAST GRAND FORKS FRI.

Local Team to Meet Tough Crookston Team There Friday

The Prowlers lost a hard contested basketball game to East Grand Forks last Friday the score being 23-16. The Prowlers played the East Grand five on even terms throughout the game with the exception of the end of the second quarter when Rockwood and Sorenson of East Grand Forks put on a scoring spurt. At the end of the first quarter the Prowlers led 5-4 and at the end of the third period Chalky Reed's team led 19-13. The floor being exceptional small the Prowlers had a hard time becoming accustomed to it. Personal fouls were committed regularly but the Prowlers did not have a man taken out while East Grand had two men withdrawn on personals. Mickelson starred for the Prowlers.

Feb. 4 the Prowlers meet Plummer there. On Friday Feb. 7 the Warren Ponies will play the Prowlers in the Auditorium. The Prowlers have previously taken games from both teams, and both teams are out to do all they can to bring the Prowlers to defeat. Tomorrow the Prowlers are meeting the strong Crookston quint at Crookston. Crookston has beaten East Grand Forks and has been beaten by Warren and Bemidji. The game will undoubtedly be a hard fought one.

Rites Held Friday for Squire McMullen Who Died Early This Morning

Squire McMullen, 78 years old, who was struck by a taxi Christmas night, died to-day at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes.

Mr. McMullen was born in Lincoln, Ill. and spent his young manhood there. On Dec. 25th, 1883, he was married to Eliza Ellen White of Forest City, Ill., and lived there until Jan. 1903 when he moved to Petersburg, N. Dak. The following year he settled on a farm near Wheatland, N. Dak., where he remained until 1928. During that time he spent one winter in San Francisco, Calif. and another at San Pedro with his only son. In 1926 he and his wife returned to Illinois where Mrs. McMullen died in 1933. Since that time he has made his home with his daughter at Thief River Falls.

He is survived by his two children, Milton B. of San Pedro, Calif. and Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes of this city. He is also survived by a brother, John W. of Fort Collins, Colo., and two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Pearl and Mrs. Kathryn Davis of Lincoln, Ill.

Chapel services will be held in the Larson Funeral Chapel Friday 10:30 a. m., Rev. E. A. Cooke, pastor of the Community church, officiating. Funeral services will be held at Forest City, Ill. Dr. F. T. Mayer-Oakes, officiating and interment will be in the Pleasant Hill cemetery there.

To Start Second Round in Checker Tournament

The checker tournament at the Coffee Shop is well under way now with the first round started on Monday. Winners of the first round were Vernon Myrin, Harry Lund, Murry Finley, Hal Ekeren, Dr. G. W. Booren and Frank Fisher. There are three contests left for the first round and it is expected that they will be played so that the second round may start today.

"FOLKS, AMELIA EARHART!" —FOUND IT REALLY WAS!

Chaska.— A woman driving through Farmington stopped at a filling station for some gas. The attendant was busy, so his wife proceeded to give the femine autoist service. The stranger showed a great resemblance to Amelia Earhart, the famous flyer, and the Farmington woman told her so. Then an idea came into the station attendant's wife's head. "I have some ladies in the house, and I want to play a joke on them. Come in the house. I'll introduce you as the famous woman pilot, and they'll never know the difference." Obligingly, the driver agreed. And the big joke of the whole thing was that it was later learned that this stranger was Amelia Earhart.

Rexalls Take Lead in Intermediate Hockey Tournament

The intermediate hockey schedule is now well under way with the Rexall team under the leadership of Don Houfek taking the lead. The Cubs led by Ray Parbst are second in the race while Ray "Streamline" Olson and his Bridgeman team are trailing the others. The Rexalls have won four and lost one; the Cubs have two wins, two loses and a tie; and the Bridgemans have tied one and lost three. Outstanding players for the past week have been Roy Moline, and Hess. Hess making three out of four goals when the Bridgemen team tied the Cubs.

19,051 in District Seek Employment Thru Federal Service

Statistical analysis of the National Reemployment Service activity for 1935 released from the district office at Thief River Falls for District No. 1 reveals increased interest in the use of employment offices in this territory. The district office reports 3,140 placements made by offices in this district and 19,051 contacts made by applicants seeking employment during the past year.

Out of a total of 4,197 persons referred to jobs, 583 were placed on public works (contract jobs), 121 on non-relief Emergency Relief Administration jobs which were in operation previous to the present works program, 51 in other governmental jobs other than proposed employment projects, 346 on present operating works program relief jobs, 490 in other works program contract jobs and 1549 in miscellaneous private employment.

Out of the total placements made, 522 were women. A total of 203 persons were taken off relief rolls and placed in employment not requiring relief status. Two hundred twenty-two ex-service men with dependents were put to work in various types of employment. The service placed 1,693 persons in regular employment lasting one month or longer and 1447 persons on temporary jobs of less than one month.

As many as 1,078 men and 699 women who had not registered previous to 1935 placed their applications for employment. Over 3,800 persons who had registered previous to 1935 reappeared at the offices. Periodic revisits by applicants seeking employment during 1935 exceeded 12,860.

In addition to employer contacts by correspondence and other means of communication, employment office interviewers made 2,619 personal contacts with private employers seeking jobs for those registered with the National Reemployment service.

1936-4-H Essay Contest Deals With Cooperation

The fourth annual 4-H club essay contest on the general subject, "cooperation" will be offered to Minnesota 4-H club members in 1936, announces T. A. Erickson, state 4-H club leader, University Farm, St. Paul.

As in the previous contests, each entrant may write about one of several definitely selected phases of this subject, including "The Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and Cooperation", the "Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., and Cooperation," and the "Central Cooperative Association and Cooperation." A class will also be provided for members who wish to write on subjects of their own choosing. Trips, watches and other prizes will be given the winners by the foregoing organizations.

December 1, 1936, is the final date on which the essays may be submitted. Club members wishing to enter the contest are advised to consult their local or county club leaders.

PASSENGER TRAIN KILLS FIVE HORSES

Park Rapids—Five horses owned by Charles H. Smith near Park Rapids were killed last week when struck by the passenger train. The animals had wandered away from the home place in the storm the previous day and were on the right of way near a highway crossing when struck. Three of the horses were killed outright, and two with broken legs were later shot by deputy sheriff Glen Larson. A sixth horse was uninjured. The animals were valued by Smith at about $500.

F. L. CONVENTION IN ST. PAUL IS SET FOR MARCH 27-28

State Association Issues Call for Biennial Meeting

Farmer-laborites Saturday issued the call for their biennial convention, leaving it to the convention itself to decide whether candidates for state office will be indorsed.

Leaders, fixing the call for March 27 and 28 in St. Paul, announced that an intensive campaign to win control of the legislature will be waged along with efforts in behalf of the state ticket.

Indications were that the strongly worded platform which created trouble in 1934 will be toned down. Already proposals for the platform are being collected, and a tentative draft may be ready for convention consideration.

The state central committee of the Farmer-Labor Association issued the call for the convention as its major business at a session Saturday. Sentiment was divided should indorse candidates, as a big field of candidates is in prospect for most offices.

There are many candidates for governor already more or less actively in the field, and the senatorial race depends on ability of Governor Olson to participate actively. He has announced he will be a candidate subject to convention indorsement.

J. W. Taylor Addresses Junior C. C. Thursday

At a meeting of the Junior Civic and Commerce last Thursday, J. W. Taylor head of the Mud Lake resettlement project explained his work to the members. The meeting was held in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the auditorium. Alfred Cloutier served the dinner for the first time. The next meeting will be Feb. 6.

Montgomery Ward & Co. Issues Spring Catalogue

Montgomery Ward announced today the release of its spring and summer catalog. More than six million copies are now being distributed to as many families throughout the United States.

The book contains 100 more pages than last year's spring and summer catalog. So large is the number of copies that the shipment would fill 6 freight trains of the average length, 50 cars. About one half a million pounds of ink and enough paper to cover the United States are being used in making up the book.

Severe Cold Weather Continues This Week

This section Friday will have reached the end of the third week during which period the mercury has not failed to drop far below the zero mark, scarcely rising above that point at any time. The lowest temperature recorded during the past week was last Friday when the mercury dropped to -39.5. Readings for the following days were -16 Saturday, -23 Sunday and Monday, -25 Tuesday, -26 Wednesday, and -12 this morning.

Former Residents of Excel Township Die in Blaze Near Fairmont

Removed to a hospital at Truman with the aid of a ten ton tractor, Mrs. Henry Ehlert, 56 year old farm woman of near Fairmont Monday was given a chance for recovery after spending eight hours in a snowdrift when her home burned at midnight Friday and took the lives of her husband and son. The tractor was used to break a road after snowplows had failed.

Mrs. Ehlert revealed that when she reached the outdoors in a 20-below zero temperature she was without clothing of any kind. Passing through a blast of flame in the kitchen, which cost her husband's life, her night clothes were burned off and her body badly seared.

The Ehlert family at one time farmed in Excel township, Marshall county, leaving there about five years ago to live near Fairmont.

B. O. Norby Speaker at Rotary Club Tuesday

Following the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon, a classification talk was given by B. O. Norby, manager of the local Land O'Lakes poultry plant. Bob Booren gave a demonstration of sleight of hand and Harold F. Harrison supplied a group of piano solos.

Rocksbury Residents to Talk Electrification

Residents of the southern part of Rocksbury township were invited this week by County Agent R. M. Douglass to attend a meeting at Valhall hall Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock to discuss the feasibility of tieing up with the Goodridge rural electrification project. A full attendance is urged so that the matters may be thoroly discussed.

Ford Motor Company Issues Farm Almanac

Publication of a "Farm Almanac and Facts Book" which will be distributed to the rural population in all parts of the country was announced today by the Ford Motor Company. The book is of a convenient pocket size, containing 48 pages. It is unusual in makeup and content, presenting an extensive array of handy tables, statistics and charts for the assistance of the farmer and business man. Other sections are designed to aid the farm wife.

Magnus Johnson Still in Critical Condition

Attendants to former Senator Magnus Johnson, pneumonia patient at a hospital in St. Paul, reported his condition Wednesday "about the same" as yesterday. Johnson has been in critical condition since complications set in after he was struck by an automobile. His temperature and pulse were reported nearing normal yesterday.

CITY OFFICIALS WILL CONVENE AT CROOKSTON FEB. 6

Call District Meeting of League of Minnesota Municipalities

Municipal officials from fourteen counties in the northwestern section of Minnesota will attend a regional conference sponsored by the League of Minnesota Municipalities in cooperation with the City of Crookston Thursday Feb. 6.

Invitations have been sent to ninety-six cities and villages within driving distance of Crookston. In addition to city and village officials, delegates are expected from counties and townships. Mayor W. J. Kirkwood of Crookston is extending invitations on behalf of his city. Any person interested in municipal government is cordially invited to attend.

The Crookston conference will permit the officials in cities and villages within a reasonable distance to meet together and consider informally the governmental problems common to all. In all probability these subjects will include: (1) Works Progress Administration, (2) relief, (3) liquor, (4) business licensing, (5) debt refinancing, (6) assessment of properties, (7) tax limits.

"SALESMAN" TRANSFERS BUYER'S NAME TO CHECK

Pipestone—An alleged salesman for the nursery company took other things than orders for nursery stock from Pipestone residents last week. Securing a signed order from C. E. Hansen, the salesman then proceeded to copy the signature on a local bank check. He issued the check to himself in the name of Roy Petersen, in the sum of $4.40, and after endorsing it, cashed it at a Pipestone store. The forgery was promptly discovered at the bank, but the expert penman was conspicuous by his absence.

INK BOTTLE, LOST YEARS AGO, EMBEDDED IN TREE

Red Wing—An ink bottle discarded years ago was found embedded in the limb of a tree at the Goodhue village school grounds by John Bucholtz, who was engaged in trimming the trees. The part of the limb which had encircled the bottle was aproximately five inches in diameter.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

Early Day Bridges

Before reading the article about the old plat of Thief River Falls in the January 16 issue of the Times the writer had begun an article on pioneer bridges. Naturally, the bridge sketched in the plat was a grandiloquent gesture, but, while the predictions were extravagant for 1884, time has proved that they were really modest. It was simply a case of an enthusiast using brilliant colors to paint a picture on the canvas of the future and failing to make it as rosy as reality.

But it is the bridge in which we are interested. It certainly is strange that the residents of northwestern Minnesota managed to get along with so few and so inadequate bridges as they did.

It seems that motor vehicle traffic awakened the people to a realization of their needs and brought about a new era of bridge building.

Before presenting our comments on this phase of pioneer development, however, we wish to point out that one of the townsite proprietors, Frank H. Kratka, who did not arrive in the city until 1884, proved that he had faith in the rosy predictions of the prospectus. He erected a three-story building and waited until 1893 for it to become the "Great Northern" hotel. Carl Kretschmar made a deal with A. Wright for a sawmill site Feb. 7, 1891, according to the writer's records. By the way, these notes also reveal that Gottfried Adolph, former owner of the plat, became head miller and manager when Martin Purcell of East Grand Forks in 1891 purchased the North Spring flour mills, erected in 1888. Certainly developments soon got under way to bring to much more than a realization the prophecies of the prospectus authors.

In the study of bridge-building in pioneer days we must consider that an adequate span usually necessitated a heavy expenditure. The writer happens to know that a bridge at Henderson, Minn., built in the early 80's, cost $10,000; that is, that was the cash price, but actually cost the taxpayers $60,000 with interest on the bonds over a long period. Nowdays bridges invariably are built as trunk highway spans and federal aid in the construction. In the early years when taxes were and population also light such heavy expenditures were impractical. But conditions have changed. Here is what is written about bridges:

Crossing streams was a serious problem at certain times of the year for travelers who made the overland trip from the Canadian boundary to St. Paul in the frontier days. The routes west of Thief River Falls and Thief river, being to the east and running south did not need to be crossed, but the Red Lake river often caused considerable trouble. Recently Mrs. Margaret Arnett Macleod of Winnipeg, writing of overland travel in Minnesota, told on difficulties encountered. She pointed out that there were 13 streams to be negotiated when the trip from Pembina to St. Paul was made on the Dakota side of the Red river and it is evident that there were many more when the route on this side was followed. Mrs. Macleod says that in some cases bridges were built by travellers and left for those who came after them, that some rivers could be forded in places and that others were crossed only by felling trees and building bridges. We know that the Red Lake river was forded at Old Crossing and elsewhere.

But the problems that confronted travellers were formidable, much more so than any that greet motorists that find bridges out detours marked. Sometimes in frontier days when streams were swollen and time was short the travellers elected to "swim" across. We use the quotation marks because the people themselves did not always swim. Oxen were driven into the stream and the carts attached to long ropes fastened round the animals' necks so that they towed the carts and were not hampered by being harnessed to them. Horses swam well and it was seldom that animals were drowned. Men sometimes rode on the backs of their horses and sometimes when the current was strong a bold traveller would grasp his horse's tail and swim behind him. There is a record of a priest crossing the Red Lake river this way once. He retained his grip with great difficulty and was nearly swept off into the current in mid-stream.

Travellers built several kinds of bridges. Over narrow, deep streams bridges of logs were made, the spaces between the logs being filled with brush and earth. Wider spans required pontoon bridges made of floating logs fastened together. Sometimes when ropes were available suspension bridges were built. But in early frontier years facilities for bridge building were few.

ROOSTER WITH FOUR LEGS LEAPS LIKE KANGAROO

Cloquet.—Believe it or not, a rooster owned by William Curtis, farmer near Cloquet, has four legs and uses all of them with apparent ease. To prove it, he frequently chases a dog about the premises. The chicken is seven months old and weighs eight pounds, the secondary pair of legs are fully developed, appearing back of the usual appendages, and give the rooster very much of the effect of a kangaroo in its leaps around the barnyard.

SILVERTON

Martin Barstad accompanied by Leonard Moline of Wylie and Herbert Grinde of Thief River Falls visited last Sunday at the A. M. Barstad home in Smiley. Martin Barstad and Leonard returned to Wylie the same evening where Mr. Barstad is teaching. —Gilman Omundson of St. Hilaire has been visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Solmonson. —The county snow plow cleared road 18 last Thursday of drifts from the storm which struck the first of the week. Needless to say every one was thankful as it opened a large territory to car traffic. The terrific cold of the past week made cars and an open road a greater boon than ever to country residents.

Raymond Rustad of Minneapolis came for an indefinite visit at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Turnwall of Smiley.

Mr. and Mrs. Elnar Barstad and daughter June of Thief River Falls were guests Sunday at the A. M. Barstad home.—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Woolson and daughters Bernice, Rhea and Dorothy were guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Patten in Thief River Falls. —Dorothy Skibicki of Cloverleaf is making her home for the present with her sister, Mrs. John Barthes and attending Hiawatha school. —Mrs. Theodore Bjorge, Mrs. Leonard Helgeland and Mrs. Ole Helgeland will be hostesses to the "Do-A-Way" sewing club on Saturday, Feb. 1st. The meeting will be held at the Bjorge home.

Friends of Mrs. Marit Hegrenes will be glad to hear that she was released from the hospital and is now staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elner Barstad where she will stay until she can return to her home in Silverton.

Severin Barstad was a brief caller at Woolsons on Saturday. Mrs. Barstad and Severin spent Saturday in town where they visited with Mrs. Hegrenes at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elnar Barstad.

Elwell School Notes

A bean bag contest has been the chief interest at Elwell school during the extremely cold weather and ended with Hazel Hegrenes in first place with a total score of 165 points. Doris Hegrenes was second with a score of 140, Ruby Hegrenes third with a score of 135 and Vera Luhe 4th with a score of 125 points. The losing bean bag team at Elwell school gave a party for the winning team Friday afternoon, the losing team furnishing the lunch. Games and stunts were rewarded with prizes. Bernice Woolson spent the day at school and enjoyed the party very much. School has been held every day during the extreme cold with a good attendance except Wednesday when Margery Christensen was the only pupil. Margaret has a perfect attendance so far this term.

FIREMAN GROOMS FOR HUMAN TORCH ROLE

North St. Paul.—When a fireman takes afire, that's news. Andrew Kasper came perilously close to making the headlines in the role of a human firebrand when his co-workers on the North St. Paul fire department were forced to focus a hose shooting ice cold water at him as they battled a garage fire near that village. In efforts to prevent the spread of the flames to the house nearby, the fire fighters were forced to work at such close quarters with the blaze that Kasper's heat-saturated clothing began to smoke. Timely inundation from the hose prevented him from going up in smoke, it was reported.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

LITTLE GREEN WAVES DEFEAT PROWLERS 23-16

East Grand Forks Show Themselves Invincible on Home Floor

The Prowlers received their first loss in district competition Friday when they lost a rugged battle to East Grand Forks 23-16.

After Sorensen got the first basket, the Prowlers came back and took the lead on shots by Jung and Bud Nelson, to lead at the end of the first quarter 5 to 4. The Green Wave came back strong in the next quarter and left the floor at the half, leading 16 to 9. This sudden lead came as a result of several nice shots by Peterson and Rockwood.

In the second half the Prowlers came back strong but were held on even terms with first one team scoring, then the other. The score at the end of the third quarter was 19 to 13.

The small floor caused the game to be rather ragged and 23 fouls were called. This number could easily have been much greater, but Referee Starbeck called only a minimum number because of the small space. The game was played on even terms at all times except in the second quarter when the East Siders pulled away with a series of nice shots and never lost the lead after that.

For the Prowlers Mickelson played outstanding ball while Rockwood was outstanding for the East Grand team.

GYM GEMS

'S funny how contagious "headaches" or "n' awful pain in my side" can be. Lincoln High has a full quota of potential actresses—everyone is losing one shoe—suits have suddenly shrunk or increased in size (you couldn't be wearing anyone elses?)—girl's basketball is all arms, legs, and floor burns—(but give us time!)—all the gals bange sorta "strangle" after gym and—how we're fighting for a reward and don't know what 'tis.

"Mystery Reward"—sounds like it calls for a kidnapping—is the reward we're all striving for in our Captainball.

The Color Tournament goes on! Recent games played are the following: Red vs. Green and Blue vs. Orange—Reds beat the Green, score 14-10; and Blue beat the Orange, score 10-6.

LOCAL DECLAM CONTEST HELD

Anderson, Swanson and Furuseth Ar eWinners

On Monday evening, January 27, Miss Steenerson, local declamation coach, presented a group of seven students in the dramatic division of the declamation contest. The contest was held in the high school assembly beginning at seven-thirty o'clock. Miss Greenland, Miss Lunder, and Mr. Montague acted as judges.

Violet Anderson presenting "Blessed Damosel", Edna Swanson delivering "The Lady with the Lamp", and Evelyn Furuseth reciting "Cataracts" were chosen as the representatives from the dramatic division. These three will compete for higher honors at a later date.

The following other students presented dramatic readings: Lorraine Haken, Lorraine Lechelt, Violet Langevin, and Ragna Folkedahl. Barbara Reep did not deliver her reading because of illness.

Celeste Crown played a selection on the piano while the judges were deciding the winners.

CROOKSTON IS NEXT OPPONENT

Prowlers Will Journey to Meet Pirates Friday

Tomorrow night the Prowlers will journey to Crookston for a game with the Crookston High School Pirates. This team last year defeated the Prowlers in the semi-finals of the district tournament. So far this season Crookston has been comparatively successful, having defeated East Grand Forks, the team that won over the Prowlers last Friday, and also defeating Cass Lake and Ada. They were beaten, however, by Bemidji, who made about the same lead over them in points as they did against the locals. Warren was another team who was victorious over them, but only by two points.

The five men who will probably be in the starting lineup for Crookston are R. Ranzer, Spence, Vurdale, Wheelhouse, and Gene Panzer.

Since the two teams have about the same average in games lost and won, it should be a hard-fought, closely contested battle to the final whistle.

The English IV classes began Library lessons last week under the direction of Miss Minnie Leavitt.

DECLAM CONTEST IS HELD FRIDAY

Fae Belcher, Mary Chommie, Marjorie Matheson Win

The humorous division of the high school preliminary declamation contest was held in the high school assembly on Friday, January 24, at seven-thirty o'clock. Marjorie Matheson, Fae Belcher, and Mary Chommie were chosen the three best contestants of a group of fourteen students. At a later date these three will compete for first honors in their division, together with those contestants representing the dramatic and oratory group.

Marjorie Matheson reading, as its title "Goodbye, Sister" suggests, was a series of farewells to her sister who was leaving by train for California. The two talked through a train car-window. Bothersome noises necessitated considerable shouts and repetitions by the speaker. Passer-by also contributed several pointed remarks.

Mary Chommie's reading consisted of a little girl telling the latest scandal about her older brother. By means of threats, she secures much candy and an unlimited amount of "Pink Ice Cream", the title of her reading.

The third reading, "Rufus Buys Pink Mules", given by Fae Belcher, is the story of a country boy buying his girl-friend a Christmas present from a large city department store. Finally, he enters the largest department store. With the aid of a clerk, he selects a pair of pink mules after considerable misunderstanding by Rufus, who thinks he is buying animals.

The judges were Miss Leavitt, Mrs. Korstad, and Miss Diebel. While the judges were making their decisions, Helen Granum played a piano solo, "Polonanaise in A", by Chopin.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Miss Dahlen's general science classes have started the new unit of water transportation. This includes the study of types of boats and instruments for navigation. When they have finished this unit, they will have completed the study of air, water, and land travel.

The eighth grade home economic classes have finished their cotton pajamas and slips. Last Friday they modeled their own garments in class for discussion.

Miss Lunder's classes in Home Economics I have been studying "The Girl and Her Friends." This chapter is concerned with developing the personality. In Home Economics II the students are beginning the meat work in the dinner unit.

Miss Olson's English I classes have begun the study of the novel "Ivanhoe" by Scott. Part of this study will consist in dramatization and preparation of shields like those used in the story. The English I classes have recently completed the unit on letter writing and vocabulary building.

Miss Steenerson's English II classes have been working on correct usage and vocabulary building.

DOWN DALE AND UPHILL

Down and up, up and down, go the percentages of the outstanding teams in District 31. The favorites lose; the underdog conquers. So-called cinches develop into setbacks. Uncertainty and disillusionment reign! What will happen next?

The Prowlers, Lincoln High School's challenge for district honors, are improving fast and, although they dropped a close decision to the Little Green Wave, should find themselves again to regain the top in the district. Crookston, the next opponent of the local quint on the Pirates' floor, has been short-changed on the scoreboard twice, once at East Grand Forks and last Friday at Warren!

The game Friday should be the best until the tournament in March. A caravan of fans from Thief River Falls will back the Gold and Blue "Truck Horses." By the way, the District Tournament is to be held at Crookston; this game may help to settle the advance dope on the way the Pirates and Prowlers will fare in March. Plan to see the classic of the century! Come early and see our classy B squad down the Crookston seconds!

"She is a mere butterfly of society, isn't she?"

"Well, not exactly. I should rather call her a butter-in."

DATE FOR FINAL CONTEST NOT SET

One Contest Will Decide Three Winners in Declam

Miss Steenerson has not yet set the date for oratory selections of the declamation contest. Those out for oratory together with their selections include the following: Clifford Olsen, "Fool's Gold;" Oscar Bickley, "The Hardest Thing in the World to Be"; Robert Smith, "National Recommendation of Character;" Wendell Olson, "School Problem"; and Charles Asp, "Date Kernels." Mr. Montague is coaching these boys with their selections. This year more students are showing an interest in oratory.

The three winners from both the humorous and dramatic departments of the declamation contest will be given at the same time as the oratory contest. At this time a group of judges will decide the winners who will go to the sub-district declamation contest. As yet no time or place has been set for these contests.

In Lincoln High School, declamation is considered one of the year's highlights. Any student interested in participating in these contests is given an equal opportunity with fellow students. The coaches, headed by Miss Steenerson, spend much time in training all contestants. They are to be complimented on their fine work.

The students, too, receive many benefits from appearing in these contests. Speaking clearly is recognized as being outstanding. Naturalness in gesturing is also important. All declamation work tends to make the student at ease when appearing before an audience.

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

And were some of our basketball stars thrilled when we played Greenbush Tuesday —especially Bones S., Milton N. and Bud. N. Of course Phylis U., Virginia S., and Muriel K. were the main causes.

One of our little youngsters around high school seems to have developed under our eyes a rip-roaring romance—Tat M and Chester S. Or am I wrong?

In home economics class last week, different kinds of beef steaks were being studied. After a long discussion, one of our bright little things piped up and asked "Where does the beef steak come from?" And we wonder why teachers get gray hair.

We wonder if our basketball players had fun after the game at East Grand? Or were they too tired?

We hear that several of the various heart-throbs of T. R. F. girls (namely the Warren boys) were over here during the week-end. Well, love makes the world go round or something!

"I'm building up, for an awful let down" or so some of the students thought before they received their report cards!

Our sophomore friends seem to be keeping late hours, eh, Fae B?

DEBATE TEAM TO MEET R. L. FALLS

Meet Is Scheduled to Take Place Here Next Tuesday

A debate will take place in the Lincoln High School Assembly on Tuesday, Feb. 4th, at 8 o'clock. The Lincoln team will be composed of Fae Belcher, Oscar Bickley, and Morris Engelstad. They will uphold the affirmative while the negative will be upheld by the Red Lake Falls team. The question for debate will be "Resolved: That the several states should enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense." This will be the first debate of the season and all students are urged to attend.

ETIQUETTE

One's personality is largely reflected by his conversation. High school students are offered unlimited opportunities to express their thoughts both in and out of school. Yet few students can be classed as possessing those characteristics of speaking which will make them welcome wherever they appear. High school subjects, especially the English courses, can offer only the fundamentals of good speaking. The real art of speaking lies within the individual.

The secret of a successful conversation is contained in these simple words, "Don't talk until you think! " Speaking on the spur of the moment often causes one to say things that will hurt, irritate, or embarrass others. When conversing with strangers, avoid expressing any definite opinion. Naturally, any student must sometime speak with someone whose opinions are of an opposed nature. In that case, the intelligent person contrives to change the trend of conversation.

Need it be said that any person delights in speaking about himself? If you wish to impress someone, discover his main interest and plan your conversation on that line. The clever conversationalist doesn't attempt to monopolize the hour. He endeavors to show his ability by drawing others into the discussion. A speaker must meet his audience on their level.

Courtesy in conversation is especially noticed during a class hour. Only discourteous people cultivate the habit of breaking up conversations by repeating "My, my!" or "You don't say so!" Then, too, show an interest in what others are saying. Of course, some speeches in school are uninteresting and boring. However, be tolerant, and be eager to hear what others have to say. A good listener learns many things.

Originality in conversation is likewise important. Too many students merely echo what others have said. Any one can be made to enjoy conversation, but it does require time, practice, and effort. Confidence is gained by being absolutely sure of what you want to say.

A sense of humor is always desired in speaking. This does not mean laughing at every trifling remark or retailing jokes from magazines and newspapers. A witty person never says something "smart" if he knows it will cause laughter at someone else's expense. Don't cause your jokes to win a few false smiles and lose a true friend.

The following sentence seems to sum the whole secret of interest in conversation: "The foundation of good talk is good sense, good nature, and the gift of fellowship."

Ideal Children

The boy most popular among his mates is he who is most cheerful and exuberant, the leader in games and fights, and unafraid of adults, according to research of a scientist. The popular girl, on the other hand, is the one who is neat, pretty and not necessarily a leader. The "ideal" girl must conform to adult standards.

ALUMNI NEWS

Kendall Gustafson, alumnus of the class of 1935 and a freshman at Hamline University, has displayed dramatic ability as a member of the Hamline Players. In addition to this, he serves as an announcer for broadcasting work at the University. The Hamline Oracle, campus weekly newspaper, claims him as a member of the reportorial staff.

On January 23 Mr. Gustafson, assuming the role of Sir Lucius O'Trigger in "The Rivals", appeared at the auditorium of the Mahtomedi High School.

Several weeks ago Miss Anne Simley, Speech Instructor, announced that Mr. Gustafson will have the role of the Prince in the drama "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." This production will be staged first for the St. Paul Kindergarten Association. Later it will be given in the Little Theater on the Hamline University campus.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume 26 Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, Thursday, Feb. 6, 1936 Number 6

PENNINGTON CO. FINANCES ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

Condition Revealed in Annual Statement Published This Week

BONDED DEBT IS CUT $74,500 LAST YEAR

Tax Receipts for Year Are Reported at Total of $301,818.32

The net bonded indebtedness of Pennington county was reduced 74,500 during 1935 from a total of $538,500 at the beginning of the year to $464,000 December 31, it is revealed in the annual financial statement prepared by County Auditor A. M. Senstad and published in this issue of the Times. Included in the total of outstanding obligations at the end of the year were $347,000 ditch bonds, $92,000 road and bridge funding bonds and $25,000 poor relief funding bonds.

All of the various funds are shown to have been in good condition as the year closed, each having a credit balance except the county revenue and road and bridge funds, and small overdrafts in these two were taken up shortly after the first of the year. Total receipts from all sources are shown to have been $781,461.70, while disbursements, including remittances of tax funds to the various subdivisions of the county, aggregated $644,123.26.

Tax receipts for the year, including delinquent taxes and penalties, are reported at $301,818.32, a slight reduction from the total of $316,785.79 for 1934 and about the same as the $302,491.98 received in 1933.

A total of 160 residents of the county received old-age pensions at an average rate of $5 a month, the aggregate expenditure on this account being $7,360. Mothers' pensions amounting to $3,885 were paid to 48 residents, while in 1934 the total was $3,625. With the abandonment of the county system of poor relief, expenditures of county funds on this account aggregated only $4,340.21 in 1935.

Expenditures on state aid roads in the county last year amounted to $23,306.45 exclusive of payments of bonds and warrants, the total including $5,407.10 of new construction. For county aid roads a total of $21,076.20 was spent including $11,856.33 of new construction compared to $17,352.37 in 1934.

Wolf bounties paid in 1935 accounted for 615 compared to $345 in 1934.

INTERESTING TALK ENJOYED BY P. T. A. MEMBERS MONDAY

Wars Are Due to Lack of Understanding, Moorhead Professor Says

An increasing knowledge of world geography will tend toward the elimination of future wars by providing a better understanding of conditions in other countries and the problems facing them, said Professor J. R. Schwendeman of Moorhead State Teachers college in an address Monday evening at the February meeting of the Parent-Teacher association.

Predicting another major war in the near future, the speaker said Germany is preparing for a military campaign because of the need of land in which to expand, and because she feels that a lack of understanding of her situation by other nations make impossible a peaceful solution of her problems.

For the musical portion of the program Miss Erma Springen led the Lincoln high school girls sextet in a group of selections accompanied by Helen Granum, and the high school boys' double quartet in two numbers accompanied by Robert Douville. Doris Halverson Pope ably presented two piano selections.

Lunch was served at the close of the evening by a group of members of the association.

Dahlen to Attend State Convention in St. Paul

Stanton R. Dahlen, manager of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of this city, is leaving Monday to attend the mid-winter conference of the Minnesota Savings, Building and Loan league, which convenes in the Lowry hotel, St. Paul, next Wednesday. Mr. Dahlen is a member of the league's resolutions committee.

Steiner Club Meeting Postponed to March 6

The meeting of the Steiner Community club scheduled for Friday evening of this week has been postponed to Friday, March 6, R. A. Werner, president, announced today. The program as announced last week, including a talk by Dr. A. E. Jacobson, will be presented at that time.

Wyandotte Girl Wins Rural Spelling Title

Doris Carlson Represents County in Valley Event Friday

Despite the prevailing extremely cold weather a good attendance was registered at the annual Pennington county rural school spelling contest held Saturday in the court room at the court house under the supervision of A. C. Matheson, county superintendent of schools.

The outcome of the contest was exceedingly close, three girls being nearly tied for first place. A tabulation of the standings revealed that Doris Carlson of Wyandotte, 13 years old, was the winner with a standing of 99.8 per cent, followed by Vivian Jesperson, also of Wyandotte, 99.5 per cent; Ruby Breiland of District 11 in the Hazel community, 99 per cent; and Elsie Skaar of District 135, 96 per cent.

The three leaders each attained a perfect score in the written test, and finished with very little difference in the oral spell-down. As a result of her victory Doris Carlson will represent Pennington county at the Red River valley spelling contest to be held Friday in Crookston in connection with the Valley Winter Shows.

Three members of the public school faculty in this city, including Miss Emma Tandberg, Miss Hattie Diebel and Miss Betsy Legvold, served as judges in the event.

158 Pennington County Residents Pay Federal Income Taxes in 1935

A total of 158 Pennington county residents, of whom all but eleven reside in Thief River Falls, paid federal income taxes in 1935 on incomes for the preceding year, it is revealed in a tabulation prepared in the office of Anna Dickey Olesen of the National Emergency council in St. Paul. Taxpayers in other adjoining counties included 48 in Red Lake, 410 in Polk, 63 in Roseau, 55 in Marshall and 24 in Clearwater. In Bemidji there were 173 taxpayers; Detroit Lakes, 161; and Crookston, 227.

STATE BOARD IS MAKING PLANS TO START PENSIONS

Forms Due to be in Hands of Applicants by First of March

State board of control members were to confer Wednesday with Attorney General Harry H. Peterson preparatory to establishing regulations for putting the new old age pension law into effect by March 1.

One of the first details to be ironed out at the conference will be the drafting of the application forms for the pensions, said L. G. Foley of St. Paul, chairman of the board. Forms will not be in the hands of applicants before March 1.

Under the law, the old age assistance division of the board of control will allocate to the various counties for distribution the $2,750,000 appropriated for pensions for the 16 months from March 1 through June 30, 1937. The division will have $75,000 to spend for administrative expenses during the period.

The law also provides that either the county commissioners, or some agency designated by them, shall pass on pension applications in their respective counties. Appeals may be taken, however, from their decisions to the state board of control. Establishment of machinery for such appeals also was to be discussed at Wednesday's meeting.

Application forms, when complete, will be submitted to the federal social security board for approval so the state may participate in federal funds appropriated by the national social security act of 1935. The act allows a federal contribution of one-half of the total maximum pension allowed in any state. Since the maximum in Minnesota is $30 a month, the federal government may contribute up to $15 in any individual case.

Federal officials have estimated 32,000 persons are eligible for the pension in Minnesota. However, at recent legislative committee hearings on the pension, L. P. Zimmerman, state emergency relief administrator, said the number of eligibles would be closer to 35,000.

C. C. Strander, Father of Mrs. W. L. Carlisle, Dies at Crookston Home

C. C. Strander, 63, prominent Crookston business man, and president of the Strander Abstract company, died Tuesday at his home after a long illness. He was the father of Mrs. W. L. Carlisle of this city.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 P. M., Friday at the Presbyterian church in Crookston, with Rev. F. J. Hibbing officiating.

Mr. Strander was born in Hammar, Norway, October 31, 1870, and came to the United States when he was 18 years old. He came immediately to Crookston, where he obtained employment as a clerk in the office of the register of deeds. In 1907 the Strander Abstract company was formed, with Mr. Strander as president.

He was a member of the Masonic order, the Commandery and Kem Temple at Grand Forks, the Scandinavian-American Fraternity, and the Elks lodge. He was particularly active in the Masonic orders, holding many offices in these lodges.

For several years he served as president of the board of education in the Crookston public schools. He has been a director of the Red River Valley Livestock association since its organization.

Rev. Flint Is on Sons of Norway Program Friday

The second of a series of programs sponsored by the Sons and Daughters of Norway will be held in the Sons of Norway hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. John Flint of Underwood, Minnesota, will be the principal speaker, his subject being announced as "Moral Values of the Nordic Faith." Musical selections will complete the program, which will be followed by a social hour.

BLANKS FOR BONUS RECEIVED MONDAY BY O. C. PAULSON

Legion Service Officer Is Ready to Help Fill Out Applications

Blanks on which to make application for cashing in the World War soldiers' adjusted compensation certificates were received Monday by O. C. Paulson, service officer of Elmer J. Eckland post of the American Legion, and within 24 hours approximately forty veterans had called at his office to fill out their applications.

Mr. Paulson announced that in cases where loans have been made on the certificates it is necessary for applicants to bring with them their pink slip showing the amount of the loan, or, in the case of bank loans, their bank note slips.

Also required are the army, navy or marine corps serial number, as well as the serial number of the certificate and also the A number. Mr. Paulson is ready to aid in filling out the application blanks.

NEW AGENCY HERE SEEKS TO PROVIDE VETERANS' WORK

Roy Berg at National Reemployment Office Is in Charge

Roy Berg, interviewer at the district office of the National Reemployment Service in this city has been appointed veterans' placement representative for Dist. No. 1 composed of eight counties, Kittson, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau.

Robert Hutchinson of Minneapolis is veterans' placement representative for Minnesota. For many months Minnesota ranked second in the United States in the number of veterans placed in employment.

Mr. Berg states that he welcomes correspondence from Legion posts in the district concerning unemployed veterans. In the near future Bureau of Public Roads and Public Works Projects will be under way and it is highly probable that many persons now not on relief will be given employment providing they are qualified to perform the duties required. It is the purpose of the veterans' placement service to better the lot of the unemployed veteran.

Mr. Berg can be reached at the District Office of the National Reemployment Service, Municipal Auditorium, Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Chimney Blaze Brings 1st Alarm in Two Weeks

In spite of the extremely frigid temperatures prevailing during the past month, making it necessary to overwork heating plants, the fire department Tuesday afternoon received its first call in two weeks, being summoned to the Henry Louse home at 311 Arnold av. S., where a chimney fire broke out. No damage resulted.

ATTEND WINTER SHOWS

County Agent R. M. Douglass Tuesday accompanied a delegation of county residents to the Red River Valley Winter Shows, in progress this week at Crookston.

WINTER SHOWS HAVE LARGEST DISPLAY EVER

Subzero Temperatures Hold Down Attendance at Crookston Event

600 HEAD LIVESTOCK EXHIBITED AT SHOWS

Dr. Preston Bradley of Walton League to Speak This Evening

In spite of a fire which burned away portions of the stall partitions and second floor of the livestock barn of the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston January 31, the shows opened on schedule February 3 with a larger list of livestock, crops, and poultry entries than in any year since 1930. Attendance at the event is being held down by extremely cold weather.

More than six hundred head of cattle, hogs, sheep and horses are on display this week, and the crops entries, in spite of the severe scourge of rust last summer, number more than four hundred. In the poultry division, more than five hundred birds have been entered and the Northern Minnesota Poultry association sponsoring the show has had to refuse entries totalling about two hundred birds.

The potato exhibit is probably the largest and best yet shown at the Winter Shows. Oscar Onneland of East Grand Forks won sweepstakes of the open classes with a sample of Early Ohios and Clarence Norum of Hallock won sweepstakes of the 4-H club classes on a sample of Early Ohios.

In the corn classes, T. G. Glesne of Underwood, Otter Tail county, was named openclass sweepstakes winner and his son Anton was awarded a similar honor in the 4-H club class.

In the open classes of small grains, the following sweepstakes were awarded: wheat, Mrs. Elise Walberg, Fosston; oats, Daniel Soltis, Warren; barley, George Burau, Fergus Falls; flax, Joseph Kopecky, Angus; and rye, Earl Sulerud, Gary.

In the judging contest for students of sub-collegiate schools of agriculture, the Northwest School, Crookston, won championship in the judging of crops and the North Central School of Agriculture, Grand Rapids, championship in livestock judging. The contest was held on the opening day of the show, February 3. Other judging contests held, and the name of the organization winning championship of each, were as follows: adult farmers' livestock judging contest, Roseau county; adult farmers' dairy cattle judging contest, Beltrami Boosters' club, West Polk county; 4-H club livestock judging contest, Running Brook 4-H club, Mahnomen county; high school livestock judging contest, Gilbert High school, St Louis county.

The list of speakers engaged to address the Northwest School Farmers' Week and Winter Shows meetings included such celebrities as M. L. Wilson, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who spoke Tuesday night; Upton Close, New York City, eminent authority on the Japanese question, who spoke Wednesday evening, and Dr. Preston Bradley, Chicago, honorary president of the Izaak Walton League, who is scheduled to speak Thursday evening. On Friday evening the Northwestern Minnesota Singers' association will present their fifteenth annual song festival in the Crookston armory.

Climaxing an interesting series of programs for women, six Polk County women's organizations will present one-act plays on Friday afternoon. Four of these plays have been written by Polk county women.

Prominent speakers on the afternoon programs for men have included W. C. Coffey, dean of the University Department of Agriculture, University Farm, St Paul; F. W. Peck, state director of Agricultural Extension work, E. C. Stakman and H. K. Hayes of University Farm, who developed the rust-resistant Thatcher wheat; Henry Schmitz, chief of the Forestry division, University Farm; T. A. Erickson, state 4-H club leader, and A. J. Kittleson, state 4-H club agent.

The Red River Valley Livestock association, Red River Valley Development association, Northern Minnesota Poultry association, Northwestern Minnesota Red River Valley League of Municipalities, and District 4 of the Minnesota Creameries and Managers association are all scheduled to meet at the Winter Shows Thursday. On Friday, the Northwestern Minnesota Singers' association and Red River Valley county superintendents are scheduled to meet. The annual Red River Valley Rural School spelling contest will also be held Friday.

JUNIOR CIVIC GROUP MEETS THIS EVENING

The Junior Civic and Commerce association will hold its regular meeting this evening in the rooms of the senior association in the basement of the Auditorium, it was announced today.

FIVE MILES OF GRAVELLING IN KRATKA LET

H. P. Lund & Sons Get State Contract Approved by County Board

TO RE-ADVERTISE FOR JOB IN STAR TOWNSHIP

All Original Bids On Seven Mile Gravelling Job Are Rejected

At a special meeting of the county board Monday, a state highway department contract let to H. P. Lund & Sons of this city for the gravelling of five miles of county aid road, was approved. The improvement will be made on county aid road No. 23 in Cloverleaf and Kratka townships, extending from Trunk Highway No. 1 south to the river. The contract price was $2,240.00, of which $1,554.00 will be paid from federal funds. The balance will be paid by the county in addition to furnishing the necessary gravel.

At the regular meeting of the board Tuesday, all bids for seven miles of gravelling on county aid road No. 9, in Star Township, were rejected, and the state highway department was asked to re-advertise the job. This action was taken in the hope of securing more favorable bids. The Star township improvement would extend seven miles south from Trunk Highway No. 1 on county aid road No. 9.

Other business transacted by the board at its regular meeting consisted largely of routine matters. Several applications for tax abatements were acted upon, besides allowing the usual monthly bills.

PRICHARD NAMED SECRETARY OF ST. LUKES HOSPITAL

Succeeds Robert J. Lund Who Reports on Successful Year in 1935

At the annual meeting of St. Lukes Hospital association Monday, reports on a year of successful activity in 1935 were submitted by President H. E. Nelson, Secretary Robert J. Lund and Dr. Edward Bratrud, chief of staff.

In the annual election of trustees W. W. Prichard was named to succeed himself, and Oscar C. Paulson was elected to succeed Mr. Lund, who tendered his resignation because of pressure of other affairs.

The board organized for the ensuing year by electing Mr. Nelson president, Carl Christofferson vice president, W. W. Prichard secretary treasurer, and Miss Lois Norlander superintendent. Miss Hanna Launo is business manager.

300 PRESENT AT ODD FELLOW RITES IN CITY SATURDAY

Crack Minneapolis Team Conducts Initiation In Two Degrees

A district meeting of the Odd Fellow lodges of District No. 35 and the neighboring districts, attended by 300 members, was held in the Sons of Norway Hall Saturday evening. The first and second degrees were conferred on 30 candidates by the degree staff of Hennepin Lodge No. 4, of Minneapolis, Minn., who arrived here in a special bus.

The degrees were conferred in a manner that gave great credit to the degree staff and was highly appreciated by all who saw it. Seventeen different lodges were represented, among them being two from North Dakota.

The meeting was addressed by Grand Master Ed. Thompson, and Past Grand Patriarch, E. G. Haymaker. There were also four district deputy grand masters present. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Rebekah lodge at the I. O. O. F. Hall. Next Tuesday, February 11th, the third degree will be conferred by the local degree staff.

Citizens Bank Meeting Is Set for Next Tuesday

As a preliminary to the final sale and taking over of the Citizens State Bank building by a group of depositors, all those who have entered into the agreement will have a meeting next Tuesday evening, February 11th, at 8 o'clock, in the court room in the court house in this city, J. F. Landy of the state banking department said today. The plans for organization of this group will be discussed. At a later date, opportunity will be given any other bidders to submit their offers.

MERCURY HITS 45 BELOW ZERO MARK HERE WEDNESDAY

Average Minimum Reading in Past Sixteen Days Is 28.8 Below Zero

The official reading this morning (Thursday) was —40, adding one more record cold day and lowering the average for the past seventeen day period to a minimum of —30.

The long spell of extreme subzero weather that is now ending its fourth week, breaking records of long standing reached a climax Wednesday morning when the thermometer maintained by Fred Protz of the postoffice registered 45 degrees below zero, establishing a new low point for several years.

During the sixteen days since the postoffice thermometer was installed January 21, the daily minimum reading has averaged 28.8 degrees below zero. The subzero wave started January 12, and the mercury has scarcely risen as high as the zero mark since then.

Following are the minimum readings beginning January 21:

GOODRIDGE POWER ASSOCIATION NOW IS INCORPORATED

Articles Published This Week; Directors Are Selected

Following approval by Attorney General Harry H. Peterson in St. Paul, articles of incorporation of the Pennington County Cooperative Power association of Goodridge are being published in the Times this week. The articles grant the association wide powers to engage in the production, purchase and sale of electric energy on the cooperative plan.

Capital stock is fixed at a total of $1,000 divided into 500 shares of $2 par value, and the limit of indebtedness is fixed at $75,000. Incorporators are listed as Carl Christianson, Lloyd A. Nelson, H. I. Rod, J. A. Sundquist, John Hoppe, R. H. McDonald and J. A. Christianson, all of Goodridge.

Included on the first board of directors are Edward Korstad, Highlanding; Lloyd A. Nelson, R. H. McDonald and Palmer Wold of Goodridge; and Frank Hardesty, J. G. Newland and Alfred Longren. To serve until the first annual meeting of the stockholders Mr. Nelson is designated as president; Mr. Korstad as vice president; and Mr. McDonald as secretary-treasurer.

Campbell Ready for Last-Minute Rush of License Applicants

With Saturday, February 15, the last day on which motor vehicle licenses may be obtained without penalty, Alex Campbell, deputy registrar in this city is preparing for an unusually heavy last-minute rush of applicants, most residents of this section having put off securing their 1936 plates because of the prevailing extremely cold weather. To provide for the rush Mr. Campbell has installed a new specially built counter in front of his office in the rear section of the Larson company store, which will enable him to take care of applicants as rapidly as they come in.

Cold Weather Halts Weddings in County

Extremely cold weather has a depressing effect on the wedding business as well as on other activities, it is revealed in the records of Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund, who announced this week that during three weeks of subzero temperatures beginning January 14 not one marriage license application was received. Only three applications were filed in January, the same number as in the corresponding month of 1935.

LOCAL CREAMERY TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING MONDAY

Session Will be Conducted in C. and C. Rooms in Auditorium

The usual large gathering of shareholders and patrons of the Thief River Falls Cooperative creamery is anticipated at the annual meeting of the organization, scheduled to be held next Monday afternoon at one o'clock in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the basement of the Auditorium.

The annual report for 1935, which has been audited by the Cooperative Auditing Service, will be submitted at the meeting, and will reveal a substantial gain in volume of butter manufactured during the year, as well as a more satisfactory scale of prices paid for butterfat.

Two directors will be elected, the terms of President Hans Anton and Henry Kaushagen expiring. Directors holding over include J. M. Theige, John Funnesdahl and Christ Nelson. Lunch will be served at the close of the business session.

Internal Revenue Man in City February 17-18 to Aid on Tax Returns

Announcement was made this week that a deputy collector of internal revenue will be stationed in the Civic and Commerce association rooms in the Auditorium Feb. 17 and 18 to assist local residents who are required by law to file federal income tax returns. Single persons with a net income of $1,000 and married persons with a net income of $2,500 or more are required to file a return, as well as all persons with a gross income of $5,000 or more. Returns must be filed not later than March 15.

Frank Fisher Winner in Checker Tournament

Frank Fisher was the winner of the checker tournament held at Al's Coffee Shop last week. V. E. Copp, the runner-up, gave Fisher a run for the first but finally lost two games out of three. Those getting in the semi-finals were Harry Lund, V. E. Copp, Hal Eckeren and Frank Fisher. A good deal of interest in the game of checkers has been revived and there was no lack of kibitzers in the large audience that followed the games.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR BUILDING HERE THIS YEAR

1936 Promises to be Banner Year for Construction of New Homes

LOAN ASSOCIATION GETS MANY INQUIRIES

Lumber Dealers Foresee Active Year in Local Building

Following last year's record of a dozen new homes constructed in Thief River Falls in addition to a number of substantial business improvements, the coming season gives promise of continued progress, particularly in home building and modernization, in the opinion of local dealers in building materials and home financing agencies.

Stanton R. Dahlen, manager of the First Federal Savings and Loan association, predicted that 1936 will be a banner year in residence construction in this city, basing his statement on the fact that the association has already received inquiries regarding financing arrangements from no less than 24 prospective home builders. He added that his organization has an unlimited supply of funds available for loans, which will be made on a basis of up to 75 per cent of the value of new construction.

Severn Brandon, manager of the Robertson Lumber company here, reported that he is receiving numerous inquiries from prospective local builders of homes, which type of construction he expects to predominate this year. He said he anticipates little if any change in materials prices.

Mayor W. W. Prichard, manager of the Central Lumber company in this city, had the following to say of the building outlook:

"An increase in the building industry the past year is reported from every section of the country. Optimistic views for an even better year in 1936 seem to be shared by all whom I have come in contact with, in person or through the medium of the press.

"Construction had been at low ebb for several years, creating a big shortage in homes and business buildings, as well as a retarding element in the repairing and improving of property. Quite naturally an owner defers the outlay of capital when a general lack of confidence is evident about him. On the other hand any revival of activity is a stimulant to his own program.

"The National Housing Act is perhaps one of the best pieces of legislation enacted during the present administration. It has been the means of providing am-

NED HANSON NAMED JANITOR FOR NEW POSTAL BUILDING

Ranks Highest in Examination; Elef Severson Assistant

With the new postoffice building in this city scheduled to be completed within a month, necessary preliminary steps are being taken by the postoffice staff for occupying the new structure.

Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today that the position of chief custodial employe in the building will be filled by Ned Hanson, now serving as fireman at the Land O'Lakes plant, who ranked highest in the field of 24 applicants who took civil service examinations for the post. The position carries a salary of $1,260 a year. Named as Mr. Hanson's assistant was Elef Severson, who ranked second highest and who will be paid at the rate of 55 cents an hour for the time he is employed.

Mr. Anderson also announced that the 529 boxes in the new post-office are equipped with keys, and that each boxholder may obtain a key by calling at his office and making payment of 20 cents. Boxes have already been assigned to all present holders, he added.

Augsburg College Choir Will Present Concert at Trinity Church, Feb. 18

The Augsburg Choir, well known throughout the Northwest through their radio series, "The Hour Melodious," over station WCCO, will come to Thief River Falls to sing at Trinity church Tuesday, Feb. 18, 8 p. m.

Under the direction of Prof. Henry P. Opseth the choir, composed of 45 students at Augsburg College, Minneapolis, has earned a high place among college musical organizations in the Northwest. Its tours during the past two years have taken it through several states and have included radio concerts over both the N. B. C. and Columbia networks. On its present concert tour the choir will visit cities in Minnesota and North Dakota, as far west as Minot.

Audiences and critics have been especially pleased with the Augsburg Choir's interpretation of Russian church music, and several numbers of that school will again be included in the program this year. A great deal of variety will also be introduced, according to the director, with music by modern as well as classical composers.

Prof. Opseth is a former pupil of Dr. F. Melius Christiansen, and has served as his assistant at St. Olaf College. Mr. Opseth's first interest in music was in band directing, and during the war he was the leader of the 151st. Infantry band. His more recent success as a glee club and choir director have caused him to transfer his interests from instrumental to choral music.

Auxiliary Notes

Regular meeting of the Auxiliary this Thursday evening, Feb. 6. Remember the attendance awards being given to the three members attaining the highest percentage in attendance from Feb. 6 to the first meeting in June. All you have to do to be eligible for one of these cash prizes is to be there.

Mrs. Leonard Hanson, membership chairman, is personally offering a prize to the member bringing in the greatest number of memberships in February to bring your own and your Auxiliary neighbors' dollar to Mrs. Hanson. Further details on this at the meeting to-night. If you are new in town, and eligible for membership, let us know, please. We'll be glad to see you at our meetings the first and third Thursdays of the month.

Be informed! The Universal Draft Act is one of the major objectives in the Legion's legislative program for 1936. Have you read Mrs. Corey's resume of this Act in last week's Legionnaire? The editorial in the February issue of the American Legion Monthly, "Neutrality and the Universal Draft" is worthy of our study, too. The prospect of a profitless war, the Legion maintains, would go far toward preventing war altogether. Set capital and labor, industry and agriculture, on an equal economic footing with the mobilized manpower of a nation, and you have gone far to prevent war.

Growing With Your Child

Parents sometimes speak as though the impulse toward independence that surges up in the growing child were more often provocative of trouble and discussion than otherwise. But when we examine some random examples of initiative as it appears in older children, we find that many of them are desirable. Here are a few instances.

A twelve year old boy announced that he was going to help an older boy with a paper route. His parents felt that he was too young to get up as early as he would have to if he were to carry a morning paper, the only opportunity open at the time. There was a good deal of argument. The boy battled hard for his point of view, but finally had to give in. His father and mother were puzzled over his sudden determination to earn money. They didn't realize that seeing his two older sisters proudly bring home part of their pay checks had made him long to have a part in contributing to the family income.

An eleven year old girl, told to wait for an adult, went down town to the dentist alone. For weeks she had been protesting that she was perfectly capable of going by herself, and when a chance came, she seized it.

A thirteen year old girl was doing very indifferent work in her dancing class. All the enthusiasm with which she started out had evaporated, and she objected to attending class. Her mother, perplexed because of the change in the child's attitude, talked it over with the teacher. As a result of their conversation, the child was made "assistant" to the teacher, who suspected that the girl had lost interest because a majority of the children were younger than herself. The plan worked. In a very few weeks the child was chattering excitedly about all the new steps at which she must be proficient if she "held her job."

A bitterness that lasted for weeks sprang up between a boy and his mother when the latter told him one evening to play the piano for some guests. Something about the way she did it—it was almost a command—irritated the youngster, who was almost invariably gracious about "performing." He refused to play. Still more humiliated by being sent to bed, he retaliated by scarcely speaking to his mother for days.

What appears in every one of these instances is the normal, commendable desire of the child to establish himself as a person, to make his own decisions, to be dealt with as a developing individual rather than as a helpless creature who must be "told" what to do.

Analysis of many of the clashes between parents and children might lead to a new respect for the children in question. Of course it is easier and more convenient for us if our children docilely follow our orders. Stay within the beaten path of activities that we know are safe for them. Of course we sigh with reluctance when they begin to be restless to explore the world of larger possibilities that becomes more and more alluring to their curious eyes. But not by deploring their efforts or refusing their every demand for more opportunity for growth will we aid them in the difficult passage to maturity.

Protection for Babies Against Diseases Urged

Doctors recommend measures against diphtheria and small pox to be taken during first year.

St. Paul, Minnesota—Most modern mothers know that their children should be protected against diphtheria and small pox; but the majority of them still delay until school time to secure this important protection.

Today's bulletin from the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association especially urges the parents of babies and young children to protect their babies in the first year of life.

"Physicians and health authorities all agree that diphtheria immunization and small pox vaccination are safe and advisable for babies", the bulletin says. "Recent developments have made it possible to immunize most babies against diphtheria with one or at the most two procedures. These inoculations should be given during the last three months of the first year. Without that protection a day may come, at any time, when antitoxin may have to be rushed with grave doubts as to the outcome, to save the baby's life."

All reliable figures show that diphtheria is most prevalent and deaths most frequent among the young children of pre-school age. "Other effective immunization procedures have been developed during the past few years including a vaccination against whooping cough and immunization against scarlet fever. These are often advisable in individual cases where the children are under expert supervision.

They have not yet been so standardized that authorities are willing to recommend their administration to all children."

Fourth of Deaths from Cancer Preventable, Is Opinion of Physicians

More than one fourth of the deaths that occurred from cancer in the year 1934 (the last for which there are complete figures) could have been prevented.

This astonishing declaration is made by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association in a bulletin issued today. It is based upon reliable figures recently compiled by the American Association for the Control of Cancer.

According to these figures, there were 5,009 deaths in 1934 from cancer of the mouth and pharynx alone. In practically all of these cases the cancer was in a position where it could be seen readily in its earliest stages and removed without any grave danger or difficulty to the patient.

Cancer of the breast which claimed 13,171 lives in the same year could have been prevented or cured in about 80 per cent of the cases, according to the physicians. These cancers start generally with some easily discovered lump or sore. If they are removed early before they have a chance to spread and before cells from the malignant growth have a chance to escape through the blood stream to other parts of the body, cure is practically certain.

Skin cancers in other parts of the body accounted for 3,315 deaths. Here, too, there was first a suspicious sore or lump which could have been removed without any trouble at the start and premature death could have been avoided.

"We say too often that we have no cure for cancer," the doctors declare in this bulletin. "We do know how to cure cancer, if we can find it in its early stages. Every unexplained lump, every sore that does not quickly heal, every unnatural discharge should be immediately investigated."

YOUTHS ON RELIEF TO BE EMPLOYED IN THIS DISTRICT

Young People Must Enroll in Local Reemployment Offices

Provisions have been made for the employment of 175 relief youths under the National Youth administration program in the seventh district, according to N. A. Thorson, supervisor of the NYA office at Detroit Lakes. The quota for the cities of Bemidji, Crookston, Fergus Falls and Moorhead have been filled, as well as the county quotas for Clay, Roseau and Lake of the Woods.

Assignments in most of the larger towns have been in connection with recreational, office, school and other community activities. Other assignments, which will enable the relief youths to add to the earnings of their families, will be made according to the demand and the availability of employable youths. It is hoped that sufficient projects can be developed so that every county can make full use of its quota.

The quotas are in proportion to the relief loads, and it is required that all youths be enrolled in their local NRS office before they can be assigned to their project. Selections are made from lists certified to the district supervisor.

In discussing the character of the work to which relief youths can be assigned, Mr. Thorson stated that any association of business men, parent-teachers, veterans' organizations, as well as libraries, schools, public officials who control or supervise an activity of a somewhat public nature, may have youths assigned to them as helpers. All requests of this nature should be made to the district NYA supervisor, Detroit Lakes, Minn.

Billings Advises Turkey Men on Use of Fish Meal

Increasing complaints from turkey consumers about "fishy-tasting" birds have led Dr. W. A. Billings, University Farm, to warn Minnesota growers to avoid overuse of fish meal in their fattening rations.

"Consumers of northwestern turkeys are complaining about the fishy flavor of some of our birds", says Dr. Billings, nationally-known turkey authority of the Minnesota agricultural extension service. "This is without doubt due to the feeding of too much fish meal. A few growers use fish meal in the mash right up to the time the birds are dressed for market. This is a mistake. If fish meal is fed at all, it should be used during the summer months only, and as fall approaches, it should be omitted from the ration.

WATER AT PREMIUM AS TANK FREEZES

Clinton.—Water sold for a nickel a glass in Clinton last week in the cold weather when a water main burst and the village was without aqua pura for a few days. Workmen labored for days trying to find the leak in the main, only to discover then that the supply tank had frozen over, causing too much pressure and the resulting break in the main. A crew immediately started chopping into the top layer of ice in the supply tank, but it was frozen so far down that it required two days to open the tank up.

Those who get things for nothing never fail to come back for another supply on the same terms.

Annual Band Clinic to be Held at University February 13, 14 and 15

Captain Taylor Branson, leader of the United States Marine Band, "The President's Own" of Washington, D. C. will be a Guest Conductor at the 12th annual Band Clinic for Band and Orchestra directors of the Northwest. Band and orchestra leaders of both school and municipal organizations will attend this clinic sponsored by the Minnesota Bandmasters Association and held at the University of Minnesota Feb. 13, 14 and 15.

In addition to Captain Branson who will come to Minneapolis directly from Washington, there will be Henry Sopkin of Chicago who is a director of the national championship high school orchestra, and several other prominent musicians who will conduct demonstrations and discussions relative to the development of high calibre bands and orchestras.

The clinic has established a national reputation because of the quality of its programs. There will be nine different band and orchestra organizations appearing on the various programs, including the Concert Band of the University of Minnesota, the Fort Snelling Army Band and the Gopher Legion Band.

Speakers will include President George A. Selke of the State Teachers College, Mr. H. N. White of Cleveland and Mr. William Ludwig of Chicago, and Superintendent A. M. Wisness of Willmar President of the Minnesota High School Music League.

FLEET-FOOTED FARMER RUNS COYOTE TO EARTH

Luverne—Fleet-footed Indians have been known to run down rabbits, and jungle savages are sometimes credited with similar prowess—but it remained for Reinhart Syperama, of Luverne township, to literally run to earth and capture with his bare hands (maybe he had mittens on) a young coyote. It happened one afternoon last week in a field on Syperama's farm south of town. He was going out after a load of hay, and as he approached the stack he saw two wolf-like animals slinking away from it. Supposing them to be wolf cubs, he gave chase, inspired by visions of a bounty. One of the animals got away, but its mate could not match the relentless pace of the galloping "Reinie". It was caught after a brief but exciting chase. Its identity as a coyote was then ascertained. Still, its captor was not exactly disappointed. Had he not turned in a rare feat of legwork?

TRAIN KILLS HORSE IN FREAK ACCIDENT

Benson.—Death swooped down on two Benson farmers at the rate of 70 miles an hour recently, only to be cheated when a horse was stripped of its harness and carried 100 feet up the railroad track, leaving the other horse, the sleigh, and two men unharmed. L. Reihsen and Otto Puchulske were driving their sleigh into town and did not see the fast mail train, three hours behind schedule and trying to make up time. With the train almost on top of them, Puchulske swerved the team to the right and away from the train. This move brought the sleigh and its occupants out of danger, but the engine struck the horse on the left side. The animal, instantly killed, was hurled completely out of its harness 100 feet down the track. The remaining horse escaped injury, and no appreciable damage was done to the sleigh or the two men, who leaped to safety.

LICENSE REVENUE LOW DESPITE HIGH REGISTRATIONS

More Cars Listed but They Pay $4,000,000 Less Than in 1930

Although the registration of motor vehicles in Minnesota reached a new all-time peak in 1935, license fee revenues were $4,000,000 lower than in 1930, according to a Highway department bulletin. The year 1930 is the closest to 1935 in total number of automobiles registered.

In 1930 automobile owners paid $11,074,653 in license fees toward the upkeep and improvement of a 6,700-mile trunk highway system. In 1935 automobile owners paid $8,093,684 in license fees toward the upkeep and improvement of an 11,300-mile trunk system.

Thus the payments dropped more than 36 per cent while the mileage of the trunk system increased 65 per cent, with a corresponding rise in expense.

The registration of cars in 1935 was 753,076 while in 1930 it was 741,271. The decrease in revenues is due to a reduction in license fees in 1933 which made a small saving to the individual car owner and a large drop in highway funds.

Itasca Deer Removal Project Is Dropped

Local opposition to plans of the department of conservation to remove deer from Itasca State Park has resulted in abandonment of the project, according to E. V. Willard, commissioner of conservation.

The department had contended that there were too many deer in the park to be supported by natural browse and that artificial feeding of the deer in winter would merely encourage a still greater concentration.

Plans to remove the deer were dropped when local residents objected to the removal of more than fifty animals. In explaining his action Mr. Willard said that the removal of only fifty deer would not "measurably improve" conditions for the remaining animals.

"The department still recognizes the over-population of deer in Itasca Park", Mr. Willard said. "Artificial feeding is not the answer as long as other areas are available which will support a greater number of deer on natural browse."

BOYS SNOWSHOE TO REACH SCHOOL

Virginia.—Old-timers talk about the hardships involved in getting to and from the Old Red Schoolhouse, but they have nothing on four sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Neal of the East Bay Fishing camp on Crane lake, northern boundary water. Chester, 17, Raymond, 15, Charles, 9 and Glen, 8, all snowshoe one mile morning and night over the ice of the windblown lake to meet the school bus, and they never miss it, no matter how cold the weather. From the point they meet the bus, they are taken along with other Crane lake children to the school in Buyck, which is 13 miles from Nelson's. In the spring, during the thaw, the boys get up at four o'clock in the morning, and with books and lunch pails under their arms, hike down a narrow trail about two and one-half miles around the lake. When the lake is open the boys use a boat and motor to get across.

It should be easy for any government to please the people. All they want is lower taxes and larger appropriations.—Washington Post.

1935 FARM CENSUS FIGURES FOR THIS STATE RELEASED

Farmers of State Made Headway Despite Drouth, Figures Show

Minnesota farmers have made numerous advances since 1930 despite the drought, judging from the five-year federal farm census figures released today by director William L. Austin, bureau of the census, department of commerce. Indeed, many of the counties in the upper part of the State recorded considerable net gains in the number of farms, which are attributed by local authorities to an influx of farmers from the drought areas farther West. Although a large part of Minnesota suffered severely from the 1934 drought with 2,475,322 acres of crop failure recorded, the loss from that source did not approach that of most of the areas west of the Mississippi.

An actual increase of 18,047 farms, or 9.7 percent, is shown for the five-year period. This compares with an average increase in the United States of 8.3 per cent. Of the additional Minnesota farmers, about 11,000 were tenants. Many of the new farms operated on a small scale, causing a reduction of about five acres in the state average size of farms.

The crop situation in the various counties differed very greatly. A summation indicates an increase of about 399,000 acres in corn, 109,000 acres in flax, 29,000 in Irish potatoes, and 132,000 in hay, and sorghums for forage in the State. These gains, however, were much more than offset by decreases in wheat, oats, mixed grains, rye, and barley, the losses in acreage doubtless being accounted for by crop failure.

The livestock inventory discloses two things of importance, an increase of about 25 per cent in the number of cows and a decrease of about 51 percent in the number of swine. The interesting points in connection with these livestock changes are an increase in the amount of pasture similar to that in cattle, and a decrease in the actual corn that was produced in 1934 roughly comparable to the reduction in swine.

RURAL ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES FORM NEW GROUP

To Act as Central Agency for Aiding Units in Northwest Region

Representatives of over 25 counties and about 20 rural electrification cooperatives in Minnesota and Wisconsin met Saturday, January 25 at Minneapolis, and organized the Federated Electric Cooperative, an organization which will act as a central agency for rural electric cooperatives in the central Northwest, through which they may secure expert engineering, financial, auditing and other services. It will also act as central purchasing agent for such materials as the various members may need.

The organization of the Federated Electric Cooperative climaxes many months of activity on the part of individuals throughout this area in setting up cooperative associations for rural electrification. Several of these associations have already made application to the R. E. A. in Washington for funds wherewith to build their lines to furnish electricity to farm homes. It is estimated that $6,000,000 will be loaned for this purpose in Minnesota alone.

N. W. Bancorporation Officials Are Freed of Court Charges Friday

Officials of the Northwest Bancorporation were freed of charges of grand larceny and swindling by Judge Byron R. Wilson in district court at Moorhead Friday on motion of Garfield H. Rustad, Moorhead, special assistant attorney general assigned to the cases, who pointed out the state legislature failed to appropriate funds to continue prosecutions.

He added that the Minnesota securities commission, in whose charge such prosecution has rested, has exhausted all existing available funds.

The 14 defendants, prominent Minneapolis and Duluth residents, were represented in court Friday by Matthew W. Murphy, Fargo.

Seed Corn Testing Bulletin Now Ready

In response to many requests from farmers for information about seed-corn testing, the Agricultural Extension Service, University Farm, St. Paul, has recently revised its Special Bulletin 125, "Seed Corn Selection and Germination Methods."

The bulletin explains, by pictures and word, how to make a preliminary test to find out whether or not a given lot of seed corn will grow, and also how to test each ear to determine its germination quality. The methods recommended are easy to understand and carry out, and require the use of no expensive equipment.

Suggestions are also given for gathering and storing seed corn. Farmers may obtain copies of Special Bulletin 125 from county agents, high school agriculture instructors, or from the Bulletin office, University Farm, St. Paul.

WORKMAN ON WPA PROJECTS MUST SUPPORT FAMILY

Must Not Spend Earnings for Drink, Says Administrator Christgau

Discharge of WPA workmen who fail to support their families and of those who absent themselves from projects due to drunkenness following paydays was ordered this week by Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator.

Declaring reports that a number of WPA workmen have been spending their earnings for drink instead of actual necessities for their families, Mr. Christgau issued the following bulletin to all district directors:

"The WPA program is the Federal government's contribution toward the unemployment relief problem. Its primary purpose is to provide employment to those employable persons who would otherwise be receiving relief, and thus relieve the local communities and states of the responsibility of providing subsistence to them and their dependents. This purpose is defeated in those cases where WPA employees fail to support their dependents.

"All cases of alleged non-support should be referred to the district supervisor of unemployment, who will in turn request the assistant supervisor to investigate the charges. It is suggested that valuable information and assistance can be obtained from county relief workers and relief officers.

"If the charges are substantiated, the non-supporting employe should be advised that continual failure on his part to care for his family will result in termination of his WPA job.

"In cases where recurrent absence from a project following pay days is due to drunkenness and the man, single or married, has been warned, the same procedure will be followed and the man will be discharged.

"County relief workers should be advised of each development in such cases, so that, if the employe is discharged, his family will not suffer."

In a previous bulletin, Mr. Christgau ordered the discharge of any WPA worker reporting to his job intoxicated or drinking in the course of his job.

Farmers Pay Interest Promptly on Land Bank Commissioners' Loans

Farmers' interest payments on land bank commissioner's loans registered another substantial gain during the last quarter of 1935 and at the end of the year total interest collections were more than 86 per cent of all maturities, a new high point, according to the report issued by the Farm Credit Administration February 1st.

Total interest maturities to the end of 1935 amounted to $42,500,000, of which $36,600,000 or 86.3 per cent had been paid, compared with $32,300,000 matured to September 30, 1935 and $26,700,000, or 82.9 per cent, paid at that time.

Maturities of interest at the end of 1934 amounted to $9,000,000, of which $6,600,000 had been paid on December 31st of that year. The first of the commissioner's loans were made in May, 1933 and the total outstanding at the end of 1935 was $795,000,000.

"Since interest installments on these loans made under the emergency refinancing program began to mature 2 years ago, the collection ratio has climbed upward steadily," Governor W. I. Myers of the F C A stated. "It is very gratifying to find that the overwhelming majority of farmers who obtained these loans—and over half of them were on second mortgage security — are now measuring up to their obligations and making every effort to attain a 100 per cent record for payment of their installments."

THE BUREAUCRACY MARCHES ON

When a farmer, a business man or the head of a household is suddenly confronted with an unexpected item of expense, he immediately starts figuring out where and how he can cut the corners of other expenditures so as to be able to meet the additional financial burden. It generally means that a few frills will have to be lopped off somewhere. Many an individual has re-adjusted his manner of living under the pressure of a financial reversal. Such things are never pleasant but that's the way private affairs must be conducted. Expenditures must be limited to income.

Not so in public affairs, however. At any rate, not so when the seat of government is far removed from the taxpayers. In recent years, under the restraining influence of taxpayers, local units of government have economised. Not only have expenditures been confined to income but indebtedness has actually been reduced. This situation is true of local units of government thruout the country. But in the state and national field, with a few outstanding exceptions among the states, economy is a forgotten word.

That the problems of relief have added greatly to the financial difficulties of the states and the nation, no one will deny. And no one will object to expenditures that have been made to provide for the needy. But there is good and sufficient reason for objections to the wasteful manner in which most of the states and the federal government have spent the taxpayers' money during these years of the depression. At a time when most individuals have subjected themselves to the most rigid economy in order to pull themselves through their own difficulties, our state and national governments have squandered money with a recklessness that is unbelievable.

President Roosevelt had a good opportunity during the past week to put into effect the promise of economy that he made in his campaign for office. Congress passed the bonus bill against his wishes, adding greatly to the financial difficulties of the administration. What an encouraging thing it would have been for taxpayers if he, when the bill was passed, had told Congress that in order to meet this extra burden of expense it would now be necessary "to reduce the regular expenses of the government by twenty-five per cent" and had asked for authority to consolidate bureaus and eliminate dead timber from the federal payrolls.

Instead of that, however, the order went back to Congress, "raise more money." Not a word of encouragement for the taxpayers, the millions of workers who will have to pay the bill. The encouragement was all for the tax spenders. And the bureaucracy marches on.

Pennington County financial statements are becoming encouraging reading. This year's statement, for instance, represents real progress in the county's debt retirement program. As long as that debt total keeps dropping down there is little to worry about. Ten years ago the county's ditch debt alone amounted to nearly six hundred thousand dollars. At present the total is only $347,000; still a large figure of course, but by comparison, encouragingly low. And best of all is the fact that the road and bridge fund seems to be definitely under control, which is to the credit of the county commissioners who are forced constantly to turn thumbs down to requests for road improvements. Getting into debt is an easy matter. To reduce debts is always a hard struggle.

Building contractors and material dealers are making a common sense appeal in this issue for an early start on the 1936 building program. Present prospects indicate an unusually active season in the construction of new homes and the modernization of old dwellings. And if the volume approaches the mark that is expected, here and elsewhere, it may be difficult to supply the rush demand for skilled labor and materials. The building season is naturally short in this territory and it is made still shorter by the tendency of builders to wait until warm weather arrives before a start is made. By disposing of the preliminaries while the weather is still too cold for actual construction, it will be possible for the building operations to get under way as soon as conditions do permit and the building season will be moved ahead several weeks.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE
(Rock Island Argus)

Analyzing the ownership of wealth in this country, W. J. Cameron, spokesman for Henry Ford, says in substance that the "more abundant life" cannot be achieved by plowing under more crops or curtailing production. Abundance cannot come from scarcity it is argued.

Refuting claims that 90 per cent of the wealth in the United States is owned by 2 per cent of the people—an ancient fallacy—Mr. Cameron makes use of United States government figures to show that 72 per cent of the nation's wealth is held by ordinary folks who are not in the "big money" class at all.

"The chief trouble," Mr. Cameron says, "is that there is not enough wealth. Our immediate and pressing job is to create more and more and render it easily accessible; create so much more that the very pressure and overflow will force adequate distribution."

This plan may not be practical in every industry and industry as a whole may not think favorably of it, but it appears to be more feasible in the opinion of many people than the plan of trying to create a more abundant life through scarcity.

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE SEAWAY
(Toledo Blade)

For years the advocates of senate ratification of the St. Lawrence seaway treaty with Canada have relied chiefly upon the reports of army engineers showing the feasibility and cost of the project and upon statistics proving that it would be of great benefit to business generally and to grain growers especially. They made a strong case and almost won, lacking only seven votes in the senate in 1934.

Now they will try again, but a new campaign policy has been adopted. Early in March a great convention will be held in Detroit. Three thousand delegates will attend, representing not only the Tidewater association and the Great Lakes Harbor association, but also business organizations and the American Farm Bureau, the National Grange, the National Farmers' Union and other nation-wide groups, state governors and the Canadian Deep Waterways association.

In a republic this plan of campaign is legitimate and frequently necessary for attainment of desirable objectives. In this case the seaway proponents and advocates must convince the senators of the definite trend of public opinion as well as of the public advantages of a proposal which is technical, which calls for a large expenditure of money and which has not been well enough understood by most of the people.

UPS AND DOWNS OF PUBLIC DEBT
(St. Cloud Times)

The United States since the year 1791 has been growing in many ways, one is the increase of its public debt. In the first nine years of the government the per capita debt was $15.63, necessary in starting a government whose finances were zero. In the 10 years later the debt dropped to $7.84, the lowest in history, except in 1840, when the public debt to each person was only 21 cents. That was upset by the Civil War, and from 1861 to 1865 it was $77.07 per capita. There was a steady reduction up to 1916, when it was only $11.83. Then came the World War, very costly to this country, and the public debt was $228.32 for each man, woman and child in the country. In 1930 it had been reduced so that the per capita debt was $131.58, a rather remarkable showing. We start off the New Year with a debt obligation on each person in this country of $240, the highest in the country, and with the impossibility of a balanced budget for some years it is going to be larger. This may make the people realize that every dollar spent in relief and in made work, necessary as they are, adds to the burden of the people—all the people. The government is no Santa Claus, just a collecting and disbursing agent. Added to this federal indebtedness are those of states, municipalities and school districts, not a pleasant thought for New Years, but it shows the necessity for real economy.—St. Cloud Times.

Wrestling has developed as a great commercial sport. It is succeeding because it is extremely informal, to say the least. Wrestlers are slammed about the mat. They are twisted out of shape and almost torn to pieces. Eyes are gouged. There are groans, grunts, grimaces. The public pays. The meaner and dirtier the contestants, the better the show and the crowd. Some of this sport was recently seen at Hibbing. The Hibbing Tribune said there was to be more in the following comment. "Such performers as Johnson stirred the fans to their highest pitch of excitement and if the sports group can import four other performers equally as dirty in their tactics, the show should be an assured success." We would hate to think that professional wrestling was a commentary upon the intelligence and kindness of the people of the nation.—Grand Rapids Herald-Review.

Rarely has a session reflected more credit on the Legislature as a deliberative body than the one just closed. It was businesslike, free of petty politics to a remarkable degree and in general displayed a level of competence for the general welfare in which the state should take pride. It is right that provision has been made for compensation at future special sessions.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

One of the topics of the week is Al Smith. Newspapers edited by Democrats have been snorting mad for a month at Republicans who now think Al is a swell guy. In reference to the Democratic brothers we will not join the new chorus of praise. Instead, and moved by a desire to calm them, we suggest this plan: that Republicans be consistent and think the same of Al now as they did in 1928—provided the Democrats do the same. Such a re-adjustment would put a heavier strain on many Democrats than it would on the Republicans.—Montevideo News.

TO THE WOMAN WITH FIVE RED COWS

You woman with your five red cows,
Of what do you think
As you drive your cows down to the river to drink,
Twice each day,
Down the shady way
To the river to drink?

Are you dreaming of riches, or fame or love?
Do you see the blue sky and the white clouds above,
Or the violets in the grass
That your cows tread down and kill, as they pass?
Do you hear the song of the bob-o-link
As you take your cows down to the river to drink
Your five red cows?

Or are you like your cows, who think
That the river is only water to drink,
That the violets grow in the grass to eat,
And all that really matters are the five sweet
Little red calves at home in the barn?

O woman of five red cows,
What DO you think
As you drive them down to the river to drink
Past my gate,
So early and late, you
With your five red cows?

Nursery Stock Sellers Must Have Certificates

New protection for consumers of nursery stock in Minnesota, and for reputable dealers as well, will be provided in a new regulation adopted by the Minnesota division of nursery inspection, headed by A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist, University Farm. Effective March 1, 1936, every person selling nursery stock in this state must carry a certificate signed by Mr. Ruggles. Officially the certificate for a Minnesota nursery states that the firm is registered with the state inspector and that its stock has been found free from dangerous insects and diseases, and otherwise healthy and normal. For an out-of-state nursery the card certifies that the company has complied with the laws governing shipped-in nursery stock.

Mr. Ruggles explains that besides the official certification of inspection, the certificate assures the buyer that the solicitor is a bona fide agent of the firm he represents, and further gives evidence as to the financial reliability of the nursery itself.

Emphasizing that the value of the new regulation will depend on the cooperation of the public, Mr. Ruggles urges everyone after March 1 to demand that all nursery stock salesmen show their certificates before they get any orders.

JAPANESE CO-OPERATOR TO SPEAK AT UNIVERSITY

Co-operatives in the northwest states will soon have the opportunity of personally hearing Toyohiko Kagawa, nationally known Japanese social and religious leader when his American tour will bring him into this section of the country.

While Kagawa, will spend three days in St. Paul and Minneapolis, members of the farm co-operatives adjacent to the twin cities are particularly urged if possible to attend meetings at the University Farm School Auditorium, St. Paul at 10 A. These meetings are being sponsored by the farm Co-Operative organizations, Central Cooperative association, Minnesota Farm Bureau, Land O' Lakes Creameries, Franklin Co-Operative Creameries, Farmers Union, Twin City Milk Producers Association, Northern States Cooperative League, Midland Cooperative wholesalers.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

Al Smith's speech at Dupont's American "Liberty" League was the subject of much discussion the past week on the part of Capitol Hill politicians. Its results also were the subject of much speculation.

The Republicans were the ones to applaud it. Al is now a regular fellow—he has finally seen the light. But to Democrats, those who used to love him for his liberalism, he has become a plain turncoat. He has deserted his old "pals" and gone over to those who know how to reward their public mouthpieces.

Somehow, Al Smith as the defender of the "upper crust", the flag waver, the "red menace" shouter, appears ludicrous and grotesque. That is why his speech fell flat. It is not so easy for him to replace the brown derby with the silk top hat; the former personified the struggle of the common man against the oppressive power of wealth; the latter to the man on the street means a "sell out."

But since when has America become the symbol of capitalism? Capitalism rules in virtually all the countries of the world. It is no different in the United States than it is in England, Italy, Japan, and all other capitalistic countries. There is nothing in our history that should make us the guardians of capitalism nor should compel us to assume the responsibility for its sins. Those who use Americanism to perpetuate capitalism are committing a fraud and do violence to the lofty principles and ideals of the founders of America.

The horse is staging a comeback on the farm, according to claims made by the Rochester Horse Importing Company, a corporation recently organized in Minnesota with a capitalization of $200,000 and a stock of breed horses valued at $13,600.00. The company has made application to the Securities Commission for the registration of its stock which is now under consideration by the commission. In support of their application the company states that during the depression farmers had no cash for fuel for motor or equipment and as a consequence there was a gradual swing back to the use of horses because it eliminates the necessity of purchasing gasoline for power; provides an outlet for oats, grain and hay produced on the farm; it is preferable to feed crops to his horses rather than sell such crops and buy gasoline; and the horse is reliable and dependable at all times and under all conditions.

There is some question now as to whether the regular federal aid highway program for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 is going to materialize as anticipated. This program as originally planned at Washington would provide Minnesota $3,400,000 of federal funds for construction on the primary trunk system. The Legislature has authorized issuance of more than $4,000,000 in state highway funds to match the federal money. Now some opposition to the national federal aid program is being expressed in Washington. If Congress should not make the necessary appropriation Minnesota will lose the $3,400,000 of federal funds and the $4,000,000 state funds will not be spent either.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

The City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in special session in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on January 28, 1936. The purpose of the meeting, due notice of which had been regularly given, was to consider the matter of the proposed addition of a second story to the Municipal Skating Rink now under construction by the City and to take some action with regard to the alleged dog nuisance existing at 617 Horace Avenue North. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with all members of the Council present.

A. J. Berry acting as spokesman urged the consideration of the project. B. O. Norby and Olaf Nesst speaking on behalf of the Boy Scouts; Wm. LaFave speaking in behalf of the Athletic Club and Herb Jung speaking in behalf of the [illegible] Club. Architect H. C. Eckland presented a sketch of the proposed addition. A motion was made by Alderman Myhrum that the proper officials of the City be authorized to execute a project proposal in the amount of $4,000.00 to cover the proposed addition and forward the same to the District WPA office. The motion was seconded by Alderman Kinghorn and declared unanimously carried.

In the matter of the alleged dog nuisance existing at 617 Horace Avenue North, a motion was made by Alderman Kinghorn, seconded by Alderman Christofferson and duly carried that the City Attorney be instructed to cause notice to be served on the defendant limiting the time for abatement of said nuisance to 10 days from date of service of notice.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned.

EMIL GRIEBSTEIN,
President of the Council.
Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

Pursuant to due notice to each of the members the City Council met in special session in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on January 31st, 1936. The meeting was called for the purpose of considering the matter of securing a Director for the proposed Municipal Band and to consider also applications for 3.2 beer and refreshment licenses about to expire and to take action on the offer of Paul A. Lundgren, representing M. M. Strom, in the matter of settlement of accumulated taxes against lots 19 and 20 of Block 63, Original Townsite of Thief River Falls. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with all members present.

Alderman Christofferson introduced a resolution appropriating from the Band Fund the amount of $125.00 as salary of Director of the Municipal Band effective on February 15th, Mr. C. L. Eggermayer having been selected to serve in that capacity, and moved the adoption of the resolution. Motion seconding the adoption was made by Alderman Baker and on roll call the resolution was declared unanimously adopted.

Application for renewal of 3.2% beer license was presented by John Wiener and application for renewal of refreshment license by Hotel Evelyn, Thomas Mehegan, Manager. The same having been approved by the License Committee of the Council, a resolution was introduced by Alderman Kinghorn that the City Clerk be instructed to issue licenses as per the applications and moved the adoption of the resolution. The motion was seconded by Alderman Christofferson and adopted by unanimous vote.

In the matter of the offer of Paul A. Lundgren, representing M. M. Strom, offering a settlement of the accumulated taxes against lots 19-20, Block 63, Original Townsite, Alderman Myhrum introduced a resolution recommending to the County Board of Pennington County a settlement on the basis of the City's share of Paving Installments in the amount of $125.00 and a further consideration of general taxes in the amount of $100.00 and moved the adoption of the resolution. The motion was seconded by Alderman Baker and the resolution was declared adopted.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned.

EMIL GRIEBSTEIN,
President of the Council.
Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

RESOLUTION

At a special meeting of the City Council held January 31, 1936, Alderman Myhrum, seconded by Alderman Baker, introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, By the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, that

WHEREAS, M. M. Strom has filed with the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County an application for abatement of taxes on Lots Nineteen and Twenty (19 & 20) of Block Sixty Three (63), of the Original townsite of Thief River Falls, and

WHEREAS, There is delinquent on said property assessments for paving improvements maturing in the year 1921 to 1934, inclusive, aggregate Seven Hundred Eighty Five and 80/100 ($785.80) dollars and it appearing to the Council that the delinquent taxes on said property is in excess of its value and the said M. M. Strom having offered the sum of Three Hundred Twenty Five ($325.00) dollars in full compromise settlement of the delinquent paving assessments for said years and the sum of One Hundred ($100.00) dollars in compromise settlement of the delinquent general taxes for said years, and,

It appearing to the Council that it is for the best interests of the City that said offer be accepted,

NOW THEREFORE, Be it resolved that the Council recommend to the County Board of Pennington County, and the State Tax Commission that such abatement be accepted and the City officers are hereby authorized to accept the sum of Three Hundred Twenty Five ($325.00) dollars in settlement of the delinquent paving assessments for said years.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION of the Pennington County Co-op. Power Ass'n., of Goodridge, Minn.

We, the undersigned persons, acting for ourselves as individuals, do hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a cooperative association under and pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 326, Laws of 1923, and acts amendatory thereof, and to that end we do hereby adopt the following articles of incorporation.

ARTICLE I. (Name, Purpose, Place)

Section 1. The name of this association shall be the Pennington County Co-op. Power Ass'n.

Section 2. The purpose of this association shall be to engage in the production, purchase and sale of electric energy on the co-operative plan. The general nature of its business shall be to establish and maintain electric plants, transmission lines and such other facilities and services as are required in the operation of such an enterprise. For such purposes, it shall have the power and authority to acquire, own, construct, lease, contract for, encumber, mortgage, bond, purchase, sell and buy, assign, maintain and operate electric light and power plants, transmission appliances and equipment, and to own other real and personal property; to join with other cooperative associations to form district, state and national associations and hold membership therein; and to have power and authority, either for itself or its individual members, to do and perform every act and thing necessary and proper to the conduct of its business or the accomplishment of the purposes set forth herein or permitted by the act under which this association is incorporated.

Section 3. The principal place of business of said association shall be in the Village of Goodridge, County of Pennington, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II. (Period)

Elk River—Horned rabbits are not at all common, and when Fred Pieri, who lives on a farm about three miles east of Elk River, shot a rabbit recently and found it had four distinct horns growing on top of its head, he thought it was quite a curiosity. The rabbit had been hanging around the buildings on the Pieri farm for some time, and he finally got a shot at it. The rabbit appeared to be normal otherwise, but the horns were about an inch long and were of a hard bony substance.

CROOKSTON TEAM DOWNS PROWLERS 25 TO 16 FRIDAY

Lincoln Quintet Will Meet Warren at Auditorium Friday Evening

The third major defeat of the season and the second defeat at the hands of district competition was administered to the Thief River Falls Prowlers Friday evening by the Crookston Pirates to the tune of 25-16. The game was a rough and tumble one with a total of 28 personal fouls being called by the referee, 18 on the Prowlers and 10 on Crookston.

Friday night the Prowlers will meet the Warren Ponies at the Auditorium. The Prowlers have defeated Warren earlier in the season and will try hard to make up for the past defeats at the hands of other opponents. On the 21st of February the strong Bemidji quint will meet the Prowlers there. On Feb. 18 Crookston plays here and on Feb. 14 the Prowlers will attempt to avenge themselves against East Grand Forks.

R. C. Rose to Discuss Crops and Potato Culture

Should seed grain be treated in 1936? Will seed treatment improve chances of obtaining a good stand when using low quality seeds? What are the highlights of the potato situations? What can potato growers do to improve the quality of their crop?

These and other questions of importance to Pennington County farmers will be considered by R. C. Rose, Extension Plant Pathologist, at meetings to be held the coming week, says R. M. Douglass, County Agent.

A meeting will be held at the Court House at Thief River Falls at 1:30 p. m. on Thursday, February 13th, and at St. Hilaire on Friday, February 14th, at 2 p. m. at Hilden and Olson Hall. All interested in better cereal crops and improved methods of potato culture and disease control are urged to attend these meetings.

Rexalls Hold Lead in Intermediate Hockey Loop During the Week

The Rexalls, leading contenders for the intermediate hockey championship, had a bad time last week when they lost a game to the Coffee Shop boys, formerly the Cubs, and were held to a tie by the Bridgeman team. At the present time the standings are as follows:

	W	L	T	P
Rexalls	4	2	1	9
Coffee Shops	3	2	1	7
Bridgemans	0	3	2	2

The extreme cold of the past week has handicapped the boys but has not prevented them from playing hockey. Because of the cold the ice is brittle and rough, but as soon as the weather warms up a bit a better brand of hockey will be displayed. Steve Furan of Hibbing has been giving the boys some much needed coaching on new styles of attack and defense and he predicts that in a year or two Thief River Falls will have plenty of excellent hockey material.

Fifteen New Projects Authorized to Start in This WPA District

Fifteen new projects have been authorized to start this week, according to certifications made out at the seventh district office of the Works Progress administration at Detroit Lakes, of which C. L. Berggren is director. Outstanding among these projects is the addition to the Barnesville public school at a total cost of $45,260. The federal allotment is $21,781 while the sponsors will contribute $23,479. The structure will provide an auditorium and gymnasium for the school. About 16 men have been assigned to the project. The Works Progress administration is seeking in every way possible to supervise the welfare of the workers on projects. An agreement has recently been made with radio stations to announce weather conditions. The Fargo station, WDAY, has agreed to make these announcements at 10 o'clock in the evening and 7 o'clock in the morning. Foremen are advised to act accordingly.

ROSEAU SIX WINS OVER T.R.F. HOCKEY MEN ON THURSDAY

Locals Line up Schedule of Contests for the Next Few Weeks

The Thief River Falls hockey team last Thursday bowed to the hard skating Roseau Cloverleafs at Roseau by a 5 to 3 score. The locals showed vast improvement over two weeks ago when they were defeated by the Grand Forks Cavaliers and had they played a complete game as they did the final period, the score at Roseau might have had a different ending.

The locals had no one outstanding star as the entire team played very good hockey considering the conditions under which they have had to practice. Bob Bell, the outstanding performer for the Cloverleafs who after having played in the goal during the first period then moved up to one of the forward lines where he was responsible for the majority of Roseau's scores. The local scoring was done by Ray Parbst, and Ole Gillette who accounted for two goals.

The local team was materially strengthened this week when they acquired the services of Steve Furan of Hibbing as coach and player. Furan has had a great deal of experience playing with professional teams in Hibbing and during the past year played in the Muskegan-Canadian League. The locals have been practicing this week and have shown a marked improvement and are expected to give any of the teams that they meet during the balance of the season an exceptionally good game.

The management of the local team has scheduled home games with Crookston, Bemidji, Grand Forks, and Roseau. If weather conditions permit the locals will meet the strong Crookston team here on Thursday evening with Roseau playing here on the following Wednesday. These home games will give the local fans an opportunity to see just what progress the team has made and what the prospects are for a Grade A Team to represent the city in organized hockey when our rink is completed next winter.

ORON BRANDON IS HIGH FOR THE WEEK IN BOWLING LOOP

Bratrud Clinics Win from Crookston Team by 47 Points

The top man in the local bowling league for the past week was Oron Brandon of the Hamms bowling team who scored 200 when the Hamms team took two out of three games from the Land O'Lakes for whom Doug Booren was high with 151 pins tipped. Carl Wennberg was high man for Glucks when they lost three straight games to the Grainbelts, Harold Olson being high for the latter team with 187 pins.

Monday Francis Stitt led the Bridgeman team with 176 pins to down the Times three straight under the leadership of high man Art Lufkin at 167. The Grain Belts took two out of three from Bridgemans on Tuesday. Morris Jaranson and Gordon Storholm with 188 counters apiece were high for their respective teams.

The Bratrud Clinic team bowled the Grand Theatre team of Crookston and won by a margin of 47 pins for three games, Coo of Crookston having 611 for the highest total points for three games. The highest individual game score of 233 was made by Hieler of Crookston. The Bridgeman team lost three games running to another Crookston team Jan. 20. Bergum of Crookston tilting 238 pins.

Team standings:

Bratrud Clinic	27	9	750
Grain Belt	25	11	694
Borchert-Johnson	22	14	611
Bridgeman	21	15	683
Times	16	20	444
Land O'Lakes	12	23	410
Hamms	11	28	282
Glucks	10	26	277

ACTIVE BUILDING SEASON IN PROSPECT IN CITY THIS YEAR

ple funds for every type of building, but more especially that of houses. The money comes through private sources but any transactions under Title 1 or Title 2 carry a partial guarantee of the Government. We have one institution in Minnesota which has taken a leading part in handling Title 1 loans made in every part of the Nation, and the latest reports show it is carrying one-tenth of all these loans made to date. The losses to the Government under its guarantee have been practically nil, thereby justifying the prediction that home loans are safe investments.

Thief River Falls is in the same situation as other towns and cities, more houses are needed, and indications now are that several will be under construction with the coming of spring. We are not a town built on a boom and can therefore expect a steady and continuous growth; after all that is the true sign of a prosperous condition in any community."

More than two and one-half times the number of family dwelling units were provided during the year 1935, as in 1934 in all American cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants, according to the federal home loan bank board. During 1935 there were 80,969 family dwelling units provided as compared with only 31,343 units in the preceding year and 36,267 units in 1933. A continuation in 1936 of the rate of increase in building which prevailed during 1935 would result in the construction of about 200,000 new dwellings.

25 Greenbush People to Take P. M. Exams Here

A group of 25 applicants from the Greenbush community will come to Thief River Falls Saturday to take civil service examinations for the postmastership in that village. It was announced today by Gunder Legvold, secretary of the local board of civil service examiners, who added that this is the largest number to seek a similar post in the past several years. The examinations will be conducted in the commercial classroom in Lincoln high school.

Rites in Hibbing Today for Bernard Bischoff

Funeral rites were held in Hibbing this morning for Bernard R. Bischoff, who died Sunday evening in that city, according to word received by local friends. The son of Mrs. Theresa Fuller, Mr. Bischoff grew to young manhood in Thief River Falls. At the time of his death he held the office of secretary of the Minnesota State Elks association.

REPEAL VOTED ON THREE FARM ACTS BY U. S. SENATE

Vote to Cancel Cotton, Tobacco and Potato Control Legislation

The United States senate Tuesday quickly carried out President Roosevelt's request for "prompt repeal" of the cotton, tobacco and potato control acts.

Chairman Smith, Democrat of South Carolina, of the senate agriculture committee, called up a brief bill to strike from the statute books the Bankhead compulsory cotton control, the Kerr-Smith tobacco act, and the potato control law. The senate passed the repealer without debate with barely two dozen members on the floor. It still must pass the house.

The three measures, passed after the original AAA act, were closely tied to the whole farm adjustment program. Invalidation of AAA was generally believed to have doomed them. In his brief message Monday, Mr. Roosevelt said he desired repeal because of the "termination" of the AAA program.

The only safe time to make a prediction is after the thing has happened.

Receipts of Grain at Local Elevator Rise

Figures released this week by the state grain inspection department reveal that the Osborne-McMillan terminal elevator in this city received 294 carloads of grain during the period from July 1, 1935, to February 1 this year. The total represents a substantial increase over receipts of 104 carloads during the corresponding period a year ago. Shipments were 232 carloads for the period, compared to 123 carloads a year ago.

WATCH REPAIR MAN LEAVES WITH CUSTOMERS' WATCHES

Lake Wilson.—An itinerate watch maker and repair man has "tinkered" with the watches of residents of Lake Wilson a little too much, and is being sought by authorities. E. L. Bliss, who makes his living traveling from town to town repairing clocks and watches, dropped in on Lake Wilson and at Iona and Avoca, nearby. His work was guaranteed, he said. Anyone who entrusted a watch to his expert hands would never have to worry about it again. It is true that his customers have been relieved of the worry of whether their time-pieces would keep good time, but they have been left with the worry of wondering where their watches were. Bliss apparently decamped with a collection of time-pieces and cannot be found. One of the watches was valued at $40.

Winter Show Livestock Pavilion at Crookston Damaged by Fire Friday

The livestock pavilion at Crookston, being prepared to house animals for the Red River Valley Winter Shows opening Monday for a five-day run, was damaged by fire Friday. Discovered at 11 a. m. the fire, believed to have started from an overheated stove, threatened destruction of the pavilion and the adjoining annex, but a change in the wind coupled with efforts of the fire department, fighting the flames in 14 below temperature, saved both structures. The damage was confined mainly to the interior of the pavilion where large quantities of hay and straw had been stored in preparation for the show.

Let's Start Early on the 1936 Building Program

Whether it's a new building or only a small remodelling or repair job, get the preliminaries out of the way now so that you will be able to start as soon as weather permits. The building season is naturally short. It is made still shorter by the tendency to wait until warm weather is here before "starting to get ready to begin." Get set for an early start this year. Plans can be prepared. Estimates can be secured. Financing can be arranged. And contracts can be let. Get set now for an early start on the 1936 building program.

BUILDING IMPROVEMENTS INCREASE VALUES

HOMES everywhere are getting into the spirit of repair and remodeling work. Be sure that your home gets the best materials from a reliable source. Get our prices and reduce your final costs.

An Early Start Will—

Protect you against possible price advances and assure you prompt delivery of materials when you want them.

BUILDING IMPROVEMENTS INCREASE VALUES

Building and Remodelling
Require
SPECIAL MILLWORK

It doesn't matter much what kind of a job it is—a new porch, an extra cabinet in the kitchen, or a whole new home—special mill work is required.

Being right here on the ground floor enables us to give good service on this class of work. But time is required. And that's why

We Urge You to Get an Early Start On the Improvements You Plan This Year

Let us give you an estimate now on the jobs you will want done this Spring and Summer. Early orders will assure you of better service and will protect you against possible price advances.

RESTFUL PAINTING IS DESIRABLE FOR HOME INTERIORS

More Thought Is Devoted to Color Harmony of Walls and Furnishings

A good portion of the restlessness in the home was born at the last house cleaning when a major decorating job was done.

Clashing colors, warm colors that were used in rooms that called for cool shades, or heavy colors where the delicate pastel shades were needed. Usually the family is not aware of the cause of their irritation and blame it on to something else. However, harmony can be restored by taking stock of the prevailing colors in the furnishings and working out a decorating scheme that will soothe and please.

Furnishings that carry a good deal of color are best set off by a wall treatment in neutral tones, or at least shades that are toned down so as not to clash or dominate the room.

BETTER HOUSING GUIDE

Wards are cooperating with the Better Housing plan that the Federal Government is sponsoring and Wards are equipped to furnish information and booklets concerning this splendid method of financing improvements to homes and other properties.

The following lines of merchandise handled by Wards can be purchased on this plan.

Plumbing — Heating — Roofing — Building Materials — Refrigerators — Radios Hardware — Paints — Wall Paper and many other items too numerous to mention.

Inflation means higher prices---and there is much talk of inflation these days. The price tendency thruout the country is up. And while no one can accurately predict what the future holds for us, it is a fairly safe bet that building costs are not going to be lower. If you are planning to build, remodel or repair this summer, early action is likely in your favor. For one thing, you will get the job done when you want it done, and you will be protected against possible price advances. Now is the time to make preliminary arrangements for your 1936 improvement program.

HOME BUILDING IN U. S. IN 1936 MAY HIT $900,000,000

Business Analysts Predict Substantial Increase Over Last Year

Business analysts are convinced that building operations will play a major part in shaping the 1936 industrial curve.

Most of them believe capital expenditures for construction this year will heavily exceed the figures of 1935, and thus help to lift business activity to a considerably higher recovery peak than was registered last year.

For the most part of construction specialists are talking of gains of 20 to 40 per cent in contract values over the dollar volume of the previous year.

In a survey of the industry, the Standard Statistics Co. suggests that for all types of building, the total awards for the year may reach $2,400,000,000 for the 37 states east of the Rocky mountains, which would be approximately 30 per cent greater than that for 1935.

The survey holds that tentative indications are that total residential contract awards for the year may increase to $900,000,000. Realization of this estimate would establish a gain over 1935 comparable to the 90 per cent expansion shown last year in contrast with 1934.

REMODELING SUGGESTIONS

In the days when the girls wore bloomers, when they went out for a ride on a bicycle, houses were built with a great deal of ornamentation. Gable windows were plentiful, and "gingerbread scroll-work" was used to the limit.

To remodel this type of home is rather a task because there are so many angles and corners to absorb. Great over-hanging eaves have to be cut back where they belong, and useless ornament removed.

In the English style of home we have the gables and sharp lines that enables us to use them to advantage when doing over a home of the 1890's.

Such a house is best veneered with brick up to the eaves, while the gables are half timbered and stuccoed. If there is one gable in front that is going to stay, emphasize it even more by bringing it out over the wall line a little so it can be made a feature of the renovation. Rest it on hewn wooden brackets and make it earn the right to stay by creating the needed touch to the street facade.

THAT ADDED BATH ROOM

Many families are needlessly depriving themselves of that additional bathroom because they think such a room must be large. If necessary all three of essential bathroom fixtures can be placed in a space as small as 5'x8'.

Beautiful designs in small fixtures are now shown that will make such an addition to the home inexpensive and easily financed.

Soot and Ash Cause Heat Trouble.

According to figures given out by a Mid-West heating concern most failures to heat are the result of soot and ash covered surfaces inside the boiler.

Such a condition wastes heat, and wasted heat means wasted fuel. If the heating plant is cleaned in the fall and all joints inspected, most complaints of faulty boilers and furnaces would never be made.

BUILDING IMPROVEMENTS INCREASE VALUES

BUILD... your opportunity today is greater than ever before

OUR nation, in its most recent and vigorous activity against the depression, has centered all its interests in its homes . . . your home and the home of your neighbor. Improvements and modernization are admittedly on the way, and behind them is mobilized an impressive force of technicians, laborers and quality materials with which all the work will be done. Foremost of all the materials that must be used are lumber and millwork. Upon their quality depends the value, in permanence, beauty and convenience, of all modernizing that you plan. Be sure that your home receives the quality lumber due it.

We'll Help You With Your Plans, Estimates and Finances

Plan from the start with expert, unbiased advice. We will gladly consult with you and help you make improvements of greatest value. Estimates will be furnished without obligation or expense on your part.

Children's Colds Should Have This Safe Treatment

Young Mothers Benefit from Two Generations' Proof of This External Treatment For Fighting Colds.

IT AVOIDS CONSTANT "DOSING"

There's nothing like a child's cold to upset a young mother. And mothers of two generations, anxious to help end colds, have depended on Vicks VapoRub. It is effective—external—and safe. It avoids the risks of constant "dosing," so often upsetting to children's delicate digestions.

Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways at once:

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster—
2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion.

A Practical Guide for Mothers

Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds and shorter colds by Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of the Plan in each package of Vicks VapoRub.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Wecking

The Red Lake Reservation

Readers will recall that the Times of January 23 carried an article about a meeting at Bemidji to discuss state rental charges for state-owned fisheries on Red Lake. The rent is collected from reservation Indians who assert it is too high. This article directed the writer's attention to data furnished him from state historical society files by Beatrice Mary Billing of St. Paul. In one place Miss Billing's notes read:

"In the year 1896 occured a really 'big event'. Eighty-nine townships were thrown open to homestead entry. This event marked an important milestone in the development of the community. A special issue of the Thief River Falls Press traced in flowery language the development of the white race from prehistoric days to the date of the opening of the reservation. The heading reads: The Golden Gates to Open on the 15th day of May, 1896. The Great Red Lake Indian Reservation Comprising 89 Townships of Richest Agricultural Lands Opens for Settlement under the Homestead Laws."

We have made some reference previously to the interest of the city in developments which followed, resulting in opening of additional reservation areas, of the trip of the mayor of Thief River Falls to Washington, which he reached Jan. 30, 1902, to petition the secretary of the interior for the appointment of an Indian inspector to negotiate with the Chippewa for the cession of 11 townships on the western edge of their reservation. It is interesting to note that in all these moves there were sound arguments to show that they would materially benefit the Indians. As a matter of fact, it appears that the purported aims of these bills presented in Congress were invariably altruistic and as such directly beneficial to the Indians on paper. But it appears that the text of the bills was often ignored.

But we are concerned here solely with the historical phases of these matters as they affected the white residents. A report submitted five years earlier—in 1889—showed that whites were crowding in on the Indians and it was asserted the "Great Father himself could not stop the flood of immigrants." Naturally whites in Thief River Falls were interested in the opening of the lands, regardless of their ideas about it. The land was thrown open by the "higher-ups" and it was the problem of the commoner only so far as his rights as a homesteader were concerned.

But here is an interesting angle. The historian Folwell tells that the Indians in 1889 complained to Washington about false survey lines, false classifications and false timber estimates and adds: "They complained also that white men fished in Red Lake." Evidently times have changed. Forty-seven years ago the Indians considered Red Lake their exclusive property. Now they must pay the state rent for fisheries there.

Folwell's history contains a map showing the original Red Lake reservation which extended from the the Triangle in the upper part of the Lake of the Woods area to a point about 30 miles south of Red Lake and from Thief River Falls, the most distant point of the western boundary to the confluence of the Black and the Rainy rivers, farthest eastern point. The greatest length was about 120 miles and the greatest width about 110 miles. The present reservation is about 40 miles long (east and west) and 30 miles wide. The map shows that an area ceded in 1904 (as a result partly of the mayor's efforts) abuts on the Thief River Falls townsite and is bounded on the north side by a line extending due east from a point on Thief river about five miles north on the city and extending east about 30 miles with the eastern boundary running south from there to the Clearwater river. The Clearwater river forms the southern boundary to a point about ten miles east of the south branch of Red Lake river.

Local newspaper files show that the first sale of the area ceded in 1904 was conducted in the city of Thief River Falls June 20, 1904, and that the sales continued until July 14. Crookston records show they were resumed there October 3. The aggregate amount realized in this period, for 114,135.87 acres, was $679,676.86. Later receipts brought the total to $1,265,000. All of this money was paid in cash at the rate, for most of the land at least, of an average of $5.95. This was quite a return for land in which the Indians really had no title that organized white government recognized.

But no money paid the Indians ever did them much good apparently. They were not competent in those days to use their money wisely. Today their children and grandchildren are more experienced in such matters, but the trouble now is that very little money is available. We still have "Indian troubles" and probably will have them for some time. But we are more interested here in the fact that children of Thief River Falls may go just a short distance east of the city and know that they are on the land over which painted braves once hunted, not in early exploitation days but only 32 years ago.

TOY CANNON EXPLODES TAKES OFF BOY'S FINGER

Granite Falls.—A toy cannon proved anything but a toy when it exploded and tore half the index finger of Franklin Lee, son of Attorney and Mrs. William Lee of Granite Falls. Franklin and his younger brother, Clifford, were playing with the miniature weapon which discharged. In loading the weapon before the explosion, the boy had forced too much powder into the magazine, and the weapon discharged prematurely. Half of the lad's index finger on the left hand was blown off, his shirt was torn off, and his entire body blackened from the smoke. Fortunately, his eyes were uninjured, as he was wearing shatter-proof glasses.

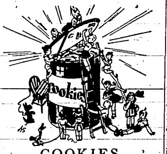
Modern Method of Making



COOKIES

"The children run from near and far
To dip into the cookie jar."

THAT'S one of the immemorial prerogatives of childhood. So prevalent is it, in fact, that a vast cookie baking industry has been built up to keep all the cookie jars in the country comfortably full so that children can exercise that prerogative.

But, after all, it's fun to surprise them. They all know the contents of the innumerable cartons of delicious cookies that save modern housewives so much preparation and baking. But when they plunge their eager hands into a cookie jar—a real old fashioned cookie jar — which they know contains cookies made at home, the pleasure of uncertainty as to the nature of their treat is added to their anticipation of something delicious.

Apricots Inside!

Almond Apricot Squares: Cream one-half cup shortening and one-half cup sugar, add one well-beaten egg, and then one-fourth cup apricot purée. Sift together two cups pastry flour, one-fourth teaspoon soda and a few grains salt, and add. Stir in two-thirds cup finely chopped blanched almonds. Chill well, roll very thin and cut in squares. Place on a greased sheet. Will not spread. Bake at 400 degrees, a hot oven, for eight or nine minutes. Makes five or six dozen cookies.

Dried Apricot and Nut Cookies: Put one cup dried apricots through a food chopper. Then combine them with one and a half cups condensed milk, one cup canned moist coconut and one cup chopped nuts, drop by spoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for from twelve to fifteen minutes. Makes about thirty cookies.

Molasses and Coconut

Molasses or Ginger Cookies: Boil one cup molasses a minute, add one cup sugar, one cup shortening, two teaspoons ginger, two teaspoons cinnamon and two well beaten eggs. Add four teaspoons soda mixed with one-fourth cup vinegar. Add about five cups of flour to make a stiff dough. Roll thin. Cut as desired. Bake in a moderate—375 degree — oven for about twelve minutes. Use also for making gingerbread men. May sprinkle with sugar before baking if desired.

Coconut Burrs: Cream one-third cup shortening and three-fourths cup sugar, add one well-beaten egg and then one-third cup canned raspberries, mashed but not sieved. Sift together one and a half cups pastry flour, one and a half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon soda and one-fourth teaspoon salt, and add. Add one cup bran and one cup canned moist coconut, and chill. Drop by small spoonfuls on a greased pan, about two inches apart. Bake in a moderate—350 degree — oven for about ten minutes. Makes three and a half dozen cookies.*

Observations on Trip to California

By Joel E. Shoberg

The great Salt Lake desert is about 50 miles across, and at every ten miles there is a service station with gas, oil, lunches etc. The road thru the desert is the best, and it takes only about an hours drive. The railroad follows the public road all the way, but otherwise there is not a sign of activity. A smooth level ground of only sand and in the western part there are small pools of water. The desert gives an impressive sight as all along the western edge rises huge mountains, and with the sun striking both sand and mountains panorama.

I mentioned in a former article that railroad activities out west is carried on at a larger scale than in the middle states. Out here we first seen those huge monsters of oil burning locomotives that are often described in magazines, and truly in comparison with the average locomotive back home they are monstrous in size. The locomotives pulling the pullman train on the Union Pacific thru Salt Lake City with their oil tenders must be at least 200 feet long. They have sixteen drivers in diameter almost as high as a man; these worked on the two cycle principle and the exhaust and smoke came out on two places.

Out here we also get accustomed to the crude oil burning trucks and Diesel equipped cars. These trucks seem to have great power and pull several four wheel trailers with heavy loads on steep uphills. They have the exhaust above the cab, and as the motor commences to labor on the upgrades it emits volumes of heavy black smoke. Practically all the trucks in the west are larger than back home. I am positive that an average gasoline delivery truck in the west has three times the capacity of those at home. So the first thing you delivery men out home, including Christ Hanson, Pete Berg, Arthur Anderson, Helmer Helgreen and others, will have to learn if you come out here is to drive bigger trucks and take along more gallons on each trip. Greetings to you all back home.

Naturally we had to route our trip so as to take us thru Reno, Nevada, the paradise of Americas divorce seekers. Considering the size, about 18,000 population this city is without a question the most lively spot on the American continent. As we near the city at dusk large electric Neon signs inform us that we are now entering Reno, the biggest little city in the whole world. And it is big in its way. The main streets here are lit up to where we believe they are lighter than in the day time. Hotels and apartment houses of all sizes and descriptions welcome you with huge signs to enter and to be accommodated at low cost. Reno night life as can be expected is a world renown. And it is remarkable. I wonder if there is any place in U. S. where gambling flourishes as it does here. It is almost indescribable. We spent about an hour in one of the largest casinos in the place. Here money sure changed hands in a hurry, and I expect that like at most of those gambling dens all the games were built so as to run about 85 per cent back to the house. Here we found card games of all kinds, roulette wheels electrically lighted and tall as men, flash system games, bingo with corn kernals and with automatically lighted numbers as the game progressed, and numerous other mechanical contrivances where the public bet against a gambling chance of winning. Paper money seemed taboo in the playing and a cashier took your paper and handed out silver. And silver we saw by the barrels. At almost every table by the side of the house player were wooden boxes with pails full of silver dollars, halves and quarters. These were dished back and forth in one continuous stream. Just above one of the large wheel games was a boasting sign that this game never stopped, night or day, Sunday or Monday, it was in continual progress. Most of the players of the house were old gray haired men like veterans in the game and their speed in handling and shuffling and dealing cards and changing money was truly a sight. However they were under a great tension and we noticed they were relieved at short intervals. In the card games new sealed packages were also opened at regular intervals.

Besides gambling where thousands of both men and women a-try their luck, Reno has huge theatres, shows and burlesques and numerous dance halls where the public may while away their time while waiting to be relieved from the burden of an undesirable life partner. Liquor stores are in every block open night and day and special bars devoted to members of the fair sex. Not much chance of being lonesome in Reno if you are lucky enough to possess a well filled purse. I cannot think out what they would not furnish you for money in Reno.

MAIL CARRIER HAS EXCITING MOMENT

Alexandria.—An exciting moment for a rural mail carrier was experienced recently when W. I. Dobbin, postman on route one at Glenwood, found his car stuck between the rails of a track with two trains due any moment. He was crossing the railroad track and the tires of his car became fastened between the rails in such a manner that it was impossible for him to get it released. Help had to be summoned to get the car off the tracks, which took over an hour. The two trains were flagged to a stop, preventing a smash-up, but were delayed in their schedule while the car was removed.

Plummer School Notes

The Happy Helpful Club held its regular meeting Friday, January 31. The following program was presented by the third and fourth grades in conjunction with a program by the fifth and sixth grade citizenship club: A poem, "The Frost Fairies", by Wilma Greenwald; a piano duet by Muriel Sorenson and Ardith Rossberg; a poem "Someone," by Bernice Mahla; song by Margaret Bruggeman, Florabelle Kjos, and Ardith Rossberg; and a play, "Accidents Will Happen," by Lois Scheldrup, Thrine Hage, Bernice Mahla and Ardith Rossberg.

Tuesday the Plummer Cardinals defeated the Alvarado team on their home floor by a very decisive score. The Cardinals were "hot", plays clicked, and the ball handling was that of professionals. The team has found itself and much can be expected of it.

February 4th, fans can see the Cards in action again, here at home. They take on the fast Thief River Falls team, and are sure to make it a basketball game worth witnessing. Come out and see an extra game free. St. Hilaire plays Goodridge at 7:00 on the same floor.

The extension work in agriculture under Mr. Grimsrud is going forward as planned. At the last meeting the topic of feeding poultry was discussed. Much valuable printed material is distributed to those present and anyone interested in poultry is sure to be well repaid for his time.

On Tuesday, Feb. 18, the subdistrict declamation contest will be held at Plummer. This subdistrict consists of Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Goodridge, and Plummer. Each school will have one contestant in each of the divisions: dramatic, humorous, and oratorical. Three members of the Teachers College faculty from Bemidji will act as judges for the contest. The contest will start promptly at 8:15 p. m. in the village hall.

Where Joan Hid

The catacombs of St. Aignan, France, where Joan of Arc once hid her army, are now used for wine storage.

The Vogue For MIXED VEGETABLES

WELL blended vegetables are like well blended colors. They produce harmony. Every housewife knows how important it is to get a variety of vegetables into the family diet, and how difficult it is in households where Mary likes one vegetable and Johnnie likes another. The task of scraping, dicing and cooking takes time and labor.

Canners have produced a harmony of flavor and taken a task off the hands of the housewife, in preparing delicious canned mixed vegetables. You will want to know lots of delicious ways to serve them this winter. For example:

For Chilly Days

Scalloped Mixed Vegetables: Turn the contents of one No. 2 can mixed vegetables which have been drained, into a buttered baking dish, and pour over one-half cup of cream. Mix together one-fourth cup grated cheese and one-fourth cup buttered crumbs, and sprinkle over the top. Brown in an oven. This serves five persons.

Baked Stuffed Peppers: Cut off the stem ends of six or eight medium-sized green peppers and remove the seeds and membrane. Parboil for two or three minutes in boiling water and drain. Combine the contents of one No. 2 can mixed vegetables with one cup of white sauce. Season well and fill the peppers with the mixture. Top with buttered crumbs. If desired, a square of sliced cheese may be placed on each pepper. Place close together in a shallow pan and surround with a little hot water. Bake until tender and browned, or about thirty minutes. This serves six persons.

Vegetable Pie: Turn drained vegetables from a No. 2 can of mixed vegetables into a buttered baking dish and pour over the contents of one 10½-ounce can of tomato soup. Roll out biscuit dough, cut in rounds and lay on top. Bake for fifteen to twenty minutes in a hot oven. This serves eight persons.*

"The Alhambra"

"The Alhambra," by Washington Irving, grew out of the experiences and studies of Irving while an actual resident in the old royal palace of the Moors at Granada. Many of the sketches have their foundation only in the author's fancy, but others are veritable history.

MAYFIELD

Mrs. Lars Klove, daughter, Bertha, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Skalet and daughter, Stella called at the Wedul home Monday.—John Solberg and son Garwin motored to Thief River Falls Friday.—Mrs. J. P. Johnson will entertain the West Ladies Aid at her home.

Orlando Causin made a business trip to the Twin Cities Thursday.

Nature-Fakers

Artists who paint billowy, fair-weather clouds with rounded bases are nature-faking, says one meteorologist; such clouds have flat bases, and all on one level.

Were Plumes on Left Side

In olden days, when men wore plumes in their hats, the plumes were always on the left so that they should not interfere with the free movement of the sword arm. The custom still persists.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

LOCALS LOSE TO CROOKSTON PIRATES 25-16

Mickelson Stars for Locals, Barnes and R. Panzer Are Stars for Opposition

On Friday the Prowlers lost their second game to district competition when they were defeated by the Crookston Pirates 25 to 16.

The Prowlers went into the lead at the start when Jung dropped in a long shot. Crookston came back fast with Barnes and R. Panzer scoring. The Pirates never lost the lead after that. The first half was characterized by close guarding. At the end of this period, Crookston led by a score of eleven to five.

In the third quarter the Gold and Blue staged a comeback by drawing up within two points of the Pirates. As the third quarter ended, the score was 13 to 15.

In the final stanza, although each team scored only one field goal, Crookston made seven out of ten free throws while the Lincoln team made only one out of five. The final score was 25-16.

Once again the game bore a resemblance to a football game with 28 fouls called—10 on Crookston and 18 on the Prowlers. The Prowlers lost three men, G. Mickelson, Nesse, and Olson, on fouls while the Pirates lost one, E. Panzer. For the Prowlers Mickelson was outstanding. Barnes and R. Panzer played exceptional ball for the Pirates.

Below is a score of the game:

Pirates	FG	FT	F
Barnes F	4	5	0
E. Panzer F	1	0	4
Lundeberg, F	0	1	3
Vordale, C	0	3	0
R. Panzer G	2	2	1

GYM GEMS

Who said girls couldn't keep secrets? As time goes on, the leaders of Captain Ball and their teams keep striving for the "mystery reward."

Bachelor Buttons to the fifth period Wednesday and Friday girls because everyone in their class dresses and participates in the gym work. Also, to the sixth period Tuesday and Thursday girls who exhibit so much spirit since Christmas vacation goes a big bouquet. And to the girls who never say "Do we dress?" or "I'n awful pain" we hand congratulations.

Purple, 26—Black, 12
Pink, 18—Yellow, 2
Green, 24—Blue, 12
Red, 26—Orange, 4.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

The following is a list of important events for the next few weeks:

PROWLER STAFF HOLDS MEETING

Sample Copy of School Annual to be Published

The 1936 Prowler staff held a meeting in Room 110 after school last Tuesday, January 28. Malcolm Magnuson, editor-in-chief of the Prowler, presided at the meeting. At this time it was agreed temporarily to publish a forty-eight page annual. Because of financial difficulties, the intended ninety-page annual will not be published. The staff also estimated the number of pages to be allowed for all major activities. Within a short time a dummy Prowler will be published for examination.

If the annual is to be a success, more money will be needed by the senior class. Part of this will be raised by the class dues. At the present time approximately 40% of the dues have been paid.

Sixteen seniors have been chosen to assist in publishing this year's annual. The typists will be named at a later date.

Debate Squad Wins From Red Lake Trio

Because of cold weather, a relatively small crowd attended the debate held in the high school assembly on Tuesday evening, Feb. 4th. An affirmative team of Lincoln High School was awarded the unanimous decision of the three judges. Fae Belcher, Oscar Bickley and Morris Engelstad composed the victorious team. Their coach is J. K. Montague.

An all-girl squad from the Red Lake Falls High School furnished the opposition. Included in this negative team were Sylvia Paquin, Bernice Johnson, and Wilma Cutten. They were accompanied by their coach and the principal of the high school in Red Lake Falls.

Mr. Claffy presided as chairman for the debate. A. C. Pederson and Superintendent Backlund of Ada, and Superintendent Paulson of Beltrami served as judges. The question debated was "Resolved: That the several states could enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense."

Did you notice all these sophomore boys who came to the declam contest to hear their "Secret passions" do their stuff?

FEB. MEETING OF P. T. A. WAS HELD MONDAY

Boys' Double Quartet and Girls' Sextette Furnish Music for Program

The February meeting of the Parent Teacher Association was held in the Lincoln High School auditorium at eight oclock on Monday evening. A. M. Senstad, president of the association, presided.

The principal address was delivered by Professor J. R. Schwendeman of Moorhead State Teachers College. His subject was "Geography As a Basis of World Understanding."

Music was furnished by the Lincoln High School Boys' Double Quartet which includes Robert Smith, Robert Quale, Lynn Booren, Jerome Salveson, Wendell Olson, Gordon Caldis, Vernon Wedul, and Stanley Newland. Accompanied by Robert Douville, they sang "Nola" and "Winter Song". The High School Girls' Double Trio, which is composed of Audrey Anderson, Mona Mosleth, Lois Morell, Lois Nelson, Helen Rice, and Ardith Larsen, also sang two selections "Celtic Lullaby" and "I Love the Moon." Helen Granum accompanied them on the piano. Both groups were under the direction of Miss Erma Springen. Mrs. Doris Halvorson Pope played a piano solo.

Lunch was served at the close of the program by the following: Mrs. N. A. Nelson, Mrs. H. J. Rice, Mrs. A. E. Jacobson, Mrs. C. Melby, Mrs. K. Melby, Mrs. W. Morell, Jr., Mrs. A P. Brende, Mrs. Eli Holland, Mrs. William Parbst, Mrs. Hankon Olson, Mrs. O. G. Granum, Mrs. Harry Lund, Mrs. R. M. Fjelstad and Mrs. F. D. Lorentson.

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

We hear that the hockey team lost a few swell shots when Alyce P. came down to watch Vernon W. play.

And then there was the bright little Sophomore girl who said a fowl's foot were tougher than a chicken's because he stood on them more.

Certain high school girls and boys are waiting with open arms and hearts for the Warren game!

Was Bunnie D.'s face red when she "fell for" Ralph B. in assembly last week!

And does Anna H. go in for platinum blonds in a big way! Especially—from St. Hilaire.

Newest couple—Eric and Marion D.

Imagine Yvonne A.'s predicament when she had no skirt and due in biology in three minutes!

And whose class ring is Margaret M. wearing? Your guess is as good as mine, but our guess is that it's Malcolm M's.

It seems that Wayne K. and Eric are rushing Bernadette McG. but Wayne seems to be ahead at this writing. And is she thrilled!

Probably no tears were shed, but lots of dissention was acknowledged when our crew of efficient janitors promptly squelched the brewing fire in the paper shutes last week. Just an aftermath of that editorial last week.

Whatever became of "The Music Goes 'Round and 'Round"?

Eighteen hundred and ninety-one— forty-five years ago—saw the beginning of a now favorite national sport. Dr. Naismith invented the game merely to "condition" a class of eighteen young men during the winter.

Basketball, Dr. Naismith's important contribution to world sports, and, incidentally, a part of the Olympics this year, formerly had nine men on a team, then eight, seven, and now only a "quint."

Like a grass fire, it spread throughout the country until now it is almost universal. It holds the winter sports' spotlight in nearly all high schools.

At first, rules were lax and permitted "near football," but soon more emphasis was placed on the free throw as a penalty for roughness. Nevertheless we still see the old combination turning up now and then!

Dr. Naismith is the only living founder of an important sport and is truly deserving of the acclaim and attention now being given him. During February, in some localities, one cent from every paid admission is being contributed to a fund to send Dr. and Mrs. Naismith to the Olympics to see his own creation, basket-ball, played for the first time at an Olympiad.

V. J.

The pep fest, prior to the Warren game will be held on Friday, Feb. 7th.

There has been a dispute about who can put on the best fest, the boys or the girls. Now we shall see for ourselves who is the most successful. This week the boys will have complete charge of the pep fest, without any girls to help them (or hinder them, as the case may be). Jack Booren is in charge, and he will choose the boys whom he wants to help him. The boys are going to keep their plans a deep, dark secret (or try to), so we won't know, before hand just how the pep fest is going to be conducted. They plan to have a very good pep meeting this time, and we can all help them along by showing lots of pep and by showing them that we appreciate their efforts.

Next week the girls will be in command of the pep fest. Of course, they won't want to be outdone by the boys so they will try to give an even better fest than the boys plan to have this week. It should be quite a contest and we surely ought to have some good peppy assemblies in the bargain.

Lincoln, A Great American

On Wednesday, February 12, comes the birthday of one of our most loved and respected Americans, Abraham Lincoln. "Honest Abe's life of fifty-six years was a continuous struggle for a living and education. The ambitious boy worked out his arithmetic and geometry problems by the light of a great wood fire. When Lincoln began work, a book or a newspaper was usually cuddled under his arm. For this reason, much fun was poked at the young student, who was then described as "six feet four in buckskins."

Several trips were made by the young frontiersman to New Orleans with a flatboat cargo, which he had floated down the Mississippi. On the second of these expeditions to New Orleans, he observed a slave auction, and spoke the never-to-be-forgotten words: "If I ever get a chance to hit slavery, I'll hit it hard."

Lincoln made a reputation which carried him to the White House in 1860 through a series of debates with Stephen A. Douglas, an able statesman and an unrivaled debater of that period. When Lincoln was inaugurated, the country was in one of the greatest crises of its time. However, the day came when he had the chance for which he had longed. The Emancipation Proclamation made him an object of criticism by those who couldn't understand him, but he had only kindly words for them. When the country criticized generals in the field, he sent them messages of encouragement and good cheer.

On April 14, 1865 the bullet of an assassin gave Abraham Lincoln his death wound. The martyred president's death was mourned, not only by sorrowing millions in the North, but also by farsighted leaders of the South, who, like Jefferson Davis, felt that his death was a tragedy to the entire nation.

FEBRUARY 10TH TO BE ORATORY CONTEST DATE

Winners in Humorous and Dramatic Readers Combine With Orators in Finals

Monday evening, February tenth is the date that has been set for the oratory division of the declamation contest. Those participating in this contest include the following: Oscar Bickley, Clifford Olesen, Wendell Olson, Morris Engelstad, Charles Asp, and Robert Smith. Mr. Montague coaches these students.

Also at this time the three winners from both the humorous and dramatic divisions will present their selections. The judges will decide the first, second, and third place winners. The three girls victorious in the humorous contest include Fae Belcher, Mary Chommie, and Marjorie Matheson. Edna Swanson, Evelyn Furuseth, and Violet Anderson are the three leaders in the dramatic division. Miss Steenerson, who is in charge of all declamation work, has spent much time in the past few weeks coaching these pupils.

The first place winners of the local contest will participate in the sub-district contest. This contest will be held in Thief River Falls on Friday, February 21.

All students are urged to attend this contest. The price of admission is only five cents.

SOPHOMORE THEMES

(Editor's Note—Miss Steenerson has submitted to themes as characteristic of the sophomore themes for this year. These themes were written by Fae Belcher and Theodore Helle. One will be presented this week; the other, on the following week.)

Angel Child

Having been told by his mother that to start the New Year right, he must make resolutions, the thoughts in eleven year old John's mind ran somewhat as follows: What have I done that I shouldn't have done? What didn't I do that I should have done? Oh me, is this a task! A good kid like me having to sit here trying to figure out some changes of tactics for the coming year. Now, if I were mean like Tuffy Thompson, I'd see Mom's idea in this but oh, what a waste of time! And look at that snow; just right for snowballs. This is the night of Rotary Club; too, so I bet there'll be a lot of top hats around. Let me think! Of course, I will admit that once in probably a week I did forget to bring in wood. That wasn't an offense. I did skip school a few times but then, they shouldn't have school on nice days. A very few hats were knocked off shiny heads but that was only because I needed money. Or was it? Well anyway, winter will soon be over and I can't make a resolution for as far away as next winter is. That time I introduced that police dog to Sally's kitten was really meant as a good turn. I didn't suggest that he chase the kitten up a tree. Then that time I gave five mice and a snake to that new teacher. You'd have thought anyone would have appreciated a few pets. But not her! What does she do but make a dive for the fire bell and ring the bell so loud climbing up the rope that the emergency fire department rushes in and starts squirting water all over everything.

After a half-hour of concentrated thinking, John handed to his mother a paper upon which was written as follows: "I, John Doe, do solemnly resolve to be every bit as goood as I was in 1935. Signed, John Doe."

—Fae Belcher.

NORMAL TRAINING NEWS

Margaret Davis of last year's class visited the department recently.

Four of the students are now doing practice teaching in the arithmetic classes of the third grade at Washington school. They are also instructing the third and fourth grades in Knox and Northrup schools.

The general science unit of astronomy has been completed. Next week the students will start on the unit on animals.

The students staged a dramatization of "Evangeline" for the fifth and sixth grades of Knox school on Friday, January 31.

PLUMMER LOSES TO LOCAL TEAM

Prowler Quintet Wins From Red and White in Poorly Played Game Tuesday

In a loosely played game at Plummer on Tuesday night, the Prowlers broke their two-game losing streak by defeating Plummer 22 to 20.

The fiery little red and white team from Plummer started fast and gained six points before the Prowlers could connect with a field goal. Throughout the first half, both teams continued passing badly and playing a rough game.

The Lincoln team started stronger in the second half and had the ball nearly all of the time. The small Plummer quint could not seem to get the ball past the center of the floor except on fast breaks. In the final quarter, the Prowlers seemed to finally hit their stride. In this period alone they scored more points than all the other periods combined.

The game was rough and poorly played throughout, with both teams getting away with what seemed to be intentional and flagrant fouling. No one man was outstanding for Thief River Falls. E. Langlie was outstanding for Plummer. In addition, he was also high point man, scoring eleven points.

Below is a box score of the game:

ETIQUETTE

A gentleman does not, and a man who aspires to be one, must not ever borrow money from a girl, nor should he, except in unexpected circumstances, borrow money from a male friend. Though a friend is usually more than glad to lend the money in order to make more secure the bond of friendship, the party of the second part sometimes forgets his debt and is not, from then on, respected or trusted to the utmost by his friend.

In some other instances or at some other time he may be, again, in a "tight squeeze" when the borrowing of money may be necessary. If the person has not paid a previous debt, the friend can refuse to lend the money. Although this is not altogether polite, it does justice to the breach of etiquette incurred by the borrower. He is perfectly justified in acting so.

All this is not saying that only boys are to blame, for there are many girls guilty, also.

Money borrowed without security is a debt of honor which must be paid without fail and as promptly as possible.

Leap Year seems to be working O. K. for some of the post-grads—eh, Adele?

PROWLERS TO MEET WARREN PONIES FRIDAY

Local Quintet Will Have Warren as Opponent in Tomorrow Nite's Game

Tomorrow night the Prowlers will meet Warren on the home floor. Although Warren was defeated by the locals earlier in the season, they have since won quite a few games. Among their victories was Crookston, over whom they were victorious just a week before the Prowlers went down to defeat before the same team. While Warren has been winning, the locals have had somewhat of a losing streak; however, after a full week of rest, they should be in top shape for the game.

The five starting for Waren will probably be as follows: Engelstad at center, Boseman and Carlson at the two forward posts, and Hjelle and Wilson at guards. For the Prowlers Mickelson will be in the pivot position, Bud Nelson and Art Nelson at forwards, and Vic Jung and Milt Nesse at guards. These lineups, however, are not final.

The seventh and eighth grades were entertained at a special assembly last Friday by four of Miss Steenerson's declamation pupils. The program began at one o'clock. Lorraine Amundson, who gave her reading, "The Mission Box," began the program. Later during the hour Margaret McKechnie presented her reading, "Flaming Youth.". Following this, Marian Oden and Harriett Simonson offered their selections, "Bobby's Sleepy-Time Story" and "Who Says Can't" respectively. The pupils enjoyed it and asked to have a program on this order again next year.

Where Motors Are Barred

Bermuda is the only place of any importance in all the world where motors are barred. The islands keep much of their Seventeenth century charm because of the virtual absence of such vehicles. The longest road is less than a score of miles in length, and all of the roads are narrow and winding, so that motors would be unsafe, to say nothing of marring the peace and quiet.

CREAMERY AT MEET MONDAY SHOWS A GAIN

Hans Anton and Henry Kaushagen Are Re-elected Directors

BIG GAIN IN BUTTER MADE DURING 1935

Members Vote to Continue Connection with Land O' Lakes Creameries

Approximately sixty shareholders, in addition to other patrons of the institution, turned out Monday afternoon for the annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association, and heard a report by G. S. Bergland, manager, revealing a highly satisfactory increase in the volume of business handled during the past year.

President Hans Anton, receiving 38 votes, and Henry Kaushagen, with 44, were re-elected members of the board of directors for three-year terms. Their opponents, L. O. Stenseth and Gordon Olson, received respectively 19 and 12 votes for the offices.

Before the meeting adjourned Mr. Stenseth called for a vote on the question of severing connections with the Land O'Lakes Creameries organization. Following the counting of hands it was announced that the vote showed 43 in favor of remaining with Land O'Lakes and twelve in favor of withdrawing.

In reading the annual report, printed copies of which were distributed to patrons, Mr. Bergland revealed that the butter output in 1935 aggregated 481,807 pounds. This figure compares with 417,642 pounds churned in 1934 and represents a fifty per cent increase over the 1933 volume of 316,049 pounds.

The statistical report showed that 388,636 pounds of butterfat were churned into butter, the percentage of overrun being 23.97. Reflecting the improvement in the butter market and reduced overhead resulting from the larger volume, an average net price of 31 cents was paid for sweet cream butterfat delivered at the creamery, while the average net price paid for all butterfat was 28.95 cents.

The cost of manufacturing per pound of butter was reported at 2.2080 cents and the general expense per pound of butter was .7327 cent, making a total of 3.0307 cents per pound for manufacturing and general expense, compared to 3.768 cents in 1934.

Net income from dairy products was shown to be $1,836.05, which was increased by income from cheese and twine handling and interest income to a total of $2,181.34. The report fixed the net worth of the institution at $38,446.10.

CREAMERY AT ST. HILAIRE HANDLES GOOD '35 VOLUME

Thriving Institution Manufactures 267,655 Pounds Butter

The St. Hilaire Cooperative Creamery association in 1935 continued its record as a thriving institution by receiving a total of 216,899 pounds of butterfat from which was manufactured 267,655 pounds of butter, it is revealed in the report submitted at the recent annual meeting of stockholders.

The average net price paid for sweet cream butterfat during the year was shown to be 30.34 cents a pound, while the average for all butterfat was 29.61 cents. Of the butter churned, 71.22 per cent was of the Land O'Lakes grade. The total manufacturing and general expense per pound of butter was fixed at 2.825 cents.

In the annual election of officers Roland Novak was named director in place of John Maakrud and Lloyd Johnson was elected treasurer succeeding W. P. Wilson. Officers re-elected include Emil Larson, president; Anton Johnson, vice president; and Fred Erdmann, secretary.

Class in Cooperation May be Organized Here

Several cooperative organizations of the city have requested the state department of education to provide a teacher to conduct an eight-weeks course dealing with a study of cooperative methods. If the teacher is obtained classes will be conducted one evening a week, and the sponsors announced that the local school board had granted the use of a room in the Central school building. The course would be free to all wishing to attend.

Special Session Laws Given in Supplement Form With This Issue

Distributed as a supplement to this issue of the Times is a compilation of 115 laws enacted at the special session of the Minnesota state legislature, which was in progress from December 2 to January 25. The majority of the measures enacted are of limited application, the law of most general interest and involving the most discussion in the session being the one providing for an old-age pension system in Minnesota to become effective March 1. Another important enactment provides additional funds for relief purposes during the coming year.

CONTRACT LET FOR LANDSCAPING OF POSTOFFICE SITE

Government Accepts Bid of $464 From Northwest Nursery

The contract for landscaping the site of the new postoffice in this city was awarded last week to the Northwest Nursery of Valley City, N. D., on its bid of $464.40, it was announced today by R. G. Rohlighero, federal engineer supervising construction of the building.

Included in the bid is all labor and material for seeding the lawn and for planting trees and shrubbery, the work being scheduled to get under way with the arrival of spring.

Specifications call for two large junipers at the front entrance, flanked by two red cedars, and with a Chinese elm on the north side near the driveway and another southeast of the building. Foundation plantings and a row of Japanese barberry bushes are also provided for. Peat will be used for mulching the soil.

BANK DEPOSITORS TO MAKE OFFER ON CITIZENS BLOCK

Meeting This Week Decides to Submit $25,000 Bid for Building

At a meeting of depositors of the closed Citizens State bank held at the court house Tuesday evening, it was voted to submit an offer of $25,000 for the bank building, bids on which are scheduled to be received shortly. The bid will be made subject to 1935 taxes and with the understanding that the group receive all income and pay all running expenses of the property from and after January 1 of this year.

Rasmus Oen, who presided as chairman of the meeting, was instructed to appoint a committee of five, including himself, to handle details. Those named were S. K. Dahle, L. I. Hermanson, Adolph Eklund and C. E. Hellquist.

The committee also was empowered, in the event its bid is accepted, to form a corporation and to issue stock to all depositors who have assigned their claims. Thanks were extended to J. F. Landy of the state banking department for his cooperation in the work done to date. Gilbert A. Brattland served as secretary of the meeting, and H. O. Chommie was present to give advice on legal details.

East Side Home Badly Damaged by Fire After Midnight Wednesday

The attention of the fire department was occupied by several fires during the past week, only one resulting in serious damage from the flames. A small unoccupied shack west of the county highway building was destroyed in a blaze Saturday evening. The following night the department was summoned to the G. H. Frisell home at 724 Knight av. N. when furnace pipes blew apart, filling the house with smoke. Shortly after midnight Tuesday a fire, apparently originating in a defective chimney, badly damaged the upper part of the George W. Nelson home at 307 Kendall av. S., additional damage being caused by water used to quench the flames.

Steiner Farmers Buy Stock at Valley Sale

Farmers of the Steiner community bought several head of stock at the consignment sale of purebred livestock held at Crookston last Thursday in connection with the Valley Winter Shows. L. A. Meyer purchased a two-year-old Hereford heifer consigned by the Schermerhorn Farms of Mahnomen and also a Duroc Jersey sow. Aberdeen Angus heifers were bought by Berg Brothers and Melvin Saugen.

Work of Bob Biedermann Is Described in St. Paul Newspaper

The following interesting account of how Bob Biedermann, artist son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Biedermann of this city, secures autographs of distinguished personages, was published in last Thursday's issue of the St. Paul Daily News.

There isn't a celebrity alive who hasn't refused to give his autograph, but only one refused Bob Biederman, campus dauber of the University of Minnesota.

Bob has an unusual technique in securing autographs. When a celebrity comes to the campus or goes through town, Bob gets a photograph of him and makes a sketch. Then, armed with the sketch, he asks the famous to sign it. Although some of them think that Bob hasn't flattered them much, they generally sign.

"The only one that wouldn't was Bill Tilden. He says that he absolutely will not give his autograph to anyone," said Bob.

Tibbett Gave Him Tickets

It was when he was a freshman in school that Bob first began his collection which now includes over 100 autographed pictures of celebrities ranging from wrestlers to opera stars. Lawrence Tibbett was coming to the campus, and Bob wanted to hear and see the great singer. But Bob was broke. Flat broke. Then he got an idea. He hung a busy sign on his door and worked industriously for some time. When he emerged, he had a sketch of Lawrence Tibbett under his arm and the address of the hotel in which the songster was staying written on a slip of paper and tucked away in his pocket.

HERB JUNG NAMED GOLF CLUB HEAD TO SUCCEED CURTIS

Retiring President Chosen to Fill Office of Treasurer

President J. P. Curtis of the Thief River Falls Golf club, after ten years of faithful and efficient service in that office, refused to serve another term at the annual meeting of the organization Monday evening, and C. H. Jung was elected as his successor.

Mr. Curtis, however, will continue his participation in club affairs, being elected to the office of treasurer. Others named include Dr. O. F. Mellby, vice president; and Dr. A. E. Jacobson, secretary.

Chosen as directors were H. M. Olson, A. M. Holte and Anton Hall. Hold-over members of the board include C. W. Mattson and H O. Chommie.

Reports on activities of the club in 1935 were submitted and approved.

ALFRED BREDESON HEADS CITY GROUP OF FOOD DEALERS

Annual Election of Officers Conducted Wednesday Evening

At a meeting of the Thief River Falls Food Dealers association Wednesday evening in the Civic and Commerce association, Alfred Bredeson was elected president of the organization succeeding W. L. Carlisle.

Otis Wold was named vice president, Chester Myrom secretary and G. S. Bergland treasurer. Directors elected for two years include Louis DeCremer, Carl Hillard, A. M. Magnuson and Omer Williams, and named for one-year terms were Walter Jung, Leonard Olund, Carl Christofferson and William Parbats.

The meeting went on record in favor of holding a district convention of food dealers in this city sometime during the coming spring.

Frank M. Shanahan to Take Business Census

Following announcement of his appointment by Clifford Bouvette, district supervisor at Crookston, Frank M. Shanahan of this city last Friday assumed the post of business census enumerator for Pennington county. Completion of the work is expected to require two months or longer, depending in part on weather conditions during coming weeks.

Tommerdahl Renamed Masonic Supervisor

Announcement was made during the past week of the reappointment of Palmer Tommerdahl of this city to the post of district supervisor in District 1 of the Minnesota grand lodge of Masons. Mr. Tommerdahl's duties include the making of visits of inspection to Masonic lodges in this district.

The Clearbrook cooperative creamery in 1935 churned 325,135 pounds of butter from 263,021 pounds of butterfat, the overrun amounting to 23.67 per cent. The average net price paid for all butterfat was 30.02 cents, and the total manufacturing and general expense per pound of butter was 2.841 cents. Oscar L. Edeen is operator of the plant.

40 and 8 Group Here Wins Membership Tilt Over Other State Units

The Thief River Falls voiture of the Society of Forty and Eight, affiliated with the local Legion post, has the distinction of being the first in the state to attain its membership goal, it was announced at a midwinter Forty and Eight conference held at St. Cloud last Friday and Saturday. In recognition of their achievement, Leonard Hanson, chef de gare of the local unit, and Carl Gulsud, correspondent, were presented with mementoes, the former receiving a cane with the Forty and Eight emblem, and the latter an emblem tie clasp. The officers were also presented with a book of Wallgren's A. E. F. cartoons and a citation from national headquarters.

Ronald Colman Coming to the Avalon Sunday in 'Tale of Two Cities'

"A Tale of Two Cities", another film masterpiece by the producers of "Mutiny on the Bounty", comes to the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday. Based on Charles Dickens' novel of the same name, the picture has for its background the French Revolution, one of the thrilling scenes presenting the storming of the Bastille in which 6,000 characters appear. The outstanding cast is headed by Ronald Colman in the role of Sydney Carton, other parts being taken by Elizabeth Allan, Edna May Oliver, Reginald Owen, Basil Rathbone, Blanche Yurka and Henry B. Walthall.

INSURANCE FOR SCHOOLS FIXED AT LOWER RATE

Board Orders New Policies to Get Benefit of 35.6 Per Cent Cut

ANNUAL SAVING TO DISTRICT IS $320

Supt. Morris Bye Reports on Work of Agriculture Department

The board of education of School District 18 at its February meeting Monday acted to take advantage of a recent reduction in fire insurance rates that will effect a saving to the district of $320 a year, according to an announcement by Supt. Morris Bye. The average reduction in rate, he stated is 35.6 per cent.

Reductions in rates on the various buildings include Central, from 1.12 to .82; Lincoln, from .53 to .33; Washington, from .49 to .30; Knox, from .44 to .26; and Northrup, from .45 to .27. Corresponding cuts were made effective on the contents.

To get the benefit of the reductions all outstanding policies were ordered canceled and then re-written with one-fifth of the total amount of $256,500 falling due in each of the next five years. Allotments for each of the five years were divided among six local agencies as follows: Lund Insurance agency, $10,500; George W. Werstlein, $10,500; Dahlen agency, $10,500; Union State bank, $9,000; Lars Backe, $6,300; and W. H. Mulry, $4,500.

At the meeting Mr. Bye gave a detailed report of the work being done in the agricultural department established last fall in connection with Lincoln high school under the direction of Harold F. Harrison. He told of the evening classes for adult farmers and the part-time day school for farm youths, adding that attendance has been regular and that some of the boys, despite extremely cold weather, walked in from as far away as four miles to attend the classes. The department is carrying on a full program as mapped out by the state department of education, Mr. Bye said.

Figures as of January 17, it was announced, show a total enrollment in the local schools of 1,491, which is 17 less than at the end of the first half of last year. There are nine more enrolled in the grade schools, six less in the kindergarten and 20 less in the high school.

A. Skarstad and R. W. Woolhouse submitted reports on the fifteenth annual convention of the Minnesota State School Board association, which they attended at the Nicollet hotel in Minneapolis February 3, 4 and 5.

EAST GRAND FORKS MEETS PROWLERS IN CITY ON FRIDAY

Crookston Coming Tuesday; Locals Down Warren Last Friday

Friday evening the Lincoln high school Prowlers meet East Grand Forks in the local Auditorium and will try to make a "Valentine Present" of a sound trouncing to that strong East Grand Forks quint of "Chalky" Reed's. Next Tuesday, Feb. 18, the Prowlers will meet Crookston here and attempt to avenge themselves for a hard fought game they lost at Crookston a few weeks ago.

The Prowlers finally broke their tough luck streak by defeating Ted Birkeland's Ponies 31-18 last Friday. The Warren quint turned in a good game of basketball and at one time was in the lead by 4-3 for about three seconds until Mickelson, high point man of the game, dropped in a nice shot from the middle of the floor. Mickelson starred for the local team, scoring seven field goals and sinking two out of four free throws.

At the end of the first quarter the score was 7-4 in favor of the locals; at the half the Prowlers still lead by 13-8. In the third quarter Warren put on a scoring drive, making nine of their 18 points in that period, at times nearly catching up to the Prowlers. The score for the third quarter was 21-17. The Prowlers tightened up their defense in the fourth period and held Warren to one point and loosened a scoring attack that netted them ten points.

Egermayer Will Assume Direction of City Band

E. L. Egermayer, former director of the Red Lake Falls band, is expected to arrive in the city this week-end to take charge of the city band under the joint jurisdiction of the council and park board. He will also assist in directing the Thief River Falls Legion auxiliary drum corps.

Increased Discount on Light Bills is Denied

Legal Restrictions Prevent Carrying out Mayor's Suggestion

At an adjourned meeting Wednesday evening the city council discussed the proposal of Mayor W. W. Prichard to increase the discount on light bills by resolution pending the drawing of a new rate ordinance. When City Attorney Theodore Quale questioned the legality of proceeding by resolution, it was decided to postpone action until the new rate ordinance is drafted.

Applications for tax abatements were granted in the cases of Trinity Lutheran church, Mrs. Mary Safford and Mrs. Hilda Evenson, a number of others being referred to the tax committee.

On request of Sheriff Arthur Rambeck, appearing in behalf of the county board, that a lower rate than $1 a day be charged for housing county prisoners in the city jail, it was agreed that the rate be fixed at 50 cents a day.

A large accumulation of current bills was approved for payment, including a final payment on the new Busch-Sulzer Diesel unit, the sum of $1,700 being withheld pending adjustment of a penalty for failure of the company to complete installation within the specified time.

NRS OFFICE HERE FORESEES LARGER WORKS PROGRAM

Urges Workers Seeking Employment to Contact Local Office

In anticipation of the largest employment program to be handled by the National Reemployment service this year officials of the district office in Thief River Falls urge all workmen seeking employment to contact the NRS office in person at their earliest convenience.

Contracts approved and awaiting approval for this district by the bureau of public roads and the Works Progress Administration will exceed past construction lettings. A large percentage of these jobs will demand skilled labor.

The selection of skilled workmen will be based upon their qualifications to perform the duties involved. In order that proper selections may be made by the NRS, sufficient information must be furnished by the applicant. Therefore, it is necessary to make personal application at the office. Early appearance will give the office ample time to verify qualifications and facilitate the preparation of employment lists which must be furnished the contractor.

Applicants in Pennington county are again reminded that a representative of the NRS is stationed in the Thief River Falls Auditorium and takes interviews from 9:00 to 12:00 A. M. daily.

Rev. John Flint Gives Splendid Address on Sons of Norway Program

Rev. John Flint of Underwood proved himself to be an orator of outstanding ability in an address delivered Friday evening at the Sons of Norway hall in the second of a series of programs sponsored by the Sons and Daughters of Norway. In the course of a stimulating discussion of moral values of the Nordic faith, the speaker recited Henley's "Invictus" and other poems bearing on his theme. The musical portion of the program included a group of Wennerberg's student songs rendered by H. Dan Bjorkman and Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert Brattland.

Poor Condition of Red Lake Road Discussed by C. and C. Thursday

The poor condition of the road leading from the ridge into the Red Lake narrows furnished the principal subject for discussion at the meeting of the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday noon. The matter was disposed of by being referred to the road committee with instructions to confer with the Beltrami county board at Bemidji. Andrew Anderson presided as chairman of the meeting in the absence of President W. L. Carlisle.

Legion Post Will Hold Meeting Friday Evening

The regular meeting of Elmer J. Eckland post of the American Legion will be held Friday evening in the club rooms, W. W. Long, post commander, announced today. At the meeting a report will be made on the Legion membership drive conducted by the local Forty and Eight unit, which put the post over the top.

Steps Being Taken to Eliminate Off-Taste in Water in City Supply

In the effort to eliminate the off-taste which has been noticeable in water in the city mains during the past few weeks, Supt. Ole Legvold of the water and light department announced that an air compressor had been installed in the filtration plant to force air into the water, and he expressed the belief that this would relieve the situation. The taste in the water, he said, is due to the fact that no fresh supply is entering the pool above the dam, the river being ice-locked. The layer of ice above the pool is reported to be as much as four feet thick in spots as a result of nearly five weeks of constant sub-zero weather.

PENNINGTON FARM BUREAU SELECTS ITS COMMITTEES

Board of Directors Holds February Meeting Here Monday

Committees of the Pennington county farm bureau were appointed for the ensuing year at a meeting of the board of directors Monday in the office of County Agent R. M. Douglass. Three additional committees remain to be named at the March meeting.

Appointed on the 4-H club group to assist leaders with their work were Mrs. Victor Brink, chairman; Frank Hoffman and Lloyd Johnson. The legislative committee includes L. A. Nelson, chairman; Walter H. Quist and P. H. Wright.

Entertainment: Mrs. Owen Weckwerth, chairman; William McCrum, C. H. Toomey, M. H. Jackson, Miss Anna Hegrenes, Harold Jorstad, R. A. Werner and V. C. Noper. Membership: N. P. Schalz, chairman; William Kruse and R. J. McKercher.

Mr. Douglass reported that ten woman's home project groups have been organized in the county to date, and that twelve more groups will be completed this week.

SUBZERO SIEGE OF WEATHER CARRIES ON INTO 5TH WEEK

This Section Misses Blizzard That Hit Southern Minnesota

While this community enjoyed during the past week the usual brand of subzero weather that is now completing its fifth week without interruption, Southern Minnesota, Iowa and Eastern South Dakota residents were digging their way out of huge snowdrifts piled up by one of the worst blizzards on record that hit those regions last Saturday and Sunday.

This section fortunately escaped all but the tail-end of the storm, and comparatively little inconvenience resulted. The wind, however, piled up the snow in cuts on the Wheat Line in North Dakota and the line was tied up Saturday and Sunday, service being restored Monday.

Minimum temperatures for each day of the past week were reported by Fred Protz, local observer, as follows: Friday, —37; Saturday, —14; Sunday, —7; Monday, —29; Tuesday, —32; Wednesday, —35; and this morning, —14.

Motor Vehicle Owners Slow in Getting Plates; Deadline on Saturday

With Saturday, February 15, designated as the last day to secure motor vehicle license plates without penalty, Alex Campbell, deputy registrar in this city, reports that applicants have been lagging up to this week due to the extremely cold weather, and the outlook is that a large number of motorists than usual will be required to pay penalties for failure to obtain their plates within the specified time. Mr. Campbell's office is prepared to accommodate a heavy last-minute rush of applicants. A 25 cent penalty will be in effect Monday, to be followed by further slight increases.

W. J. LaBREE ENJOYS LIFE ON WEST COAST

Away from the region of subzero weather, W. J. LaBree, who is sojourning on the west coast, writes to the Times that the grass there is green and that robbins and other summer birds are in evidence. He reports having visited the Joringdal, Stephen Hanson and Brink families, formerly of the Viking community and now of Tacoma.

COUNCIL HOLDS LONG SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

Discusses Details of the Enclosed Rink With WPA Officials

TIMES DESIGNATED AS OFFICIAL PAPER

New Taxi Ordinance Calling for Insurance Given First Reading

Matters relating to the construction of the enclosed skating rink came in for a lengthy discussion at a prolonged session of the city council Tuesday evening, other business including designation of the Times as the official city paper, and the Union State bank as the city depository, and the first reading of the proposed taxi ordinance.

Representatives of the Detroit Lakes and Crookston WPA offices were present and explained details in connection with the application for a supplementary grant of funds to provide additional rooms over the front portion of the skating rink building.

They said there is some question as to whether or not an additional grant may be obtained owing to the time element, it being required that the building be completed by the end of June. They pointed out, however, that nothing would be lost by seeking the grant, and the council took action to apply for an additional $5,000 which would include funds for landscaping the grounds when the building is completed.

The discussion brought out the fact that there are few if any brick-layers on relief in this section of the state, and that others have formed a union and are demanding $1 an hour. A delegation from Red Lake Falls, headed by Mayor J. A. Roy, said that that city is confronted by the same situation in its community building project now underway.

Bids from both local banks were received for city depository, the council accepting the offer of the Union State bank, which agreed to give ample security for deposits, to charge no exchange on checks and to supply drafts without charge.

The successful bid of the Times for official paper fixed a rate of 15 cents a folio for first publication of proceedings and notices and ten cents a folio for subsequent insertions, with no additional charge for tabular matter. The Forum offered a rate of 25 cents a folio for first publication of proceedings and notices with nine cents a folio additional for tabular matter and ten cents a folio for subsequent insertions. In an informal ballot the Times bid received four votes and the Forum two.

Mayor W. W. Prichard announced the appointment to the board of health of Dr. O. F. Mellby and Aldermen P. O. Myhrum and H. W. Kinghorn, and the three appointees were confirmed by the council.

When LINCOLN "Coached" GRANT

BEHIND one of the most dramatic and important moments in the annals of the American people, in which Abraham Lincoln and General Grant were the chief actors, there is an appealing human story that to this day remains virtually unknown. It is revealed in obscure and priceless original documents," says a writer in the Washington Post.

The event to which the yellowing manuscripts relate is the appointment of Grant as lieutenant general in command of all the Union forces in the Civil war, an epochal step taken by President Lincoln more than 70 years ago.

Lincoln had watched with increasing satisfaction the military record of the stocky and taciturn Grant. With the victories at Vicksburg and Chattanooga, the President reached the decision to place him in command of all the Union armies. To this resolve Lincoln held despite extreme pressure from numerous disaffected elements.

Grant was called to the White House and told of the President's intention. Lincoln called Grant aside and told him he understood the general's "dread of public speaking," and in order to make things a bit easier on that score, he, the President, had written out "the few lines" he intended to say to Grant on the occasion of the formal delivery of the appointment.

With characteristic breadth of vision, Lincoln urged Grant to say something in reply which not only "would be an encouragement to the North," but which also "would soothe the feelings of jealousy among other officers of the army."

Thereupon, Lincoln handed over to Grant the firmly inscribed manuscript of the remarks he had prepared.

In the following words, President Lincoln turned the course of history:

> Gen. Grant:
> The Nation's appreciation of what you have done, and its reliance upon you for what remains to do in the existing great struggle, are now presented with this commission constituting you lieutenant general in the Army of the United States.
> With this high honor devolves upon you also a corresponding responsibility. As the country herein trusts you, so, under God, it will sustain you. I scarcely need to add that with what I here speak for the Nation goes my own hearty concurrence.

Prepared as he had been by an "advance" of President Lincoln's remarks, General Grant replied:

> Mr. President:
> I accept this commission with gratitude for the high honor conferred. With the aid of the noble armies that have fought on so many fields for our common country, it will be my ear-

stitution, New York strove to honor the Chief Executive and also to persuade the congress that had come to reside in its midst that New York city was the logical choice for a permanent capital.

Washington himself was busy in New York on that February 22. He was moving from the Franklin house, at the corner of Cherry and Pearl streets, to the McComb mansion on Broadway, near the newly rebuilt Trinity church. His diary for the day reveals him as an active superintendent of the disposal of his furniture.

In 1791, the Society of the Cincinnati held its first Washington's birthday celebration in New York, having followed Tammany's example by resolving to mark the date each year. The President and the congress (and also the capital of the United States) had meanwhile removed temporarily to Philadelphia. But even New York's disappointment did not prevent Tammany from vying with the exclusive organization of Revolutionary officers to do honor to the day.

Alas, the good feeling did not endure. By 1795, after John Jay had come back from England with his hated treaty, Tammany was fiercely for revolutionary France; Jefferson was its god; George Washington was actually being dubbed, in public, a pro-English aristocrat; and those who celebrated his birthday were roundly accused of being (among other things) bootlickers, idolators, Royalists and sycophants. The country-wide birthday honors of that year, though even more lavish and vociferous than usual, presented for the first time the ogre of party, grinning at the feast.

By 1797, however, the Jay treaty was being regarded much more tolerantly, and certain French proceedings were being looked at a little askance. Those who refused to salute Washington on February 22 to honor a glorious record for its own sake, and to tread a measure at the evening's gala assemblies, now formed a rather conspicuous minority.

George Washington became a private citizen in that year, and was with his Alexandria neighbors at their birthnight ball of February 22, 1798—an onlooker, though in his younger days he had excelled in the minuet.

There was to be only one more birthday for a living Washington to adorn. He spent that one at home at Mount Vernon, presiding over a particularly joyous occasion. His adopted daughter, his pet, Nelly Custis, was being married to his favorite nephew, Maj. Lawrence Lewis.

The radiance went out of Mount Vernon in December of 1799 and the birthday festivities the country over were turned into mourning processions when 1800 brought the anniversary around once more. This February 22 was a universal requiem. The attics and headbands with Washington's "picture" were black where once they had been gayly hued.

Throughout the country business was suspended for 24 hours. Theaters, taverns, public halls, school rooms and college auditoriums, village greens and parks as well as churches were given over to exercises, meetings and processions expressive of the deepest grief.

Frozen Frog Inside Frozen Fish Lives

A little thing like being frozen doesn't bother a frog which Allan Barta of Fertile has on display. The frog was found frozen inside a frozen fish when the fish was cut open. After being released from the fish the frog thawed out and scampered around with all the vim that frogs are expected to have at their liveliest.

Gamma Rays

Gamma rays are high-frequency vibrations, similar to those produced by an X-ray tube, though of shorter length. No other known ray approaches them in this particular. They have the speed of light, 186,000 miles a second, and they alone of the three kinds of radium rays are used medically. They are effective [illegible] inches from their source

Population of U. S. Set at 127,521,000

The 1935 population of the United States Saturday was officially estimated by the census bureau at 127,521,000. The official count is taken as of the middle of the year—July 1.

The new figure represented a gain of 0.71 per cent from 1934 and of 4 per cent from 1930 when the last actual census was taken.

"If the increase should be continued at this rate until the end of the decade," the bureau said, "the nation's population in 1940 would be around 132,000,000."

Rain Does Not Bring Worms

Worms appear on the surface of the ground after a heavy rainstorm, not because they have been brought down by the rain but because they have come out of their former retreats to avoid being drowned. There are rare instances of small animals, toads, fishes, etc., having been lifted from the ground or from pools by high winds and deposited some distance away with rain. There is no foundation for the popular belief that worms, insects, toads, small fishes, etc., can be drawn up by the sun into the clouds, to be later rained down upon the earth.

BOB BIEDERMANN TELLS HOW HE GETS FAMED AUTOGRAPHS

"I showed the picture to Mr. Tibbett and asked him for an autograph. Really I expected to be booted out, but to my surprise, the singer liked it, gave me an autograph and a couple of tickets to the concert," said Bob.

Got Amelia's Signature

After that every time a celebrity was reported to be nearing the Twin Cities, Bob set to work with his drawing pencils and paint brushes daubing away until a likeness of the person appeared on the paper before him. It became an easy matter to get such famous autographs as Walter Hampden, Lily Pons, Nino Martini, Joan Blondell, Fred Waring, Ethel Barrymore, Alexander Woolcott and Carl Sandburg.

"One of the hardest ones to get was Amelia Earhart. She was speaking at some woman's club or other and I went down there with a portrait of her. Well, I got booted out two or three times, and when I say booted out I mean just that. But I didn't give up. I got her hotel address after calling up all over town. I waited in the lobby until she came in, and she was most gracious about giving it to me."

A few of the people whose pictures Bob has in his collection have died recently. Richard Harrison, who played the part of the "Lawd" in Green Pastures, is among them. He was a real actor and a fine person says Bob. Another equally as genuine was Texas Guinan.

Draws From Portraits

As he draws most of his pictures from portraits and there is no sitter to protest, Bob exaggerates the most prominent features making most of them with clear-cut lines in black and white. Occasionally he does one in colors. Once in awhile a celebrity objects to the sketches, but most of them admit that they like them and are willing to affix their names to them. A few have liked them well enough to ask Bob for them, and that's kind of embarrassing.

"Then I have to explain that if I did that I couldn't have a collection. Usually they understand," said Bob.

In his collection Bob has a caricature of himself done by Haile Hindrich in Greenwich Village. Although the campus dauber thinks it is a fine piece of work, his folks think it is "horrible." So Bob keeps it in his basement studio at 1407 University ave., where he does commercial art advertising and where he keeps all of the things dear to his heart.

The things dear to his heart include a skull of a horse with mouth open and teeth showing, a bust of a past president of the university (Bob doesn't know which one) and sketches of famous people and some not so famous. Then there is an imitation fireplace made out of an old counter, a long drawing table and an array of old easy chairs.

It is this "artistic" atmosphere that Bob has done most of his work since he graduated from the university in 1934, and it is there that he has made many of his pictures of celebrities. Right now Bob is working on three such pictures. Frank Buck and Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne are coming to the Twin Cities soon and Bob expects to add them to his collection.

The Arapahoes

The Arapahoes are one of the typical Plains Indian tribes, belonging to the same language family as the Algonquins. Before the coming of the white man, they appear to have migrated southwest across the Missouri river from the region of the Red River valley of northern Minnesota where, according to their traditions, they lived a quiet agricultural life, in contrast to their roaming nomadic existence in historic times.—Washington Post.

A Memory

In commemoration of our dear son and brother Orvin who died three years ago on Feb. 17, 1933.

First one, then two, now three years have gone,
And still for you, Orvin, we mourn;
The absence of you who so kind to us was
Has rooted itself into our lonesome hearts.
We thank God for you, dear, and humbly declare,
"We're glad you're safe with
Jesus in His glory to share;
We'll be with you again—maybe very soon
For we're living in life's late afternoon.
Then the joy we shall know as the glories unfold
And our eyes shall behold what the Bible has told,
As in this world with its forces of sin we are colliding
May God grant that our family circle will know no dividing
But that on that last blissful day before the white throne
By Thy grace we'll all be present in a new and beautiful home."
God bless your memories!

Sadly missed by:

In Memory

In fond and loving memory of our dear son and brother, Wallace Stromberg, who passed away six years ago, Feb. 14, 1930.

No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have lost can tell.
It's the grief that is borne in silence
For the one we loved so well.
In peace we leave him,
In the quiet and rest.
Though the parting was painful,
God knows best.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL in WASHINGTON

THE memorial to Abraham Lincoln in the National Capital is composed of four features, a statue of the man, a memorial of his Gettysburg address, a memorial of his second inaugural address and a symbol of the Union of the United States—the four things which the martyred President held were his paramount objects.

From the memorial to the west reaches a bridge, linking the nation's tribute to its Civil war President with the home of Gen. Robert E. Lee, military leader of the Confederacy. General Lee's home, Arlington, now is Arlington National cemetery, where rest the dead of the Revolutionary war, the Mexican war, the bodies of men who fought with the armies of the blue and gray, the Spanish American war and the World war.

The bridge, spanning the Potomac river, natural and historic barrier between the North and South, links, more than in symbol, the two sections of the United States.

Henry Bacon, who died in 1924, was the architect who designed the Lincoln memorial and who said it should contain the four features. Daniel Chester French, famed American sculptor, produced the statue. This represents Lincoln as the great war President, the man who brought the nation through its titanic struggle. The two decorations, representing Emancipation and Reunion, are by Jules Guerin.

Statue of Abraham Lincoln in the Lincoln Memorial Building.

IN THIS TEMPLE
AS IN THE HEARTS OF THE PEOPLE FOR WHOM HE SAVED THE UNION
THE MEMORY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN IS ENSHRINED FOREVER

The Gettysburg address and the second inaugural speech occupy the north and south walls with the decorations. Simplicity is the keynote of the memorial.

To the east front of the Lincoln memorial is the 2,000 feet long reflecting basin in which are to be seen reflections of both the Washington monument and the memorial. The basin is bordered by trees and walks and, with the memorial is one of the world's most impressive sights.

Arlington Memorial bridge follows in simple dignity the idea of the memorial; linking the monument of one great leader to the last home of the leader of a lost cause. At the foot of the slope of Arlington, the roadway from the bridge ends and; ultimately, there will be roads and walks radiating from the circle road ending to the Arlington Manor house, to the Tomb of the Unknown and to other points in the cemetery.

In Memoriam

In memory of Arthur L. Murry who died Feb. 25, 1934.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts,
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow, cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light,
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.

Badger Community Was Visited by Disastrous Fire Late Tuesday Night

The second disastrous fire to take toll in the village of Badger destroyed several buildings in that community late Tuesday night, according to word reaching this city. Structures reported destroyed were Jensen's garage, the Johnson meat market and the movie hall. The Thief River Falls fire department found it impossible to respond to a call for aid received at one o'clock in the morning, owing to the need of keeping equipment available in the city. As it happened, a residence fire broke out here within an hour after the call was received.

Seed Problems to be Discussed Next Week by Extension Worker

Seed problems, with special reference to the use of low quality seed grain and seed treatment, will be discussed by W. W. Brookins, extension agronomist, at meetings to be held next week, says Mr. R. M. Douglass, county agent. Meetings will be held at Goodridge on Thursday, February 20th, at 2 p. m. and at the Hilden and Olson Hall in St. Hilaire on Friday, February 21st, at 2 p. m. The seed grain problem is of particular importance this year as most of the grain is of low quality.

Good Blood Supply Is Best Hair Tonic, Say Minnesota Physicians

Good general health and a good blood supply is the best guarantee of a healthy scalp and attractive hair, according to the public health education committee of the Minnesota State Medical association.

For the complete hair beauty treatment, however, the hair must be kept clean, too, according to the doctors.

Ordinarily it should be washed about once every two weeks and more often if it is exposed to dustiness or if it is unusually oily. Any good soap or shaving cream will do for the shampoo, but the soap or cream should be thoroughly rinsed out afterward. Between times frequent dry brushing will help to keep the hair clean and shining.

If the hair is too dry a little olive oil or vaseline may be rubbed in but nothing that is rubbed in from the outside will actually nourish the scalp or the hair because the hair derives its nourishment only from the blood supply to its roots. Whatever is good for the general health is therefore good for the hair, too, though, unfortunately, no known special diet will grow hair on a stubborn bald spot.

Baldness is occasionally due to excessive dandruff or to other bodily disorders which can, to some extent, be controlled. More often, however, it is an inherited family trait and unconquerable, according to the bulletin.

Cutting or singeing the ends of the hair has no effect whatever on growth or health. Dyeing the hair is a risky business because hair dyes are all made from a group of chemicals that sometimes cause severe inflamations on the forehead, face and neck and even the eyes. Whether or not the dyes will effect you does not depend upon price or purity of the dye, but upon individual susceptibility to these chemicals.

How to Build up Bank Credit

The other day a successful business man had occasion to offer advice to a young man starting out in life.

"Son," he said, "as soon as you can, open a checking account in a good bank. Keep several hundred dollars in it and hold it as an emergency fund."

"Don't let your balance get so low you wonder if your checks are going to clear. Make no obligations you can't meet promptly and some day when you want to borrow you'll find your banker more than glad to say yes."

A PROPER FIRST STEP

There naturally is much difference of opinion as to how much truth there is to the charges that are being made against the political powers that rule Minneapolis and Minnesota. That there is a bad condition in the Twin Cities, no one will deny. To what extent public officials are responsible for this bad condition is not easy to judge. But few people are so gullible they will believe such a condition can exist without some official sanction. That at least is the conclusion we draw when cities in other parts of the country become the centers of crime and corruption. And it is a natural conclusion for other parts of the country to draw about conditions in the Twin Cities. The result is that Minnesota is now getting much unfavorable publicity and even magazines of national circulation are deploring the condition that exists in our state.

The situation certainly calls for a lot of straight thinking by citizens of Minnesota. Violent charges and counter-charges of a personal or partisan nature merely serve to confuse the issues. A few fundamental facts are quite clear. One of them is that the crime problem centers around the liquor traffic. The State itself has broad control and police powers over this traffic. It therefore follows that the state's liquor traffic is a state responsibility, and state officials, in whom this power is vested, cannot dodge entirely the responsibility for the conditions that exists. It would seem that one of the first steps that should be taken in the approach to this difficult problem would be a complete investigation of the activities of the state's liquor control commission.

There is entirely too much talk about the loose manner in which this department of state government is operated to be ignored. It is common gossip that official protection goes to law breakers who buy their liquor supplies from the "right" wholesalers. Such talk may be without foundation but it certainly is sufficiently current to justify the suspicion that everything is not as it should be, and a thorough investigation of the commission, conducted with the idea of getting facts and not for the purpose of either throwing campaign mud or applying political whitewash, would be, in our opinion, a very proper thing.

Senator Borah of Idaho and Governor Landon of Kansas seem to be most popular hereabouts of the Republican presidential possibilities receiving nation-wide consideration. Borah's strength is not surprising. For many years he has been a respected and influential member of the United States Senate and undoubtedly one of the nation's outstanding statesmen. It does surprise us, however, that so many people up and down the street are looking with favor on Landon. His record as Governor of Kansas seems to appeal to those who think a government should be conducted on sound business principles. Borah's weakness is his age. And from what we have heard about Landon, his chief shortcoming is his speech making. They tell us he is not an orator. But judging from present comment, either of these Westerners would give the Democrats something to worry about in the campaign. Our own choice for the Republican standard bearer is still Ted Christianson of Minnesota, whose record as Governor will, we think, compare favorably to Landon's and whose ability to express himself is at least equal to that of Senator Borah. And if we had the say of things, Minnesota's delegation to the national convention would be instructed for this native son. Conventions are funny things and in cases of dead locks, there is no telling where the lightning will strike.

His excellency, Floyd Olson, Governor of the State of Minnesota, referred to Marius Waldal, representative from this district, as a "bucolic statesman from the upper hinterland". This was a city guy's fancy way of calling him a hick politician from out in the sticks. Now it doesn't concern us a great deal what Waldal thinks of the Governor or what the Governor thinks of Waldal. And as a matter of fact, what the Governor thinks of this section of the state does not distress us. But it is rather surprising that so cunning a politican as Floyd Olson would speak disparagingly of a section of the state of which he is governor merely because he is irritated by what one individual has said of him. The Governor may be right. It is possible that we are just a settlement of rustics, more or less lacking in natural sagacity—a simple minded people to be tolerated and humored because our votes count just the same as the votes of the more cultured people who live in the cities, but it does strike us as being decidedly strange that the Governor should express his opinion of us so frankly in a campaign year. At any rate we know that in Governor Olson's opinion, this section of the state is just a "hinterland."

Considering the fact that forty below zero is seventy-two degrees below the freezing point, it has been a little cool around here during the past month. Maybe next summer we will have one or two days when the mercury will get up to seventy degrees above the freezing point and that will be hot. Moving the zero up to the freezing point gives us an outside bracket of about seventy degrees each way within which to confine our complaints about the weather.

We are getting many favorable comments on the Red River Valley History column, published in the Times each week, contributed by Win Working of Grand Forks. Besides covering subjects of general historical interest in the Valley, Mr. Working digs out of the records an interesting review of purely local history. Judging from the reactions we get along the street, a steadily increasing number of our readers are following this column from week to week.

While the winter has been anything but pleasant up here in this corner of the state since the first of the year, we probably have less reason to complain than many other sections of the country. It has been cold but our people expect cold and are prepared for it. Farther south, where temperatures do not drop to the levels we are accustomed to and expect, a cold wave causes a great deal more suffering. And we have been fortunate so far in that storms have passed us by. The winter is not over yet, of course, and no one can tell what the next few weeks will bring us, but at any rate we are now on the home stretch and, with the days getting longer and the sun more powerful, there is good reason to hope that the worst is over.

If you like that sort of thing, you will get a bang out of "Tall Tales", a collection of famous "tall" stories that will appear each week in the Times. They will tell you about Paul Bunyan with his ox and reversible dog, the Colorado Cinder Beetle, what to do when you see a Wimpus and how to catch a Whiffenpoof. It is possible that they will fall a little flat in a year of campaign speeches in competition with the yarns the politicians will tell us, but there is this much to be said in their favor, they will cause no arguments as to whether or not they are true.

FREE SPEECH AND THE RADIO
(Minneota Mascot)

Henry P. Fletcher, Republican National Committee chairman, believes in a political party's right to retaliate speech for speech with an opponent over the radio. Following the President's message to Congress, he requested an allotment of the same amount of time over the same station, at the same hour of the day and on a day closely following President Roosevelt's speech.

Radio officials refused this request and are now being charged with partisanship. William S. Paley, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, explained that his company always has and will continue to differentiate between an address by the President and one by a candidate for the office of President.

This exercise of "editorial judgment" on the part of radio officials is a necessary action. Radio is limited in terms of time—there are only 24 hours in a day. The line must be drawn somewhere if radio is to protect itself and its listeners from a bombardment by politicians that would exclude almost all other programs.

Whether a President's speech is a political campaign speech or a discussion of the state of the union is beyond the control of radio officials, and a matter for the people to judge. The responsibility of not abusing the special privilege granted him rests upon the President. Republicans had no objection to this policy when Hoover was in office.

Freedom of speech over the radio is a somewhat different matter from freedom of the press. A newspaper knows no limitations of time or space—if necessary it can increase its size by almost any number of pages. Radio broadcasting on a nation-wide hookup, on the other hand, is a virtual monopoly. It can have a tremendous influence on public opinion since it reaches almost every home in the country and covers almost every degree on the radio dial.

Radio officials, therefore, have a tremendous responsibility in guarding free speech over the air. To refuse to permit certain individuals or causes to be heard over the air or to sell radio time to the highest bidder would endanger free speech. Radio's present policy of limiting political speeches to the few weeks of the campaign period is the most felicitous solution of their problem. Listeners will hear enough from the politicians between now and November without having them open the "season" prematurely.

PROTECT THE HOME MARKET
(Mankato Free Press)

When the National Grange breaks "with" the administration over the proposed farm relief program to be set up in place of the invalidated AAA and outlines a 10-point program of its own, it is worth while to note some of the planks that are proposed.

Of particular interest among these are the demands for export surplus legislation, including the debenture and equalization fee proposals. This to encourage and promote the export of American farm products abroad. And along with it, the Grange also demands "protection of the American market for American farmers." In short, the farm group wants, not limitation of production, but opportunity for increased production and sale of farm products both abroad and at home.

Just how pertinent this demand for the "American market for the American farmer" is at the present time is strikingly illustrated when we consider the farm import figures for the year ending June 30, 1934, and the year ending June 30, 1935.

In 1935 we imported 22,293,000 pounds of butter, an increase of 2,836 per cent over 1934. We imported 69,353,000 pounds of canned beef and veal, an increase of 76 per cent. We imported 100,178,000 pounds of tallow, an increase of 208,500 per cent. We imported 11,380,000 bushels of barley, an increase of 26,500 per cent. We imported 29,427,000 bushels of corn, an increase of 8,272 per cent. We imported 27,110,000 bushels of wheat, an increase of 142 per cent.

In short, with land taken out of production at the expense of the taxpayer and prices increased materially to the consumer, the administration fostered a farm program that made necessary the importation of these vast amounts of farm produce to enrichen, not American farmers, but those of foreign nations. Had the so-called parity prices been paid exclusively for our own farm products, had proper steps been taken to preserve this subsidized farm market for the American farmers, there would have been little complaint either by consumer or farmer.

But when agriculture is compelled to reduce its own acreage, only to see a foreign grower or producer step in and take millions of income that rightfully should remain at home, when the American consumer is compelled to pay foreign growers "parity prices" intended to rehabilitate American agriculture, then there is good reason for strong complaint.

The demand of the National Grange, that the American market be reserved to the American farmer, will find support in all parts of the country, metropolitan and industrial as well as on the farm.

Choir From Augsburg College Sings Tuesday Night in Trinity Church

The Augsburg college choir of Minneapolis, under the direction of Henry P. Opseth, will appear in a concert in Trinity Lutheran church next Tuesday evening, February 18. The organization has won high praise for its performances in leading cities, among those lauding its work being Dr. Victor Nilson of Minneapolis and Dr. F. Melius Christiansen of Northfield. The group has performed frequently over Radio Station WCCO as well as over a coast-to-coast hookup.

Enclosed Rink Work Goes Forward Despite Cold

Operating under the protection of a temporary shelter, workers on the enclosed skating rink project, despite the subzero weather, have poured concrete for the basement walls in the front portion of the building, and up to the first of the week had poured approximately 100 feet of footings along the east side of the structure, Stanley Michalsky, superintendent in charge, announced. Forms are now being installed for pouring concrete for the lower part of the side walls.

Building the Washington Monument

THE Washington monument was long a subject of discussion in and out of congress after the death of the Father of His Country in 1799 until its capstone was set in place December 6, 1884, a total of 85 years, says a National Geographic society bulletin.

On December 23, 1799, John Marshall, famous fellow Virginian of George Washington, introduced a resolution in the United States house of representatives providing that "a marble monument be erected by the United States in the city of Washington and that the family of General Washington be requested to permit his body to be deposited under it." Martha Washington acceded to the provisions of the resolution, but nothing was done.

In 1816 and 1819 the memorial was discussed in the halls of congress and again in 1824 and 1825. And again nothing was done to carry out the provisions of the resolution.

Displeased with the failure of congress to erect a memorial, influential citizens of Washington organized in 1833 to promote the project. That body became the Washington National Monument society, with Chief Justice John Marshall as its president. The society, which financed construction of the shaft until it rose 154 feet, invited American artists to submit designs for a $1,000,000 edifice. Robert Mills won the competition, but his design was not accepted. It called for a circular colonnaded building from the center of which would rise a 600 foot obelisk.

In 1848 congress passed a resolution authorizing the Washington National Monument society to erect a monument and authorized the President of the United States and officials of the society to choose a suitable site. L'Enfant, in his plan of Washington, had provided for an equestrian statue of Washington but the spot then was a marsh. Thus the present site, only a few hundred feet away, was chosen.

On Independence day, 1848, amid colorful ceremonies, the cornerstone, filled with historical documents, was laid. Slowly for six years the obelisk rose skyward. Then dissension in the society and lack of funds caused construction to cease.

President Grant, in 1876, signed a bill which provided that the government take over and complete the erection of the shaft. Engineers discovered, after careful examination, that the foundations were not sufficient for so lofty an obelisk, the world's tallest, so they began what was called at that time one of the outstanding engineering feats of the world—replacing the monument's foundation without damage to the structure. Then stone by stone, the shaft rose until the pyramidal capstone was placed on December 6, 1884.

The memorial was opened to the public October 9, 1888. Lining its inner walls were placed stones presented by states, cities, fraternities, organizations, lodges and other organizations from all parts of the country. [illegible]

Delinquent Tax List Published This Week

The list of real estate taxes in Pennington county remaining delinquent on the first Monday in January of this year is published in this issue of the Times after having been compiled by Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund and turned over by him to County Auditor A. M. Senstad. The current list is the shortest to be published in recent years. Parties remitting in payment of taxes listed are requested to add 25 cents to each item to cover cost of printing and clerk of court fees.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(U. S. Department of Agriculture Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

So. St. Paul Mon., Feb. 10: The snow storm over the weekend, which was the worst in years, blocked trains and highways and made livestock receipts at the week's opening very light. The salable supply in the cattle division included about a dozen carloads held from late last week, and while trade was not very active, slaughter steers and she stock sold largely strong, spots 15-25c higher. Most plain or warmed-up steers and yearlings were found at $6.00-7.25, desirable native yearlings $7.50, best steers with weight held around $8.50. Cutter and common heifers made $4.50-5.50, odd lots with more finish $5.75-6.75. Beef cows went at $5.25-6.25, low cutter and cutter $4.00-5.00, sausage bulls mostly $6.00 and down, a few $6.25. Medium and lower grade stocker yearlings were noted at $5.00-6.25. Good to choice vealers sold at $10.00, common and medium $6.50-8.50.

Hog trade was 10-25c or so higher than Friday, with lots of 180 lb. weights to long $10.10, a few 170-200 lb. [illegible] 250-280 lb. $9.50-9.85, a few sows $8.65-8.85.

Fat lambs and ewes were bid 25c higher today compared with Friday, but sellers were asking greater advances and trade was not established up to a late hour. Desirable fat lambs were bid $10.50 with well handled ewes bid $4.50. On Saturday good to choice lambs sold at $10.25-10.75, two loads of fed ewes $4.50.

Ruggles Sees Threat in Forest Caterpillars During Coming Summer

Serious damage to forests and the tourist trade of northeastern Minnesota during 1936 is threatened by the infestation of forest tentless caterpillars which has been spreading during the last 2 years, says A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist, University Farm, St. Paul. Locally known as "army worms," these pests have thickly infested a large area of the Superior National Forest around Ely.

Mr. Ruggles has appealed to all Minnesota representatives in Congress for aid in obtaining a grant of $20,000 to the Federal Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine for controlling these insects, as the infestation is practically all within the national forest, where hundreds of acres of poplar and birch were defoliated last year. Aside from damage to the trees, the movement of these insects from place to place in great hordes causes much annoyance to tourists. Indications are they will be far worse in 1936, unless controlled.

Spraying or dusting with arsenicals by the use of airplanes is about the only practicable control, Mr. Ruggles says, and that is the purpose for which he is urging the congressional appropriation.

International Falls.—Apparently a flock of five ducks, of the bluebill variety, cannot read the current weather reports, and are making their home in the Rainy river this winter. Altho International Falls has been set down in reports as being the coldest spot in the United States, with temperatures running as low as 51 degrees below zero, the group of bluebills may not subscribe to the papers and are not keeping up with the news. The birds, whenever a part of Rainy lake opens up, as it frequently does during the winter, will fly up to the larger open water, during cold snaps returning to the river just above the dam, which never freezes over. Just why these ducks choose Rainy river and Rainy lake as a winter resort has never been satisfactorily explained, but it is a fact that some of the birds spend each winter here. As one editor remarked, "With a pair of wings and a good squawk, we wouldn't be hanging around these parts this time of the year."

Farm and Implement News

USED CAR VALUES

We have 31 wonderful values in used automobiles. All popular standard makes. Many late models. In perfect condition. Some are all serviced for winter driving including heaters and frost shields. Our prices are very low now because the space is valuable for winter storage. Prices will be advanced in the next 30 days because they are now far below actual value.

USED TRUCK VALUES

We have many very outstanding values in used trucks. Many late models. Dual and single tire equipment. Plain trucks, or with stake bodies, platforms or inclosed vans. Among our used truck stock are some 1929-30 and 31 models in fine condition at very low prices that would mean wonderful investments for low farm truck investment as well as other lighter hauling.

USED TRACTOR VALUES

At this time only two used tractors on hand. Both 10-20 McCormick-Deering. The one has been thoroughly reconditioned and the other checked and necessary replacements made. Both at better prices now than later.

BEST VALUES

Spring will be here before we realize, and then it is well to be prepared for a big 1936 farm program. No better values ever than 1936 McCormick-Deering Farm Equipment. From tillage tools to tractors. For over a century the McCormick-Deering equipment has and is marching on in the lead, with quality, performance, endurance and very important is that of service, replacement parts whenever needed. McCormick-Deering is second to none in service and we are playing our part in that service. We are here to service you on the new machine you want and the service you need ever after.

TIME MARCHES ON

In another month a quarter of a century is history of our business. Many of our first customers back in 1911 are still living. Many old friends and still they are. Many that were not here in 1911 are customers of ours today. The young and the old, the old and the new. We are going to be so happy to have you with us for our anniversary celebration, March 19th, 20th and 21st. A detailed program will be published later. Each forenoon will be devoted to special demonstrations and discussions on new developments in machines, tractors and automobiles. In the afternoons there will be many interesting talks and lot of fun in the moving pictures shown will be viewed each afternoon. As we plan our three day program this year, there will be no noon luncheon, but coffee, doughnuts, and rolls each afternoon. Details later. It's a 25th anniversary and we are going to try to make it worth while.

Corn Loans Aggregate $725,000 in Minnesota

Loans totaling about $725,000 were made to Minnesota farmers from December 1 to January 25, under the 1935-36 corn loan program, announces F. W. Peck, state director of AAA programs and agricultural extension work at University Farm, St. Paul.

This figure compares with $405,000 loaned to farmers of this state in 1934-35 and about $5,500,000 in 1933-34, under the corn loan programs for those years. About 2,700 farmers have received loans so far under the 1935-36 program, compared with 1,077 in 1934-35 and 13,397 in 1933-34.

About 85 per cent of the recent loans have been made by local banks and the remainder by the United States Commodity Credit Corporation, which has offered to purchase the loan paper from the banks and other private lenders. The loan rate is 45 cents per bushel.

The present program is scheduled to end April 1. Old corn produced on farms covered by the 1935 corn-hog contract can be used as collateral for loans, Mr. Peck says. It must grade No. 3 or better when shelled.

8,000 ATTENDED WINTER SHOWS AT CROOKSTON

Hard Work Prevented Fire From Canceling Livestock Show

M. E. CARMAN OF ADA HAS PREMIER HERD

Championships in Open Breeding Classes of Livestock Awarded

Although "King Winter" kept many Red River Valley people close to their firesides last week, he could not prevent some 8,000 hardy individuals from fighting their way through record-breaking cold and over drifted roads to attend the twenty-sixth annual Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston.

Neither could his ally, the fire which destroyed a portion of the cattle barn on the day before the exhibits were scheduled to arrive, keep the management of the shows and meetings from opening these events on schedule and carrying them through as originally planned. The accomplishment of this herculean task will go down in Red River Valley history as a triumph of cooperative endeavor.

In number and quality of exhibits and in the contribution made to the education of Red River Valley people by the Northwest School Farmers' Week speakers, the meetings and shows this year stand out among the best ever presented in the Valley.

Livestock breeders of the Red River Valley were jubilant when Wm. E. Morris, judge of swine, placed "Floyd of Rosedale", the famous Iowa blue blood, fourth in one of the most hotly contested events of the week. Breeders of this region are prepared to enter similar contests with other species of livestock should the Governors of these two great states decide to expand their friendly wagers over future Minnesota-Iowa football games.

In the battle for "Premier Herd" honors, E. E. Carman of Ada emerged triumphant over Ed. Johnson of East Grand Forks, the 1935 winner, in the dairy division of the show, and Henry Leyh of Bertha won premier honors on swine. Other premier exhibitors at the show were as follows: sheep flock, Anderson Brothers, Wild Rice, North Dakota; beef herd, Lofgren-McGregor Stock Farm, Ada; junior dairy calf, Olney Flaat, Fisher; junior sheep, Gordon Clow, Orleans; junior swine, Harry Howard, Warren; baby beef, LeRoy Cournia, Crookston.

Beef Cattle

Shorthorns: senior champion bull and junior champion heifer, Ingvald Hanson, Twin Valley; junior and grand champion bull and senior and grand champion cow, Emil Lerud, Twin Valley.

Herefords: Senior champion bull, Henry Rink, Perham; all other championships, H. G. Prestegard, Mahnomen.

Aberdeen Angus: Lofgren-McGregor Stock Farm, Ada, won all championships.

Dairy Cattle

Holsteins: Senior and grand champion bull, Ed. Johnson, East Grand Forks; all other championships, E. E. Carman, Ada.

Guernseys: Senior and grand champion bull, John A. Huseby and Sons, Halstad; all other champions, Ole Flaat, Fisher.

Jerseys: senior, junior and grand champion bull and senior champion cow, Arwin Lippert, Bertha; junior and grand champion heifer, Rudolph Gysland, Gary.

Sheep

Shropshires: champion ram and champion ewe, Anderson Brothers, Wild Rice, North Dakota.

Hampshires: champion ram and champion ewe, Gordon Clow, Orleans.

Swine

Poland Chinas: senior, junior and grand champion boar, J. H. Sargent, Crookston; senior and grand champion sow, Arthur S. Albertson, Fargo; junior champion sow, Roy Boman, Syre.

Rites Held Yesterday for Mrs. W. Butterfield

Funeral rites were held Wednesday at the Erickson and Lund Funeral Home for Mrs. W. T. Butterfield who died Feb. 9 at her home in Federal Dam. She is a daughter of Mrs. George O'Neil and a sister of Mrs. A. B. Almstadt of this city. The Christian Science service was conducted by Mrs. Harry Pratt. Interment was made at Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Butterfield was born July 6, 1882, at Pacific Junction, Iowa. She later moved to Council Bluffs, Iowa and later lived in Nebraska where at Oxford in 1903 she was married to W. T. Butterfield. In 1914 she moved to Federal Dam where she had since made her home.

Surviving are her husband and one daughter, Mrs. L. J. Hute of Waukegan, Ill., and two sons, George of Ironwood, Mich. and Leath of Waukegan, Ill; her mother, Mrs. George O'Neil of this city and two sisters, Mrs. A. B. Almstadt of this city and Mrs. Arthur Golwitzer of Waukegan. Two sons preceded her in death.

Reputations wear out quickly when not taken care of.

WALLY DU CHAMP ROLLS 223 TOTAL IN BOWLING LOOP

Grain Belts Are Gaining on Bratrud Clinics for League Lead

Wallace DuChamp, bowling for the Bratrud Clinics, was the high man in the local bowling league last week when he downed 223 maples while the Clinic won two out of three games from the Borchert-Johnson team. No teams won more than two out of three games during the past week.

A. W. Mickelson, 192, aided the Times in taking two out of three from the Glueks last Thursday, Phil Prichard being high for the latter team with 201. Monday night the Clinics lost two out of three to the Gluek team, Allen Ulrich 201, and Ardell Robinson, 178, being high for their teams respectively. On the following night the Land O'Lakes dropped two out of three games to Bridgeman's, Hal Ekeren downing 186 and Harry Henderson 178 pins for the high score of their teams.

At the present the Grain Belt team is a close second to the Bratrud Clinics, top team of the local league. Present ratings:

	W	L	Pct
Bratrud Clinic	30	12	714
Grain Belt	27	12	692
Borchert-Johnson	23	16	589
Bridgeman	24	18	571
Times	18	21	461
Land O'Lakes	17	25	404
Glueks	13	29	309
Hamms	11	28	282

Sunday a delegation of local bowlers are going to Crookston to compete in a bowling tournament where cash prizes will be given. Wallace DuChamp, Severn Brandon, Emil Dostal and others are planning to attend.

Seed Treating Meetings Postponed Until March

Owing to unfavorable weather two meetings scheduled locally by R. C. Rose of the University extension service for today and Friday have been canceled, County Agent R. M. Douglass announced this morning. The meetings, at which it was planned to discuss potato and seed treating, will be held instead sometime next month, according to present plans.

Baudette Young Lady on Local Telephone Staff

Miss Orpha Murray, formerly chief operator of the Baudette exchange of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, last week joined the staff of the Thief River Falls exchange, filling a vacancy created by a resignation several months ago. Miss Murray's mother, Mrs. D. D. Murray, will join her in this city later in the winter.

River Valley Co-op Store Shows Substantial Gain on Operations Last Year

The River Valley Cooperative association store in Deer Park township enjoyed a highly satisfactory business in 1935, it was revealed in the annual report of John V. Niemi, manager, submitted at the annual meeting February 4. Net sales for the year were $27,076.10, and net income for the period amounted to the substantial total of $2,191.77. The association, which has a paid-in-capital of $850, voted an eight per cent patronage dividend. Officers elected at the meeting included Frank Lundeen, president; Henry Dahlen, secretary; and Olaf Stalaas, treasurer.

RED LAKE INDIANS AND INDEPENDENTS WILL VIE SUNDAY

Basketball Teams to Meet Sunday Afternoon in Auditorium

The Red Lake Indians, who lost a game of football-basketball at Redby a few weeks ago by a score of 29-28, will meet the local Independent team Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Auditorium. If the teams live up to past experiences a real hard fought game may be expected.

The Independents are meeting the Bronson team at Bronson Saturday night Feb. 15. On Feb. 23 the highly touted Soo Line team composed of former Minneapolis high school basketball stars, will meet the local team in the Auditorium.

Last Thursday the Plummer Independents lost to the locals 42-9. Previous to that the locals defeated the Warren Independent team by another one-sided score of 60-17.

COUNCIL DISPOSES OF MUCH BUSINESS IN SESSION TUESDAY

The taxi ordinance, drawn by City Attorney Theodore Quale and given its first reading Tuesday, provides that taxis as well as their drivers must be licensed, the fee being fixed at $5 for the first cab and $3 for each additional one. It is provided that no license shall be issued until the owner of the cab has first filed with the city clerk an insurance policy covering public liability and property damage. Rates to be charged by operators are not regulated in the ordinance.

Acting on the suggestion of Mayor Prichard the council voted to call for bids on a standard coach for the use of the police department, the matter having come up for consideration at other meetings during the past year or more.

The mayor also suggested that at its next meeting the council adopt a resolution establishing a larger discount on light and power bills until such time as the proposed new ordinance fixing lower rates is put into effect. B. Dan Bjorkman was present to request that a lower scale of water rates be put into effect, pointing out that his bill now amounts to approximately $400 a year. Large consumers, he said, are being driven to the installation of wells to provide their water supply.

The Narverud Cleaners were granted a permit to erect an addition to their building at a cost of $600. Earl Long, business agent of the Workman's Protective league, was present to protest that the agreed wage scale of 35 cents an hour has not been paid to all workers employed on the city's woodcutting project. He was informed by the council, however, that the matter has since been taken care of.

MARSHALL BOARD ENDS AFFILIATION WITH STATE ERA

Action Follows Demand for Increased County Relief Appropriation

Marshall county's board of commissioners, breaking with the State Emergency Relief administration this week as a result of SERA'S demands for an increase in the appropriation agreed upon when the county affiliated with the state set-up last summer, will henceforth direct relief activities in the county on its own initiative.

The break came at a meeting of the county board held Tuesday at Warren, when members of that body voted unanimously to operate its own relief office in the county, independently of the SERA.

The SERA agreement of last year provided for an appropriation of $17,800 annually for two years by the county, the state carrying the balance of the relief load. Of the county's share of relief costs, a $4500 balance remained in the fund at the end of 1935, and SERA insisted that this amount be added to the appropriation for this year, making a total of $22,300 for 1936 relief purposes, and further that this amount be increased by another 50 per cent for the year which would bring the total appropriation by the county to a $33,000 figure or approximately $2,790 monthly for the year. In addition, SERA expected the county to take the Mother's pensions off relief rolls and to pay all costs of administration of relief offices including salaries and maintenance expenses with additional funds.

The county board considered these demands unjust, and with lightened relief loads expected as soon as old age pensions are available in the spring, voted to sever its connection with the state organization and maintain its own relief offices.

Flames Raze Lutheran Church in Crookston

Fanned by a strong, icy wind, flames swept through the United Lutheran church in Crookston Saturday morning, and burned the structure to the ground. It was the second Lutheran church destroyed by fire during the last month. The church was built in 1890 and was valued at $8,000. Its equipment was valued at $1,000. Members of the congregation attended services in another church Sunday.

OLSON MAKES HOT RESPONSE TO REP. MARIUS WALDAL

Governor Refers to This Section of State as 'Upper Hinterland'

Defying Rep. Marius Waldahl of Plummer, who announced Wednesday night impeachment charges against the state's chief executive had been considered, Governor Olson Friday at Rochester said: "If he had any charges against me, he had ample chance to make them."

Rep. Waldal had asserted that the ouster charges were dropped because of Olson's illness and the expense of a long investigation.

"Representative Waldal— that bucolic statesman from the upper hinterland—is somewhat confused in his statement relative to the Liggett matter," Governor Olson said.

"During all of December," he continued, "I was in my office at the capitol. There was no fear necessary as to making a martyr of me. If he had any charges against me, he had ample chance to make them.

"That Liggett might petition the legislature for a hearing means nothing. Over 400,000 voters petitioned it to pass certain liberal legislation, but it failed to do so. In fact, a majority of the voters in Mr. Waldal's district petitioned the legislature not to seat him, but the legislature seated him anyway."

Snowplows Prepare Way for Coming of the Stork

Two North Dakota state highway snow plows cut thru the storm that enveloped the northwest Sunday to prepare a happy landing for the stork. A Grand Forks physician received the call at 10 A. M. and behind two plows ordered out by division engineer James Kennedy of the state highway department, drove to the farm home of Si Hoffman nine miles west of Grand Forks. Mrs. Hoffman and an eight-pound daughter were reported doing well Monday.

BECKER CO. GIRL WINS R. R. VALLEY SPELLING EVENT

Doris Carlson of Hazel Places Eleventh in Crookston Contest

By a two-point margin Orris Wibe of Lake Park, Becker county, last Friday at Crookston won the Red River Valley rural school spelling contest, nosing out the representative of Ottertail county which had won the event in 1934 and 1935. Doris Carlson of Hazel the Pennington county entrant, placed eleventh.

Awards of the contest were announced and trophies presented to the winners by Miss Dorothy M. Smith, of the Northwest School, supervisor of the contest. Besides Orris Wibe, the winners were: Vera Haugen, Henning, Otter Tail county, second; Earl Tous, Angus, Polk county, third; Audrey Tolder, Gatzke, Marshall county, fourth; Katherine Aldrich, Nashua, Wilkin county, fifth; Wallace Thomas, Moorhead, Clay county, sixth; Wanda Holquist, Bagley, Clearwater county, seventh; Amelia Kirsluk, Hallock, Kittson county, eighth; Viola Motzberg, Twin Valley, Norman county, ninth; Louise Bruvold, Oklee, Red Lake county, tenth; and Mary Fuxa, Mahnomen, Mahnomen county, twelfth.

Orris was presented with a cash prize of seven dollars and a banner donated by the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association. The Becker county school superintendent, Clarissa M. Bergquist, was awarded a silver trophy offered by Munn's Jewelry store, Crookston, to be held in behalf of the county. The remaining contestants received cash prizes.

Stephen Roe and Alex Krohn were business callers at Thief River Falls Saturday.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. V. Werking

Happenings Here in 1895

People more or less shut in by cold weather such as we have had this winter are likely to become a bit cantankerous, but one would think that they would be fairly well thawed out by the first part of April. This does not appear to have been the case in Thief River Falls back in 1895, however. In the weekly column of the Thief River Falls Press of April 4, that year, called "On Dit", we find several items that indicate dissension and a general lack of real harmony.

For instance, we find this:

"That the village CAN'T prosper if Jones beats the Mechans" and "That the president of the Village, James Mechan, Jr., intends to recover a quantity of real estate he has been unjustly deprived of." Then there is this one: "That Fred Rolette will hurt someone if they don't let his sand pit alone."

The Mechans were engaged in a move to recover property real estate they claimed was rightfully theirs and they seem to have been opposed by an organization called "United Business Men". The Mechans, by the way, were the publishers of the Press and, naturally, there are numerous references to the matter.

The Mechans sold their entire holdings in this section in 1891 to John O'Day, John Daley and C. J. and D. N. Winton, prominent Wisconsin capitalists and lumbermen. These men became proprietors of the Thief River Falls Lumber Co. Evidently the Mechans acquired the property they claimed or had obtained some when they sold, for we find that they went south where they "intend to invest considerable capital."

But there was more cheering news in the column. Fish were running in the Red Lake river. A wedding in "high life" was due to take place soon, and numerous other items in the column and in the local news indicated that the soothing influence of spring was being felt in some quarters at last.

The farmers, however, were finding matters difficult as usual. It seems farming always has its drawbacks, even when prices are soaring and land values are at boom levels. No matter how prosperous a farmer may become there is always something to harass him. It is not apparent that farmers in the Thief River Falls neighborhood were especially prosperous in 1895, but they were not badly off in a very bad way. But this is the way one farmer expressed himself in that April 4, 1895 issue of the Press:

"It's scarcely any wonder that lines are on my brow; it's hard to make a living the way things are going now. I plant some nice potatoes and sit down to watch them grow, then comes a frost a-whooping and lays the blame things low. I plant some little seedlings to raise some succotash, my neighbor's hens come tripping and knock them all to mash. I had selected a place in which to snooze and rest; a cow came in and climbed it and sent it galley west. I bought a dozen eagles (they cost so much I [illegible]). They hatched a lonely chicken and it went off and died. The insects ate the cabbage, the worms have nailed the corn, my sheep are wild and woolly, the cow has lost a horn; my pig has got the measles and [illegible] [illegible]; my geese are hunting water and I am full of [illegible]."

But whatever was happening there was always something of interest going on at Thief River Falls and in the immediate vicinity in the winter of 1895. In January there was a candy pull at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred [illegible] five miles northwest of town and we learn that it was well attended, 35 people reporting having had a good time there.

Another news item says, "Mr. [illegible] left for the woods on Tuesday to cut ties for the Farmers' Railroad." According to that the farmers were on their way to a status they either didn't attain or have since lost. We know of no Farmers Railroad today, at least not in Minnesota (we don't know of one anywhere, for that matter). Of course, it might have just been called the Farmers line to please them, as other enterprises are so termed today. But, anyway, the [illegible] had reached a stage where ties were needed, or soon to be needed.

But if any residents of the community were ill and wished to put their faith in patent medicines there were plenty of them, including such advertised remedies as Piso's Cure for Consumption, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, Hood's Sarsaparilla, Syrup of Figs and St. Jacob's Oil.

State news contained an item about the trial of Harry Hayward for the murder of Katherine Ging, then under way in Minneapolis. "County Attorney, [illegible], [illegible] (the item reads) has concluded his address to the Jury, and Mr. [illegible] [illegible] (William, "The Tall Pine") will close today. Public opinion seems to hold Hayward guilty, but it is impossible to tell what conclusion the jury will reach." Old timers will recall that Hayward was hanged and that his dupe, Blixt, who did the actual killing, was sent to prison for life, dying a few years ago.

ROSEWOOD

Misses Alma and Inga Holten spent a few days in Thief River Falls last week visiting with Miss Bertha Holten who is attending high school there.

Norma Toomey represented Rosehill school in the county spelling contest. The first six weeks ended on Friday. Those who have been present every day thus far are: Fern Hanson, Dennis Hanson, Bernard Loeffler, Lorraine Loeffler, Betty Lou Hetland, Lillian Hetland and Marie Engelstad. Knut Yttreeund was a business caller at Winger on Wednesday. While there he purchased a Hereford sire. Mrs. Martin Finstad wishes to express her thanks to members of the Neighborly club for flowers and gifts sent to her during the time she was ill at the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Engelstad, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hanson, Mrs. Louise Anderson and Merrie Engelstad helped Mrs. Mons Engelstad celebrate her birthday on Sunday evening. The evening was spent playing cards, after which lunch was served.

Byron Gunnesen and Thomas Mattson of Rosewood spent Sunday with the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Thompson who are employed at the V. C. Noper home.

NORDEN

A farewell party was held Monday for Ralph Erickson who left for St. Paul. Those present were: Messrs. Chester, Charles and Geo. [illegible], Elmer and Thelmer Ona, Alfred Ayres, Lester and Percy [illegible], Oscar Moorestad, Irvin and Melvin Aarvig, Gladys, Reuben, Gust and Vernon Erickson. Lunch was served and games were played the remainder of the evening.

Gerhard Hanson left for New Rockford Friday having received a telegram that his brother, Mrs. [illegible] [illegible] had passed away.

[illegible] Olson was a business caller at Thief River Falls Saturday.

T. R. F. DEFEATS WARREN QUINT BY SCORE 32-18

G. Mickelson and B. Nelson Have High Scores for Prowlers

Last Friday the Prowlers played Warren and defeated them by a score of 32 to 18. Bud Nelson started the scoring with a field goal and Mickelson followed with a free throw. Then Carlson of Warren put in a long shot, making the score 3 to 2 in favor of the locals. Englestad gave Warren a one-point lead with a field goal, but Bud Nelson and Mickelson each made a basket, putting the Prowlers ahead by 7 to 4 at the end of the first quarter. The second quarter started with Bossman making two free throws, bringing Warren to within one point of tying the locals. However, Art Nelson followed with a free throw. B. Nelson was credited with two points, thus bringing the tally to 10 to 6. Mickelson put in a field goal, B. Nelson made a free throw, and the Prowlers took time out. After the one minute rest period, Englestad made a long shot ending the first half, the score standing at 13 to 8 favoring the locals.

The third quarter contained most of the scoring done in the entire game, Mickelson starting it with a long shot. Warren took time out and afterwards Hjelle made one. Seeing it was the locals turn to score, Bud Nelson made a field goal and Bossman of Warren, not to be outdone, followed with two free throws. Then Hjelle went out of turn and made two more points for the visitors. This brought the score to 17 to 14 and the Prowlers took time out. The time out ended and Art Nelson made a free throw, but Englestad turned around and put in a free throw and a field goal besides. The Prowlers soon regained these three points, however, when Lorentson accounted for a free throw and Mickelson a field goal. The third quarter ended and the scoreboard said 21 to 17 with the Prowlers still on top.

Mickelson again started the scoring in the last period with a free throw and a field goal. Nesse followed Mickelson's example adding three more points to the score. Here the locals again took time out. Mickelson made another long shot and Olson, a free throw. Bud Nelson put in a field goal and Carlson of Warren ended the scoring in the game with a free throw. The final score was 32 to 18.

Mickelson was high point man for the Prowlers, having fourteen points to his credit while Englestad was high for the visitors with seven points.

In the preliminary game the Prowler "B" team defeated the Warren "B's" by a score of 41 to 10.

The box score of the game between the Warren and Prowler "A" teams follows:

College aptitude tests and English placement tests were taken on the afternoon of Thursday, February sixth and Friday, February seventh, respectively, by senior students who have hopes of attending colleges or universities in the near future.

The college aptitude test, taken by 97 senior students, consisted of English usage, definitions of words, and grammar and punctuation.

The English placement test, given by the University of Minnesota, consisted of spelling, English usage, placement theme, and vocabulary test given instead of the old Minnesota University aptitude test. Twenty-three students, all of whom intend to attend the University of Minnesota, took the test for the purpose of the classification of freshmen English students.

CROOKSTON TO PLAY LOCAL QUINT

Crookston Will Attempt to Repeat Win Over Prowlers

On Tuesday the Prowlers meet another of their early season conquerors when they play host to the strong Pirates from Crookston.

Crookston High School proved that it could be counted as a hard foe when it defeated Bemidji last week 30 to 20. The Pirates also boast four lettermen in Barnes, E. Fenzer, Vordale and Wheelhouse. The fifth starting player, and one of the flashiest that we believe has worn a Pirate uniform in some time, is R. Fenzer. Lundeberg and Matson round out the Pirate squad.

At present the district race is a mad scramble. Fisher, a Class B team, upset the dope and defeated Crookston. Plummer nearly did the same for the Prowlers. The Wave from East Grand Forks is on top with three wins and one loss. Crookston and the Prowlers are tied for second with two wins and two losses.

Warren is on the bottom with one win and three losses.

Cause of Queen Victoria's Death

Queen Victoria's ailment was principally general debility. She had suffered for some time from rheumatism and aphasia, as well as failing eyesight, but drove out in fair health the fifteenth of January, 1901, and apparently took a slight cold. Her illness was brief and her death entirely peaceful.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS ATTEND MPLS. MEETING

Skarstad and Woolhouse Represent Local District at Education Convention

Alfred Skarstad and R. W. Woolhouse of this city attended the fifteenth annual convention of the Minnesota Schoolboard Association. The three day session, lasting from February third to fifth, was held at the Convention Headquarters in the Nicollet Hotel, Minneapolis. February third, the first day of the session, was occupied by the Board of Director's meeting and the assemblage of all committees.

The address of welcome was given by Thomas E. Latimer, mayor of Minneapolis. The president's annual address, given by Dr. E. E. Novak, was preceded by an address presented by Dr. John Gunderson, Rockwell, commissioner of education in St. Paul. In the afternoon session Otto Kolshorn of Red Wing and Thedore Utne of St. Paul addressed the audience, respectively, on "Rural School Supervision" and "Larger School Units." During the evening convention get-together an after-dinner speech was given by N. B. Hanson.

At the general session on February fifth, two interesting speeches were given by O. S. Slover, who spoke on "School Finance and Legislation," and S. V. Kinney of Red Wing, who informed the listeners on "Purposes and Aims of Board of Control." Many other members of the organization expressed their opinions on certain school problems.

Music was furnished at various intervals by public schools of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The entire meeting was adjourned at the conclusion of the general business session which was held in the ballroom of the Nicollet Hotel.

SHOP NEWS

The new router-shaper has recently arrived at the shop. All students are eagerly looking forward to some very interesting work with it.

Shop I students are in the midst of preparation in beginning their woodworking projects. Shop II boys have begun metal working.

Eighth grade shop students have completed their game boards and are now working on laundry sticks.

Boys in the seventh grade shop class have been building small permanent magnets which can be taken apart and re-assembled very easily.

The part-time agriculture school boys were in attendance at the shop last Thursday, showing considerable bravery in attending in the face of the cold wave. They will be present at one more session before the completion of the course.

Occupational Diseases Increase

The tremendous development of American industry has been accompanied by a similar growth in the number of occupational diseases. For example, 20 years ago there were not more than a dozen substances that caused skin diseases. Today there are approximately 300 or more of these skin irritants and sensitizers.—Collier's Weekly.

ON BOOING

We have, in earlier editions of the Progress, urged the verbal demonstration of "school spirit" during sporting events. It is a fine trait to be able to express loyalty and yet not incite hatred from the opposition.

Booing is on the stand this week! Booing a player, an official, or an act of either is probably the best way to incite these persons and their allies against the unpardonable offender.

To stir on the anger of a visiting team and its supporters tends to leave a sour taste in the visitors' mouths and to promote ill feeling. That is not the object of inter-school games!

If the officials are the object of the booing, they usually do not react in the intended way—that of rendering more favorable decisions, but still go on "calling them as they see them", letting the "chips fall where they may." Remember: the officials are the sole judges! Their decisions are final, and any outside attempt to influence them is naturally resented!

Any booing at all is unwelcomed by the players themselves. Their attention is distracted by the crowd and they sometimes are wrongly influenced to the detriment of the team-play.

We have three home games left. In these three cage struggles, for the good of the team, if for nothing else, put the Bronx on the shelf!

BOYS SPONSOR FRIDAY'S PEP FEST

Girls to Sponsor Fest Prior to Next B. B. Game

On Friday, February third, prior to the Warren game, the boys of Lincoln High School sponsored the pep fest.

James Nesse, master of ceremonies, started the pep fest by having Mr. Lanning direct and Mr. Harrison play the school song.

James then introduced Willie Jones, accompanied by the saxophone trio of the Campus Freshmen Orchestra. Mr. Jones gave two tap dancing numbers. Following Mr. Jones, the saxophone trio, composed of Jack Booren, Leonard Helquist, and Orrin Brandon, played another selection.

"The Music goes Around and Around" was then acted out by a group of students. Jack Booren, the vocalist, pressed the first valve, Glen Carlson, down. Then the music, Gordon Holte, went around and around and came out of Mrs. Korstad's office door. Likewise Jack pressed the second valve, Wesley Burrell, down, with the music again personifying certain traits of this popular song. Vincent Arhart enacted "listen to the jazz come out." After mounting a chair, Jack finally succeeded in pressing the third valve, Clayton Gunheim, down.

The Boys Double Quartet, accompanied by Robert Bouville, received a great ovation when they sang "Nola."

All the members of the basketball team participated in a short skit. The scene was a lunchroom after basketball practice. Bruce Prichard was the first one present. He ordered four hot dogs. Loren Stadum and Milton Nesse found delight in their soup. Jack "Popeye" Adkins had spinach. Other basketball players who were in the skit included Arthur and Alfred Nelson, Gilbert Mickelson, Victor Jung, and Adrian Lorentson.

The pep fest closed with Robert Wessling leading the student body in two yells.

What have you to sell? Try a Times Want Ad.

The pep fest which is to precede the East Grand Forks game on Friday, sponsored by the girls, is to be kept a strictly private affair.

The boys set a high standard last Friday at their pep fest and now it is up to the girls to beat it or—

These pep fests are to be judged by five people, three of whom are to be selected from the faculty and two from the student body. No one, except Miss Helquist, will know who these judges are. Each judge will not know who the other four are.

L. H. S. Debates Will Meet Warren Feb. 17

The next district debate will be held at Warren on Monday evening, February 17. Lincoln High School will be represented by a team composed of Fae Belcher, Oscar Bickley, and Morris Engelstad. In this contest Warren will uphold the affirmative, while Thief River Falls will support the negative side of the question.

Coached by Mr. J. K. Montague, our squad has enjoyed a favorable season up to the present time. Early in December a two-man team comprised of Oscar Bickley and Morris Englestad captured first honors in the Annual Invitational Debate Tournament held in the Warren High School. Although our team may compete with a different squad from Warren, the debate promises to be one of interest to both students and parents.

On last Tuesday night, a Lincoln High School team was awarded the unanimous decision of the judges when it opposed Red Lake Falls. Upholding the affirmative side at this time, our squad was easily victorious over an all-girl team.

Later in the season this team will debate against the Crookston High School.

ETIQUETTE

It is difficult to explain why well-bred people avoid certain words and expressions that are admitted by etymology and grammar. Therefore, it must merely be stated that they have, and undoubtedly always will, avoid them. People of position are acknowledged the world over. By their speech they are most readily known. Appearance may seem to be very important. A chorus girl may be lovely to observe as she stands in a seemingly unstudied position and in perfect clothes. But let her say "How swell it looks!" Where is her loveliness then?

The following are some very common mistakes:

Incorrect form:
I desire to purchase
Permit me to assist you
I presume
Converse
Accept my thanks
Brainy
Pardon me
Charmed!
Correct form:
I should like to buy
Let me help you
I suppose
Talk
Thank you
Brilliant or clever
I beg your pardon
I am very glad to meet you

There is no better way to cultivate taste in words than by constantly reading the best English. None of the words and expressions which are taboo in good society will be found in books of proved literary standing. It must not be forgotten that there can be a vast difference between literary standing and popularity.

Perhaps the best way to eliminate objectionable phrases from one's speech is to talk slowly and carefully. At first this may seem to make your conversation stilted. However, it is far wiser to speak slowly than to use words and phrases that have no place in the well-bred vocabulary.

There is a great deal of truth in the old maxim, "Speech is silver, but silence is gold."

FOURTH PROGRAM COMING THURSDAY

Channing Beebe Will Entertain Lincoln Students

On Thursday February 20 the fourth in a series of Northwest assembly programs will be presented in the Auditorium at two forty-five in the afternoon.

The topic "From Ants to Elephants" will be illustrated by colored stereoptican slides and by an unusual collection of native ornaments and costumes, implements of warfare, pagan idols, and hunting trophies, and will be presented by Mr. Channing Beebe, world explorer and geologist.

Mr. Beebe is an alumnus of the University of California and of Leland Stanford University. His work as a commercial geologist has taken him to practically every section of the world: first, for one of the leading oil companies in Africa; then in Asia and Europe; later for an oil exploration in Mexico, Central America and South America, having always followed the trail of adventure. In recognition of his valuable contributions in scientific and naturalistic fields, Mr. Beebe was elected to membership in the Explorers Club of New York City.

PROWLERS WILL PLAY EAST GRAND

Little Green Waves to Come Here Tomorrow

In a game that promises to be thrilling and hard-fought throughout, the Prowlers meet East Grand Forks' Little Green Wave tomorrow at eight o'clock on the local court.

By virtue of their 23 to 16 victory earlier in the year, the Wave rules a slight favorite. The Wave has four lettermen in Rockwood and Peterson, forwards; Sundeen, center; and Kimblin, guard. The other starting position will be filled by Sorenson, a stocky guard. Others who will probably see service are Hughes and Patterson. East Grand Forks showed their best form of the year last week when they defeated Grand Forks Central.

The Prowlers were back at practice this week after laying off last week except for their two games with Plummer and Warren. "Ade" Lorentson will be in shape to go the complete game, and the fighting little forward is expected to turn in his usual good game. "Ade" earned the name of the unluckiest player on the squad by losing a tooth in the Warren game just after returning from a three weeks lay-off with an infected leg.

LINCOLN HIGH TIMES

We wonder if Ariel R. still thinks that Whittier wrote:
"The barefoot boy with shoes on,
Stood sitting in the grass."

Add new or renewed couples: Marian D. and John M., Hettie G. and Ray P., and Bob W. and Lorraine R.

Was Marjorie M. thrilled to get a call from the Warren coach?

And was James N. angry when Genevieve S. didn't come over Friday night!

Was Marian G. thrilled when Floyd C. took her home, or was she?

When Vernon W. took Alyce P. home, he was so overjoyed he forgot his overcoat. Oh, well, what's an overcoat?

Mae L. seems to think one Gordon S. pretty grand, too.

Ardella G. must think Warren isn't such a bad town either. Bobby S. especially. Well, rings are pretty serious, Ardella!

GYM GEMS

Outstanding players?

We've got lots of them, for instance, Hettie and Margaret Gustafson, Marion and Ruth Berg, Lorraine Amundson, Helen Anderson, Mary Alice Biederman and Dorothy Snelling. Then too, there's heaps of honorable mentions!

The color tournament goes on as we gradually learn the technique of basketball. Recent games and their outcomes are:

Purple, 20 Red, 8
Green, 18 Pink, 14
Black, 11 Blue 10
Orange, 22 Yellow, 10

The Captainball tournament is near a finish, and still the reward remains a mystery. Bernadette Mairs's team goes ahead by gaining the most points. Let's see some of the other players cooperate and give her team a real battle!

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Below is an outline of the important events for the two following weeks:

Week of February 10-15
Friday, February 14—Basketball game—East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls, here.

Week of February 17-22
Monday, February 17—Debate with Warren, there.
Tuesday, February 18—Basketball game—Crookston versus the Prowlers, here.
Thursday, February 20—Assembly program at the City Auditorium.
Friday, February 21—Basket ball game—Bemidji versus the Prowlers, there.
Friday, February 21—Sub-district declamation contest, here.

PEP SQUAD MAKES FIRST SHOWING

Newly Organized Group Performs at Warren Game

Last Friday evening at the Warren basketball game the high school pep squad performed for the first time this year.

The squad made several formations, including a large "P" for the Prowlers and a "W" for Warren. As they came onto the floor, they sang their theme song. While in the various formations, the girls gave several yells. Appearing in their gold and blue outfits, the pep squad created much favorable comment from the people in the bleachers. The pep squad's costumes for this year are more elaborate than previously.

The members of the pep squad are Helen Anderson, Arline Prestbakk, Violet Anderson, Margaret McKechnie, Margaret Jacobson, Fae Belcher, Harriet Simonson, Marion Olden, Margaret Paupst, Lorraine Baken, Yvonne Anderson, Nola Nelson, Brunell Erickson, Helen Granum, Ariel Reidy, and Elizabeth Dahlen. Miss Lunder is in charge of the squad. She deserves much credit for her work in helping to make this organization a success.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Miss Steenerson's English II classes have begun to study biographies and are writing themes on the material they have read.

Miss Lunder's Home Economic I classes are cutting out their first projects such as slacks, short, pajamas, and under garments.

The Home Economic II classes are studying meats including pork, beef, fish and fowl. On February 6th they made a trip to DeCremer's meat market for a meat demonstration.

Miss Dahlen's eighth grade Home Economic classes are now studying the unit on the development of a child from one to six years.

The General Science classes have been studying the unit on communication, including the telephone, telegraph, and the radio.

Miss Olson's English I classes have finished studying Ivanhoe by Sir Walter Scott and are now going to begin studying the poem, "The Lady of the Lake" by the same author.

The Junior English classes taught by Miss Tandberg, are working on their vocational talks which are to be given at the end of the month.

Miss Helquist's biology classes have begun to study the chapter, "How Living Things are Improved."

Miss Leavitt has finished the senior library lessons and is now giving the seventh grade library instructions.

FINAL DECLAM CONTEST IS HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Large Crowd Attends Final Elimination Held in Assembly

The final declamation contest to determine those who should represent Thief River Falls at the sub-district contest this year was held Monday evening, February tenth, in the high school assembly.

In the oratorical division of the contest Oscar Bickley, who gave "The Hardest Thing in the World To Be", was given first place. Evelyn Furuseth, reciting "Cataracts", was chosen the winner of the dramatic division. Marjorie Matheson's presentation of "Goodbye Sister" was given first place in the humorous division. These three contestants will represent Lincoln High School at the sub-district contest to be held in Thief River Falls on February 21.

Those who participated in the oratorical contest were Charles Asp, Wendell Olson, Robert Smith, Oscar Bickley, and Clifford Oleson. Evelyn Furuseth, Violet Anderson, and Edna Swanson gave dramatic selections. The humorous readings were given by Mary Chommie, Fae Belcher, and Marjorie Matheson.

While the judges were deciding the winners, the high school Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Springen, sang "Bye Baby Bye." The three judges of the contest were Mrs. P. A. Lundgren, Mrs. C. W. Vorachek, and Lincoln Arnold. The contest was very close, and the judges had a difficult time in deciding the winners.

SOPHOMORE THEMES

Below is printed the second of the sophomore themes submitted by Miss Steenerson. It was written by Theodore Helle.

A Hallowe'en Prank

In the neighborhood in which I now live it has been the custom for the young men and boys to celebrate the Hallowe'en night by causing as much confusion in the general order of things as the imagination of the various participants would allow.

One Hallowe'en, which I well remember, we created a far greater disturbance than our sense of propriety and heretofore permitted. A group of nine boys of various ages gathered at the schoolhouse, which was naturally to be the center of interest. The night was the darkest that my recollection is able to bring to mind, and suited our plans perfectly.

We all knew that a certain member of the school board, who lived very near the school was opposed to our frolicking. In fact, some of the boys said he was going to sleep, with a shotgun loaded with powder and salt by his bed to "defend the community against any violation of the peace." But—we weren't afraid!

We carried a heavy, discarded desk onto the porch of the schoolhouse and were about to place it against the door when we were suddenly arrested by noises coming from the direction of the "peace protector's" home.

Crack! Crack!

"Oh! He's shooting at us!" cried out one of the smaller boys, and there was no possibility of doubt, as we all heard the impact of the salt against the brick wall of the schoolhouse. We remained there a few moments until we realized our precarious position, then fled out into safety and protection of the dark night.

Will McCrum was a business caller at the Matt Gerardy home in Plummer last Friday. —Carl Norquist left last Wednesday for Superior, Wis., where he will be employed in the round house. He had sold his milk route in Thief River Falls to the City Dairy Co., before his departure. His family will remain here this spring.

Sympathy from this community to Mrs. O. N. Olson on the death of her brother, John Amundson in Volin, S. Dak., last week. He was seventy-one years old at the time of his death and leaves a family and three sisters, Mrs. Olson of Thief River Falls, Mrs. J. H. Jacobson of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. J. Martin of Minneapolis. Mrs. Olson was unable to attend the funeral because of the severe weather conditions.

Hiawatha School notes

The pupils held their regular meeting of their Riverside Club last Friday in the form of an Amateur hour. The program consisted of a song "Lamp Lighting Time in the Valley" by Dorothy Skibicki; a reading, "Wintertime" by Ardith Norquist; tap dancing, by Marjorie Norquist and Theresa Stene; Song "My Mother's Old Bible is True" by Junice and Arlene Ranum; a reading "We Got Even" by Glen Thune; song, "The Cuckoo Clock" by Mildred and Marie Bouston; a series of Jokes by Arnold Stene and Garfield Syverson; and a song "Moonlight and Skies" by Ray Ranum. First prize was awarded to Marie and Mildred Bouston for their song. Theresa Stene and Garfield Syverson accompanied by their teacher, Miss Beatrice Lokken participated in the county spelling contest in Thief River Falls Saturday. Little Ardith Norquist was an honor guest at a birthday party Sunday afternoon at her parental home, the occasion being her tenth birthday. The afternoon was spent in playing games after which Ardith's mother presented a delicious lunch. The guest of honor received many lovely gifts. Those helping her celebrate were Junice, Ray and Arlene Ranum, Dorothy Skibicki, Clara Olson and Beatrice Lokken.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

A Splitting Tale

BEN SUTTON of Colorado Springs, Colo., has an Uncle Jim who never splits an armload of kindling for his wife but that he thinks of the time over on the Western Slope when he was working for a man, splitting logs. One morning he had an immense tree half-way split open when 26 Ute Indians surrounded him and their chief, old Holey Moccasin, told him he'd have to go back to camp with them.

Uncle Jim knew darned well they intended to burn him at the stake, but he said "All right, I'll go. But first I've got to get this log split. Now, if you want me to go very soon, you've just got to turn in and help me."

The chief agreed to help, so Uncle Jim put 13 of the Utes on one side of the log and 13 on the other. "Now, all of you get a deep hold and pull," he said. "Take both hands and I'll drive the wedges in while you hold the split open."

The redskins did just as he directed and began pulling as hard as they could while Uncle Jim began tapping at the wedges. But instead of driving them in, he began loosening them.

Suddenly he knocked the wedges out—one, two, three! . . . just like that. The log snapped shut like a steel trap and there were the Utes with their hands caught in it. So Uncle Jim took his maul and went up one side of the log and down the other, tapping the Indians on the head as he went. Then he left 'em. He didn't know whether he just gave them a bad headache or killed them, because he never saw those Utes again.

ERIE

Funeral services were held Sunday for Wayne Good who met death when kicked in the head by a horse while doing chores. He leaves a wife and 6 children to mourn his passing. Mrs. Good is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mostrom. —Miss Ottea Ekwall and her cousin Miss Lena Nelson of Gatzke who has visited for several weeks at the Ekwall home left Sunday for Duluth where they will visit relatives. The latter will go from Duluth to California in the near future. —Gust A. Iverson was a business visitor in Crookston on Thursday. He also called on his son Glennie at the N. W. S. A.

The Eklund Ladies Aid was entertained Wednesday by Mrs. Ole Lee at her home. —Andrew Hanson underwent an operation on his eye in a Thief River Falls hospital last week. At last reports he is getting along fine.

Mrs. Knute Danielson has been on the sick list the last few days.

S. O. Prestegaard, Norris Trontvet and Martin Ekwall motored to Thief River Falls Friday on a business trip. —Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christianson a boy, Jan. 30th at a Thief River Falls hospital. Mrs. Christianson was formerly Emma Arveson. —Theodore Russtad, rural mail carrier out of Erie, is vacationing in warmer climates. Carl Anderson is substitute carrier. —Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Anderson and Lowell, Mrs. T. Loyland and daughter Theodora were River Valley business callers Friday.

Observations on Trip to California

By Joel E. Shoberg

Reno is located just 14 miles east of the California line and about 250 miles from San Francisco. The rise of the Sierra Nevada mountains commence just west of Reno and continue up to Mt. Shasta which lies about 8000 feet above sea level and is the highest point we passed between Minnesota and the coast.

It seems almost unbelievable how the climate can change as much as it does on the 150 miles between Reno and Sacramento. All the way from Reno and to the peak of Mt. Shasta was cold and blustery, and as soon as we went over the top it was like falling into paradise in comparison. Snow disappeared in a twinkling, it became too warm in the car first for the top coats we were wearing and very soon we had to open the windows.

Traveling in the Sierra Nevadas as well as in part of the rockies is somewhat hazardous. Especially where the road either by man or nature has been made to lie just at the bottom of steep mountain sides and with overhanging cliffs. As one approaches these cliffs one cannot but help thinking if they should by chance loosen and come rolling down, just what would happen. It would be death, funeral and burial all in one operation. To try and remove stone masses of this volume would be unthinkable.

Back home we hear a lot about California's wonderful roads. This is perhaps made to indicate the scenery. As far as the roads are concerned Minnesota roads are fully as good as those of California, with the possible exception of frost heaved pavements. The paved roads in California are smooth, but they are not any wider, and I really do not think there are any more of them than in the North Star state. And I have not yet seen any curves outlined with night reflectors like in Minnesota. I consider this an improvement that is very essential in the prevention of accidents.

But the roadsides in California are more beautiful than those back home. For miles and miles we see beautiful lanes of ornamental and native trees planted in straight lines to follow the road and, as many of these are up to 50 feet tall they afford a delightful protection from the direct rays of the sun. In other places we see shrubbery and berry bushes planted in the same fashion, and I can just imagine how beautiful these must be in the springtime when they are covered with a new foliage and pretty blossoms. Also out here we have not the deep ditches following the roads, in the first place this is not needed as the roads are not built as high out here and the matter of water drainage is unimportant.

Sacramento is a both large and beautiful city, but does not come up either to San Francisco nor Los Angeles in either population or popularity. It is the capital of the state and is surrounded by hundreds of fruit and vegetable orchards, and where the products are gathered direct from the fields in large trucks and taken directly to either Sacramento or San Francisco for disposal. There are also large dairy farms around here and almost on every farm the milk is sold direct to the large city bottling and condensing firms who handle it, and does the preparing for city use. Whole milk here is about the same price as back home but cream is slightly higher. Large vegetable ranches are numerous raising almost every kind of vegetable, and orchards, planted in squares for power cultivation both ways reach as far as eye can see.

We were told by well meaning friends both back home and along the way, that in order to enter the state of California we would have to undergo rigid examinations, both as to our luggage, the car and our person, and we would be required to give an account of our financial condition. To anybody who may contemplate making this trip we will say that there are two examinations. The first at the state line requires an opening of trunks and suitcases to satisfy an inspector that the tourist does not possess any agricultural article intended for growing purposes within the state. This was explained to us to be a safeguard to California farmers and fruitgrowers against any possible vegetation disease entering the state thru the tourist trade. The second examination further in the state is an examination of the automobile and the license card, motor and serial number to satisfy the inspector that the car is not stolen and that it is driven by the owner. "Visitor of California" sticker is then placed on the windshield of the car with a permit to remain in the state for so many months without securing state license, and indicating the place and purpose of ones visit in the state. Both examinations are without cost, and takes but a few minutes time.

An "Armed Inaugural"

Lincoln's first inaugural was known as the "armed inaugural." The Confederacy already was in existence. A hostile attack or at least a demonstration was feared. Ranks of soldiers were massed so closely around the Presidential carriage that the occupants could scarcely be seen. The housetops on the line of march were black with guarding soldiery. The inauguration is described as "bristling with guns."

Lincoln's Ambition

In 1864 Lincoln once said: "I desire so to conduct the affairs of this administration that if at the end, when I come to lay down the reins of power, I have lost every friend on earth, I shall at least have one friend left, and that friend shall be inside of me."

Kagawa of Japan to Talk on Cooperation

Leaders and members of Minnesota farm cooperatives will have an opportunity to hear Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, famous Japanese social and religious leader, speak on cooperation, Wednesday, February 19, at University Farm, St. Paul. The meeting will open at 10 in the forenoon and continue in the afternoon, under auspices of eight leading Minnesota farm and cooperative organizations.

Dr. Kagawa will bring an inspiring message not only to cooperators, but to all workers and farmers. He has spent nearly all of his 40 years organizing laborers and farmers in Japan in an effort to improve their standard of living.

Becoming Christianized when still a boy, Kagawa trained for the ministry in Japan and later studied in America, where he obtained a degree at Princeton theological seminary.

Dr. Kagawa will make several other Twin City appearances in behalf of co-operation and religion, and will also be heard at Fargo, N. D., February 20, and at Duluth on February 22.

Dividing Convention Votes

Many times a certain district desires to send to a political convention more delegates than it is entitled to have votes in the convention, in this way showing special favor to individuals, or providing for a greater number to take counsel together outside of the convention and to decide in which way the votes of the delegation shall be cast. Therefore, it has been the practice to divide the vote. That is, to give to each individual seat a one-third, one-half, or in some cases one-fourth vote. When the vote is counted these are added to make the required number of votes to which the district is entitled.

"WHY DOESN'T MY BREAD TASTE AS GOOD AS THIS?"
"WELL, YOU MUST USE DAKOTA MAID FLOUR"

Good bread can be the result every time if you use good flour. That's why really experienced housewives, like Mrs. W. R. Curry of Devils Lake, insist on Dakota Maid. "I wouldn't think of using any other flour," says Mrs. Curry, "and I never hesitate to recommend it to friends."

Delinquent Tax List

FOR

Pennington County, Minnesota

Showing Delinquent Real Estate Taxes on the First Monday in January, 1936

State of Minnesota,
County of Pennington—ss.
District Court
Fourteenth Judicial District

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA, to all persons, companies or corporations, who have or claim any estate, right, title or interest in, claim to, or lien upon, any of the several parcels of land described in the list hereto attached.

The list of taxes and penalties on real property for the County of Pennington, remaining delinquent on the First Monday in January, 1936, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of said County, of which that hereto attached is a copy.

THEREFORE, you, and each of you, are hereby required to file in the office of said Clerk, on or before the twentieth day after the publication of this notice and list, your answer in writing, setting forth any objection or defense you may have to the taxes, or any part thereof, upon any parcel of land described in said list, in, to, or on which you have or claim any estate, right, title, interest, claim, or lien and in default thereof, judgment will be entered against such parcel of land for the taxes on said list appearing against it, and for all penalties, interest and costs. You are further notified that at the expiration of five years from the date of Tax Judgment Sale pursuant to such Judgment, each parcel of land sold at such sale, and not redeemed, will become and be the absolute property of the purchaser or of the State, or his or its assigns, without further right of redemption and without any notice of expiration of the time to redeem same.

ADOLF EKLUND,
Clerk of the District Court,
of the County of Pennington, Minnesota.

School News

Mr. Grimsrud and the members of the two classes in agriculture attended the Crop Show and Agricultural Short Course in Crookston last Wednesday. From comments and discussions it can easily be seen that all heard and observed much. —Mr. Ripple, Mr. Adrian and Miss Swenseid drove to Grand Forks last Saturday. They enrolled for the second semester at the University of North Dakota.

Last Saturday the Boy Scouts of Plummer met in regular session. After the usual business session games were played. All had a good time. The Eagle Scouts entertained the others with a "feed" of hot dogs, buns and coffee. —The cooks who prepare and serve the hot lunches enjoy a steady patronage. The tantalizing aroma of the food on the stove makes all hungry far ahead of time.

On Tuesday the Cardinals were nosed out by the Thief River Falls Five in the last minute of play. The Red and White led by a few points from the start and in a fast and hard fought game gave the fans a lot of thrills.

Last Friday the fans were treated to a fine exhibition of basket ball when in a fast and well played game Plummer High School defeated the Bemidji State Teachers' College Reserve by a score of 41-21. The team worked together well and all members are credited with an exceptionally well-played game.

Do not forget the Sub-district Declamatory Contest at Plummer on Tuesday, February 18th, at the Municipal Auditorium. The following schools are taking part: Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Goodridge, Plummer.

Plummer High School will be represented in the oratorical division by Donald Holberg, in the dramatic division by Margaret Saum, and in the humorous division by Carol Hovland.

Growing With Your Child

Clothing Should Encourage Self-Help

When the baby for the first time holds out his arm ready for the sleeve we are putting on him, we are pleased at his cleverness. It is his first step in the process of learning to dress himself. Though he will probably be 3½ or 4 years old before he can do all the steps alone, there will be a definite progression throughout the months in between if we do our part to make his self-help experiments successful.

First of all comes the need of making baby's clothes loose and comfortable, so that he will not have unpleasant associations with being dressed. If he has to be handled a lot—have his head thrust through a sweater opening that is too small, be turned over a number of times during the dressing process, for example, he may resist the whole business. Shirts that open in front, dresses that, being split all the way down the back, can be spread apart when baby is laid down, and thus kept dry, such features prevent early dislikes being formed.

When baby gets to the stage of wanting to creep, two piece suits—panties and an overblouse—will encourage his getting about without having his knee action hampered by skirts that get in the way. The panties, with wide elastic at the top, will also facilitate training, as they can be slipped off easily. If two or three pairs are made to match one "upper", a lot of work can be saved.

When the child, boy or girl, has reached the stage when he can put on and off his clothes, the cut of the garment becomes very important to his comfortable and speedy learning. Regular sleeves are easy to get into, and easy to iron. One pattern can be used to turn out any number of clever little dresses, each varied in detail and trimmings. Boys will be much happier to continue with the elastic topped trousers as long as possible, and to postpone the day of the miserable buttoned-on trousers. No wonder little boys don't learn to dress themselves as soon as little girls do, when they have to struggle with buttons, before, behind, aft and amidships. Manufacturers have now come to the aid of small boys, and have provided any number of ingenious contrivances that make dressing less of a bugbear than it used to be. One should be sure, however, when buying garments with trick fastenings, to consider whether one's child will be equal to manipulating it. Both dresses and suits should open in front, and have as few buttons or fastenings as possible.

Outdoor clothes must be made or chosen with equal care. Reglan sleeves for a coat will lessen the struggle in getting it on. A light coat and a sweater will keep the child warmer than one heavy garment of more inflexible material. Snow suits, of two layers of light weight or medium wool, can be made out of old coats or dresses, and may have wide elastic bands at wrist and ankle to keep snow and wind out. Rubbers and overshoes should be bought large enough to slip on and off with comparative ease.

Corduroy has come off the college campus and into the lives of very young boys and girls, who enjoy the comfort, softness and warmth of colorful overalls made therefrom. But after laundering the nap will have to be restored with a good stiff brush when the overalls are thoroughly dry.

Children's clothes can be made attractive, simple and easy for the youngsters to get into. We are realizing today as we never did before how much of the child's personality depends on early building up of confidence and belief in his own ability. Because dressing himself is almost the first skill the little child acquires—only learning to feed himself comes before it—we can do a lot to encourage habits of independence and self-reliance by making the conditions right for happy achievement.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

COUNTY BOARD ACTS TODAY ON PENSION PLAN

Making Arrangements to Put New Law into Effect March 1st

SUPPLY OF BLANKS ARRIVED TUESDAY

Recipients of Present $5 Pension Also Must Make Application

The Pennington county board is holding a special session in the court house today to complete arrangements for the county's participation in the state old-age pension system which is scheduled to become effective March 1. The commissioners today probably will decide whether the law shall be administered by the county board or by an agent appointed by that body.

County Auditor A. M. Senstad Tuesday received a supply of 100 sets of application blanks to be filled out by prospective pensioners. It is necessary under the law, he stated, to provide each of the 151 recipients of county pensions with a set of blanks before distributing them to others wishing to make application. He added that he has written in to Kenneth C. Haycraft, director of the division of old age assistance in St. Paul, for an additional stock and he expected in a day or two to have an ample supply to take care of the demand.

Mr. Senstad pointed out that his office is not specifically authorized to fill out the blanks for applicants, who will be asked to complete the forms outside the office and have them acknowledged by a notary public. The forms are in duplicate and provide for four pages of questions and answers relating to the applicant's place of residence, his financial condition and names of members of his family.

Applications shall be considered by the county agency in the order received, according to instructions from state headquarters. Each of the 151 persons in the county now receiving a $5 monthly pension will also be required to fill out a set of blanks in order to qualify for the new pension, which in some cases will amount to as much as $30 a month.

County officials from all parts of the state will meet in St. Paul with the old age assistance bureau February 29 to discuss uniform operation of the old age pension system, it was announced Monday. Director Kenneth C. Haycraft will leave for Washington Friday to obtain approval of certification of the Minnesota old age pension law and system of procedure as required by the new national social security act.

TWO COUNTY BOYS NAMED TO ATTEND STATE FAIR CAMP

Elmer Ona of Norden and Carl Lindbloom of Bray Win Honor

The state 4-H department at University Farm, St. Paul, has selected delegates from 85 counties for the 1936 Minnesota state fair farm boys' camp, it was announced Monday by T. A. Erickson, state club leader.

Two boys have been selected from each county for outstanding club work in 1935, Mr. Erickson said. The delegates, 16 years old or over, will live at the fair grounds during the week and will participate in a variety of events. Pennington county will be represented by Carl Lindbloom of Bray township and Elmer Ona of Norden.

Delegates from adjoining counties include Marshall: Edwin Willey, Warren and Marian Augustine, Holt, Red Lake: Arthur Hamrum, Brooks: and Bernard Remick, Red Lake Falls. Clearwater county: Harry Boorman, Leonard; and Edmund Rydeen, Clearbrook.

Elmer A. Benson Enters State Governor Contest

Elmer A. Benson, recently appointed by Governor Olson to serve as United States senator from Minnesota, announced Tuesday that he is a candidate for governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket. His action clears the way for Governor Olson to be the party candidate for senator. Other announced aspirants for the governorship include Magnus Johnson and Lieutenant Governor Hjalmar Petersen.

JUNIOR C. C. GROUP TO HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

The Junior Civic and Commerce association will hold its regular meeting this evening at 6:30 in the rooms of the senior association in the Auditorium. The Coffee Shop will provide the dinner.

Three Groups Join to Feed Pennington Co. Game Birds

Above is presented Miss M. Helen Davis, now of Grand Forks, who shares with Miss Helen Wallin the distinction of having taught the first classes in the local schools in 1890, 46 years ago. Miss Davis is the subject of an interesting article by Win V. Working historian of the northwest, published elsewhere in this issue of the Times under the heading "Red River Valley History".

In common with civic and sportsmen's organizations thruout the state, the feeding of game birds was started in Pennington County Tuesday of this week. No feeding has been attempted before owing to the fact that no game warden is assigned in this territory. Three organizations are co-operating in the work.

The Izaak Walton League is furnishing funds for purchasing Feed. Boy scouts are preparing the feed in paper bags. The feed for this week was prepared by Billy Claffy, Billy Haug and Delmer Hovie. About 5 pounds of barley, wheat and screenings mixed and tied in the bags.

The postoffice staff is co-operating in the distribution of the feed. Thru Postmaster Andrew Anderson who volunteered the service, arrangements have been made whereby rural carriers will distribute the bags along their respective routes; Albert Swanson on Route 1; Torkel Ose on Route 2; William Grundhaus on Route 3; and Carl Hovie on Route 4.

If the program works out satisfactorily, the feed will be distributed once or twice each week for the next few weeks, or in cold and severe weather.

STORES TO ACT ON HOLIDAY CLOSING HOURS THURSDAY

Tentative Schedule Drawn by Merchants Group of C. and C.

A tentative schedule of closing hours and holiday observances drawn up last Friday by the merchants' committee of the Civic and Commerce association will be submitted for final action at a meeting of all merchants in the city at the association rooms in the Auditorium next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, Secretary Paul Lundgren announced today, adding that lunch will be served.

The schedule as drawn up includes the following provisions: Good Friday, close in the afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. Memorial day, May 30, close all day. July 4, close all day, with stores to remain open the evening of July 3. Labor Day, September 7, close all day. Armistice day, stores stay open.

Thanksgiving, close all day, with with stores open until 7 o'clock the preceding evening. County fair, close at noon on Thief River Falls day. Christmas day, close all day, with stores closing at 6 o'clock Christmas Eve. New Years Eve, close at 6 o'clock.

The schedule provides that beginning March 14 the stores will remain open Saturday evenings until 9:30, and that the same closing hour shall be effective during the period from December 18 to 23.

Highlanding Creamery Shows Good Volume Gain

The Highlanding creamery received 234,570 pounds of butterfat in 1935 from which was churned 288,742 pounds of butter, Gunnuf Gunstenson, proprietor, announced this week. The volume of butter manufactured represented a substantial increase over the 1934 total of 260,364 pounds. The average net price paid for all butterfat was 29.58 cents, Mr. Gunstenson stated.

Noted Explorer Will Speak Here Today at 2:45

The finals in the district high school debate tourney will be held in the Lincoln high school assembly room next Monday evening when the Crookston and Lincoln schools will compete. Local contestants include Morris Engelstad, Oscar Bickley and Fay Belcher.

Postoffice Closed for Washington's Birthday

The local postoffice will be closed Saturday, February 22, in observance of Washington's birthday, Postmaster Anderson announced today. There will be no window service or rural or city delivery service. Special delivery mail, however, will be handled as usual, as well as the usual dispatches of outgoing mail. Court house and city offices also will be closed for the day.

Bandmaster Asks Local Musicians to Turn out for Practice Monday

Following a meeting Wednesday evening of E. L. Egermayer, recently appointed director of the municipal band, with members of the park board and councilmen, as well as several former members of the city band, arrangements were made to hold the first practice session in the Auditorium next Monday evening. Mr. Egermayer urged all former members of the band to turn out with their instruments, and also other local musicians who have not formerly been affiliated with the organization.

CREAMERY PLANT TO BE DEDICATED IN WARREN FRIDAY

John Brandt and J. H. Hay Will be Principal Speakers

With John Brandt, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., and J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of Agriculture of Minnesota, as the principal speakers, Warren's new cooperative creamery plant will be formally dedicated at the annual stockholders meeting in the high school auditorium Friday afternoon says the Warren Sheaf.

Dismantling of the old creamery plant is now in progress, employees of the plant and creamery machinery experts working overtime in an effort to have the new plant ready for receiving cream and the manufacture of butter Friday morning, said Carl J. Lindberg, manager.

Open house in the new building will be observed all day Friday, with the general public being cordially invited to inspect the building and watch the operations of the manufacture of butter with modern equipment in the establishment.

During the noon hour a free luncheon will be served to all stockholders, patrons and friends of the Creamery association at the City Hall. The lunch will be prepared and served by one of the local organizations.

The afternoon meeting of the stockholders and dedication program is scheduled to get under way in the High School Auditorium at 1:30 o'clock.

Froze Hands Thursday in Subzero Weather

While proceeding from downtown late Thursday night in subzero weather to his home a mile east of the Bridge st. bridge, Peter Peterson, local plasterer, badly froze both his hands. He was taken into the Harry Dahl residence, from where the night patrolmen brought him to a local hospital for treatment. The extent of his injuries may not be known for several days more, physicians in charge said.

Illness Prevents Talk in Fargo by Dr. Kagawa

Plans for sending a Thief River Falls delegation to Fargo today to hear lectures by Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, widely known Japanese leader in the cooperative movement, were suspended early this week following an announcement that illness would prevent Kagawa from fulfilling his speaking engagements in the near future. At Fargo, C. A. Armstrong, president of the North Dakota Council of Christian Education, sponsor of his appearances in the state, announced that new dates for the lecture would be set if possible, and asked that delegates hold their tickets.

SUBZERO SPELL PERSISTS HERE INTO 6TH WEEK

Today Marks Fortieth Consecutive Day of Subzero Temperatures

WEEK-END BLIZZARD HALTS ALL TRAFFIC

Mercury Drops Saturday to New Record Low of 46 Below Zero

With the mercury slumping to the record low point of 46 below zero Saturday and failing to rise above the zero mark during the week, this community today is experiencing its fortieth consecutive day of subzero weather.

Readings taken during the past week by Fred Protz, local observer, were as follows: Friday, —33; Saturday,— 46; Sunday, —43; Monday,—27; Tuesday,—11 and Wednesday,—29; and this morning, —26. The highest reading for the week was —1 on Tuesday noon.

The cold Saturday and Sunday was intensified by a stiff gale that picked up loose snow, piling it in drifts and disrupting rail and highway traffic thruout the northwest, the blizzard making its heaviest effect in Eastern North Dakota. With Pennington county roads blocked by the storm, the state aid system thruout the county was opened again by Wednesday night, while most county aid roads were still blocked.

Since last Friday sections of the Soo Wheat Line in North Dakota have been blocked to traffic, and dispatchers have indicated that several days would elapse before normal operating conditions are resumed. Trains are now running from this city to Fordville.

Local coal dealers report difficulty in getting shipments of all desired varieties and sizes of coal, but so far have been able to take care of their patrons, tho being compelled to make substitutions in some instances. Due to the extremely prolonged cold spell the supply of coal in the docks at Duluth is likely to be exhausted by April 1, dealers here have been advised.

Plumbers report having received as many as 15 to 20 calls a day to thaw out frozen pipes in homes in the city. Numerous water mains also have frozen as a result of the unusually great depth to which frost has penetrated.

OVER 500 OBTAIN LICENSE PLATES IN CITY SATURDAY

Campbell's Office Handles Biggest Day's Volume on Record

The office of Alex Campbell, deputy registrar of motor vehicles in this city, Saturday handled the biggest one-day volume of business in its history when, despite the extremely cold weather prevailing, more than 500 sets of license plates were issued on the last day before penalties became effective. Receipts for the day aggregated more than $5,800. For those failing to procure their plates by February 15, a 25 cent penalty became effective Monday, followed Tuesday by an additional charge of 25 cents which will hold until March 20, after which the penalty will increase at the rate of 50 cents for each thirty days.

Douglass Discusses Farm Census at C. C. Meeting

County Agent R. M. Douglass, member of the agriculture committee, spoke briefly last Thursday at the weekly luncheon of the Civic and Commerce association. He reviewed figures supplied by the federal farm census for Pennington county made in 1935, and called attention to the substantial increase in flax production in the county in the five year period ending in 1934.

Subdistrict Declaimers Compete in City Friday

Entrants from the Warren, Alvarado, Oslo and Thief River Falls high schools will participate in the subdistrict declamatory contest in the Lincoln high school assembly room Friday evening. There will be three entrants from each school, those from this city including Marjorie Mattson, humorous, Oscar Bickley, oratory, and Evelyn Forsberth, dramatic.

Pennington to Send 3 to GOP Convention

Pennington county will be entitled to send three delegates to the Republican state convention scheduled for April 11, it was announced in Minneapolis Tuesday. Each county gets one delegate at large and one for each 750 votes cast for Hoover in 1932.

Ed Snelling Catches Fish That Strenuously Resists Giving up Life

Here's one for that gentleman named Ripley.

Sunday D. V. Snelling's boy Ed was fishing down by the dam and caught a dandy Northern pike weighing four-and-a-half pounds. He laid it on the bank where it froze solid before he took it home. Upon arriving home he put it in a pail of cold water where it gradually thawed out, came to life, and flipped itself out on the floor. Thereon the whole family of Snelling boys fell upon it and socked it neatly over the head with a stick. Mr. Fish then laid very still. Later on Mr. Snelling scaled the fish. No objections from Mr. Fish. But when he inserted a knife preparatory to amputating its head, Mr. Fish objected violently and flipped around to escape the death-dealing knife. In spite of all Mr. Fish's objections the Snellings had a fish dinner.

FOUR CREAMERIES TO HOLD MEETINGS DURING THE WEEK

Stockholders of Goodridge Cooperative to Meet Saturday

With four annual meetings of creameries in this section scheduled to be held during the coming week, the yearly sessions of stockholders and patrons are nearing their end.

The meeting of the Goodridge cooperative creamery will be held in that village Saturday, it was announced by officers today, while the thriving creamery at Grygla will conduct its meeting next Monday, following a postponement from last Monday because of extremely cold weather.

The Gully cooperative creamery will hold its meeting Friday of this week, while stockholders of the institution at Oklee will convene next Tuesday.

The Viking cooperative creamery held its annual meeting Wednesday afternoon. The report revealed that a total of 98,734 pounds of butterfat was received in 1935, from which was manufactured 121,174 pounds of butter and general expense per pound of butter was shown to be 2.943 cents. Henry Anderson is buttermaker for the institution.

Funeral Rites Held for Father of Mrs. T. Rowan

Funeral rites were held Feb. 13 at Federal Dam for Peter Lonson, father of Mrs. Tom J. Rowan of this city, who died Feb. 10. Rev. Schweikert of Federal Dam officiated.

Mr. Lonson was born Dec. 12, 1850 at Trondhjem, Norway. He came from Norway to Stevens Point, Wis., and later moved to Thief River Falls. In 1912 he moved to Federal Dam where he had since made his home.

He is survived by his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Tom Rowan of this city; Mrs. Carl Swanson of St. Louis Park; and Miss Mabel Lonson of Chicago; and three sons, Ben of Jamestown, N. Dak.; Oscar of Chicago and Hugo, of Federal Dam.

Last Rites Held for Christ Borgen

Funeral services were held Feb. 15 at the chapel of the Larson Funeral home for Christ O. Borgen who died at his home in Sanders township Feb. 11. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiated at the services and interment was made in West Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Borgen, who was eighty-three years old at the time of his death, was born in Norway. Upon coming to America he settled in Wisconsin, living there until ten years ago at which time he moved to Wylie where he had since made his home.

Surviving are one brother, Ole, in Norway and two nephews, Paul Smidesang of Wylie and T. P. Smidesang of this city.

HERB SEVERSON TAKES OVER ENGLUND TAXICAB

Herb Severson of this city announced today that he had taken over the taxicab business operated by Pete Englund with headquarters at Dorry's garage and will continue operations from that location.

Pharmacy Handles Big Egg Business Saturday

The Thief River Pharmacy Saturday engaged in the egg business in a big way following its announcement that for the one day it would accept eggs in exchange for soda fountain purchases. Despite sub-zero temperatures a total of 3,170 specimens of "hen fruit" were taken in during the day, the services of five persons being required at the fountain.

Recreation Board in City Plans Projects

CONTRACTORS SEE BRIGHT PROSPECT FOR '36 BUILDING

Foresee Construction of Numerous New Homes in This City

Local building contractors today expressed optimism over the outlook for a substantial volume of construction to get under way in this community during the coming spring and summer.

Nels G. Olson of Olson & Kolden reports having done some preliminary figuring on several jobs, and foresees good prospects for construction of a large number of new homes in Thief River Falls this year, in addition to several possible commercial buildings.

Tom Nesland, another local contractor, stated that he is planning to start building a home for his own use next month if weather conditions permit, and added that he has heard of a number of others planning to build, particularly on the east side of the river. He expressed that the payment of the soldiers' bonus this summer will have a stimulating effect on home construction.

Stensgaard Brothers are now engaged in remodeling the first floor of the Dr. A. W. Swedenburg residence for the purpose of creating two apartments.

Former Local Resident Due to Appear on Major Bowes Amateur Program

Bjarne Bjornson, son of Rev. H. Bjornson, who left this community 12 or 13 years ago after serving for 23 years as pastor of the Mavie and Silverton Lutheran churches, is in New York City making arrangements to appear on Major Bowes amateur hour program over the radio either next Sunday or the following, according to word received by local friends this week. Bjarne, who is a bass singer, last year won a state amateur singing contest. Whether or not he will be given an opportunity to join one of Major Bowes traveling units will depend on the number of votes he receives following his appearance, it was announced.

DR. SMITH IS HIGH SCORER FOR WEEK IN BOWLING LOOP

Rolls 202 Monday Evening; Clinics Still Hold League Lead

In a double header Monday night Dr. A. M. Smith ran up the high score of the week in the local bowling league when he downed 202 pins while the Bratrud Clinics took two out of three games from the Land O' Lakes team. Douglas Booren high man for the Lakes team was only two pins behind Dr. Smith, having 200 pins.

The Times dropped two out of three to the Grain Belt team with Art Mickelson 178, being high for the former and Harold Olson 176, high for the latter. Emil Dostal with 184 maples downed led the Grain Belt team to a two out of three victory over Borchert-Johnson last Wednesday. Norman Johnson at 169 being high for the losing team. Thursday Andy Williamson downed 193 pins to lead the Times in a two out of three victory over the Hamms for whom Art Larson was high with 178.

In standings the Grain Belts lack only a few games of tieing with the Bratrud Clinics, the leaders of the league. Bridgeman and the Borchert-Johnson are tied for fourth place.

Present team ratings:

	W	L	Pct
Bratrud Clinic	32	13	711
Grain Belts	31	14	688
Borchert-Johnson	24	18	571
Bridgeman	24	18	571

The National Re-employment office will be closed Saturday, Feb. 22, in observance of Washington's birthday.

Group with Mrs. Norby as Its Chairman Plans Series of Hikes

The Pennington county recreation board, under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. O. Norby, is working out a program of public recreation to be carried out in the city of Thief River Falls and the rural communities of the county under the supervision of the WPA Recreation set-up.

Following is a calendar of week end activities to be held if weather conditions permit:

Saturday, Feb. 22: 2:30 p. m. hike for boys 12 to 14 years of age. 3:30 p. m. hike for girls 12 to 14 years of age.

Sunday, February 23: 2:00 p. m. hike for girls of high school age. 3:30 p. m. hike for business girls.

Activities for the smaller boys and girls will be scheduled as soon as the weather is more favorable.

All hikes are scheduled to start from the Northwest entrance of the municipal Auditorium at the designated time. Anyone wishing to partake in these activities is welcome to come, it was announced by Mrs. Verna Hecker Purcell, who has charge of the program.

Work has been started on equipment for the Boy Scout Headquarters. Puppets are being made for puppet shows which are being sponsored by Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, public librarian, and will be put on for youngsters of school age.

PROWLERS GO TO BEMIDJI FRIDAY FOR HARD BATTLE

Grand Forks Central High Coming for Contest Here Feb. 28

The Thief River Falls Prowlers will play the Central high quintet of Grand Forks in the Auditorium Feb. 28. Tomorrow the local team will journey to Bemidji to meet Coach "Buck" Robbins' basketball stars. The Prowlers have lost to both teams earlier in the season but have improved immeasurably so that close games are assured in each case.

Last Friday the Prowlers lost a hard fought contest to East Grand Forks 25-19. The score at the end of the half was 21-9, the locals holding their rivals to four points during the last half. Had the Prowlers played as good a brand of basketball during the first half the score might have been different. Peterson, forward, of East Grand was high point man for the game with five field goals and two free throws to his credit. Mickelson starred in the game for the Prowlers with three field goals and one free throw to total high for the locals.

Tuesday the Prowlers downed the Crookston Pirates in a thrilling battle that ended 24-23. At the half the Prowlers were leading by 17-8. During the third quarter they gained only one point while the Pirates picked up eight, leaving the Prowlers in the lead 18-16. The Prowlers managed to keep the lead until the final gun ended the game. Donald Chalmers refereed the game when it was learned that Gronningen, who was supposed to have refereed the game, was stuck in the snow at Marcoux corner.

Many Enjoy Concert by Augsburg College Choir

A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the concert presented Tuesday evening at Trinity Lutheran church by the Augsburg college choir of Minneapolis, which is making its third annual tour under the direction of Professor Henry P. Opseth. The chorus rendered three groups of difficult selections, solos being sung by Harold Nydahl, Kathleen Oswald and Irene Neseth.

Sanders Farm Home Is Razed by Fire Saturday

The farm home of Gust Johnson in Sanders township was completely destroyed late Saturday afternoon by a fire that got under way on the second floor. With the help of friends Mr. Johnson and his son salvaged most of the first floor furnishings, but the contents of the second floor were not saved. The loss was only partly covered by insurance.

F. H. Kratka Boosted This City 46 Years Ago

In its last week's issue the Stephen Messenger reprinted the following item from the Marshall County Leader of January 10, 1890: "Mr. F. H. Kratka, one of the Thief River Falls townsite owners, was in Stephen Monday. He is a natural born boomer, and incited quite a boomlet for that town while here. It's as entertaining as a fairy story to listen to his description of the advantages Thief River Falls offers and its certain future."

WINTER TERM OF COURT WILL OPEN MONDAY

Jurors Summoned to Appear for Service Monday, March 2d

ONLY FOUR NEW CIVIL CASES ON CALENDAR

Twelve Continued Cases and Two Criminal Actions Are Listed

The February term of Pennington county district court will convene in this city next Monday when the calendar of cases will be set and arrangements made for the hearing of court cases. The petit jurors have been summoned to appear for duty Monday, March 2, at 10 o'clock in the morning.

A short term is in prospect, there being only four new civil cases in addition to thirteen personal property tax cases and twelve continued cases. the new actions include the case of the Oen Mercantile company vs. Carl Green, involving an appeal by the defendant from a judgment issued in municipal court.

An action by the Larson company vs. K. E. Dahl is based on a contract for the purchase of an oil burner. Another action is brought by Russel McKercher vs. Arne and Anna Marie Vik involving a real estate transaction in River Falls township. The fourth case is brought by the LaSalle Extension university vs. L. A. Anderson and is based on a note alleged to have been given the plaintiff in 1932.

Criminal actions include the state vs. Carl Johnson, Werner Rasmusson and Robert Rasmusson, involving the alleged malicious destruction of property; and the state vs. John A. Ristan in proceedings to establish paternity.

Civil cases continued from the last term of court include the appeal of Olga Stewart in condemnation proceedings brought by the city of Thief River Falls; M. C. Hanson et al. vs. D. R. Anderson; State of Minnesota vs. St. Lukes Hospital association; B. C. Bernard vs. Hilda Golseth et al.; Arthur Simonson vs. H. O. Tommerdahl.

Other continued cases are those of Rom Crookshie vs. W. J. Durbahn; C. A. Nashbar et al. vs. Ed Hill; Frank Bothman et al. vs Lena Johnson et al.; Raymond G. Gordon vs. H. L. Fowler et al.; S. Halvorson vs. K. E. Dahl; and Lydia Goethe vs. Henning G. Goethe.

DOUGLASS WARNS OF NEED TO TEST 1936 SEED GRAIN

Need Is Particularly Great for Testing of Wheat Raised in 1935

County Agent R. M. Douglass this week issued a warning to Pennington county farmers to beware of low-testing seed wheat for planting this spring, adding that the same advice applies to a lesser extent to barley and oats.

Mr. Douglass said that one out of every five samples of 1935 wheat examined at University Farm, St. Paul, was found to be unfit for seed because of low germination and low weight per bushel. Germination, he said, shows no relation to weight per bushel, even plump samples occasionally showing low germination.

Grain growers are advised not to use any seed testing less than 70 to 80 per cent except as a last resort. A free test may be obtained by sending samples to Northwest School at Crookston. Mr. Douglass suggested the treating of seed grain with the new improved Ceresan, closely following directions.

Pratt Tells Rotarians of Month Spent in Texas

H. A. Pratt, who returned during the past week with Mrs. Pratt from a month's sojourn in the balmy climate of South Texas, recounted details of his trip at the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon, making his fellow Rotarians envious of his escape from the subzero weather that prevailed steadily during his absence. Announcement was made at the meeting that a group of club members are planning to go to Winnipeg Saturday for an international good-will meeting arranged by the Rotary club in that city.

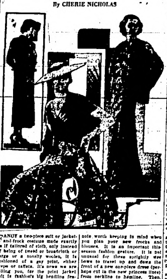
Charming Print Jacket Costumes

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



FANCY a two-piece suit or jacket-and-frock costume made exactly as if tailored of cloth, only instead of being of tweed or broadcloth or serge or a novelty woolen, it is fashioned of a gay print, either crepe or taffeta. It's news we are telling you, for the print jacket suit is fashion's big headline feature this spring.

Perhaps you have already acquired one of these attractive and wearable print suits. If not, why not, and if you haven't, hurry up and take a look at the charming types which the shops are showing.

The print may not be expensive. In fact, some of the most successful models are of simple, unpretentious patternings and weaves. Small figures on dark backgrounds are favored for practical daytime wear. The skirts are either gored or cut straight and slim with a slit hemline or, if you take delight in being very ultra, choose one of the new circular flare skirts with its widened hemline such as Paris designers announce as the newest silhouette. The jacket that is smartest is tailored along classic lines, is fitted in slightly at the waist and buttons up the front and is only hiplength. However, any style is in good form from swagger to fancy jacket style.

If you want to simulate a jacket effect, that is wear a one-piece dress that has a jacket and skirt "look," the charming model to the left in the picture is the answer. This soft taffeta frock has intriguing little style touches adapted from the utter feminine regency period. Bows and belts of scarlet velvet ribbon pick up one of the colors in the print. The hat is of onion skin straw with a chou of velvet ribbon at the front.

This idea of employing little velvet bows instead of buttons is a note worth keeping in mind when you plan your new frocks and blouses. It is an important this-season fashion gesture. It is not unusual for these sprightly wee bows to travel up and down the front of a new one-piece dress (perhaps cut in the new princess lines) from neckline to hemline. Then, again, they may even fasten a bodice up the back or pose in little groups on one's blouse. In fact, whenever a decorative touch is needed, just scatter a flock of little velvet bows over your costume for effect and up-to-the-moment chic.

Printed chiffon suits for dressy daytime wear are making fashion history. They are really the most flattering costumes one can wear at an afternoon social gathering. The young woman seated is wearing a striking ensemble, the jacket and skirt of which are fashioned of a printed chiffon which shows cornflower blue, beige and yellow flowers massed on a black ground. The classic tailored jacket has a boutonniere of cutout chiffon posies. It's lined with black taffeta to match the slip. The blouse is of handsome black lace. Black trims and faces the wide-brimmed shallow beige straw hat.

For evening formality prints are simply gorgeous. You can see, looking at the figure to the right in the picture, how strikingly handsome a formal ensemble of print can be. This model is fashioned of a flower print done in exotic multi-colorings. Here again you see a touch of velvet in that the dress collar is of green velvet, the same repeated in the sleeve and pocket facings of the loose swagger jacket. A corsage of fresh orchids (wearing natural flowers this season) tucked through the belt and a big rhinestone clip at the neck are smart additions.

LIBRARY NOTES

Because of intense cold, blocked roads and no competition in the way of outdoor recreation, this winter, business is even better than usual at the Carnegie Public Library. Bad weather has no tendency to slow up book circulation. On a stormy afternoon one day last week, more than a dozen patrons living at a distance of thirty miles or more, exchanged books. Two more school contracts were given out on the same day.

Because Washington's birthday falls on a Saturday, the library will remain open all that day and evening, instead of closing for the holiday as is customary.

Owing to the heavy demand, late books as well as old favorites are not long on the shelves and there are waiting lists for many. Three copies of Anne Lindbergh's "North to the Orient" with a time limit of seven days on each, are in constant use. Perhaps no other book in public libraries today has been singled out as a general favorite as has this one. Some have designated it as a "perfect book" because of its interest, the clear, simple style and the personality of the author which is so strongly felt.

"It Can't Happen Here" by Sinclair Lewis is not a pleasant story but is being much read and discussed. "Magnificent Obsession," "Green Light" and "Forgive Us Our Trespasses" by Lloyd Douglass, are still holding the interest of the public. Probably because of screen productions, some of Dickens's books have been on waiting lists all winter. It has been necessary to purchase extra copies of books by Nordhoff and Hall since "Mutiny on the Bounty" was shown on the screen.

The following have been received recently:

English—Getting Acquainted with Minerals
Young—Be Kind to Yourself.
Haslund—Men & Gods in Mongolia.
Schlink—Eat Drink and be Wary
Sandoz—Old Jules
Lawrence—If I Have Four Apples
Stribling—Sound Wagon
Nordhoff—The Hurricane

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Mrs. Alma Levine of Crookston has been named state director of international relations for the Minnesota W. C. T. U., to succeed the late Mrs. Ella R. Jorgenson, who served for 10 years.

Mrs. Levine, peace chairman for the Ninth District Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, has won state and national federation prizes for peace essays and pageants which she has written. She is a past district president of the W. C. T. U., and was a delegate to the world W. C. T. U. convention held in London in 1920. Peace education is one of the points of the educational program of the W. C. T. U.

A class in Christian citizenship, another point in the W. C. T. U. program, was "graduated" at the annual dues dinner of the Frazee W. C. T. U. January 16. Eleven meetings of the class were held with the Misses Kalma Mickelson and Lorena Feenendal and Mr. Andy Johnson of the Frazee high school faculty giving lessons on constitution, taxation and civil government of Minnesota. The faculty members were "graduated" with the class, which included Mmes. Antonia Luford, Eliza Olson, Mary Daniels, Lillian Anderson, Stella Graham, Della Bates, Emma Moore, Mabel Walseth, Clemania Parker and Elizabeth Hall. Six other members of the Frazee union will complete the course later.

NEW FARM BILL WORKING ITS WAY THRU CONGRESS

Dairying Interests Oppose Provisions as Threat to Industry

An outburst of controversy Wednesday met the administration's AAA-substitute farm bill as it started a journey through the house, scheduled by majority leaders to end in passage by Friday night.

An organized bloc of representatives from the dairy states hardly waited for the measure to reach the floor before opening an effort to prevent any increased dairy production under it.

They demanded that lands taken out of wheat, cotton, or other production under the subsidies-for-soil-conservation program not be used for growing grasses or forage or for the production of livestock for sale.

Despite this move for amendment, and cries of "regimentation" and "unconstitutional" from other house quarters, leaders expressed confidence that a measure not radically different from that already passed by the senate could be enacted by Friday night and sent to conference with that branch.

Briefly, the legislation brought before the house would:

1—Amend the 1935 soil erosion law to enable payments of grants or other aid to farmers until Dec. 31, 1937, on condition that they improve soil fertility, promote economic use of land, and diminish exploitation and unprofitable use of national soil resources.

2—Authorize the secretary of agriculture to make payments after that date to states provided they arrange to have their farmers meet these conditions and maintain stable and adequate agricultural supplies at fair prices to producer and consumer.

The legislation would provide also for payment of "domestic allotment" bounties on the domestically consumed portion of crops; for expansion of domestic and foreign markets and disposition of surpluses; for use of AAA personnel; and for use of customs receipts as under the AAA to pay exporters' bounties.

NUMBER "13" FAILS TO ALARM CARLETON BAND

Northfield.—The Carleton College Symphony band, which left Northfield last week on its 13th annual tour, has abjured whatever superstition there is in the figure "13". The organization has a membership of 57 this year, recruited from 13 states, Minnesota, home of the band, has contributed 13 members. It was on Friday, December 13, that the annual jaunt was announced. The three officials of the band who are making the trip, James Gillette, conductor; Franklin Miner, manager; and William Nicoll, stage manager, each have 13 letters in their names. Rehearsals of the Carleton college campus are held in Skinner chapel, which again has 13 letters in its name. In but one chief respect does the Carleton Symphony band falter in its defiance of superstition. Concerts in only 12 cities will be played on the 13th annual jaunt.

Famous Painted Canyon an Unusual Formation

California is noted for strange things that nature has given it, but among the strangest Painted Canyon deserves a preferred classification, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times. Just a short distance off the main highway in the gray sands, the landscape changes, with sand and mud hills bulging from the earth, and beyond them, just a little way, rise rock formations giving every indication that they were built up over a long period of time by volcanic action.

Each section of Painted Canyon is a panorama of wonder. No two parts bear a semblance in detail. All types of rock, lime and sandstone, and lava formations that may be found in the Southwest are here assembled, yet mixed with a gorgeous freedom and weird artistry that fascinates both the layman and scientist, and lures one up the long washes that time and water have laid in this old sanctuary, set far from the paths of man's common travel and call.

Other smaller canyons are Wonderland, Labyrinth, Coyote, Thermoon, Ravine, Arch, and Wonder. They extend back for miles into the strange-looking mountains, each having an individuality of color, each seeming a little world of its own to excite wonder and urge the sightseer on to other spots. Pinnacles jut upward that defy scaling. There are other formations in miniature which give visual impression of flying over a fantastic mountain range with thousands of peaks and valleys.

Still Live in Caves

Visitors to the Touraine region of France to see the palatial chateaus which dot the district find people living in caves. At various places along the Loire, notably near the ruins of the Cinq Mars-la-Pile, at Chinon and Langeais, are the homes of these Twentieth century troglodytes, whose chambers are cut out of limestone rock. Many of the caves apparently are occupied by people in comfortable circumstances, for the rooms are ornamented and embellished. There are several miles of such homes, where people burrow into hills, like moles and pride themselves on their residence.

Our Bird Neighbors

By C. B. Hovie

Prairie Horned Lark

As a sign of spring, birds have been hailed with joy throughout the ages. Their appearance has long signified that at last Old Man winter's reign has come to a close and new life is about to begin.

The carol of the robin and the cawing of the crow usually announce pleasant weather near at hand, but three to six weeks before their arrival, our first migrating bird has returned.

Along the highways and at the borders of weedy fields appears a trim grayish-brown and white bird half again as big as an English sparrow, a black band crossing its breast, blackish head and checks with a narrow band of white circling the forehead over the eyes from ear to ear. The small black ear tufts which give the bird its name are not usually noticeable but do give the head a squarish look. A prominent white feather is on each side of the tail.

Before the snow is off the ground this bird builds a nest in a cup shaped hollow in the ground picking a patch of earth free from snow. Most of these nests are destroyed by the storms but some do survive and the farm boy coming out to do his spring field work, finds a half grown young bird hopping about, at a time when most of the other birds have not yet returned from the south. Close to 80 per cent of this bird's food consists of weed seeds, says the U. S. Biological Survey. In the summer months over 20 per cent of its food consists of insects so its dollar and cents value to the farmer mounts up in an astonishing manner, when the number of birds are considered. The February issue of Successful Farming Magazine has its front cover decorated with a full size painting of this very common yet little known bird, the prairie horned lark.

MAIL IS CONFUSED BY PHILADELPHIAS

Philadelphia.—"Missent to Philadelphia, Pa."

That sentence comes regularly in the morning mail of the residents of six cities in the United States—the other six Philadelphias, writes a Philadelphia United Press correspondent.

"Cities of Brotherly Love" are in Mississippi, New York, Tennessee, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri. There are New Philadelphias in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana, also Philadelphia Road, Ohio, and Philadelphia Point, Me.

Although the Mother City has a population of 2,000,000, and the third largest in the nation, a Mississippi city of 2,300 people is its largest namesake.

Next largest is Philadelphia, N. Y., which has a population of 817. Founded by members of the Society of Friends, it can also lay claim to the title of Quaker City.

New Philadelphia, Ohio, is much larger, having 12,365 citizens, and the Mother City's smallest Pennsylvania edition boasts a population of 2,537.

But large or small, there are times when residents of the other Philadelphias wish their towns had different names so that there would be less difficulty with the mail.

GET your GREENS

WHETHER you play a nine-hole course or eat a nine-course dinner, it is most important that you get your greens. Fairways are pleasant indeed, but once you get to the green—it's more than pleasant. It's exhilarating!

It is most important that you get your greens in your diet so that on the course or on the job, you have that feeling of exhilaration. Greens put iron into your blood and pep into your system. They give you that get-going urge which modern living demands.

Spinach, For Example

Canned greens contain plenty of nutriment. If you like to save the time and effort of cleaning fresh spinach, for instance, open a can of it and you will find that the color, flavor and nutritive value compare favorably with that of the fresh. And, certainly, it is much better than so-called fresh spinach which has lost its food value and flavor by being packed and wilted in a bushel basket.

Perhaps you like to get your greens in delicious combinations. Here are some excellent ways:

Baked Spinach and Eggs: Drain and chop the contents of one No. 2½ can of spinach, reserving the juice for soup. Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, one and one-half tablespoons flour, one cup of milk and a little salt. Add three hard-cooked chopped eggs. Put alternate layers of spinach and sauce in a buttered baking dish. Cover with one-half cup of buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven. This serves six persons.

Spinach Souffle: Make a cheese sauce of three tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour, one-half cup evaporated milk, three-fourths cup water, one-third cup grated cheese and salt and pepper to taste. Add two beaten egg yolks. Then add the contents of one No. 2½ can of spinach which has been well-drained and chopped. Fold in two stiffly-beaten egg whites. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a slow oven—350 degrees—for twenty to thirty minutes. Serve at once. This serves eight persons.

Radium Practically Indestructible

Radium, unlike its product, radon, is practically indestructible. Scientists declare that it requires 1,730 years for radium to lose half its strength, and 19,000 years to lose it all. It is not affected by extremes of heat or cold nor by pressure.

For Your Cook Book

Baked Rice Custard

Add one-half cup of washed rice to one quart of boiling salted water. Use one-fourth of a teaspoon of salt for the quart of water. Cook until the rice is thoroughly swollen, then drain and wash off the excess starch. Place the rice in a shallow baking dish and add one cup of milk, one beaten egg, four tablespoons of melted butter, one-fourth of a cup of sugar and one-fourth teaspoon of grated nutmeg, all mixed together. Bake in a 275-deg. Fahrenheit oven until the custard is set.

It is better to serve the custard from the dish in which it is baked to keep from marring its appearance. It may be served plain or with cream or whipped cream. It is good either hot or cold.

Butterscotch Rice Bavarian

Soak one tablespoon of plain gelatin in one-fourth of a cup of cold milk. Dissolve the gelatin in one and one-half cups of hot milk. Add two cups of cooked rice, one cup of brown sugar, two tablespoons of butter, melted, and one-half teaspoon of salt. Fold in one teaspoon vanilla, one cup of nut meats and one cup of whipped cream. Turn into a wet mold and chill. Unmold and serve with butterscotch sauce or whipped cream flavored with maple sirup.

Cheese, Macaroni Fondue

Two tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, ½ cup cheese, 2 tablespoons catsup, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 2 egg yolks, 2 cups cooked macaroni, 2 egg whites, beaten. Melt butter and add flour. When mixed, add milk and cheese, cook slowly and stir constantly until sauce forms. Add rest of ingredients, mix lightly and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake 35 minutes in moderately slow oven. Serve in dish in which baked.

Graham Muffins

Two-thirds cup flour, ⅓ cup Graham flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspon salt, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, 2 tablespoons fat, melted. Mix ingredients and beat well. Half fill greased pans and bake 15 minutes in moderate oven. If the muffins are made the first part of breakfast preparation, they will be ready to serve when the rest of the food is ready. Makes eight.

Lemon Pie

One-half cup sugar, a pinch of salt, two teaspoons cornstarch, yolks of two eggs, juice of one lemon and some of the rind, the juice of half an orange and some rind, grated; one cup boiling water. Mix the first six ingredients together, then add the boiling water slowly. Stir until smooth, put on the fire and stir until it thickens. Pour into a baked pie shell, cover with meringue made from the stiffly beaten egg whites with two tablespoons of sugar added, and brown in a slow oven.

Bermuda Auto Ban

Except for a few trucks, motor cars have been prohibited in Bermuda since 1908, after a series of petitions from residents had brought about the ban. One of these, signed by 112 American hotel guests, bore the signatures of Woodrow Wilson, Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) and Rear Admiral Upshur, U. S. N. Woodrow Wilson worded the petition.

Early Washington Birthdays

GEORGE WASHINGTON never occupied the White House. His executive mansions were temporary, and shifted from New York to Philadelphia while the White House was still a dream, observes a writer in the New York Times. Only his name, plus that dream, which was his, went to the city on the Potomac.

But in the stress of the formative years he was remembered with widespread festivities at his first birthday after his inauguration. Indeed, the anniversary had been hailed even earlier, since the first President was a national hero long before he grasped the reins of government.

Ragged soldiers had piped him a pathetic birthday tune at Valley Forge on the bitter February day that closed his forty-sixth year. Fellow-Virginians had trod a birthday measure at Richmond in 1781. Maryland and New York had toasted him when he was forty-nine and, already in sight of success for his arms and for his country. Frenchmen who had served by his side seized the opportunity of rejoicing convivially over the anniversary of his birth in 1784, when the hostilities and the British evacuation were both in the past. Young men who had been privileged to visit him in his famous campaign tent organized birthday honors fit for a hero; and in that first February of the new era, the celebrations first began to resemble real occasions.

In Alexandria, Va., the town nearest to the General's stately mansion, the birthnight ball was inaugurated an annual affair. In Philadelphia patriots celebrated "with that hilarity and manly decorum ever attendant on the sons of freedom." In New York there met "a select club of Whigs," and drank to Washington, and hailed him with song and sonnet and declamation.

The date thus far widely honored was February 11. Washington was born on February 11, 1732, according to the British calendar usage then officially in vogue. Nineteen years later, Britain adopted the Georgian in place of the Julian calendar. But the ancient dates often stuck, and it is not until 1790 that we find Washington's birthday—his first as President—being celebrated on the twenty-second of February instead of the eleventh by the Tammany society of New York.

Tammany in 1790 was patriotic, antiaristocratic, charitable and ambitious. As yet it did not differentiate between President Washington, its adopted "Great Grand Sachem," and the second of those characteristics. In this, the initial year of government under the new Constitution, New York strove to honor the Chief Executive and also to persuade the congress that had come to reside in its midst that New York city was the logical choice for a permanent capital.

Washington himself was busy in New York on that February 22. He was moving from the Franklin house, at the corner of Cherry and Pearl streets, to the McComb mansion on Broadway, near the newly rebuilt Trinity church. His diary for the day reveals him as an active superintendent of the disposal of his furniture.

In 1791, the Society of the Cincinnati held its first Washington's birthday celebration in New York, having followed Tammany's example by resolving to mark the date each year. The President and the congress (and also the capital of the United States) had meanwhile removed temporarily to Philadelphia. But even New York's disappointment did not prevent Tammany from vying with the exclusive organization of Revolutionary officers to do honor to the day.

Alas, the good feeling did not endure. By 1796, after John Jay had come back from England with his hated treaty, Tammany was fiercely for revolutionary France; Jefferson was its god; George Washington was actually being dubbed, in public, a pro-English aristocrat; and those who celebrated his birthday were coldly accused of being (among other things) bootlickers, idolators, Royalists and sycophants. The country-wide birthday honors of that year, though even more lavish and vociferous than usual, presented for the first time the ogre of party, grinning at the feast.

By 1797, however, the Jay treaty was being regarded much more tolerantly, and certain French proceedings were being looked at a little askance. Those who refused to salute Washington on February 22, to honor a glorious record for its own sake, and to tread a measure at the evening's gala assemblies, now formed a rather conspicuous minority.

George Washington became a private citizen in that year, and was with his Alexandria neighbors at their birthnight ball of February 22, 1798—an onlooker, though, he had excelled in the minuet.

There was to be only one more birthday for a living Washington to adorn. He spent that one at home at Mount Vernon, presiding over a particularly joyous occasion. His adopted daughter, his pet, Nelly Custis, was being married to his favorite nephew, Maj. Lawrence Lewis.

The radiance went out of Mount Vernon in December of 1799 and the birthday festivities the country over were turned into mourning processions when 1800 brought the anniversary around once more. This February 22 was a universal requiem. The armlets and headbands with Washington's picture were black where once they had been gayly hued.

Throughout the country business was suspended for 24 hours. Theaters, taverns, public halls, schoolrooms and college auditoriums, village greens and parks as well as churches were given over to exercises, meetings and processions expressive of the deepest grief.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Wedding

First Teacher Here in 1890

On a mellow September afternoon back in 1890 two charming young women met on the board sidewalk on Thief River Falls' main street and engaged in animated conversation. They were dressed in the fashion of the day and in that frontier atmosphere represent the style and culture of the "civilized world". For Thief River Falls then was a frontier town without a railroad and with a trading post as its largest mercantile establishment.

The young women were school teachers and had that day opened the first schools in the village. There had been a rural school in the neighborhood but in the fall of 1890 the village established a school system of its own. The teachers were Miss Helen Wallin and Miss Helen Davies. Recently the writer interviewed Miss Helen Davies, prominent North Dakota educator and now associated with the University of North Dakota. Miss Davies' appearance makes it at once evident to an interviewer that she was very, very young when she began teaching in Thief River Falls in 1890.

"Yes," she said, "I remember very well that first day of school in Thief River Falls. I had just been graduated from the St. Cloud normal school and was ready to conquer the world as an educator. Miss Wallin, whose parents lived in the town, had the lower grades in the little old rural school building, the location of which I can not definitely fix and I taught the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and some high school students."

The writer showed Miss Davies notes from the anniversary number of the Times, published Oct. 6, 1932, in which it is explained that her school building was the first in the city, "which had been moved from the grove at the west end of the bridge to a location about where the Val Yager home now is located."

"I remember the building and the surroundings, of course," Miss Davies explained, "but I couldn't describe the location with references to changes since. I had about 25 pupils and Miss Wallin, I believe, had considerably more." The anniversary number fixes the enrollments in March, 1891, as 25 in Miss Davies' room and 44 in Miss Wallin's.

The first year Miss Davies boarded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Gibb. Mr. Gibb was a harness-maker. "Their home was very pleasant and I recall my stay there as an enjoyable experience. I was a young girl and they seemed to know just how to make life in their home attractive for me. The children were all well-behaved and I do not remember having any trouble with any of them. Naturally Miss Wallin and I were chummy. She was a tall, slender, attractive girl and very much interested in her school work, as was I."

The two teachers were hired for the next year and soon after school opened the railroad was built to the village, the first train arriving in October. Miss Davies recalls that so many people came in within the next few weeks that more space for pupils had to be found. Two more teachers were employed and the Methodist church and a room in the rear part of a store building were requisitioned. That year, too, the school board make a ruling permitting acceptance of one Indian pupil in each grade.

Miss Davies smiled as she recalled those Indian pupils. "As I had five grades I had five Indians, all girls, in my room. They were friendly, eager youngsters but they certainly had an eye for style. I kept abreast of the styles as well as I could myself and I soon noticed that the Indian girls would copy my style of hair-dressing. I would appear with a different style coiffure every day for a while just to see what the girls would do about it. But, with the grim determination of the Indian, they would copy the style carefully—and they made excellent work of it, too."

The former teacher named William Lander, a miller, was a member of the first school board. She wrote her application for the school, she said, on the stationery of the Y. W. C. A. organization of the St. Cloud normal school. The letter-head bore her name as president of the organization. "That's all I wanted to know", she quoted Mr. Lander as saying: "I know you were the kind of girl we needed."

Miss Davies after all these years is particularly impressed with the caliber of the pioneer citizenry of the village. She remembered the Arnths, Gibb, Stebbins (with whom she boarded the second year), Zeh, Kretzschmar, Robbecke and Murray families, but explained that there were many others whose names she could not recall. There were good times during those school months in the new town and the young teachers enjoyed them and undoubtedly helped to make them pleasant for others, especially young men. The former teacher remembered incidents and activities pertaining to other phases of pioneer life here which we plan to present in another article.

SALESMAN USES SAMPLES TO KEEP WARM IN SNOW

Detroit Lakes.—A harrowing night for a women's apparel firm salesman, Fred McLachlan, Detroit Lakes, was spent in a snow drift at 20 degrees below zero when he found his car stalled out in the country with no help at hand. McLachlan was driving to Aberdeen when a blizzard overtook him. Marooned in a huge snowdrift, he was forced to spend the entire night in his automobile, help arriving at 11 a. m. the next day. In order to keep from freezing, McLachlan stacked his sample cases on one side of the car and stuffed ladies' dresses between them to keep out the wind. Then he wrapped other goods he carried with him and managed to keep comfortably warm thruout the entire night. At hour intervals, he ran the motor for 15 minutes, conserving his gasoline in case help did not arrive soon, but warming up the heater enough to help considerably. He suffered no ill effects of the exposure, other than being "chilled" for days.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

It is about a century and a half since our government, in its present form, was organized, and the fact that it has survived so many difficulties during that long period of time is due in no small measure to the good start it got under the leadership of George Washington, the first President. Washington probably could have made himself the ruler of the colonies. Had he been the vainglorious type, greedy for power, the history of our nation might have been different. But in accepting his commission as commander-in-chief of the revolutionary army and later the Presidency of the reorganized government he yielded, against his own choice, to the wishes of his fellow citizens. The power that was reposed in him he voluntarily relinquished. After holding the office of President eight years he retired from public life in order to establish a precedent which he thought advisable in a democracy. Citizens of this country might well pause on the anniversary of his birth to consider the service he rendered and the wholesome influence which his fine example has been on the nation's leaders throughout the succeeding generations.

PRINTING PRESS MONEY

We sometimes wonder if the advocates of currency inflation have given any serious thought to the dangers involved in the program they are trying to foist upon the United States. Everyone should know that it is strong medicine. And no reputable doctor will prescribe it. Like other intoxicants, it does provide a temporary relief from distressing problems, but it always leaves the patient with that morning-after headache and a bottom-of-a-bird-cage taste. There are many examples of its shortcomings. In recent years several European countries have tried it, and the results have always been uniformly bad. The best argument against printing press money is the fact that in all of Europe not a single country is trying to solve its problems by this method. Because they have learned by and experience the futility of such a scheme. In small doses, such as the quacks recommend, the results might not be disastrous. But one drink leads to a second, and a second calls for a third. This part of the process is pleasant. It's the sobering up that hurts and a nation, like an individual, can't stay drunk indefinitely.

ABE MUST HAVE CHUCKLED

If he was "listening in", Abe Lincoln must have gotten a few chuckles out of the things that were said about him on the occasion of his birthday last week. Politicians on both sides of every question were proving themselves right by what Honest Abe had said and done.

Of course we are not certain, but in all probability Lincoln, if he lived today, would not be any more popular than he was eighty years ago. People didn't rate him very highly when he lived. A few of his friends, some of them influential, recognized his ability, but he was a dark horse candidate in the convention that nominated him for the Presidency and in the following election he was a minority winner, elected because his opposition was divided. In that election he didn't even carry his own county.

We haven't read all of Lincoln's speeches but in none of those we have read have we been able to find any similarity to the great popular speeches of today. For one thing, Lincoln didn't call his opposition vile names and accuse them of having base motives. On the contrary he was generally quite generous with his opponents, trying to win them over to his views by the soundness of his own logic rather than by attempts to discredit them as public enemies.

If Lincoln had any one outstanding characteristic it was the moderation of his attitude toward any problem. For instance in his temperance speeches he offended both the wets and the drys. And no man who would dare to offend all of his listeners could hope to have great popular support; Lincoln was not a demogogue.

As President, his cabinet was not made up of a group of "yes" men. As a matter of fact, some of his most bitter opposition came from the very men he selected to advise him. He seemed to welcome this opposition as a necessary balance wheel to keep him in a true course.

And so, from what we have read of Abe Lincoln, we are quite convinced that if he were alive today he would not be particularly popular with any group. He would stand alone now as he stood alone then, carefully weighing the good and the bad in every proposition, unyielding to the pressure of both the classes and the masses, and advocating a course recommended by moderation and common sense.

People are rapidly becoming "better-homes" conscious, and judging from the interest there is in modern home improvements and conveniences, we are entering upon another era of building. This is not a purely local condition. The interest evidently is nation wide. If building costs can be kept within reasonable limits and people are given some assurance that their property is not going to be taxed away from them, building activity will do much to restore normal conditions in the country.

The Supreme Court has now declared in favor of the government's TVA program and there is rejoicing in the camp of the New Dealers. The question involved in the particular case considered by the court limited the scope of the decision. The court held that the government did have a right to build dams for constitutional purposes and could sell the power available from such dams, owning the transmission lines necessary to such sale. The question of whether or not the government could build dams for the specific purpose of generating and selling power was not decided and therefore is still an open question. The decision, however, should do much to restore confidence in the Court among those who have felt that the Justices have been unfair to the New Deal.

The Liggett murder is still unsolved but until they actually put a bounty on editors we are not going to worry.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN

(Dawson Sentinel)

Some enlightening statistics have been produced by a South Dakota statistician who endeavored to figure out how the Townsend plan would work if adopted and financed by that individual state. He found that South Dakota had 55,000 persons over 60 years of age, and thus entitled to the $200 per month. This, together with the cost of operation, would be something like $132,000,000 annually. But let the statistician tell the rest of the story. He says:

"The amount required each year to pay the proposed pensions is more than four times greater than all of the deposits in all of the state banks; it is four times greater than all the taxes paid in the state in 1935; it is $35,000,000 greater than the total value of all the crops produced in the state last year; it is three times greater than the state government's total debt; it is nearly equal to the total retail sales in the state last year; if the $132,000,000 in pensions were spent entirely within South Dakota each year and the whole amount added to the present retail sales it would make a total of $282,000,000 in retail sales which with a 2 per cent sales tax would return only $5,640,000 annually or slightly more than half of the amount required to pay the pensions for a single month. To produce the revenue necessary to pay the pensions present retail sales would have to be increased 4,400 per cent."

To which Herb Hutaling of the Mapleton Enterprise adds: "Politicians are pledging themselves to this mirage for no other reason than to secure re-election. They know it is impossible and they know it never will be enacted into law. Why be hypocritical?"

CONSTITUTION AND THE COURT

(St. Cloud Sentinel)

It is interesting, in view of the general discussion of the recent decisions of the Supreme Court declaring certain acts of Congress unconstitutional, to look at the record. In all of the nation's history, the Supreme Court has passed on 24,300 public laws which had been challenged as being beyond the power of Congress under the Constitution, and has upheld Congress in all but 74 cases, involving 62 laws, David Lawrence reports in his United States News.

In the first 72 years of the Republic, down to President Lincoln's administration, only three acts of Congress were held invalid by the Supreme Court. The two Grant administrations hold the record so far, 14 of their laws having been reversed. In the two administrations of Woodrow Wilson twelve laws were passed by Congress which failed to meet the constitutional test. In Mr. McKinley's administration there were six, in those of Lincoln and of Theodore Roosevelt, five each, in the Johnson, Harding and Coolidge administrations four each, and the same number in two Cleveland administrations, while acts of the Taft regime were reversed, in three instances, and one of those enacted when Benjamin Harrison was President met a like fate. The record of the present administration of reversals of its acts on constitutional grounds is ten.

On the whole, the record of the Supreme Court throughout its history, in sustaining Congress in more than 24,000 cases in which the power of the legislative arm of Government was challenged, and overruling it in only one case out of every 350, does not seem to furnish very solid ground in which to demand either the abolition of the judicial branch of our system, or the imposition of restrictions upon it.

Recent events have focused public attention upon the structure of the federal government as one of delegated powers, which may not be overstepped without further authority from the states and the people. The right of the people to change the system and the precise means whereby that may be done are set forth in the Constitution itself.

TRIBUTE TO MOTHER-IN-LAW

(Will T. Beck in Holton, Kan., Recorder)

Last week I lost by death a mother-in-law who had lived in our household for the past 13 years. I can say that not one of the cruel jibes that are jocularly aimed at mothers-in-law applied to her. I can further attest that the many kindly estimates of her friendliness and grace of manner and soul made by her friends and pastors when she was laid to rest, were not exaggerated. To my notion, Mrs. McLaughlin was the ideal mother-in-law. Through all the years she was an honored guest in our home, because by her gentleness, her tolerance, her patience, her co-operation, she seemed to compel the respect and love of children and grandchildren. She made it a practice to retire to her room at noon, for she surmised the husband and wife might want to talk intimately and be alone during the midday hour. Without loss of her rights or her dignity, she practiced self-effacement in a home into which circumstances transplanted her late in life, yet her charm always made her a welcome addition to any social or family activity.

AN INSULT TO CONGRESS

(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

Congress got good and mad this past week.

The president said that Congress passed the bonus. It must provide some taxes to meet it.

Congress had not thought that far or did not wish to think about taxes. Expenditures will be popular with the people in the coming election. Taxes will be unpopular.

While we are on the subject there are quite a few congressmen who should be elected to stay at home. It would be good for the country.

How soon we adapt ourselves to modern methods. We ridiculed the idea of buying sliced bread. The idea of having to have the baker slice our bread! But we have learned that the baker's slices are uniform and just the right thickness. No more "good step-mother" slices 1½ inches thick. Now some housewives would send the loaf back if it were not sliced.—Springfield Advance Press.

The frequency with which the words, "a billion dollars," have been bandied about the last few years might lead one to believe that a billion isn't a very large sum of money. Some idea of what a billion dollars really is may be gained from this illustration: A man with a $5,000 annual income would have to work 200,000 years to earn a billion dollars, or it would require 200,000 men working a year at an annual salary of $5,000 to earn a billion dollars.—Heron Lake News.

MODERN VEHICLE HAS ALL LATE IMPROVEMENTS

Worthington.—A new vehicle has made its appearance in Nobles county which is strictly up to date with knee action, floating power, a miser on gas mileage, practically steers itself, and with flat tires unknown. It is fully equipped with a heater and a full sedan body. Arnold Schulz, farmer near Worthington, admits it is a little slow, with a cruising speed of about four or five miles per hour, but offsets this disadvantage by the fact that it can get into town without being stuck, which is more than some of those 80-mile-an-hour beauties can do until the snow plows have gotten in their work. Seriously, the novel outfit is a strictly home-made affair, consisting of a sturdy bob-sled powered by a phlegmatic farm team, the novelty lying in it being equipped with an old sedan body purchased from the junk heap of a garage. Schulz has removed the lid of a cowl ventilator, and drives the team by drawing the lines thru the opening. Heat is furnished by a coal oil heater in the rear compartment.

The Romans imported their dancers from Cadiz, and Spain is still the dance land of the Mediterranean. With castanets, rhythmic handclapping and stamping of feet, Spanish dancers still cast a spell over all visitors.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

When You See a Wimpuss—

A WIMPUSS, according to Austin Butcher, editor of the Altoona (Kan.) Tribune, is a rare animal which grows about as big as a boogie-bug, but it has a long tail like a collywop and wings like a bearcat. It lives in the top of high trees, whence it flies down to attack defenseless travelers. However, no harm is to be feared from a wimpuss if you know what to do when you see one coming.

It is folly to shoot at one, for a wimpuss catches bullets in its teeth and eats them. The only way to do when one comes at you is to take a piece of cheese, either Edam or Swiss, and tack it securely on a waterfall. The wimpuss makes a swoop at the cheese and gets mixed up with the waterfall and gets its feet wet.

It makes a wimpuss mad as all get-out when he gets his feet wet. So he hunts around for a nice piece of grass to dry them on. The minute the wimpuss lights on the grass, the hunter rushes at him and ties his tail in a double bow knot. When a wimpuss has his tail tied in a double bow knot he is gone, because when he flies he always ducks his head under his body to see who is following him. In doing this he gets his head caught in the double knot and chokes himself to death.

Letters duplicated to other local newspapers are not desired.

Thief River Falls Times
Dear Editor:

In the Feb. 13, 1936 issue of your paper you carry a news item which is Governor Olson's reply to a statement I made in reference to my resolution to investigate certain charges that have been made against our state and public officers. On Feb. 6th, I gave a statement to the press taking exceptions to statements that the governor made in reference to charges that had been made. He stated that the leaders of the legislature scoffed at these charges, this is not the truth. In my first statement to the press I gave the reasons why the investigation was not allowed.

Since you did not give the readers of your paper the chance to read them nor my reply to the governor I would like to have space through your public opinion columns for a few remarks as to what my statements were. The public have not been correctly informed as to the statement I made nor to my reply to the governors answer. The St. Paul Pioneer press is the only paper that carried it in full detail, while the Minneapolis papers printed parts of my first statement, they did not give me any publicity on my answer. For my own good and as information for the good of the public, I would like to make a few statements.

In my first statement I said that the investigation was not pushed by the leaders because they felt that it would take too much time and money to go into all these charges and that to impeach the governor while he was sick in bed helpless would make a martyr out of him.

In replying to the governor's statements I said that I introduced the resolution for the investigation for the 13th of December, the 9th day of the session and it happened to be the day Mr. Liggett was buried. Altho there are many charges that have been made I did only refer to those that had been made openly. I further stated that I felt that the governor had violated his oath of office in the Strutwear strike and that was grounds for impeachment. The federal courts have since upheld my contention.

When charges have been made that our government is in the hands of murders and racketeers and this is being spread in the papers outside of our state. I feel that we should have moral courage enough to look into such charges and this for the good of all concerned. I don't feel that we should play politics with human misery.

It ill behooves the Governor to come out and use bad names and refer to my election contest which he knows nothing about, because he never saw the disputed ballots, which the elections committee of the House went into thoroughly. This committee voted unanimously in my favor with one member refusing to vote.

However, two of these members belonging to the Governor's group switched their votes on the floor of the House. I can see no reason for this except that there must have been pressure brought on them, especially since one of them came out for me emphatically in the committee. Now I wonder if the Governor's remarks were not made for the purpose of belittling my efforts in behalf of establishing good government. I say this especially since the Governor did not raise his objections to the seating of Dr. H. C. LaBissoniere, who was defeated by 62 votes in the 1932 election.

Citadel Begun in 1176 A. D.

The citadel of a gigantic fortress which once commanded the entrance to Cairo, Egypt, from the Mokattam hills, was begun in 1176, A. D. by the famous Sultan Saladin, who repeatedly defeated the crusaders, but at last was killed in a battle with them. It was constructed, according to Arab historians, of stones taken from the smaller pyramids of Giza. The Mohammed Ali Mosque which is built on the Citadel, was begun in 1824 by Mohammed Ali, great-grandfather of King Fuad of Egypt, and completed about 20 years later.

Farm and Implement News

Farm Automobile and Truck Show

In line with "THE FARMER" and cooperating with the St. Paul farm paper publication, we extend our greetings to all farmers at this time, inviting you to come to our new show room and see the new, 1936 models of the very latest developments, improvements in beauty, construction and quality automobiles and trucks.

We believe the idea promoted by the "FARMER" is very good, that at least one week in the year be set aside as special farm week for showing and demonstrating the latest models in motor vehicles as this will give all farmers, young and old, men and women, boys and girls of the farm a better chance to learn just what is the very latest and the advantages of these new developments in motor vehicles, automobiles and trucks.

We therefore make special reservations and preparations for the next ten days to give special attention to all farm folks to give you our special attention when you call at our show room to learn of the new beautiful automobiles and trucks we have on display.

We are very much pleased with the new models and shall be very happy to show you and tell you about all details, which we believe will be of much interest to most all farm folks.

We have on display the NEW NASH, LAFAYETTE, CHRYSLER and PLYMOUTH AUTOMOBILES. With several models of 1936 INTERNATIONAL motor TRUCKS.

To all our friends of the farm, we make this a special invitation to you. See and learn to know our new 1936 model motor vehicles.

Then too, do not forget March 19, 20 and 21st. That's the days of our celebration and anniversary. We want you to be with us.

Conservation Commission Authorizes Deer Removal

The Minnesota Conservation Commission last week authorized removal of deer from Itasca park, removal of rough fish from Big Stone lake, and closing of fish-spearing until the regular fishing season opens in spring.

Itasca deer are being removed in spite of the objection of residents of Park Rapids and vicinity. Members of the Commission pointed out that many of the deer were starving to death because of an insufficient food supply and that artificial feeding is not a solution of the problem. The scarcity of natural food forced the deer to browse on young trees, thus doing considerable harm to forest reproduction. It was explained that in removing the deer the department of conservation was following a precedent already set by other states. Trapping and removing the deer will be carried on as a WPA project.

The Commission unanimously adopted a resolution permitting rough fish to be removed from Big Stone lake, although a number of petitions opposing the project had been received. Commissioner E. V. Willard and George Weaver, superintendent of fisheries, said that test hauls had indicated the presence of many carp and other rough fish in the lake, and that the action taken was essential in order to save the game fish.

In order to protect pickerel and wall-eyed pike, the Commission urged Governor Olson to issue an executive order prohibiting fish-spearing for the remainder of the winter. The action was advocated by Dr. Thaddeus Surber, director of fish propagation, who contended that greater protection is necessary for fish while bearing spawn.

Considering the question of continuing conservation pageants, the Conservation Commission agreed that deficits up to $2,000 incurred in presenting the pageants must be underwritten by the communities concerned.

Those Tiny Glands Called "Endocrine" Govern Our Lives

Glands of internal secretion are so amazingly potent that the products poured into the blood stream by some of them exert effects on us when they are present in amounts as small as one part in a billion, Dr. Irvine McQuarrie, head of the department of pediatrics in the University of Minnesota medical school told his audience in a recent lecture.

Progress in understanding the endocrine glands, or glands of internal secretion, is now so rapid among medical investigators, he said, that continuation of its present rate for a century would produce unbelievable advances in our understanding and control of the chemical factors in human health and living.

There are about twenty-five such glands, and Dr. McQuarrie estimated that science has learned about half, or perhaps a little more than half, of what it needs to know about these parts of the body.

"Chemical regulators of life" was the description he gave them, saying that on their effective functioning depend those parts of life that are most important, such as feelings of well being, a happy attitude toward life, interest in the opposite sex, and normal bodily and mental, as well as emotional, development.

Growth, gigantism and dwarfism, ability to assimilate and store important elements in our food and mental development are other phases of life that depend on the bodily chemical balance that comes from the introduction of tiny amounts of secretion from the endocrine, or internally-secreting glands, the Minnesota research worker declared.

Dr. McQuarrie heads the department of pediatrics, dealing with the ailments of children, which has at its disposal the childrens hospital given to the University of Minnesota by the late William Henry Eustis.

Millions of Meteors

It is estimated that millions of meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every 24 hours; most of them are very small. They travel, however, at a high rate of speed, and were it not for the protection afforded by the earth's atmosphere they might prove a serious menace. Because of the terrific speed at which they move, according to a writer in the Washington Star, meteors are heated to incandescence by the resistance and friction of the air and all but a few of exceptionally large size are completely dissipated. Very large meteors, or meteorites, as they are called if they fall to the earth's surface, occasionally cause death.

CALAMITY

"So your matrimonial life was very unhappy. What was the trouble? December welded to May?"
"Lan' sake no, mam. It was labor day welded to de day ob rest."

JUST LIKE 'EM

"My husband was so irritable the doctor told him he had better take a vacation, and when he said he couldn't, Doc said, then I had better take one. Ain't doctors funny?"

OR SOMETHING

"Jack talks beautifully."
"How's that?"
"Says that after marriage I shall be a ministering angel to him."
"That sounds as if you'll have to carry in his breakfast."

GOOD START

"You started life as a poor man?"
"Yes. And there was some advantage in the fact. I didn't have to take time away from my regular business to figure on my taxes."

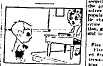
TOTES THINGS

"Mr. Spider is a lucky guy, all right."
"How's that?"
"Well, you know he's a suburbanite, and those arms come in mighty handy when his wife does her town shopping."

OFF THE TABLE

"You don't seem to take as much exercise as you used to."
"No, exercise gives me a big appetite and I can't afford it."

TOMMY'S SMART BOY



Teacher — Tommy, what plant flourishes in excessive heat?
Tommy—Ice plants.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

A report of the Division of Women and Children, Industrial Commission, for the month ending February 1, indicates that during this period nine firms were prosecuted for violations of various labor laws relating to the employment of women and minors. The prosecutions occurred in Minneapolis, Duluth and Albert Lea. In a classification of the violations, six relate to illegal employment of minors in night clubs in Minneapolis, while three were for employment of women in excess of 54 hours per week.

A decision handed down by Associate Justice Royal A. Stone of the Minnesota Supreme Court in the absence of Chief Justice Devaney strikes a severe blow at the security of school teachers in this state. The judge interpreted the law which says that no school board may discharge a teacher except for cause to mean that the interpretation of "cause" was entirely up to the school board. "The board must determine the question of cause", the judge said, leaving the door open for capricious and arbitrary actions on the part of intolerant members.

While many farmers who produced pork and beef on the hoof found 1935 a difficult enough year to make ends meet, Armour & Company reports a net profit of almost $10,000,000, after paying all charges, including large salaries to ninth assistant vice-presidents in charge of winding clocks.

Senator Elmer A. Benson, who served with the boys over seas, declares that he will use the $900 which he has coming on his bonus to buy a farm. Not a bad idea with land as cheap as it will ever be.

Bertie McCormick, who was born as a pampered darling of the old Czar's court in Russia, and who has since run the Chicago Tribune in a city that is world notorious for its gangsters and hoodlums, received a rebuff from the Minneapolis Journal the other day. He was told in polite language that it is bad form for a pot to call the kettle black, and that people should clean off their own doorsteps.

Bertie is now engaged in a journalistic effort to blacken the name of Minneapolis, but it is not Minneapolis nor its crime problem as such that interests him. He is after Governor Olson, and he sees in the Minneapolis situation a chance to injure a liberal political movement which he fears will sweep the country eventually—and sweep out of power those who are merely puppets of Big Business control. Knowing that mobsters in his own city will "bump off" a person for $10 or up, one would indeed have to be very unsophisticated to believe that Bertie is really shocked by what Mill City gangsters do. He is playing politics according to his own light—in accordance with the only rules that he knows.

Good Government Week, such as tried out in Minneapolis, must have a wholesome effect when the various participating groups are sincere and have no political axes to grind. Unquestionably, some good will result to Minneapolis. Although some individuals and groups interested in Good Government Week were concerned more with politics than in efficient law enforcement, the great majority had the good of the community at heart.

But when it comes to crime, we seem afraid to go to its causes—and this fact impairs seriously the effectiveness of any campaign aimed at curbing lawlessness.

For example, there would be no houses of ill fame if the owners of property, many of whom take active part in Good Government movements, would refuse to rent their property to be used for that purpose. The claim of ignorance on the part of property owners as to the purposes their property is being put to can hardly be accepted. Likewise, there would be no gambling if the bankers would refuse loans on property used as gambling houses. There would be no "cutting plants", no violation of closing hours, no young hostesses in beer parlors if it were not for the "upper lords" would make a profit on it. The underworld gets its example from the overworld of bankers and buccaneering financiers.

Ever since the depression, the groups backing Good Government movements have failed to offer a real program which would reduce crime and take people off relief. Crime is caused chiefly by broken homes and economic difficulties. People on relief should be given a chance to work. We must have a program that would give them work, make them self-supporting and self-respecting.

Good government cannot be obtained until we have good living conditions for the majority of our citizens. If they have economic security and freedom from want the problem of good government solves itself. If one third of our population are dependent on public charity, we will always have crime waves, houses of prostitution, gambling, and crime in high and low places.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Slaughter steers predominated in the Monday cattle run, supplies including a generous number of natives and about thirty cars of Canadians. Most bids and sales on killer steers was about 25c lower than Friday. Plain and medium grades cashed at $6.00-7.25, better short-feds $7.50-8.00. She stock sold steady to weak, medium to good butcher heifers $6.00-7.50, a load of good 865 lb. native fed heifers $8.00, common lights down to $5.00. Beef cows made $5.25-6.25, low cutters and cutters $4.00-5.00. Bulls were about steady, medium grades largely $5.75-6.60, thin lights down to $5.25. Vealers were weak to 50c lower, good and choice $9.00-11.50, medium and common $6.50-8.50. Good light mixed yearlings, sold on stocker account at $6.50.

Hogs were 10-25c higher than Saturday, shippers buying freely. Better 160-220 lb. hogs cleared at $10.10-10.45, 220-260 lb. $9.90-10.35, 260-300 lb. $9.75-10.00, light light $9.75-10.25, pigs $9.25-9.75, sows mostly $8.90-9.00, good stags $8.25-8.75.

Trade opened very slowly on fat lambs, and weak to 25c lower in line with trends at outside points. Good to choice lambs sold at $9.75, common and medium $7.75-9.00. One load of fed ewes sold strong to slightly higher at $4.75, a few fat natives steady at $4.00-4.50, common ewes down to $3.00, culls down to $2.00.

The Atlantic Cable

The various submarine cables are specially constructed ropes of wire, hemp and gutta percha. The original Atlantic cable was composed of seven copper wires encased in gutta percha, covering in turn was surrounded by a covering of hemp saturated with oil, pitch and beeswax, the whole being protected by an outer sheath composed of 18 strands of seven iron wires each. While cable construction has improved greatly, the transmitting wires of copper are still twisted together, enclosed in rubber and jute wrapping and protected by stronger galvanized wire with an outer wrapping of jute.

Origin of "Plus Fours"

The term "plus fours" has nothing to do with golf terminology, but originated from the Guard's regiment in England. The men in the rank and file of the regiment wore puttees and straight trousers which were pulled up to the top of the puttees, held in tightly and rolled, so that the trouser draped down over the calf of the leg. The order from upper quarters was that the trousers must be "pinned four inches over the top of the puttee." The officers, wishing to be more distinguished, had knickerbocker breeches made to give the same effect with more flare, and were eventually dubbed "plus fours."

SUPREME COURT O. K.S TENNESSEE VALLEY PROJECT

Government Has Right to Sell Surplus Power, Court Holds

The new deal Monday won the approval of the supreme court for its giant navigation, power and flood control project under the TVA in the Tennessee valley. The vote was 8 to 1, Justice McReynolds dissenting.

The court's opinion was in terms general enough to indicate it approved future development of the potential power of the Tennessee river as well as the sale of power already generated at Wilson dam, the only project directly involved in the case.

The court upheld the right of the government to develop and sell power generated at Wilson Dam, part of the original Muscle Shoals project and at the projected series of superdams at other points along the river.

It was the second victory for the new deal in the series of cases brought before the court against a total of seven reverses.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, who read the opinion said there was nothing in the constitution which would prohibit the United States from selling all surplus power developed incident to helping navigation or preparing for war.

In a succession of findings Hughes ruled that:

1. The government had the power to build Wilson dam under its war powers and its power to aid navigation.
2. Power produced at such dams may be sold by the government.
3. Transmission lines to a fair market for the power so developed are entirely constitutional.

The opinion of the court was so sweeping that new deal power and legal experts immediately asserted it had given the right-of-way to the new deal's other vast power experiments, such as Grand Coulee, Bonneville and Ft. Peck.

WALTER LIGGETT'S ALLEGED SLAYER GETS ACQUITTAL

Jury Returns Verdict After Being out Short Time Tuesday Night

Isadore (Kid Cann) Blumenfield, liquor salesman, former bootlegger and ex-boxer Tuesday night was acquitted of a charge of murder in the machine gun killing of Walter W. Liggett, crusading weekly publisher of Minneapolis.

A jury in district court returned a verdict freeing Blumenfield. The jurors were out three and one-half hours, but deliberated only 90 minutes before taking time out for dinner.

Informed of the verdict, Gov. Floyd B. Olson said every available state agency would be used in an effort to locate the slayers of the publisher, who was killed the night of last Dec. 9, as he stepped from an automobile at the rear of his apartment.

Governor Olson, who frequently was the target of editorial attacks by Liggett before his death and by Mrs. Liggett before and during the trial, declared the state "has not rested."

The season is at hand when we shall see some of our most esteemed and some not so highly esteemed, either "viewing with alarm" or "pointing with pride."

Recent Storms Cost Highway Department $800,000 for Plowing

It has cost the state highway department approximately $800,000 to keep its 11,000 mile trunk highway system open to traffic during the almost continuous storm conditions of the past three and half weeks, according to an estimate made by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

"With 400 state plows and 100 rented emergency trucks and tractors going day and night most of the time since late in January, the expense has been a severe strain on highway maintenance funds", Mr. Elsberg said.

"With the 500 units all in operation, the cost runs up to $2,000 an hour. Much of the time the plows have worked 20 hours a day. For every such day the cost is $40,000. These figures are based on an average total cost of $4 an hour per unit operated. The lighter trucks cost less than this, but the average is brought up by the heavy equipment and rotaries. The cost includes labor as well as machinery expense.

"Our snow fighting expense so far this winter is in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, which comes out of a total maintenance budget for the year of only $6,600,000. Our total snow expense last winter was about $900,000.

"If the highway department had not fought to keep the trunks open, drawing heavily on maintenance funds to do so, there undoubtedly would have been general disruption of business and economic life throughout the state and widespread suffering. Without open highways, the Twin Cities and other cities would have been cut off from milk supplies and the smaller towns would have run short of food and other necessities."

Republican Convention Scheduled for April 11

A formal call for the Republican state convention April 11 to select four delegates at large to the national convention was sent out Monday from St. Paul. At the same time State Senator Roy F. SO COLD THAT EVEN TELEPHONES FREEZE

Blue Earth.—The recent cold wave has been described by various writers, discussed by oldtimers, and cussed by nearly everyone, but perhaps the best description is the one "it was so cold that the telephones froze." Such was the case in Blue Earth. Two farmers brought in telephone instruments for repair, stating that they would not ring out on the line. As their instruments were in perfect condition, the telephone exchange manager could only suggest that their ground rods on which the telephones depend for their operation had "frozen out" as the telephone men call it. In other words, the intense cold the last month had followed down the rods and frozen all the moist earth surrounding the rods, so that they no longer made electrical contact with the earth. The farmers were told to make a new ground connection for the phones on a pump or water pipe.

ELECTROCUTION OF HAUPTMANN IS SET FOR MARCH 30

Sentenced Third Time for Slaying of Lindbergh Infant

Bruno Richard Hauptmann's electrocution was set Wednesday for the week of March 30. The warrant was signed by Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard as he sat in a chair in his sick room.

It was the third time an execution date has been set for the convicted murderer of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. The first date was the week of March 18, set on the night of February 13 by Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, within a few minutes of his conviction.

Execution was automatically stayed when the defense appealed the case. Appeals failed and Justice Trenchard on December 13 fixed the week of January 12.

On January 16, twenty-nine hours before Hauptmann was to walk to the chair, Governor Harold G. Hoffman announced he was reprieving Hauptmann until February 15.

Virtually his only hope of a further delay in the execution lies in a second reprieve, and this is regarded as unlikely.

LEECH LAKE FIGURED WORTH NINE BILLION

Walker—Visions of the wealth of Monte Cristo have entered the minds of Cass county residents, following the discovery of gold on the shore of Leech Lake. While loading sand for concrete work, John Olson found something which looked like gold. A sample of the find was sent in for assay, and reported to have about $2.60 worth of gold per ton. Owners of property on the lake now have it figured out like this: Take a front foot on the lake 20 feet deep and 200 feet back from the lake and you have 4,000 cubic feet or 375 tons per front foot, at $2.50 per ton or $937.50 per front foot on the lake, which is $4,950,000 per mile of shore line. With Leech Lake's 640 miles of shore line, we have a value of $3,178,000,000. But the owners of land about the lake own to the center of the lake. The lake contains about 180 square miles. Take the lake bottom to a depth of 20 feet and each square mile would contain 9,240,000 tons and at $2.50 per ton, $23,200,000 per square mile; 180 square miles make the lake bed worth about $4,176,000,000. And some people have been wondering how we were going to pay the national debt! But so far few people in the state have deserted their homes to stake out claims!

Supreme Court Judges for Life

United States Supreme court judges can be removed only for improper conduct in office, such as treason, bribery and other high crimes and misdemeanors. The only method of removal, prescribed by the Constitution is impeachment by the house of representatives and trial by the senate. It never has been necessary to impeach a United States Supreme court judge.

Funeral Services Held for Resident of Oklee

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Charley Nesaland of Oklee who died Feb. 13 in the Veterans Hospital at Minneapolis. Rev. Lerold of Oklee officiated at the service.

Mr. Nesaland was born January 10, 1897 in North Dakota and has made his home near Oklee for twenty or twenty-five years.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Bernice, of Oklee and six sisters, Mrs. Allen and Miss Ann Nesaland both of Minneapolis; Miss Lea Nesaland and Mrs. Fritz Gibbons both of Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Ole Melby of Oklee and Mrs. John G. Johnson of Aneta, N. Dak.

Preceding him in death are two sisters, Helga, and Mrs. Telef Austad; and three brothers, Knut, Halvor and Alfred.

First Use of Name "Velocipede"

The name "velocipede" was first given to the contrivance of the Frenchman Blanchard and Mazurier, introduced in 1779. It consisted of two wheels placed tandem and connected by a horizontal bar upon which the rider sat astride, propelling the machine by a motion of the legs as in walking, but pushing forcibly backward upon the ground.

Discovery of Electric Light

It is uncertain when electric light was first produced by artificial agencies. The first successful display occurred in 1810, when Sir Humphrey Davy with a battery of 2,000 elements entertained the Royal Institution by producing an electric light with an arc 3 inches long between carbon points.

YOUNG GOP'S WILL MEET MARCH 14TH AT DETROIT LAKES

Plan Organization Work in Each County of the Ninth District

As a preliminary step to setting up organizations in every one of their fifteen counties, young Republicans of the Ninth congressional district will gather in Detroit Lakes Saturday, March 14, it was disclosed this week following the issuance of a call by B. L. Benshoof of Detroit Lakes, district representative on the executive committee of the Young Republican League of Minnesota.

In view of the fact that more than a hundred young Republicans are expected to attend the gathering, arrangements have already been made to obtain Hon. Harold E. Stassen of So. St. Paul, chairman of the state young Republican league and county attorney of Dakota county, to address the group. Among other prominent Republicans scheduled to appear at the meeting is Senator A. O. Sletvold of Detroit Lakes.

Efforts are being made to secure complete district representation at the meeting March 14 as present plans call for the organization of county units at that time. All young people in the district between the ages of 21 and 40, sympathetic to the Republican cause, are urged to attend the session.

In issuing the call, Benshoof points out that the primary purposes of the Young Republican League is to introduce to its members a responsibility of governmental affairs and to lend active support to the senior organization.

Counties of the Ninth district include Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Beltrami, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Clearwater, Norman, Mahnomen, Clay, Becker, Wilkin, and Otter Tail.

Conference of Savings and Loan Groups Would Ban State Property Tax

Active support of a proposed amendment to the state constitution for the removal of the tax levy on general property for state purposes was pledged by delegates to the midwinter conference of the Minnesota League of Building, Loan and Savings associations in St. Paul last week. Urging adoption of the amendment, the delegates declared in a resolution that: The amendment's adoption to the state constitution is necessary as a very important step in a program of tax reform in this state. Property taxation and particularly taxation upon homes has reached confiscatory proportions, forcing money out of property and men out of work, preventing the maintaining of reasonable values and threatening to destroy home and property ownership. Stanton Dahlen, secretary of the Thief River Falls savings and loan association, attended the conference and served on the resolutions committee.

State Ranks High in U. S. Road Projects

Figures compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads show Minnesota ranking third among all the states in mileage of highway improvements completed up to the beginning of the present year with emergency federal funds provided by the National Industrial Recovery act and the act of June 18, 1934. This announcement was made by a highway department bulletin.

In mileage of improvements completed with federal Works Program highway funds Minnesota ranks first. It stands in third position in mileage approved for construction by federal engineers, and in tenth place in mileage under construction.

PREVAILING WAGE JOBS AVAILABLE SOON UNDER WPA

Work Ready This Month for 9,000 Men, Says Victor Christgau

Prevailing wage jobs on Public Works Administration and other federal agency projects will be available this month for approximately 9,000 Works Progress administration works, Victor Christgau state W. P. A administrator, announced today.

Mr. Christgau said the 9,000 prevailing wage jobs include some available at once while others have been definitely scheduled for February. The schedule, he added, will be changed only if inclement weather makes it impossible to start work on some of the projects as planned.

Before May 1, more than 30,000 prevailing wage jobs will be available to WPA workers through other federal agencies launching projects in the state, the administrator said.

"Preference will be given to those WPA workers who specifically request the prevailing wage," Mr. Christgau explained. "A number of organizations have approached us on this subject recently. We have more requisitions for other federal agency projects than we have been able to fill and we therefore, are planning to issue transfers immediately upon receipt of requests from any WPA workers."

Questioned in regard to the state-wide WPA workers' conference, Mr. Christgau pointed out that "requisitions of other federal agencies for men to be employed at the prevailing wage rate considerably outnumber the current requests for these jobs. We shall be glad to take care of all petitioners who desire transfers."

Safety Contest Awards To be Presented in April

Representatives of all city and county public safety committees will be invited to attend the dinner in the Hotel Lowry, St. Paul, April 14, when plaques are presented to the winners of the 1935 Minnesota traffic safety contest.

The award committee for the contest is headed by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, as chairman, according to an announcement by A. W. Rohweder of Duluth. Mr. Rohweder is chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety Committee, sponsoring the contest.

The 1934 winners of the plaques awarded personally by Governor Olson, were Minneapolis, St. Cloud and Eveleth, and Wright, Clearwater and Swift counties.

Standings of the cities and counties in the contest will be based on the number of traffic fatalities and the amount of safety activity. Traffic fatalities in the state were reduced by nearly 8 per cent last year from those of 1934.

MANY PRESENT AT LIVESTOCK CO-OP. MEET IN ST. PAUL

Sales Agency at South St. Paul in Annual Meeting Feb. 12-13

In spite of the extremely cold weather which prevailed in the state last week, livestock producers from all sections migrated to St. Paul to attend the fifteenth annual stockholders' convention of the Central Co-operative Association, which was held in the Lowry Hotel on Wednesday and Thursday, February 12 and 13. At this meeting members of this farmer-owned co-operative livestock sales agency of South St. Paul had the opportunity to hear educational addresses on various phases of the livestock industry by some of the most out-standing men in their respective lines.

This two-day convention was opened by C. B. Crandall, President of the Central Co-operative Association, who brought to the attention of his listeners that they had just completed one of the worst years in the history of agriculture in this part of the United States, yet had come thru with banners flying and with renewed courage to carry their organization to new heights of achievement in future years.

Mr. Crandall paid a high tribute to the Farm Credit Administration, which he says is by far the most important of the several branches of Government in its service to agriculture.

"In its several banks, the Farm Credit Administration supplies ample credit to take care of all requirements of agriculture. Probably the Land Bank has performed the most important benefit because it has to do with the farm home, which is of first importance. Nothing that our Government has attempted to do has brought to agriculture such profound relief and security as the long-time credit which has been provided at a reasonable rate of interest. This service has eliminated the fear of farmers losing their homes or their entire investment. It has restored a feeling of confidence and has given farmers new hope for the future."

N. K. Carnes, General Manager of the Central Co-operative Association, reviewed Central business activities and the livestock situation in his address, laying stress upon the membership of the organization.

More Colds Observed by Doctors Among the Under Clad Children

In many quarters, long flannels for children have joined the limbo with sulphur and molasses and other discredited health measures of our forebears.

Physicians now hope that the extreme reaction from long flannels to bare legs in winter for children will soon be a thing of the past also.

Plenty of covering for the legs not only of children but of their mothers is counseled in a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association today.

Fresh air faddists have gone to extremes in the opinion of the doctors who now draw from observations of the children of these faddists over a period of several years to show that scanty clothing and bare legs have not produced the super children their enthusiastic parents hoped for.

"Children can be coddled and over dressed so that they become abnormally sensitive, the doctors acknowledge. "But that they can be hardened by exposure of their limbs so that they become insensitive to cold and frost bite is nonsense.

"It has also been shown by ample experience that this so-called 'hardening process' does not heighten resistance to colds. The bare kneed children have as many and perhaps more colds in cold weather than those that are fully covered."

Modern heating keeps a good many homes at summer temperature at all times and summer clothing is all that is needed or advisable inside such homes, according to the bulletin. It is well to remember that the room temperature is very much lower near the floor where the small child lives than in the upper ranges where the adult lives. But plenty of extra outside clothing should be provided for outdoor wear to keep the child comfortable and prevent excessive heat loss even if he does not actually suffer frost bite.

Experimentally a relation between chilling of the skin to the contraction and congestion of the lining of the respiratory tract has been shown. All authorities agree that chilling aggravates if it does not actually cause coughs — and colds.

Highway Patrol Adds $168,291 to State Funds

The Minnesota highway patrol was instrumental in adding $168,291 to the state revenue in 1935, according to the annual report of Chief John P. Arnoldy. Of this, $122,852 was collected in license corrections and $46,439 in fines. The patrol traveled 2,031,975 miles, by automobile and motorcycle, last year, the report reveals, and aided 1,088,402 motorists on the state's highways. Patrolmen warned 148,471 motorists of various minor traffic violations, tagged 23,473 for illegal equipment and 7,948 for operating with improper licenses and arrested 4,923. The record shows a total of 2,445 days in sentences imposed during the year on persons arrested by the patrol.

Help Asked to Feed Starving Game Birds

Pheasants and other upland game birds are facing a very serious situation as a result of the protracted severe cold and heavy snow conditions, according to Gustav Swanson, biologist of the division of game and fish.

"There is an immediate need for more funds to feed the starving birds," Mr. Swanson said. "Each day the division of game and fish receives reports from wardens who are finding birds that died of starvation or exposure to the cold.

"In many cases starvation is not the immediate cause, but a well-fed bird can withstand more cold than one that is undernourished, and it is of utmost importance that food be provided."

Localities needing help in order to feed game birds are urged to communicate with their local game wardens or directly with the division of game and fish at St. Paul. Individuals desiring to contribute funds may send their contributions to M. W. Thompson, St. Paul Association of Commerce, or to Richard Swanson, 115 Colfax Avenue North, Minneapolis. Mr. Thompson and Mr. Swanson have already taken an active part in the state-wide pheasant feeding campaign and are willing to act as a clearing house for contributions from interested sportsmen, particularly those of the Twin Cities. Local game wardens are also receiving contributions.

COW HAS TWO CALVES THREE WEEKS APART

Albert Lea—P. S. Buston, farmer east of Hampton in Freeborn county, is puzzled at the behavior of one of his cattle. The cow gave birth to a healthy bull calf. A couple of days later Buston weaned the calf and began milking the cow. After a few days she was giving a flow of 50 pounds of milk a day. Three weeks after the first calf's birth, the cow gave birth to another, a fine heifer. Both calves are doing nicely, but Buston can't figure out whether they're twins or not. And through it all the cow, a Holstein, has continued to give 50 pounds of milk a day.

FINDS OPENING FRUIT JAR IS DANGEROUS BUSINESS

Mahnomen. — The old adage "Home is the most dangerous place to be" is proved by the experience of Rev. O. R. Graupner, pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church at Mahnomen. A small fragment of glass which chipped off a fruit jar he was attempting to open struck him in the right eye, seriously injuring the eyeball. He is being treated in the Thief River Falls hospital, where doctors hope to save his sight. Rev. Graupner was opening a glass top fruit jar at his home and was having difficulty in removing the clasp on the top. When he finally pried it loose, a small piece of glass chipped off, ran thru the air, and struck him in the eye.

WPA Workers Receive Full Pay in Spite of Reduced Hours by Cold

As unprecented cold held into the last half of February, cutting time on the job for most WPA workers to less than half of the 30-hour week, the 65,000 employees of the federal work relief agency in Minnesota continued to get their regular semi-monthly checks in the full amount.

Figures released this week by the office of Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, showed January expenditures to be $4,274,640, at their highest point since the beginning of the program.

Of the $20,760,938 in federal funds allocated to Minnesota, $10,399,183 had been expended on Feb. 1 of which $8,467,967 was paid to employees, the balance going for supplies, equipment and contractual service.

Expenditures by districts up to February 1 were as follows: Duluth district $1,605,039; Brainerd district $748,189; St. Paul district $2,265,815; Rochester district $457,857; Minneapolis district $2,465,144; St. Cloud district $312,296; Detroit Lakes district $389,901; Morris district $394,851 and New Ulm district $322,545. On state-wide projects $34,031 was expended.

"The WPA policy of providing continuity of employment, because of adverse weather conditions, has thrown the program out of balance," Mr. Christgau said. "Adjustments will have to be made and more money will have to be provided for completion of some of the projects. But we are glad that this policy exists, throwing the burden on administrative shoulders rather than workers who would suffer if it were not in effect."

He pointed out that the fact that workers are paid even though weather conditions do not make work practical, in effect, has amounted to an increase in wages.

As soon as a break in the weather permits he said the program of farm-to-market road development will be emphasized.

"This winter's blizzards serve to stress the fact that farm-to-market roads in most districts of the state need improvements," he said. "Grades are too low and snow blocked conditions often make travel for farmers next to impossible during considerable periods of winter and spring. We are at work now preparing facts and figures for Washington calling these conditions to official attention in an effort to secure more funds for the areas most in need of this type of work."

THREE BABIES BORN TO SISTERS ON SAME DAY

Beardsley.—If that old bird, the stork, decides to double up in getting his work done, he can't be blamed very much because the cold weather isn't fit for birds either. Evidence of this doubling up is contained in the news of the presentation of a pair of twins, a boy and a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. Hartwig Peterson of south of Beardsley at the Graceville hospital. On the same day, the wily bird visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gremmels, south of Beardsley, and delivered a little girl. Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Gremmels are sisters.

District Court
Fourteenth Judicial District

THE STATE OF MINNESOTA, to all persons, companies or corporations, who have or claim any estate, right, title or interest in, claim to, or lien upon, any of the several parcels of land described in the list hereto attached:

The list of taxes and penalties on real property for the County of Pennington, remaining delinquent on the First Monday in January, 1936, has been filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of said County, of which that hereto attached is a copy.

THEREFORE, you, and each of you, are hereby required to file in the office of said Clerk, on or before the twentieth day after the publication of this notice and list, your answer in writing, setting forth any objection or defense you may have to the taxes, or any part thereof, upon any parcel of land described in said list, in, to, or on which you have or claim any estate, right, title, interest, claim, or lien and in default thereof, judgment will be entered against such parcel of land for the taxes on said list appearing against it, and for all penalties, interest and costs. You are further notified that at the expiration of five years from the date of Tax Judgment Sale pursuant to such Judgment, each parcel of land sold at such sale, and not redeemed, will become and be the absolute property of the purchaser or of the State, or his or its assigns, without further right of redemption and without any notice of expiration of the time to redeem same.

ADOLF EKLUND,
Clerk of the District Court,
of the County of Pennington, Minnesota.

To Help You Keep Abreast of the Times

So much is happening every day in the world of government that affects your living, income and buying power. What is Congress doing? For what is money to be spent? How will they raise it? Who is to administer the spending? What does this business improvement mean? Will it continue? Why is there another side to so many questions?

All this makes you ask yourself—"How can I keep abreast of the times, understand what events mean, discuss national affairs intelligently?"

The United States News

Every week you find in The United States News a complete, accurate report of national affairs from Washington. News is grouped together in departments for your convenience. Simplified for quick reading. Connected for clearness and perspective. Authoritative, concise, useable.

Here you find why it happened, what it means and what is likely to happen next. The United States News is truly the newsmagazine of national affairs.

Subscribe today! Congress is in session. A presidential campaign is warming up. Party platforms are to be written. More vital questions of national policy will be discussed this year than ever before. Be posted. Know the facts. Make your own decisions. Back them up with a clear-cut understanding of what is going on.

FARM BUREAU IS SEEKING NEW LAWS TO GUARD PRICES

Organization Is Working for New Surplus Control Legislation

Presenting the case of the 100,-969 Minnesota farmers whose production plans and economic status was upset by the adverse AAA decision, the Farm Bureau is working aggressively through its national office for immediate passage of new surplus control legislation. The Farm Bureau's Washington representative, Chester Gray, believes that the bill now in the legislative hopper, providing for adjusted production through a soil conservation program, will meet the test of constitutionality and do the job the AAA was doing when it was outlawed by the high court. Federal grants to those practicing soil conservation will replace contract payments under the proposed new act.

Passage of new price-protecting legislation is deemed by the Farm Bureau to be of greatest importance of the eighteen projects upon which it is now actively engaged. Point 2 in its February program is its fight for retention by the government of the processing taxes now held in escrow. Holding that processors are not entitled to the money, the Farm Bureau urges that it be retained by the government and through legislative enactment assigned to agricultural purposes. Immediate payment of AAA contract obligations was demanded.

The Farm Bureau's views on these subjects also are held by the corn-hog and wheat committeemen of Minnesota, who at a meeting in St. Paul on Feb. 18 went on record urging the above points.

GUESTS LINE UP SKIS OUTSIDE DOOR

Fosston—Sixteen guests attended a party given in their honor last week at Fosston. A unique feature of the party was the fact that sixteen pairs of skis were lined up outside the door, the roads being so drifted with snow that skis were the only means of travelling.

Governor Back at Home After Being Confined Six Weeks in Hospital

Governor Floyd B. Olson was back at his home in Minneapolis Sunday, apparently in improved health following an exploratory operation at St. Mary's hospital, Rochester, late in December.

The governor was eager to return at once to his desk at the state house to tackle work piled up during his absence but he followed the advice of physicians to remain at his home for several days.

Olson said he "felt good". He took a short walk yesterday despite the cold weather.

Later this month he will go to Texas for further recuperation, he said, probably spending three weeks there.

"I am going all alone," the governor said. "I'll be 'somewhere in Texas' and as soon as a reporter discovers where I am I'll go somewhere else. There won't be any stories until I get back."

SABADILLA SEED ENDS ANIMAL LICE PROBLEM

Cloquet—When patches of hair began to come off the neck and head of an animal in his barn, John Kestl, dairyman east of here in Thomson township, was puzzled. He had bought the animal. He asked the agriculture teacher in the district. Mr. Lawrens found lice were doing the damage, and advised sprinkling the affected parts with sabadilla seed. Mr. Kestl bought a dimes worth, put it in a spice box with a perforated cover and used it periodically as directed. The lice disappeared, and the hair grew out again.

DON'T USE BARRELS FOR TURKEY NESTS

Barrels, though used by many turkey growers for nests, are too large for the purpose, Dr. W. A. Billings, state turkey specialist, told St. Louis county growers. The nests should be small enough to accommodate only one turkey hen at a time, he said. Otherwise eggs are likely to be broken. There should be one nest for each two birds. Camouflage them by throwing hay or brush over them. The turkey hen likes to think she is hiding. Some hens lay 100 or more eggs a season. Gather them often, so as to make certain they do not become chilled.

GOODRIDGE

ANNUAL CREAMERY MEET TO BE HELD SATURDAY

The annual meeting of the Goodridge Co-op. Creamery association will be held Saturday afternoon at the school house at one o'clock. John Lager of Thief River Falls, fieldman for Dist. 17 will be one of the speakers. It is not known at this time who the others will be. Patrons and Stockholders of the Creamery should plan to attend.

COMMUNITY CLUB TO MEET FRIDAY

The Goodridge Community Club will meet on Friday evening at the school house. The program committee are presenting an Operetta, "The Wedding of the Flowers", by the grade children of the school. Lunch will be served as usual. Come and see something different.

Class Play Given

The Junior Class play, "Dotty and Daffy", which was presented on Friday evening, under the direction of Miss Anita Erickson, instructor in the high school, was enjoyed very much by all those who ventured out in the severe cold weather to see it. We can't very well compliment any one or two players as they all were very well suited to their parts and carried them out nicely. There were a lot of good laughs, at the very complicated situations caused by telling one lie, and then having to tell another one to cover up the first one, and so on in an endless chain. It was too bad the Juniors had to put on the play at this time when the roads and weather was so disagreeable. They would have doubled their receipts at any other time.

TO HAUL GRAVEL FOR COMMUNITY HALL

The gravel hauling for the Community hall was let at the last school board meeting to Engvold Geving. Work will no doubt start as soon as the weather will permit.

We feel we are extremely fortunate here in our community when we read of the road conditions and other hardships in so many other places, we have mail twice a day, that is when the Soo Line gets through to Thief River so we can get the mail, and any one having to go to Thief River Falls can do so in the morning and return home again in the afternoon without any hardship of any kind, and that is inspite of our living in the northwest corner of the State, "Up in the Sticks" as they say down in the cities.

Mrs. Carl Christianson entertained on Saturday afternoon at a coffee party in honor of Mrs. Andrew Wells who has been visiting the past week at the home of Mrs. Anne Frodahl, the guests were Mrs. Andrew Wells, Mrs. Anne Frodahl, Mrs. Elmer Peterson, Mrs. A. B. Josephson, Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, and Mrs. R. H. McDonald.

Returned From Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Johnson were in town Monday evening, enroute to their home at Highlanding, after spending several weeks visiting in Florida. They made the trip with Mr. and Mrs. Ole Ihle of Thief River Falls. They reported a fine trip, but this country looked good to them in spite of all the snow.

Miss Mary Maney and father P. P. Maney returned here Monday from Minneapolis where the latter has been receiving medical treatment for several weeks. They were met here by John Maney and Sidney Fladeland and continued on to their home at Grygla.

Peter Poppenhagen of Thief River Falls is relieving his brother George a few days at the Co-op. Oil Station, on account of a bad cold. George left on Sunday for his home in Thief River Falls.

O. N. Urdahl returned home from Thief River Falls on Saturday where he had been receiving medical treatment. —John Orrison attended to business matters in Thief River Falls on Wednesday.

Miss Opal Halverson returned home on Wednesday after visiting the past week here with relatives and friends. —Charles Josephson went to Thief River Falls Sunday. He was accompanied home by Lloyd Nelson who has been in the hospital several days with a sore hand.— Miss Clara Barstad spent the week end at her home at Grygla. —M. G. Thoreson and Curtis Olson left on Sunday for South St. Paul on business.—Obed and Floyd Olson attended to business in Thief River Falls on Thursday.

O. E. Ronken was a business caller in Thief River Falls Thursday. —Rev. E. O. Sabo of Mavie was in town on Monday afternoon between trains. —J. N. Swanson and son Gene and daughter Mrs. Clarence Noer were visitors in Thief River Falls on Thursday.

Mrs. Andrew Wells left on Monday evening for Thief River Falls to visit a short time. —Mrs. Gust Ristau and Mrs. Obed Sabo and son Dennis visited on Wednesday at the E. O. Sabo home at Mavie.

Some of the people who were visitors in Thief River Falls on Saturday were, Misses Anita Erickson, Elizabeth Holappa, Mrs. Alice Brandt, Ben Habedank, T. A. Disrud. —Tenny Torkelson returned here Saturday from Shelly where he had been visiting at his home for the past week. —Mrs. Theodore Beulke returned home on Saturday from Thief River Falls where she had visited at the home of her sister Mrs. Carl Gulrud since Thursday and also had dental work done.

RIVER FALLS

Oman Omundson attended the School for farm boys Monday and Wednesday at Thief River Falls.

A Valentine party was held in Dist. 178 for the children and in the south school the mothers gathered and enjoyed the afternoon followed by a delightful lunch.

No school was held in Dist. 178 on Lincoln's birthday. The teacher Mrs. Irene Ness, visited at the home of her parents, in St. Hilaire. —Attendance in both schools has been low during the cold spell.

Glenn Wilson is spending this week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wilson, his school being closed on account of cold weather. —Frank Bothman and son Raymond motored to Crookston Thursday to bring home Stanley Bothman, who has spent two weeks at the St. Vincent hospital there.—Mrs. K. T. Dalager and son Horace and daughter Shirley visited at the John Fellman home Sunday. —Oscar Haugen motored to Thief River Falls Friday.—The W. P. Wilson family experienced a chimney fire Sunday evening. No damage resulted.

MAYFIELD

Really, John, the most beautiful radio cabinets I've seen this year are Coronados and by actual comparison, side by side, I've yet to see a set that beats them in tone or features—And they're still on sale at Gamble's Winter Mark-Down Sale. 7-tube A. C., cut to $34.95—6-tube, $16.95, Farm Sets, low as $19.45 complete. 8c

The Redstart

The male Redstart is white low on the abdomen. The upper parts are black, with orange patches on each side of the breast, and near the center of each wing. The outer tail feathers are also orange, tipped with black. The orange of the breast is more fiery red in tone. The female is grayish, green-brown instead of black, and she is yellow where the male is orange.

Observations on Trip to California

By Joel E. Shoberg

At Vallejo, California we boarded a steamer and for the last 30 miles of our trip we rode on water before entering San Francisco, the largest shipping point on the Pacific coast, and the second largest city in California with a population aggregating 670,000. This steamboat ride across the San Francisco bay is indeed a pleasure trip. In the evening especially with stars and moon overhead and myriads of blinking lights piercing the darkness coming from San Francisco, Berkeley, Oakland, Vallejo, San Rafael and Sausalito all surrounding San Francisco bay it is a wonderful sight.

To the outsider before becoming acquainted with the street system of San Francisco it is a puzzle why the town has been platted in the way it has. It seems ridiculous why more than half of the streets shall run and terminate into triangles, making travel inconvenient and necessitating the building of homes and business places in triangular shapes. However the solution is simple when explained.

San Francisco is located on a pan handle or peninsula of land surrounded on three sides by water, with only one outlet by land, and this to the south. Every ship enter the wharves of the city must pass thru the world famous Golden Gate a narrow strip of water just west of the city, and where all ships stop to undergo the customary quarantine and inspection procedures. When the city was first founded in 1847 it had only one street known as Market street and which is still the principal street of the town. This street, was laid in a north-east, south-westerly direction to avoid the hills that are rather numerous on this strip of land, and from this street commence practically every street and avenue in San Francisco.

San Francisco has a rather antiquated street car system. I do not believe the whole town has over half a dozen rubber tired street cars and these are run along 18th st. and Delores the most fashionable residence boulevards in the west part of the city. The entire business district is equipped with the old style metal wheel trolley cars running on steel rails imbedded in the pavement and at intersections make a deafening noise often making the ground shake and windows rattle. On Market street where four of these street car tracks run parallel and cars run almost every minute one can readily imagine the noise they make.

San Francisco proper covers about 42 square miles. It has more than 100 public parks and playgrounds. Of these the Golden Gate park is the largest being about three and one half miles long three quarter of a mile wide and embracing about 1030 acres of ground. Within its boundary is located amusement of every unthinkable variety for young and old. The zoo is very complete and contains thousands of animals from all parts of the world, and there is no admittance charge. The park has about 17 miles of automobile road and about that much is set of for the bicycle and horseback riding sport which is a very popular pastime in San Francisco.

To the lover of sports San Francisco invites comparison. Kezar stadium contains several baseball diamonds, tennis courts, bowling greens and croquet courts. On Sundays tens of thousands of people play on these grounds. To the swimmer is invited a dip in the Fleishacker pool, over 1000 feet long with graduated depth from 2 to 14 feet, and containing about 6,000,000 gallons of warmed water. A playland somewhat similar to the miniature rides at the county fairs back home has amusements galore. Golf links with night flood lights are available in in several parts of the city. Horse and greyhound racing are very popular in San Francisco and National stakes of up to $100,000 are available. The Tanforan said to be the largest racing track on the Pacific coast, is located here.

Just outside the Cliff house are located the three seal rocks. These are the favorite home of the bay seals whom can be seen on every sunny day lying in the sun on the south side of these rock formations enjoying a sun bath and playing among themselves. Strong telescopes available at the cliff house bring these cunning animals almost within arms reach.

London Street Names Duplicated

London streets provide thousands of cases of duplication of names. "Church" occurs 86 times, Victoria 76 times, Park 62 times, Queen or Queen's 61 times, and King or King's 56 times.

Hogs Growing Heavier

There have been reports in the last few years of hogs weighing from 1,330 to 1,500 pounds, which are unusual. It is not uncommon for mature animals to weigh 1,000 to 1,200 pounds.

PLUMMER

RITES HELD FOR EDWARD HALVORSON

Edward Halvorson died Friday evening at his home here after a lingering illness. He was born in Douglas County February 28, 1878 and came to this community when he was five years old and has resided here ever since. In September, 1931 he was married to Lillie Milligan who survives him as does his son, Delano Franklin. Other survivors are three brothers, Halmer of White Earth, and Theodore and Jule of Plummer, also one sister, Mrs. Ole Hagg of White Earth. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. in the Clearwater Church with Rev. M. L. Dahle of St. Hilaire officiating. Interment in the church cemetery. Pall-bearers were William and Walter Halvorson, Oscar Wilson, Michael and Joseph Fallon, and F. J. Mack. Sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved relatives.

Miss Margaret McElligott left Monday for Minneapolis where she will spend the next week at her home. —Miss Lucille Vevea of Thief River Falls visited with friends here Friday. —Miss Irene Swendseid left Friday for Grand Forks where she will visit with relatives for a few days.

Mrs. Alcid Morrissette and daughter LaVerne returned Friday from a few day's visit in Minneapolis. —Miss Stella Stenerson is spending this week at her parental home in Moorhead.—The Women's Study Club met at the Lars Hage home Wednesday. The afternoon was spent in a social way. The next meeting will be at the K. N. Grimsrud home February 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Fournier of Terrebonne, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thibet, and Mrs. Mae Sorenson were entertained at the Karl Rossberg home Sunday.—Mrs. Theo. Laniel of Brooks visited with her mother, Mrs. Mary Elfert Friday.

Miss Bernice Koed left Monday for her home at Askov where she will visit for a week. —Lloyd Jorgenson was a business caller in Red Lake Falls Monday.

Defeat Warren

Last Friday the Plummer high school basket ball team evened the score with Warren High by defeating them 28 to 17 on the Warren floor. The team is in good shape and has been steadily improving. Each member handles his assignments well and much may be expected of them by tournament time. In the Warren game Gordon Langlie's play at guard and Jack Ripple's play at forward was of outstanding merit. Don't miss the Alvarado game here next Friday, Feb. 21. This will be your last chance of the season to see the boys on the home floor. Come out and boost.

The Plummer declamatory contestants went to St. Hilaire last Tuesday to take part in the subdistrict contest which was originally scheduled for Plummer on that date.—The Plummer public schools have been closed during the past week on account of the bad roads and the severe cold weather. School will reopen Monday, Feb. 24.

Due to the fact that the regular meeting of the Plummer P. T. A. conflicts with the basket ball tournament, it has been deemed advisable to change the date of the P. T. A. meeting to March 5th. The meeting will be held in the high school assembly at 8 o'clock. The program will contain a one act play, and musical numbers by the various musical organizations of the high school. Miss Koed's Harmonica Band will also make its first public appearance.

HAZEL

Mrs. Carl Alberg, Helen, Stanley, Cleo and Maybelle Alberg and Omar Seeland visited Saturday evening and Sunday at the Carl Finstad home. —Wednesday visitors at Frank Peterson were Mrs. Anton Johnson, Raymond and Arthur Gunstad.—Mrs. Earl Lyons who has visited the past month with her mother, Mrs. A. Gunstad, who is ill, and sister Mrs. Frank Peterson, left Tuesday for her home in Minneapolis. —Due to the storm Monday, none of the Hazel students attended high school at St. Hilaire. —A Valentine party was held at District No. 6 Friday afternoon. Those present were, Mrs. Clarence Hanson and son Alden, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Erickson and daughter Joan, Mrs. John Peterson, Earl, Alvin and Richard Peterson.—Mr. and Mrs. Ted Prestby of Erskine former residents of this vicinity are the proud parents of a son born Wednesday, Feb. 8th.—Due to the bad weather services were postponed Sunday in the Clara church. No school was held in Dist. No. 6 Monday.

A Valentine party was held in the Hazel school house and an enjoyable afternoon was spent after which lunch was served. Those present were Mesdames Pete Nelson, Oscar Bergie, Hans Prestby, Carl Prestby, Arnt Wedul, Martin Ellingson, Ole Odegaard, Carl Alberg and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sandberg, Axel Rasmussen, Norman, Raymond, Willie and Hazel Nelson, Phoebe, Mayme and Arthur Anderson.—Arvid Gross of Duluth is visiting with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Thune and family. —Dist. 12 was closed for the rest of the week due to the weather.

STEINER

Mrs. R. Rupprecht received word that her sister, Mrs. E. Larson of Belgrade, Mont., is quite ill. Mr. and Mrs. Larson are well known around Steiner as they formerly lived here. Mrs. Rupprecht also received word that her niece Margaret Gilbertson who at one time lived in Thief River Falls but moved to Spokane, Wash., passed away, Feb. 11. She left three small children and her mother.

I. Russell returned to his home recently after visiting with his brother and father at Reno, Nev.

The Steiner school gave a Valentine party to the community on February 14. A program was given and a delicious lunch was served.—Christ Berg, L. Meyer, and Otto and Melvin Saugen, motored to Crookston, where they attended the stock show. They also purchased some pure-bred cattle there.

VIKING

Victor Franson has left for Starkweather, N. D. where he is employed. —Mrs. Freeman Laymond is visiting her son Frank Laymon at Garfield, Ill. —Mrs. Ed Krohn accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Alex Krohn to Thief River Falls Saturday where she will spend a few days at her daughter's Mrs. N. Holzknecht home.

Albert Styrlund was taken sick last Wednesday and was taken to Thief River Falls where he is seeking medical aid.—The George Nelson family who has made their home at Thief River Falls moved to their farm south of Viking last week as their house at Thief River Falls was badly burned by the chimney fire.—A group from here motored to Grand Forks Sunday where they gave the radio program over station KFJM.

Miss Earlene Elseth spent Sunday and Monday with friends at Thief River Falls. —Mrs. Lena Nordgaard spent a few days at Thief River Falls. —Oscar Anderson and Egbert Malberg were callers at Thief River Falls Thursday. —Mr. and Mrs. David Alforth entertained friends at luncheon last Wednesday afternoon.—The high school students motored to Newfolden Monday evening to attend the Valentine party held at the high school.

Refreshments will be served by the Fred Lube and Carl Bieswenger families.

The Smiley School News

Delores Lendobeja was the only pupil having a perfect attendance last month. Spelling contests have been in full sway this month, those who received prizes for having an average of one hundred per cent were Arnold Nelson, Junior and Delores Lendobeja. We have a new system for keeping our conduct marks which is called the "Honor Point" system. The pupils having the highest number of honor points at the end of the month will receive a prize.

A Valentine party was enjoyed by the pupils Friday. Games were played after which The Valentines were distributed and candy was relished. Little Joan Nelson was a guest at the party. The Holmes children returned to school this week after being absent three weeks because of illness. Marian Wieser was absent the latter part of the week because of an illness.

John and Thomas O'Boyle of Thief River Falls spent Tuesday evening with their sister, Miss Myrtle who is teacher in the Smiley school. —Jean Nelson spent Tuesday in Thief River Falls with her little cousin, June Barstad.

Flood Area of Mississippi Valley

The flood plain of the Mississippi river varies greatly in width. North of Cape Girardeau, Mo., the lands which are subject to overflow are comparatively narrow, from three to five miles wide. The broad alluvial valley south of that point is some 50 miles wide, although it is almost never inundated to this width. In the lower Mississippi valley protecting levees exist and are planned to provide a width of from 10 to 25 miles. In the immediate vicinity of Vicksburg, Miss., the river is not subject to overflow on the Mississippi side because of the high bluff, 350 feet above sea level, on which Vicksburg is built.

Deaths Resulting from Accidents in Home Too Common, Doctors State

Death stalking the war front and the highways is more dramatic than deaths from accidents in the home. The Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association calls attention to the terrific toll of deaths from home accidents this week because recent figures show that there were twice as many of them in the last 15 years than there were from automobile accidents.

The figure for home accidents that resulted in death from 1920 to 1934 was 655,000. Automobile deaths for the same period amounted to 388,936 and both figures appear appalling besides the figure for deaths in battle: which was 244,357 for Americans killed in all the wars of our history.

Better traffic regulations, better law enforcement, improved safety devices as well as individual caution play parts in the current nation wide campaign to reduce accident deaths on the highways.

To reduce accident deaths at home, common sense and ordinary individual carefulness are the chief requisites, according to the physicians.

Good housekeeping and a good knowledge of first aid, both, are urged as prime safety measures in the physicians' bulletin.

Slippery floors; curled-up rugs, rugs with holes to trip the unwary; toys or books or other objects left carelessly on the stairs; climbing on rocking chairs; poisons left carelessly where children can get them; hot water left heedlessly in the way of children; improperly watched fires; piles of refuse—all these caused fatal home accidents last year and all could have been avoided easily by care and common sense.

Knowledge of first aid to treat burns, cuts, sprains, broken bones and accidental poisoning pending the arrival of help would save many lives, also, in the opinion of the physicians. A good manual of first aid and actual practice under instruction in bandaging and splinting and in artificial respiration should be part of the training and equipment of the housekeeper.

THRESHERS CLAIM SPRING JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Bagley—At 30 degrees below zero, Henry Felt and Ray Wallin of Vern township threshed out clover for Merton Watts at the Wallin home near Bagley last week. That must be a record of some kind or other. One naturally associates threshing with much warmer weather. Spring is just around the corner . . . ?

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

BEMIDJI TO BE PROWLERS FOE TOMORROW NITE

Local Quintet to Battle Fast Lumberjack Cage Team on Latter's Home Floor

Tomorrow night, Feb. 21, the Prowlers will play Bemidji on the latter's floor. Earlier in the season the Prowlers were defeated by this same team on the local floor, the score being 33 to 20. Last year Bemidji was runner-up in the state basket-ball tournament. They have the same team this year with the exception of one man. Galloway, Bemidji's all-state center, didn't prove to be as much trouble to the Prowlers as was Johnson in the first game. The former made a total of six points, while Johnson was high point man with thirteen to his credit. So far this season nearly all the teams in this vicinity have been alternating victories and defeats, winning one week and losing the next. Bemidji is no exception, nor are the Prowlers, and since the score was fairly close in the first game, the outcome of tomorrow night's contest could be the Prowlers over Bemidji just as well as Bemidji over the Prowlers. However, the locals will go into the game with the odds slightly against them since they are not playing on the home floor and for several other reasons.

EAST GRAND FORKS WIN OVER LOCALS

Little Green Waves Down Prowler Quintet in Fast Game 25-19

East Grand Forks came out victorious over the Prowlers last Friday night for the second time this season. The first score of the game was made for the Prowlers in the opening minute of play when Jung put in a long shot. It wasn't long before Kimblin made one and the score was tied. Sundeen put the Little Green Waves in the lead with a field goal and soon the visitors had built up quite a substantial lead over the locals. Mickelson scored for the Prowlers on a free throw, but Peterson put in a free throw and a field goal. Then Jung and Rockwood were each credited with two points and the Prowlers took time out. Peterson made a field goal and Kimblin a free shot, ending the quarter with the score at 15 to 7, favoring the visitors. In the second quarter Peterson made two field goals and Hughes two free shots while Mickelson made the only two points for the locals with a long shot. The half ended, and the Little Green Waves had increased their lead from eight points to twelve. The score was 21 to 9. The Prowlers seemed to find themselves in the last half, permitting East Grand Forks to make only four points during the entire last half. Two free throws were made, one by Sorenson and the other by Sundeen, while Peterson made a field goal. That ended the visitor's part in the scoring. For the Prowlers, Mickelson put in two field goals, Lorentson one, and Bud Nelson one. Lorentson also made a free throw and Olson followed his example.

The Prowler "B" team was victorious over Newfolden in the preliminary game, the final score standing at 27 to 19.

Here is the box score for the East Grand Forks' game:

East Grand Forks	FG	FT	PF
Peterson	5	2	0
Rockwood	1	0	2
Sundeen	1	1	1
Kimblin	1	1	2
Sorenson	1	1	4
Hughes	0	2	0
Totals	9	7	9
Prowlers
Mickelson	4	1	2
Bud Nelson	1	0	2
Lorentson	1	1	0
Jung	2	0	4
Olson	0	1	0
Totals	8	3	12

WINNING PEP FEST IS PRESENTED BY GIRLS ON FRIDAY

Brunell Erickson Presides; Program Features Several Novelty Acts

On Friday, February 14, the girls presented the pep fest preceding the basket ball game with East Grand Forks.

Brunell Erickson was mistress of ceremonies. The pep fest was inaugurated with the school song, played, this time, by Helen Granum and directed by Miss Helquist.

A Russian dance was performed very well by Lois Ann Peterson of the sixth grade of Knox School. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Doris Halvorson Pope. Lois Ann wore a little Russian outfit composed of white boots, white fur cap, white satin blouse, and a short red skirt trimmed with white fur.

Brunell Erickson, with the help of nursery rhymes, introduced a group of "youngsters" who participated in a schoolroom skit. The pupils were Mona Mosleth, Audrey Anderson, Helen Rice, Lois Nelson, Lois Morell, and Ardith Melby. The typical old-maid teacher with horn-rimmed glasses and a long, old fashioned dress was Ardith Larson. The "children" greeted their teacher by singing "Good Morning to You" in a most dreadful discord. After showering her with valentines and the inevitable apple, they sang "School Days" and "Rhythm in my Nursery Rhymes", accompanied by Helen Granum. Even the teacher finally displayed her sense of rhythm in school.

Three Lincoln high school girls did a little novelty tap dancing number and were liked so well—and rightly too—that they received an encore. They were Roberta Dally, Lorraine Haken and Marcella Ruane. They wore black satin overalls, white satin blouses with red ties, and regulation shoes. Alyce Frolz accompanied them at the piano.

Mrs. Korstad gave an inspiring pep talk, telling us to puncture our cellophane wrapper as one would on a package of commercial "Pep" and watch the pep and enthusiasm flow out. She urged us to yell to let the team know we were back of they. She closed by reading a poem she had written about the team. Each word began with S. Most of them were beyond our limited vocabularies. In simple language, she informed us, it means "We've got a swell team!"

The pep fest ended with two yells led by Lois Engen and Edna Lee.

BALLY-WHO

After one of those great basketball games between the Frosh C and some XY or Z teams, one of the "Freshies" came up to the score keeper and asked, "What was the score?"

"46-2" was the reply.

"Oh, that isn't bad," exclaimed the little one. "Sometimes we get beat 48-0."

Little Freshie, don't you cry,
You'll grow up and be a senior
Same as the sophomore
By and by.

Bet all you seniors know that what and wherefore of the fourth dimension after that enlightening discourse.

Well, I guess we can now say—as changeless as cold weather.

It doesn't place any too good a name for ourselves among other schools by booing the referee.

I'd like to compliment Jerome on his superb sports article of the Warren game. Are you sure you didn't tell those girls you were going to write it?

I read an article as to how some of the colleges give lifetime passes to athletics to all their lettermen. It's likely to be met with favor at least by the players.

LITTLE STORIES FROM LIFE

There is the one about the man who made his son get wet feet so the extra box of cough drops wouldn't be wasted.

* * * *

And some of us will probably be able to use this one. When asked when we were graduated from high school, merely say, "My senior year."

* * * *

Then there was the bright thing who knew Lincoln couldn't have given the Gettysburg Address, because he lived in Washington.

* * * *

And here's a chance to make some money. A man in New York will pay anyone 1,000 dollars if someone will give him a million dollars.

STUDENTS WILL BE ELIGIBLE FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Journalistic, Debate, and Dramatic Enthusiasts May Participate

Outstanding junior and senior students in journalism, debate, and dramatics will be eligible for 70 tuition scholarships, totaling $3,750, which are being offered by the National Institution for High School students. Throughout the entire United States, these students ranking in the first quarter of their class, will attend a special course held at Northwestern University from June 29 to July 31.

Faculty members of the School of Speech and Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University will have charge of the institute. Visiting teachers and professional men will aid them.

The main purpose of the institute is to combine theory and practice in all of the courses. In addition to the work at the University, these students will spend several days devoted to trips to publishing plants, theatres, broadcasting stations, and museums. Journalism students will aid in the publication of the Daily Northwestern besides attending classes in copy-reading, news and sports reporting, and editorial and feature writing. Debaters and dramatists will participate in several plays and debates and build and design stage sets. This is an added feature to their studies in play production, stagecraft, diction, acting, and make-up.

At the close of the session three students who have performed outstanding work during the summer will be awarded scholarships, each worth $200, to Northwestern University. Further information may be secured from the director of the National Institution for high school students, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

REDSKINS TO PLAY HERE WEDNESDAY

Grand Forks Will Meet Locals on Home Floor

Next Wednesday the Prowlers play their final pre-tournament game when they engage the Grand Forks Redskins on the local floor.

Grand Forks defeated the Prowlers early in the season, but at present the teams should be more evenly matched. The Redskins have a good many scalps gathered from many strong North Dakota clubs and come here expecting to add another win. All of the starting five, which include Leo, Turner, Ilye, Huanl and Rood, are strong scorers; they all have height and experience which should make them a strong aggregation. In addition to the starting line-up given above, Central has a sophomore star in Bob Filrault, who can fill in at any position.

The Prowlers met Grand Forks after having completed a hard week previous and meeting three strong teams—Cass Lake, Bemidji and Crookston. The starting line-up is in doubt, but Mickelson, Bud Nelson, Lorentson, Jung and A. Nelson are expected to start.

ETIQUETTE

Many of the high school students who witnessed the East Grand basket ball game Friday night forgot themselves somewhat in their moments of hurt surprise and dismay. The behavior of these people was abominable. As many times as they have heard the criticisms against it in the etiquette column, they still acted in a manner so unbecoming well-disciplined high school students.

These people soon realized what they had been doing and were ashamed of themselves (we trust) when they heard the words of the referee, "I call these plays as I see them. Please have courtesy and good sportsmanship enough not to boo and ridicule these plays."

Many people think that the pep squad girls were mostly responsible for this break of etiquette. However, this is very untrue. The pep squad is no more to blame than the rest of the people in the audience.

Perhaps these rules, as set forth in the Official Handbook of the Minnesota High School League, will be of interest to spectators.

If a spectator—

1. He regards the playing of the game as an art and appreciates and enjoys it as much.
2. He respects the officials, the players, the students and himself.
3. He supports the home team, but is never discourteous to visitors.
4. He recognizes the need for more sportsmen and few "sports".

Hats off to the girls of high school! They did their best to outdo the boys in putting on a pep fest, and they succeeded very well.

The judges, who were chosen by Miss Helquist, are still a secret. She chose one boy and one girl from high school and two men and one woman from our faculty. The judges' decision was in favor of the girls, four to one. The judges based their decision on the amount of pep shown and on the fact that the girls had local talent in preference to out-of-town talent.

HEAR HELEN KELLER!

An opportunity for nearly every one to hear Miss Helen Keller, famous blind and deaf mute, will be presented over the N. B. C. network sometime next Monday evening. We are not acquainted as yet with her subject matter, but just to hear her talk—to hear her say what she herself cannot hear— is a privilege afforded for merely the tunning of your dial.

Miss Keller will always be an idol of the thousands of unfortunates with similar cases; also will she remain the inspiration toward success that she has always been.

Normal until eighteen months, she became blind and deaf as the result of a disease of unknown origin or character. At seven years, she was taught to speak—a feat believed impossible 50 years previous.

With the first hurdle safely passed, "she was hailed as 'almost a mental prodigy, and an 'intellectual phenomenon,' whose progress was 'a sort of triumphant march—a series of dazzling conquests.' The great megaphones of publicity have followed her, trumpeting truth and untruth with equal fury, even when the truth alone was more wonderful than all the embellishments heated imaginations could add to it." (The former quoted from the foreword of her autobiography "Midstream")

When you hear her next Monday evening, try to put yourself in her place and appreciate your sight and hearing.

ITERATION

Thank you, Mr. Gronnigan! We wish to comment you on your telling the students of our school the referee's view on the "Bronx."

To the students: Remember that the referee has the extensive job of watching ten active ball players and must call his decisions as he sees them and stick to his decisions!

Now with only one home game left, lay off the booing! And at the district tournament in Crookston, conduct yourselves for the good of the team! Remember: a referee, like an elephant, never forgets!

OUR GREATEST AMERICAN

George Washington, general, statesman, and first president of the United States, was born at Bridges Creek, Virginia, on Feb. 22, 1732.

Numerous stories have been written about Washingtons childhood. Almost everyone, at some time or other, has read Weem's fantastic story of Washington's hatchet and the cherry tree.

Washington's education was chiefly obtained from practical men and outdoor occupations rather than from books.

In 1753, Washington entered his military career with his expedition in the wilderness to warn the French of their hostile advances into British territory. His next military venture was with General Braddock as his personal aide-de-camp. Although defeated, Washington showed grim determination and supreme courage.

When the Revolutionary war broke out, he was selected as commander-in-chief of the Continental forces. No one who has read about the Revolutionary War will soon forget the hardships Washington and his army endured during the winter at Valley Forge. With the aid of the French, Washington brought about the downfall of British dominance in the colonies with the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown.

April 30, 1789, saw the inauguration of George Washington as first president of the United States. He served successfully in that position for eight years.

After his retirement, he led a life of leisure at his Mount Vernon estate. He died at his home on December 14, 1799, after a severe attach of laryngitis.

George Washington is remembered as being "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." He can well be accorded a preeminent place among the heroes of history.

Local Debate Team Loses to Warren Trio

At eight o'clock Monday evening in the Warren high school assembly, the Lincoln debate team composed of Fae Belcher, Oscar Bickley, and Morris Engelstad upheld the negative in a debate on the subject of a system of state medicine with an all-girl team from Warren upholding the affirmative. The members of this team were Elle Trost, Arline Sheldahl and Jean Hanson.

The judges, Mr. McCall, Mr. Ritzman, and Mr. Dunham, were all from the Crookston Agricultural College. The decision was two to one in favor of Warren.

This same team will uphold the affirmative against Crookston on Monday, February 24.

Auntie Carolyn's Column

Dear Auntie Carolyn:

I have been reading your column for a long time, and I hope you can help me as you have helped so many others. I have just been graduated from college, and I am about to start my first year of teaching. I would like to know what I should do to impress the superintendent and also to convince my pupils that I know my business. Please advise me as I feel hopelessly lost. V. T. Y.

Well, through my long and varied experience, I feel sure that I can give you some very good hints. First, stay up late every night so you can look naturally crabby. Secondly, be sure to let your hair grow so you can put it up in a pug, and never have it waved. Do not prepare your lessons, merely stand in front of the class and expound theories in words of sixteen cylinders (pardon me, I mean syllables.) Don't give the class a chance to give their ideas, tell them yours. Give tests every day just to show that you can, and give assignments of at least 20 pages so they can't possibly be covered. Carry home your books as an example, but then just forget about them until the next day. Also, when you give tests, be sure they coincide with those of another teacher so the pupils will be prevented from enjoying the latest movie, and when there is sufficient other work to keep them from studying so they may fail, thus giving you ample material for a lecture of at least fifteen minutes. Combine all these and you will most certainly fill the bill as a teacher. This of course, applies only to you, as a woman, V. T. Y.

Virginia Used Ducking Stool

The ducking stool was the common penalty for slander during colonial times in Virginia.

SUB DISTRICT DECLAM CONTEST HERE FEB. 21

Winners From T. R. Falls, Oslo, Alvarado, and Warren High Schools Will Compete

The sub-district declamation contest will be held in the high school assembly Friday, Feb. 21, at eight o'clock.

The first place winners of the humorous, dramatic, and oratory divisions of the Thief River Falls, Warren, Alvarado, and Oslo high school will compete. Evelyn Furuseth, Marjorie Matheson, and Oscar Bickley will represent Lincoln High School in the dramatic, humorous, and oratory divisions respectively.

The judges include the following: Superintendent P. W. Chase of the Warroad schools; Mr. W. W. Richardson, Warroad High School principal; and Miss Myrtle McElroom, instructor in the Warroad schools.

The first place winners will go to the district declamation contest which will be held at Warren, February 25.

PROWLERS WILL MEET CASS LAKE

Local Team Will Attempt to Repeat Previous History

Saturday evening the Prowlers meet Cass Lake at Cass Lake in their fourth game in nine days.

This game should result in a stiff battle with neither team having much of an advantage although Cass Lake may rate a slight favorite because of their superior height and the fact that only one of the Prowlers have seen action on the Cass Lake floor before. This is somewhat evened up by the fact that the Prowlers defeated the Lakers early in the season by a 23 to 18 count. The Lake team boasts a high scoring ace in Patske, captain and forward, who leads his team in scoring so far this season.

The Prowlers go to Cass Lake from Bemidji, where they meet the Lumberjacks Friday evening in another tough game. Coach Lee expects to have his squad in top form for these two games, which precede the district tournament by only two weeks. The personnel of the squad has not as yet been fully decided, but those who are expected to make the trip are Captain Mickelson, "Bud" Nelson, "Ade" Lorentson, Nesse, Jung, Art Nelson, Olson, Clark Mickelson, Adkins, and Stadum.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NEWS

Before the Knox school could play a basketball game with the Northrup school on Friday, a team had to be chosen. The boys that were selected are as follows: Dale Hostvet, center; Lincoln Carlson, George Effinger, forwards; and Nolen Ness and Douglas Snelling, guards.

Last week the pupils were busy making their Lincoln booklets and posters.

The Knox sixth grade club had a valentine party on Friday. The pupils exchanged valentines and enjoyed a hot lunch.

Washington School

Last week the Washington school selected its basketball team. The team is as follows: Orrin Peterson, center; Luther Fjelstad, Fredrick Orwoll, forwards; and Gordon Froseth and Orland Gjernes, guards. Substitutes include Morris Stokke, Lloyd Johnson, Donald Waage, and Homer Matheson.

Last Friday this team competed against the Knox school and were victorious by a score of 16-13. They will play Northrup school on Friday.

A Tribute to the Team

(Editor's note— Mrs. Korstad's quaint word portrayal of Coach Lee and his basketball team captured many praises from the student body last Friday. With her permission, we are printing it this week.)

They are, as you know, a sweetly striking semblance. Stamina, not to stagnate, but spurred on to superior spheres with stupendous, surcharged surveillance, never stooping to surrender but on to success. Such seeming solidity is seldom seen in similar surroundings. Often strikingly sobered, still skittish, sometimes sedate, so solemn, suave, sizable, too. They seek sidereal shibboleths in shimmering shadows, synchronizing all syncopations.

WATCH COMPANY SPONSORS CONTEST OPEN TO STUDENTS

Pupils Will Write Essays on the Importance of Time

The Elofson Jewelry Store of this city announces that it has been authorized by the Gruen Watch Company to announce the following contest which will be of interest to all high school students. Writing on the subject "The Importance of Time", any student may submit an essay of not more than 250 words.

Announcement of the winners will be made on March 28. At this time a first prize of $500 will be presented to the student whose essay is judged as being the highest. Five hundred dollars will also be given to the school attended by the winner. Other prizes include the following: second prize, $200 to the student whose essay is judged second plus $200 to the school this person attends; third prize, $100 to the student whose essay ranks third plus $100 to the winner's school; next fifty prizes, a Gruen watch in a choice of boys' or girls' model.

Dennis Q. Burns, President of Xavier University; Julian Morgenstern, President of the Hebrew Union College; Robert Taft, former Speaker of Ohio House of Representatives; and Raymond Walters, President of the University of Cincinnati, will compose the committee of judges. Their decision will be announced on March 28 on the radio program of "Washington Merry-Go-Round of the Air."

This contest is open to all high school and preparatory students in the United States. Essays, with official entry blanks, must be mailed to Contest Department, the Gruen Watch Company, Time Hill, Cincinnati, Ohio, not later than midnight, March 15, 1936, to be eligible for prizes. Students may submit as many essays as they desire, but none will be returned. All material immediately becomes the property of the Gruen Watch Company.

Lincoln High School students are encouraged to participate in this contest. Official entry blanks may be obtained at Elofson's Jewelry Store.

GYM GEMS

Next week marks the end of our color tournament and the winner is to be announced. "Mystery Reward" will also be announced, and the captainball tourney ends.

Have you heard? The girls have all embroidered their names, nicknames, or initials on their gym suits. It's so that people will wear their own suits (which some of them haven't been doing of late).

LOCALS DEFEAT PIRATES TUESDAY BY 24-23 SCORE

Prowler Cagers Hold Lead Through Entire Roughly Played Game Held Here

The Crookston High School Pirates went down to defeat at the hands of the Prowlers in one of the most exciting, as well as rough games played on the local floor for many weeks. The first score of the game was made in the opening thirty seconds of play for the Prowlers by Jung, and Crookston immediately took time out. Then the play started to get rough.

It wasn't long before Art Nelson made a free throw, Mickelson followed with a field goal and Art Nelson another one. Crookston again took time out, and afterwards Barnes made the one and only basket for the visitors in the first quarter, which ended at 7 to 2 with the locals on top. The second period opened and E. Panzer put in a field goal, bringing the score to 7 to 4. Lorentson followed with two fields goals and Jung was credited with one, adding six more points to the Prowlers' score. The Pirates called time out again. After the rest period Bud Nelson made another field goal. The two Panzer brothers each made one for the visitors and Mickelson put in one for the locals, ending the first half with the score at 17 to 8 with the Prowlers still on top. During the third quarter the Pirates crawled up to within three points of the locals, Barnes starting the scoring with a long shot and Vordale and Wheelhouse each making a free shot. Bud Nelson then made the only two points for the Prowlers in the third period. E. Panzer followed with another field goal for the opponents, and time out was taken by the locals. Barnes made still another one, ending the quarter with the score 16 to 19, the Prowlers still commanding the lead. The last quarter opened and Bud Nelson and Nesse were each credited with a field goal. Mickelson made the last point for the Prowlers on a free shot. E. Panzer and Wheelhouse each put in a field goal and Barnes made three free throws. The final score was 23 to 24 in favor of the Prowlers.

But Nelson was high point man for the locals with six points to his credit and Barnes for the Pirates, making a total of nine points.

However, the whole team deserves much credit for playing a splendid game of ball. The box score of the game follows:

Crookston	FG	FT	PF
E. Panzer	4	0	2
R. Panzer	1	0	0
Vordale	0	1	1
Barnes	3	3	0
Wheelhouse	1	1	1
Prowlers
Mickelson	2	1	1
Bud Nelson	3	0	0
A. Lorentson	2	0	2
Jung	2	0	2
Art Nelson	1	1	3
Nesse	1	0	1
	11	2	9

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume 26. Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, Thursday, Feb. 27, 1936 Number 9

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

JURY IN COURT MONDAY TO GET ONLY 3 CASES

Jurors Face One of Shortest Calendars in Past Several Years

CONDEMNATION CASE IS FIRST TO COME UP

Two Cases Continued; Other Actions to be Heard by Court

One of the shortest calendars of cases in recent years will confront petit purors when they assemble in the court room in the court house next Monday morning, Mar. 2, at 10 o'clock for the winter term of district court.

Only three jury cases are scheduled to come before the session, over which Judge M. A. Brattland will preside. The actions were set for trial Monday at a conference of attorneys with the presiding judge.

The first case to be considered will be the appeal of Olga Stewart et al. in condemnation proceedings instituted by the city of Thief River Falls to acquire title to property southwest corner of the block on which the Auditorium is situated, the commissioners' award having been unsatisfactory to the appellant.

Second on the list of jury cases will be the action of Arthur Simonson vs. H. O. Tommerdahl, which will be followed by the case of the Larson company vs. K. E. Dahl. Actions continued over the terms were those of Ross Cronkhite vs. W. J. Durbahn and the State of Minnesota vs. John A. Ristau.

Court cases scheduled for hearing yesterday by Judge Brattland included those of C. A. Nachbar & company vs. Ed Hill; Lydia Goethe vs. Henning G. Goethe; and LaSalle Extension university vs. L. A. Anderson.

BANGS' DISEASE TESTING HELD UP FOR FEW WEEKS

Work Suspended as Result of Poor Condition of Highways

Bangs disease testing, which has been carried on in Pennington county herds this winter by Dr. L. R. Twete was suspended last week owing to poor traveling conditions, and will be resumed when the roads are opened up again, it was announced this week.

Almost 58 per cent of 34,000 cattle herds in Minnesota tested for Bangs disease since August, 1934, have contained reactors, Dr. W. J. Fretz, St. Paul, federal veterinarian, in charge of state disease control reported. Of about 534,000 cattle which have been tested, about 63,000, or almost 12 per cent, have reacted, he said.

Frigid temperatures and snow-blocked roads have prevented the 200 resident Minnesota veterinarians and 20 traveling veterinarians working out of Dr. Fretz' office from continuing their work in the last few weeks, he said, while some samples successfully obtained were rendered useless for testing purposes by low temperatures.

Dr. Fretz urged all Minnesota cattle owners who have not applied for the service to contact their county agents immediately as federal funds for the work may be discontinued June 30.

Former Residents of City Plan Reunion in Minneapolis March 21

A joint annual reunion of former residents of the Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire communities will be held Saturday evening, March 21, at the Curtis hotel in Minneapolis. Local people who may be in the Twin Cities at that time are invited to attend the reunion, which will be featured by dancing and other entertainment and the serving of refreshments, an admission fee of 25 cents being charged. Members of the Thief River Falls committee include Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president; A. Tanem, treasurer; and Mrs. Theodore Tandberg, secretary; while the St. Hilaire committee is made up of Mrs. Milton Schantzen, chairman; Howard Bilden, Mrs. Sigurd Engh and Miss Lulu Beebe.

Lincoln Debaters Win from Crookston Monday

Altho Lincoln high school defeated Crookston Monday evening in the district high school debate tourney finals by a vote of 2 to 1, the Crookston team was awarded the district title by virtue of having seven judges' votes out of nine in three debates, while the Lincoln team had six out of nine. Members of the local team were Morris Engelstad, Oscar Bickley and Fay Belcher.

JOHN BRANDT

President of Land O'Lakes Creameries in Minneapolis, who will be the principal speaker next Wednesday at the annual convention of creamery operators and patrons in District 17. The meeting will be held in the Auditorium.

COUNCIL MEETS IN SPECIAL SESSION TUESDAY EVENING

Seeks Settlement of Appeal From Condemnation Award

Following a discussion of the Olga Stewart appeal in condemnation proceedings brought by the city, which is scheduled to come up for trial next Monday, the council at a special session Tuesday evening instructed City Attorney Theodore Quale to attempt to arrange a compromise settlement out of court. The appraisers in the proceedings had awarded $800 for six lots in the southwest corner of the Auditorium block.

Mayor W. W. Prichard discussed his failure to sign a resolution passed by the council authorizing a compromise of delinquent taxes on property owned by Mrs. Martin Evenson on Horace av. The matter is scheduled to come up for consideration again at the next regular meeting of the council.

The council ratified acceptance of a policy covering workmen's compensation insurance on all city employes written last month in a mutual company. Robert J. Lund was present at the meeting in behalf of a company represented by him.

SUPT. MORRIS BYE TO ADDRESS P.T.A. MONDAY EVENING

High School Band and Land O'Lakes Quartet Also on Program

The March meeting of the Parent-Teacher association next Monday evening in the Lincoln high school assembly room will be featured by an address by Supt. Morris Bye, who has announced as his subject, "Educational Progress in Thief River Falls".

Miss Florence Parsons, school nurse, will submit a report on the pre-school clinic held last spring under the sponsorship of the association. Musical offerings will include selections by the high school band under the direction of S. P. Orwoll and songs by the Land O' Lakes quartet, including Clarence Sande, Douglas Booren, Clarence Vevea and Carl Brahs.

Following the program lunch will be served by a committee of members of the association.

Work of Remodeling Interior of J. & B. Drug Store Under Way

The work of completely renovating and modernizing the interior of the J. & B. drug store got under way this week, with business continuing as usual while the work is in progress, it was announced by H. A. Baumann of Johnson & Baumann, proprietors. The walls, ceiling and fixtures are being redecorated by August Holmberg, the latest type of glassed in prescription department is being installed, as well as an attractive new soda fountain, which will be located on the east side of the front section of the store instead of the west side as formerly. Other improvements will include new booths and a large neon sign.

"King of Burlesque" at Avalon Next Sunday

OFFICIALS GO TO ST. PAUL TO TALK PENSIONS

Senstad and Berve Will Meet With State Director Saturday

K. HAYCRAFT SUMMONS STATEWIDE MEETING

Washington Meeting Hints Possible Hitch in Pension Plan

The county board meeting last Thursday as a committee of the whole to discuss old-age pension arrangements, authorized County Auditor A. M. Senstad and County Attorney H. O. Berve to attend a conference in St. Paul Saturday with Kenneth Haycraft, state director of the old-age assistance bureau, to map administrative plans. Several members of the county board also may attend the conference.

Mr. Senstad said this week that if anything develops to interfere with putting the new pension plan into effect March 1 as scheduled, present recipients of $5 monthly pensions will continue to receive them until the new plan becomes operative.

The pension plan, to go into effect March 1, was under close scrutiny by the social security board in Washington this week, with some hints that it might be held up because the appropriation for administration is ruled inadequate, it was announced in St. Paul.

Officials believed, however, that this detail would be ironed out, and conferences were in progress both here and in Washington to settle the matter.

Should it develop that federal funds are withheld because of this technicality, it would mean that pension allowances to aged persons in Minnesota would be cut in two for the present. Under the state law, pension allowances are to be reduced if federal funds do not arrive for any reason.

Early approval of the old age pension law and administrative regulations by the federal social security board was forecast at the same time by members of the state board of control as they conferred with Attorney General Harry H. Peterson relative to an interpretation of the act in accordance with federal requirements.

In Washington Kenneth Haycraft revised his program for administration to make it purely a supervisory agency, and expressed the hope that this setup would win approval. He said Miss Helen Bary, associate director of the public assistance bureau, told him the state setup may be disapproved because the federal bureau regards the administrative appropriation too small.

The legislature allotted $75,000 for administration to last until June 30, 1937. In addition, counties are responsible for their own administrative costs, and the federal government will add 5 per cent of its allotment to the state to be used for administration. Haycraft sought to get a ruling on whether the federal 5 per cent could be used for state administration; if it can, it makes another $50,000 available.

Other provisions of the pension act were being checked over, and Mr. Haycraft indicated he was satisfied there would be no difficulty about getting approval of its provisions.

After his conference in Washington Haycraft said, a "conservative" legislature had fixed the $75,000 limitation, apparently fearful a larger sum "would create too many jobs for farmer-laborites."

Inasmuch as the legislature does not meet again until 1937, there is no prospect of changing the law, Haycraft said.

The law calls for starting pension payments March 1. He estimated some 10,000 eligibles would receive about $20 for that month, with the payments eventually reaching the maximum of $30. Eligibles in the state he estimated at 30,000.

John Brandt Addresses Rotary Club Luncheon

John Brandt of Minneapolis, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, was a guest Tuesday noon at the Rotary club luncheon in the Evelyn hotel, and spoke briefly. Tom Mehegan, who attended the twelfth annual international goodwill convention at Winnipeg, discussed details of the meeting.

Merchants Will Act on Closing Hours Tonight

All merchants of the city are invited to attend a meeting in the Civic and Commerce association rooms this evening at 6 o'clock, at which time final action is expected to be taken on a proposed schedule of closing hours and holiday observances drawn up by the merchants committee of the association. Lunch will be served following the business session, Secretary Paul Lundgren announced.

Pennington Receives Total of $34,201 in AAA Benefit Payments

During the period the agricultural adjustment administration was functioning from May 12, 1933, to October 31, 1935, Pennington county farmers received a total of $34,201.44 in rental and benefit payments, according to a tabulation prepared by Anna Dickie Oleson, state director of the National Emergency council. Included in the aggregated amount were $23,021.68 in wheat benefits and $11,179.76 in corn-hog payments. Marshall county, with its large wheat acreage, received during the same period, a total of $335,827.08 from the AAA, while the entire state received $31,052,814.60.

200 LAND O'LAKES CREAMERY MEN CONVENE TUESDAY

Discuss Business of Organization in Sons of Norway Hall

A gathering of 200 members of creamery boards and operators in Land O'Lakes Districts 17 and 14 assembled Tuesday afternoon in the Sons of Norway hall for a business session with John Brandt, president, and Emil G. Johnson, treasurer, of Land O' Lakes Creameries.

The discussion served to clarify many points regarding the financial condition and management of the huge cooperative organization, such discussions being impossible at the annual district meetings owing to the crowded programs. A. M. Dunton of Bagley served as chairman of the meeting, and Olaf Holdahl of Roseau as secretary.

B. J. Ommodt, former Land O' Lakes field man and manager of field service in the Minneapolis office, spoke in explanation of his retirement from the organization. He is now affiliated with the Co-operative Auditing service in Minneapolis.

DR. BILLINGS TO 'TALK TURKEY' IN COUNTY MAR. 5-6

Authority Will Speak at Series of Four Meetings in County

Dr. W. A. Billings of University Farm, St. Paul, well-known authority on all phases of turkey production will be in the county Thursday and Friday, March 5 and 6 to discuss turkey problems, County Agent R. M. Douglass announced today.

Meetings will be held as follows: Thief River Falls

Court house, Thief River Falls, Thursday, March 5, 2 p. m; Frank Lundeen school in Deer Park Twp. Thursday, 8 p. m., St. Hilaire, Bilden & Olson hall, Friday, March 6th, 2 p. m; Rosewood school in Mayfield Twp., Friday, 8 p. m.

Dr. Billings will discuss turkey management covering breeding, incubation, brooding, disease-control, feeding and marketing. Anyone interested in turkeys will do well to talk over his problems with Dr. Billings at one of these meetings, Mr. Douglass said.

Use Heaviest Seed Available, Specialist Says at Meetings

The importance of using the heaviest seed available this year cannot be too strongly emphasized, was the statement made by W. W. Brookins, extension agronomist, at meetings held at Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire late last week.

Mr. Brookins pointed out that although there is no relationship between test weight and germination, the seedlings from heavier wheat will possess much more vitality.

He advised farmers who have to use light wheat to grade it up by heavy fanning. Considerable improvement can be effected in this way. A germination test should be made on all grain intended for seed.

Wheat tests may be obtained by sending samples to the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, he said, and wheat and other seeds will be tested if sent to the Seed Testing Laboratory at University Farm, St. Paul.

The method of treating seed wheat is important. Treatment with ceresan improved germination greatly in all instances, while treatment with formaldehyde was injurious, Mr. Brookins said. To give light weight seeds the best possible chance, seed beds should be in good condition at seeding time.

The desirability of seeding more of our land to forage crops was also discussed. Alfalfa should be given more consideration, says Mr. Brookins, as it is still the cheapest source of high quality nutrients available.

WORST STORM OF THE YEAR BLOCKS ROADS

Twelve Hour Fall of Snow Piled Into Drifts By Strong Wind Yesterday

ALL TRUNK HIGHWAYS WILL BE OPEN TODAY

County Hopes to Have State Aid System Plowed and Open by Saturday

Twelve hours of snow, driven by a strong east wind, tied up traffic temporarily yesterday and gave road maintenence crews their first serious problems of the winter in this section of the state. It is expected however that all main roads out of Thief River Falls will be opened by this afternoon and if the weather remains settled county officials expect that all state aid roads will be plowed out by Saturday.

Reports indicate that the storm extended over a wide area of Minnesota and Dakota and was especially severe in the prairie sections. Train service on the Wheat Line west from here and on the Drake line west from Fordville was suspended but Soo Line officials expect to be able to resume service on these lines tomorrow. With these exceptions, train service has been maintained on the regular schedule.

Bus service between here and Crookston is resumed today, the bus having failed to make the evening trip down and back yesterday. Two Jung's Bakery trucks were unable to get back to Thief River Falls last night, one being tied up at Alvarado and the other at Nielsville.

Temperatures which have been extremely low thruout the month reached a high for February Sunday afternoon when the thermometer went up to a plus 27. The low for the past seven days was registered last Friday when a minimum of —27 was recorded. This morning's reading was —16. For the first thirty-two days following the installation of a government thermometer at this point the average minimum was —28.25, considered to be an all-time cold wave record in this territory. During this period the mercury failed to go below—20 only six days and on five days it was under the —40 mark, reaching an official —46 on February 15.

B. O. Norby Addresses Junior C. and C. Group

B. O. Norby, manager of the local Land O'Lakes poultry plant, was the speaker last Thursday at the regular meeting of the Junior Civic and Commerce association. He stressed the efforts made by the Land O'Lakes organization to promote high quality in the products it deals in. The next meeting of the association will be held Thursday, March 5, Gorman Thompson, president, announced.

Magnuson New Director of State Grocers Group

A. M. Magnuson, proprietor of the Independent grocery, last week was elected a director of the Minnesota Retail Grocers and General Merchants association at its annual convention in St. Cloud. Mr. Magnuson will represent the tenth district of the organization.

Civic & Commerce Group to Meet With Winnipeg Mayor Friday, March 6

Acting on a suggestion of Mayor W. W. Prichard, the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday took action to hold next weeks' meeting Friday noon, March 6, in order to have as its guest Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg, who will speak that evening at the Auditorium under the auspices of the Sons and Daughters of Norway. A committee was appointed to serve with Mayor Prichard in making arrangements for the meeting. Other speakers at last Thursday's meeting included E. L. Egermayer, recently appointed director of the municipal band, and Envoy E. W. Bailey of the Salvation Army.

St. Hilaire Livestock Group Holds Meeting

The St. Hilaire Cooperative Livestock Shipping association last year shipped 26 carloads of stock, with total receipts of $27,081.10, it was reported at the annual meeting Monday. R. M. Miller of the Central Cooperative Livestock Marketing association of South St. Paul spoke at the meeting, and Frank Bothman and Wylie Ewing were reelected to the board of directors. Joe Patten served as president and Victor G. Brink, secretary-treasurer.

Mayor of Winnipeg to Speak in City March 6

Norwegian Groups Present Mayor John Queen at Auditorium

Acting in cooperation with the Civic and Commerce association, the Sons and Daughters of Norway will present the next in their winter series of lecture and concert programs at the municipal Auditorium Friday evening, Mar. 6, it was announced today. Earlier programs had been presented in the Sons of Norway hall.

The address of the evening will be delivered by Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg, who will speak on a topic of his own selection. To insure a large audience to hear the chief executive of the Manitoba capital, arrangements have been made to charge no admission fee, and the public is invited to attend. Mayor W. W. Prichard will preside.

In addition to other musical offerings, Bjorn Balchen of Winnipeg, baritone soloist, will present a group of selections. Mr. Balchen is a cousin of Bernt Balchen, famous Arctic flyer.

Personal Property Tax Deadline Next Saturday

The office of County Treasurer John Gullingsrud has presented a busy scene during the past week, with a steady stream of county residents coming in to pay their personal property taxes. Saturday, February 29, is the last day on which payment may be made without the addition of a penalty, Mr. Gullingsrud announced today.

HARTZ STORES CO. ADDS SEVEN UNITS DURING PAST YEAR

Company With Headquarters in City Employs 25 Persons Here

The L. B. Hartz Stores, Inc., with headquarters in Thief River Falls, in 1935 added seven additional grocery stores to the system, making a total of twenty units in Northwestern Minnesota, L. B. Hartz, proprietor, announced today. The added stores are located in Williams, Karlstad, Fosston, Kennedy, Shelly and Bemidji, and in St. Thomas, N. D.

The company maintains its bakery and store in this city, in addition to large warehouse facilities at the local cooperative creamery, where it occupies the entire basement and second floor, in addition to a portion of the first floor.

A total of 25 to 30 persons are employed in the city, the number including six truck drivers. In addition to truck shipments, Mr. Hartz estimated that rail shipments of merchandise into Thief River Falls during the current year would aggregate 150 carloads.

The company, Mr. Hartz indicated, has further plans for expansion to be carried out during the coming year, several additional stores being in prospect.

FALLS SUPPLY CO. TO OPEN HERE FOR BUSINESS MONDAY

Wholesale Enterprise Will be Under Management of Lloyd Johnson

The Falls Supply company, dealing in automobile, truck and tractor parts and machine work, will open for business next Monday in the Korstad building on East Third st., it was announced today by Lloyd Johnson, who will serve as manager of the new enterprise.

The company, which will sell exclusively at wholesale to garages and repair shops, will be operated as a branch of the Grand Forks Supply corporation, of which Otto Gullingsrud, formerly of this city, is one of the principal owners.

Mr. Johnson is thoroly familiar with automotive lines, having been in the employ of local garages for the past fifteen years. Will Korstad, who formerly occupied the building, will have his headquarters at the Phillips 66 service station adjoining.

Junior C. & C. Basketball Team to Meet Indians in Closing Game of Series

The Junior Civic and Commerce Basketball team will meet the Red Lake Indians here on Friday night in a rubber game, each team having won one game previous. The Indians defeated the locals at Minneapolis last spring in the B. E. R. A. tournament and the J. C. & C. team defeated the Indians at Red Lake about a month ago. Both games were won by a one point margin and this should make this one of the most closely contested games which has been played on the home floor for some time.

The Indians have as their two outstanding stars the two Fairbanks brothers Irwin and Red. Irwin Fairbanks formerly played with the Bemidji High school while Red was selected as an All American forward of the Catholic tournament of a few years ago. The balance of the Redskins are composed of full blooded Indians from Red Lake Agency. This team is considered the outstanding club in their section of the country.

The locals have lost but one game during the season and have defeated all the teams in the Northern part of the state and are determined to win the deciding game of this series. The local team is entered in Crookston's annual Independent Tournament in which there are twenty teams entered. The drawings have not as yet been announced, but it is expected that the local team will be playing the first game on Saturday night. The tournament is to be run off this coming Saturday, Sunday, and Monday and a number of local fans are expected to attend the tournament.

RE-EMPLOYMENT OFFICE PREPARES FOR EARLY PICKUP

Calls for Listing of Applicants for Jobs to Open This Spring

In anticipation of considerable highway and building construction this coming season all persons residing in Pennington County who are out of employment and who have had previous experience in this line of work in the skilled and semi-skilled classes are requested to contact the National Re-employment Office at Thief River Falls between the hours of 8:00 A. M. and 5:00 P. M. on any week day.

It is expected that workers of the following classes will be in demand: Grading, Graveling and Oiling—Slopers, rip-rappers, truck drivers (1½ to 5 ton), caterpillar tractor operators (pulling elevating graders, blades, tumblebugs, hydraulic scrapers, bulldozers and black top pavers), dragline, power shovel, elevating grader, blade grader, rock crushers, oil spreading machine and black top paver operators.

Paving Construction — Batch truck drivers, pipe line men, bull float operators, metal formsetters and jointmen. Bridge and Culvert Construction — Piledriver men, form carpenters and helpers, concrete rubbers and finishers, structural steelworkers and painters.

Public Building Construction — Carpenters (rough and finish), bricklayers and tenders, mortar mixers, painters, roofers, plumbers and steam fitters, pipe coverers, electricians, concrete finishers and stationary hoist operators.

The NRS office is experiencing a shortage of domestic help such as housekeepers on farms, maids, waitresses, etc., and all women desiring this kind of employment are requested to get in touch with the office at their earliest opportunity as with the advent of spring this class of workers will be in demand. Farmhands will also be in demand at this time. All persons having trucks in good condition equipped for gravel or dirt hauling should notify the office to this effect.

LAND O'LAKES MEETING HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Creamery Men From District 17 Will Convene at Auditorium

JOHN BRANDT TO GIVE ADDRESS TO MEMBERS

Roseau Band and Ulen Male Chorus Will Supply Selections

What has developed into one of the largest meetings of the year in this section will be held at the Auditorium in Thief River Falls next Wednesday, March 4, when creamery operators, directors and patrons assemble for the annual meeting of Land O'Lakes District 17. Sessions will open at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

The feature of the afternoon program will be an address by John Brandt, president and general manager of Land O'Lakes Creameries, who will discuss developments in the organization during the past year. Musical selections will be provided during the noon hour and in the afternoon by the thirty-piece Roseau band, the Ulen male chorus and the Land O'Lakes quartet.

Operators during the past year at the Land O'Lakes plant in this city will be discussed by B. O. Norby, manager, whose talk will be supplemented by reports by heads of the various departments of the local institution.

District President Stuart McLeod at the morning session will call for annual reports by Peter Engelstad, secretary; E. D. Rydeen of Clearbrook, treasurer; and John Lager, field man. P. L. Anderson of Crookston, field man in District 14, will comment on Mr. Lager's report.

Refreshments will be served to delegates during the noon hour in the Auditorium, with the Roseau band furnishing a group of selections.

No attendance contest will be held in conection with this year's convention, it was announced. The territory comprised in District 17 includes Pennington, Marshall, Roseau, Kittson, Red Lake and Clearwater counties and parts of Polk and Beltrami.

PROWLERS LOSE WEEK-END GAMES BY CLOSE SCORES

Drop Contest to Bemidji 22 to 20 in Overtime Period

The Prowlers journeyed south during the week end and lost two hard fought games, one to Bemidji, 22 to 20; and the other to Cass Lake, 29 to 21.

The game with Bemidji Friday evening was one of the hardest and best games that the Prowlers have played this season. Bemidji led at the end of the first quarter by 8 to 4. During the second quarter they were held scoreless while the Prowlers ran up a 13 to 8 lead at the end of the half.

Bemidji regained the lead at the end of the third quarter by 17 to 14. The fourth quarter was nip and tuck until the Prowlers stepped into the lead 20 to 15 with 60 seconds left to play. Bemidji dropped in the five remaining points to tie the game. In the overtime period Bemidji got the needed points by dropping in two free throws. Mickelson starred for the Prowlers in both the Bemidji and the Cass Lake games.

Coach Lee's Prowlers had a hard time to get their offense functioning in the Cass Lake game Saturday and tho in the lead twice were unable to hold it. The final score was 29 to 21.

March 14 Tentative Date Set for Removal Into New Postoffice

Saturday, March 14, has been tentatively fixed as the day on which the postoffice will be moved into its new quarters in the federal building now being completed, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced. He said present indications are that the structure will be finished by that time, and it is expected that items of furniture now lacking will reach the city in time to permit opening on the date set.

Twenty-five Musicians Out for Band Practice

A large group of local musicians turned out Monday evening at the Auditorium for the first regular practice session of the municipal band under the direction of E. L. Egermayer. Fully 25 members were present with their instruments, including a number who had not formerly been affiliated with the local organization. It was announced that practice sessions will be held regularly in the future each Monday evening.

Not All "Made in U. S."

American labor does not manufacture everything labeled "Made in America." There are clothing houses in New York city that have their garments cut and sewed in the West Indies, Mexico, the Philippines and even Japan, having found that the cost of this method including shipping charges both ways, is less than production costs in their own factories.—Collier's Weekly.

FOOD FASHIONS FOR LENT!

By MARYE DAHNKE, Kraft Cheese Institute

"And leap year makes it twenty-nine!"

Just as if twenty-eight days in February weren't enough for this business of meal-planning! With the Lenten season, and Leap year, and everyday budgets all to be considered at one time, this is just the season to add a few new special recipes to the cookbook, to help tide over winter days.

That staple commodity, cheese, is an ever-present aid in planning meals for the Lenten season—and for meals the year-around. Known for centuries as the perfect Lenten food, cheese has a way of transforming ordinary dishes. Sharp American or "Old English" cheese can be included in so many interesting ways to late winter menus that well-stocked pantry shelves should harbor a generous supply. The combination of fish with cheese is ideal for the season—and a happy pair to satisfy winter-whetted appetites. One of the most delicious of these is well named, "Cheese and Crab Delight." It is attractive enough to serve as the principal attraction for a party luncheon, and substantial enough to form the main dish for a family dinner. A molten cheese sauce provides just the proper setting for delicately flavored crabmeat—and the resulting delicacy is as pleasant to the eye as it is to the appetite.

Cheese and Crab Delight

- 2 tbsp. chopped green pepper
- 2 tbsp. butter
- 2 tbsp. flour
- ½ tsp. mustard
- ¼ tsp. salt
- Dash of cayenne pepper
- 1 cup cooked & strained tomatoes
- 1 cup dehydrated grated cheese
- 1 egg slightly beaten
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 cup crabmeat

Cook green pepper in butter for 3 minutes, blend in flour; add seasonings, tomatoes, cheese and eggs; cook a few minutes. Heat the milk before adding the other ingredients, then crabmeat. Serve on rounds of toast or crackers. Save 1 tablespoon of cheese to be sprinkled on top when serving.

Some additional main-dish Lenten specialties made with cheese are easily made as follows: They are destined to remain popular family favorites the year round.

Halibut With Cheese Sauce

- 2 cups milk
- 2 tbsp. butter
- 4 tbsp. flour
- Salt, pepper, paprika
- 2 cups grated American cheese

Make a sauce with the milk, butter and flour, seasoning to taste. When thickened, add the grated cheese. Arrange half-inch slices of halibut in a buttered baking dish, pour the cheese sauce around them and bake in a moderate oven, 350°, until the halibut is tender. Remove the fish to a crystal platter, surround with the sauce and garnish with parsley.

Macaroni Cheese Timbales

- 1 cup grated American cheese
- 1½ cups milk
- 2 eggs
- ½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- Salt, pepper
- 1½ cups cooked macaroni (broken)
- 4 mushroom caps
- ½ pound all-milk cheese
- Salt, pepper

Blend well the grated cheese, milk, well-beaten eggs and seasonings. Divide the macaroni equally among 4 buttered custard cups and fill cups with the cheese mixture. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven, 350°, until firm. Unmold onto a platter, garnish each timbale with a mushroom cap, and serve with sauce made with the all-milk cheese, milk and seasonings cooked in a double boiler until cheese is melted.

Cheese and Vegetable Casserole

- 2 cups cooked spaghetti
- 2 cups cooked peas
- 1 onion chopped
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 3 fresh tomatoes
- 1 cup bread crumbs
- Salt and pepper
- 1 cup grated American cheese

Place half the spaghetti in a large baking dish, mix the peas with the chopped onion and green pepper and place half of it on the spaghetti, following this with half the sliced tomatoes, bread crumbs and seasonings. Repeat with remaining ingredients except cheese. Cover the dish and bake it in a moderate oven, 350°, about an hour. Uncover, sprinkle with grated cheese and return to the oven for 10 minutes.

Growing With Your Child

Self-Reliance

Self-reliance is the goal toward which children grow up. They picture self-reliance as delightful, adulthood as an ideal time, because then, they imagine, they can decide things for themselves, and "do as they please." As a matter of fact, as one author suggests, "Adulthood means discipline, self-control, judgment, responsibility and justice. These are all irksome to human nature, they make such demands upon it and challenge so frequently the desires upon which the heart is set."

The individual who is learning by experience along the way of meaning of all these words as applied to his own life is having a preparation for a smoother running adult experience than would otherwise be possible. The more fully we can slough off the childishly dependent behavior of our early years, the better able we shall be to face realities which might otherwise prove staggering. The child whose parents foresee and lavishly satisfy every wish for toys and clothes, giving no training in the use of money, is being ill prepared for the fact that, in adult life, pay checks do not automatically cover one's desires.

It is only too easy for parents to continue on the basis of helpfulness and protection which was natural and right during the period of their children's infancy, but the continuance of which any longer than is necessary proves a handicap to the child's growth in initiative, courage, and self-confidence.

How soon can we begin to offer children opportunities for the development of these attitudes? The child of eighteen months can, we know, feel himself fairly well. What, then, is mother doing to her child when, at the age of two years, he is still being fed, learning to expect to have things done for him? The child of three and four can gain a considerable feeling of achievement by putting on and taking off his own clothes. Yet many mothers mistakenly "save time" by continuing to dress children long after they could do it alone.

The more we know about children's development, the better prepared we shall be to judge as to whether we are expecting too much or too little of them, or whether our requirements are in keeping with their powers. Only by knowing what to expect shall we avoid extremes of overloading children with responsibilities, or of keeping them from assuming those by which they would profit.

There is a danger that in our effort to make children responsible and self-reliant, we may make them feel their obligations too deeply. This is often the result of too much work, monotonous work that becomes drudgery. The little girl who is given much care of younger children in the family may come to loathe the responsibility, if it is thrust on her young shoulders at the expense of her own interests. The boy who must do the same tiring task week in and week out, month after month, may acquire a feeling of despondency and boredom, rather than a sense of satisfaction in his dependability. Shifting tasks from time to time keeps work from becoming so tedious as to be disliked.

Children need early practice in making decisions, if they are to acquire the ability to make a good percentage of those decisions wise ones. If their opportunities for making choices between different courses of action are put off until they reach an age where they will have to look after themselves, there will be many instances either of ability-stalling delay, or of hasty conclusions that turn out poorly.

A boy of seven came down to breakfast with a torn shirt on. When he protested at the idea of changing, his mother said, "Very well, you needn't change necessarily but you must either put on another shirt, or a sweater. This shirt isn't worth mending, and you can get a little wear out of it that way." After this, no matter which course the boy decided on, it would be one in which he was taking the initiative, rather than being commanded.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

A former Minnesota teacher, Miss Hortense O'Dougherty of Annandale, Minn., is attending the three months' school in alcohol education being conducted at the national W. C. T. U. headquarters in Evanston, Ill. Miss O'Dougherty is one of four teachers chosen from various parts of the country by Miss Bertha Rachel Palmer, national director of alcohol education, to attend the school.

"What Alcohol Is and What It Does" is the theme of study at the school. Miss O'Dougherty, because of her outstanding educational work, was selected to be a "teacher of teachers" and with the other three, will travel throughout the United States to give instruction in methods of alcohol education starting early in April.

The students in the school were received by the officers of the national W.C.T.U. on January 1 at the home of the temperance leader and W.C.T.U. organizer, the late Frances Willard, in Evanston. One of the school's projects will be the teaching of pupils in Evanston schools.

The Minnesota W.C.T.U. is raising $8,000 for educational work, to be completed at the centennial of the birth of Miss Willard, September 28, 1939.

Our Bird Neighbors
By C. B. Hovie

Black Capped Chickadee

Probably none of our common winter birds is so well known both here at Thief River Falls and throughout the country as the pert little chickadee. To the numerous people who each year construct bird feeders in their back yards, he furnishes encouragement, amusement and inspiration for noble thoughts and zest for living. No one who listens to his cheery chick-a-dee-dee-dee and watches the manner in which he attacks the tied up suet, placed especially for him, can escape contented feeling at having done a good turn for a friend.

A friend indeed, for his food consists mostly of tiny insects, who each year kill the grasses, lower the trees vitality by sucking the plant juices, eating holes in the leaves and hindering your plants growing success in dozens of other ways.

The little six-inch long grey and white black capped sprite is with us most of the winter. The small bands of individuals wander about searching for food but nest usually in forrests further north. The nests are made in natural crevices, knot holes or old woodpecker homes. The five or more eggs are white, brown spotted around the larger end.

Scientists claim that the reason the chickadee is able to withstand the severest cold weather without discomfort, is that the heart beats nearly six hundred times a minute. This coupled with the fact that the bird has a fine inner coat and a coarser outer coat of feathers with an air space between, makes the proposition similar to a continuous heat producing body incased in a thermos bottle!

Fearlessness of man and all his works, a supreme confidence that everything is O. K. seems to be the controlling thought of the busy little chickadee.

PIPE 225 YEARS OLD IS FAMILY HEIRLOOM

Lakefield—How long will a man keep his pipe. In the case of most men probably only a year or two; with some several years, if it's a good pipe. But Henry Rasmussen of Lakefield has a family heirloom in the form of a meerschaum pipe, 18 inches in length from mouthpiece to bowl, that has been passed down from father to eldest son in the family for 225 years at least, and possibly longer. Mr. Rasmussen has no certain knowledge which one of his several great grandfathers was the original owner of the pipe, but he values it highly and expects to pass it on to his eldest son.

Atwater—It's a far cry from the modern motor car of today to the dog team of yore, but weather and snow of the past weeks has proved that the dog team isn't ready to be classed as obsolete yet. Boyd Johnson drove a team of two fine dogs less than a year old into Atwater last week, a distance of over 10 miles.

IN THE INTERESTS OF PEACE

President Roosevelt's administration is to be commended for its efforts to improve the relations of this country with our sister republics to the south of us. In that field our foreign policy has always been more or less bungled. Our "big brother" attitude, no matter how well intentioned it may have been, brought only resentment from the people over whom we assumed the responsibility of guardianship. Instead of creating good will we really antagonized our neighbors, who naturally looked upon our intervention in the internal troubles of Central American countries as high handed and motivated only by a selfish interest in the security of our own investments. Which, to a large extent, it probably was.

By maintaining a hands-off policy insofar as the difficulties of our neighbors are concerned, the present administration has done much to overcome the suspicion among these people that it is our intention to gobble them all up. It is encouraging to note that the President's suggestion of a meeting or representatives of all American governments some time this summer for the purpose of promoting peace and harmony, is meeting with a favorable response in all of the countries.

SOMETHING SHIFTED THE CONTROLS

On Tuesday we wrote a squib about our good fortune up in this corner of the state in having missed the severe storms that have tied up traffic farther south. Yesterday's storm forced us to modify our views. Up to the present time, aside from the extreme cold, the winter has been normal. There has been a goodly supply of snow but not enough to cause more than the usual inconvenience at this season of the year. But now things are different again. Old timers blame it to the change of the moon and tell us we are due for a siege of rough weather. Perhaps so. At any rate something has shifted the controls and one or two encores of the storm that started yesterday morning will give us something besides low temperatures to remember 1936 by. We did get a lot of encouragement, however, out of last Sunday's thaw. It at least proved that it can warm up and because of that assurance we feel pretty good about swinging into the month of March which, according to the schedule, we will reach early next week. And from March to April is only a short jump.

A NEW FARM BILL

New legislation to take the place of the unconstitutional AAA program is now in its final stages of preparation and probably will be adopted by Congress within the next few days. The new program is founded on the idea of soil conservation and through subsidies that will be paid to farmers who limit their acreage of certain crops, on the pretext of conserving the soil, it is hoped that production can be controlled and a higher price level maintained. The present plan, and the one that is expected to be adopted, provides for direct administration by the secretary of agriculture temporarily, "to be followed by a permanent program of subsidies going only to states that adopt federal formulas for crop control through changing from commercial to soil-building crops." Funds with which to pay the subsidies will be raised through processing taxes as before.

What the fate of this new legislation will be is at best a guess. The constitutionality of the new measure will probably be decided with less delay than was the old, but even with relatively quick action much time will elapse before the necessary test cases can be tried. In the meantime the experiment will proceed and agriculture will enjoy, at least temporarily, the benefits of the program.

It would seem that the principle objection to the administration's farm program, from the standpoint of an agricultural community, should be, now as before, the inconsistency of reducing the production of the American farmer and at the same time encouraging food imports from foreign countries. The idea of production control is not without merit but along with production control certainly should go greater protection for the American farmer from the products of other countries. Instead of greater protection, however, the administration is gradually removing the tariff barriers that already exist. And taxing American consumers to pay American farmers for growing less in order that the farmers of other countries may grow more, certainly is not in the best interests of American agriculture.

THE STATE CALLED MINNESOTA

(Granite Falls Tribune)

Listening over the radio to a broadcast of the day's news from a London station Friday evening, it was with something of a jolt that we heard the announcer tell of the fearful cold wave sweeping down over the United States and, he added, "temperatures as low as 45 degrees below zero has been recorded in the state called Minnesota."

We wonder what the listeners of this broadcast across the water thought when they heard that. Unfamiliar with the United States, the state called Minnesota to them probably appears an Arctic waste, with villages represented by occasional groups of igloos—a cluster of dots on a sheet of white paper.

Yes, this state called Minnesota does get its weather in extreme doses. Today the people bundle up in as many clothes as they have to withstand the chilling winds of a 35-below temperature, while next July they will leave off every ounce of clothes they dare to avoid the torrid heat that is common at that season.

But despite these extremes, the state called Minnesota is rated as one of the healthiest in the Union and boasts a class of people virile both in business and politics.

Perhaps it is the ability to withstand the rebuffs of the weather that gives Minnesota people that which it takes to make good out in the world at large. Put this much energy in a congenial climate and it is bound to get things done.

LIBERTY UNDER THE CONSTITUTION

(Plymouth, Wis., Review)

Today certain critics are subjecting the American Constitution to vigorous attack. They are saying it is outmoded and unable to cope with modern conditions. And they are suggesting changes and amendments which, in some cases, would amount to complete emasculation of the rights and liberties we now enjoy under Constitutional protection.

Let us not be too hasty about changing this document of which a major portion is devoted to protecting our rights and liberties. The constitution has been amended many times, and may be again, but never in such a manner as to abridge the rights of freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and the other inalienable rights guaranteed within it.

It is usually easier to criticize than to defend, and the critics of the Constitution have found many listeners and not a few converts. Lest we forget the virtues of this marvelous document, let us recall the words uttered in 1878 by England's greatest statesman, William Gladstone:

"The American Constitution is, as far as I can see, the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

Some things are timeless. Among those things are freedom—freedom of action within the law, freedom of expression, freedom of speech. The Constitution has nothing to do with booms or depressions—nothing to do with partisan politics, nor have those who interpret it, the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Constitution guarantees us those essential liberties for which men fought for thousands of years. How much would the citizens of Germany, Russia, Italy or Poland give for a constitution such as ours? It is our most priceless heritage, and we have a duty to posterity to pass on to them the same liberties which were handed down to us.

HUMAN VS. PROPERTY RIGHTS

(Long Prairie Leader)

We listened to a radio speaker the other night extol "human rights" as distinguished from "property rights" and when he got through he had so smeared the rights of property as to make a man ashamed that he owned anything.

Inasmuch as the country is going to hear a lot more about this same subject because this a campaign year and denunciation of property rights has a plausible appeal, we got to wondering if there isn't a screw loose somewhere in the reasoning of those who assert there is an irreconcilable conflict between human and property rights? As a matter of fact isn't it true that we could not have very many human rights, certainly none of the human rights that lead to comfort, enjoyment and opportunity for culture and advancement, unless there were recognized property rights. Isn't the protection of property rights the first essential to the preservation of human rights? There are abuses of property rights, to be sure, but in most cases where there are such abuses they result from the selfish exercise of human rights and the resulting evils are in no sense inherent in property rights as such. In the interests of good government, government that is able to protect us in our rights whatever they may be, ought we not to check up the spellbinder who indiscriminately seeks to undermine faith in property rights with his shallow harangue about human rights?

NEW TIMES, OLD TRICKS

(Morris Tribune)

It is notable that during a period when the Supreme Court has had to protect fundamental rights from the designs of demagogic politicians, it should have been called upon to protect the freedom of the press.

In order to punish the newspapers for their opposition to his dictatorship, the late Huey Long had the legislature levy a tax of two per cent on the advertisements in Louisiana papers of more than 20,000 circulation.

"It is bad," said the Supreme Court in holding the law unconstitutional, "because, in the light of history and of its present setting, it is seen to be a deliberate and calculated device in the guise of a tax to limit the circulation of information to which the public is entitled in virtue of the constitutional guaranties. A free press stands as one of the great interpreters between the government and the people. To allow it to be fettered is to fetter ourselves."

But the really interesting feature of the decision is that no American state has ever before attempted to fetter the press in this manner, and the court had to go back to the period of the struggle two centuries or more ago to find its precedents.

In reviewing the long struggle for the freedom of the press and the censorship laws and tax laws passed in England and the colonies, the court cites this example, which shows what a throw-back and how typical of tyranny the Huey Long statute was. In 1712, in response to a message from Queen Anne, Parliament imposed a tax upon all newspapers and upon advertisements. That the main purpose of these taxes was to suppress the publication of comments and criticisms objectionable to the crown does not admit of doubt. There followed a century of resistance to, and evasion of, the taxes, and of agitation for their repeal. In an article written in 1718, it was pointed out that these taxes constituted one of the factors that aroused the American colonists to protest against taxation for the purposes of the home government; and that the revolution really began when, in 1765, that government sent stamps for newspaper duties to the American colonies.

The framers of the Constitution had in mind the long struggle against regulatory laws when they wrote the freedom of the press into the Constitution.

The struggle for liberty goes 'round and 'round.

CHRISTIANSON ATTRACTING ATTENTION

(Murray County Herald)

Political prognosticators in the East say that no man is so frequently mentioned as the ideal man to make the keynote speech for the Republican party this year as Congressman Theodore Christianson of Minnesota. Where the suggestion is made it meets with favorable comment. The Minnesota man is growing on the thought of the country. In the few speeches he has made in the East he has created little short of a sensation because he represents something that is a rarity these days—a man who can be partisan without being hide-bound and foolish; a man who can lead an assault against his enemies and yet remain sane and intelligent in his method of discussion. How far "Ted" may go cannot be predicted, but it is not beyond the bounds of reason to imagine him making a keynote speech at Cleveland that will thrill the delegates, and so elevate him in their esteem as to dictate his own nomination for either president or vice-president. Minnesotans are not surprised at his steady growth in fame, for they have long known that he was of statesmanlike proportions. But it is pleasing to see the rest of the country appreciating him at his true worth.

Lord bless you, sir, there's good and bad in every one. Even in a rotten apple, the pips is all right.—Herbert Jenkins.

Cattle Calm Passengers

Cattle are perhaps the most philosophic of all animal passengers on ocean vessels, despite the fate that usually awaits them after they are landed at their destination. They are shipped in wooden pens made to hold four. On account of the large numbers transported across the ocean, just enough room is allowed for two to stand and two to lie down at one time. By some mysterious understanding between them, they arrange "watches" or turns at standing, and each pair stands up and lies down for fairly equal intervals throughout the voyage without fuss or bother.

Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Saved by a Sonnet

"GRANDPAP MORGAN was a frontier publisher in Texas, but he had his most thrilling adventure before he ever reached the Lone Star state," says Frank Morgan, printer and proofreader in many a shop throughout the Middle West. This is the story:

The wagon train which Grandpap Morgan had joined with his old Army press, his cases of type and other equipment, got safely through the Indian country until it came to the crossing of the Cimarron river. There a big war party jumped them.

For more than three hours the emigrants kept the redskins at bay. Then a whisper of fear ran among the defenders . . . their bullets were almost exhausted! As their fire died down, the savages began massing for a final charge.

Just as the emigrants were getting ready to throw down their useless rifles and draw their Bowie knives, Grandpap Morgan shouted: "Wait! Wait! . . . Quick, one of you fellers . . . help me get the type locked up in this form . . . It's all ready to print when I get to Texas, but it won't get printed anyway if the Injuns kill me now. Here, men, fill your guns!"

As they rammed home the pieces of lead type, a war whoop told of the savage charge that was coming. "Now!" shouted Grandpap Morgan. A blast of fire from fifty rifles, and the racing ponies were jerked to a halt. A moment later the redskins, screeching with rage, were racing away in mad retreat.

Grandpap Morgan grinned. "I knew that would turn the trick," he said. "A column and a half of spring poetry . . . they just could not stand it!"

Choose Fat Animals for Home Butchering, Says Farm Specialist

Though farmers who raise the livestock should have the choicest meat, many farm homes do not have the best meat, owing to lack of facilities and often for lack of skill in slaughtering, cutting and curing, says H. G. Zavoral, extension animal husbandman, University Farm, St. Paul.

All animals intended for home slaughter should be in good health and reasonably fat, explains Mr. Zavoral. At packing plants government inspectors see that no diseased animals go for food, but farmers must use their own judgment. Meat from a thin animal is usually tough and unpalatable. Only well-fed animals that have been gaining and possess some finish will produce good quality meat. The fat animals produce the tender meat. Animals should be neither too old nor too young.

The care that is given an animal just before slaughtering has much to do with the quality of the meat. All animals intended for slaughter should be given water, but no feed for 18 to 24 hours previous to killing. They should not be excited, run or wrestled with before killing, else they will not bleed out well. Bruises and whip marks cause clotting of blood under the skin. Meat from such animals looks unsightly, and affected parts spoil easily.

All carcases should be properly cooled out before using. Beef should be hung up to mature in a place where it does not freeze for several days. It can then be cut up and canned, or allowed to freeze. If allowed to freeze right after slaughter, it will usually be tough. Best results are obtained when butchering is done on a day that is not too cold. The body heat should cool out instead of freezing in.

Fluttering Moth Killed the Princess Caravella

The case of the Princess Caravella, at Naples, is probably unique. After giving a dinner party she retired to her room to snatch a little rest before the following dance. Very shortly afterwards she was found dead in bed, shot through the heart.

Her husband was arrested on suspicion, for he was noted for his jealous disposition, and it did not seem possible that anyone else could have been in the room. It might have gone hard with the prince but for the shrewdness of a Naples police officer, relates a writer in the Boston Globe.

This man carefully examined the bedchamber, and found one of the very large moths common in Italy lying on the floor with wings badly singed by the lighted candle which had stood on a bedside table.

He also noticed that the pistol was lying on this table in such a position that it pointed to the princess' heart, and that some of the powdery dust from the moth's wings showed plainly on the trigger.

He deduced from these signs that the moth had burned its wings, had fallen on the table, fluttering and spinning, and that its wings had struck the lightly sprung trigger and fired the pistol. On this evidence, which satisfied the court, the prince was acquitted.

OUR OLD AGE PENSION

At this time when the new Minnesota Pension law becomes operative, and applicants are filling in their application blanks, there are likely many questions asked relative to the various provisions of this act.

This brief article is written for the purpose of clearing up some possible misunderstandings, and to point to some of the reasons why the Bill is as it is. This article is not an argument for or against the act. The bill does not subscribe to any one's idea of what a Pension bill should be. It is, as all such bills must be, a compromise measure of the opinions as represented in the State Legislature, and modified according to our State's Constitution.

One of the important, and unpopular provisions of the bill, is that it pays pension, or old age assistance, as it is more properly called, on the basis of need. This feature is not to the liking of many, and neither is it to the liking of the majority of the members of the State Legislature. The provision is however necessitated by our State Constitution which prohibits the paying of any pension or assistance unless such pension or assistance is based on need. Any attempt to do otherwise would have rendered the Act unconstitutional. The governor made reference to this situation in his message to the Special Session when he said:

"Under the Constitution of Minnesota, no state moneys can be paid to any person except for services rendered the state, or for relief on the base of need . . The old age pension system to be here considered must be one based upon the payment of state moneys upon the basis of the need for public assistance to the aged."

The much discussed lien clause was eventually voted out. Yet the State and County may file a claim against the estate of deceased pensioners to recover if possible the amount paid in pensions. This section, together with the section that makes reference to the responsibility of children, are readily recognized as necessary modifications of this act, in order that all pensions payed may actually be on the basis of need. It would have been foolish to pass a bill that the courts would rule unconstitutional. I mention these matters in order that our people may appreciate the Constitutional handicap under which the Legislature had to work.

The next step toward a better Pension law in our state, will be to properly amend our Constitution. This present law will be found wanting, and difficult to administer. However we hope that it will prove itself to be of much real benefit to our many aged and needy persons.

Senator E. L. Tungseth.

Larger Sheep and Pig Enrollments Expected

Greatly increased enrolments in the Minnesota ton-litter and advanced junior sheep projects in 1936 over 1935 are predicted by H. G. Zavoral and W. E. Morris, extension animal husbandmen, University Farm, St. Paul, who conducted these events. The entry lists were opened early in February and will remain open until May 31.

Any Minnesota farm boy or girl 10 to 21 years of age may participate in the ton-litter contest. The advanced junior sheep project will be open to any Minnesota farm boy or girl 18 to 24 years of age, or to any younger 4-H club member who has had 4 years in sheep club work or who has won a grand championship at the Junior Livestock Show.

"A combination of low hog and sheep prices and high feed prices held down the enrolments in these projects last year," say the livestock specialists. "This year the price situation is much more favorable, and we expect a much larger enrolment."

Favorite Fruit Brings Fame To Popular "Banana Comedian"

Robins Confesses He Eats Real "Props"

THEY call him "Banana" Robins, this comedian who has won new fame in Jumbo, the musical show and circus spectacle that is a success of the current New York season, and scheduled to go on tour throughout the country. His act is one of the biggest laugh-getters in years. Audiences chuckle with delight as he produces boatloads of bananas from the pockets of an outlandish clown's coat—hundreds and hundreds of bananas!

Headliner Off-Stage

But bananas aren't all fun to this comic—they play a straight role as his favorite fruit. A banana in the hand, when it's being sliced into a dish of cool milk, is worth a couple of dozen on the stage, Robins says, and proceeds to stage a little impromptu act in his dressing room after the show, as you see him in the picture, to demonstrate he knows what he is talking about.

Years ago, before the banana became a star performer in his act, Robins says he learned that the fruit was perfect for a hurry bite between shows. Because the fully-ripe fruit—the kind with "freckles" like you see here—is readily digested, it is ideal for a quick "pick-you-up." "Drinking a banana" is one of the comedian's best dressing-room tricks. Robins does it this way: he presses a fully-ripe banana through a medium wire mesh strainer with a spoon, then mixes it with a cup of cold milk, shaking the ingredients in a cocktail shaker (or you can use a fruit jar) until the mixture is smooth and creamy. Flavor it with vanilla if you wish. Robins does. It's made in a jiffy, and this banana milk shake is so good for you.

If your "backstage" is the kitchen, try your hand at another of the comedian's favorites—Banana Muffins—They are fun, but not funny!

Banana Bran Muffins

1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
3 tablespoons shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup bran
2 tablespoons sour milk
2 cups thinly-sliced banana (3 to 4 bananas)

Mix and sift together the flour, salt and soda. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream well. Add eggs, bran and sour milk. Mix and let stand while slicing banana. Add banana and mix well. Add sifted dry ingredients, stirring only enough to dampen all the flour. Bake in well-greased muffin tins in moderately hot oven (375° F.) for 30 to 35 minutes. Makes six large or twelve small muffins.

Observations on Trip to California

By Joel E. Shoberg

Since commencing to write these articles I have received several inquiries from back home, asking me to include and cover topics in which they were interested. These have varied all the way from a summary of the most popular dance tunes to a description of the cities soup lines, and which one served the best soup.

Taking the above questions as a base I may state concerning the soup lines, that they are a memory only and were discontinued about two years ago. San Francisco has the reputation of having practically cornered the depression and it is considered the financially best situated city on the west coast. According to newspaper articles the economic condition of the city is the best for several years, and with the added activities contemplated for next spring when preparation for the 1938 world's fair commence in earnest, it is believed from authorative sources that the depression is routed for at least the coming three years. Of course there is yet need for charity, and I presume every large city is confronted with that problem at all times. I am told that in cases of extreme need and when the police department is notified, they issue a card entitling the individual or family to certain boarding houses and where they may remain at government expense until the situation is checked and further arrangements are made.

Also there are several charity centers of private origin in the city and where the unfortunates are cared for. Foremost among these I am told is the St. Boniface Catholic church which does considerable charity work. Also the Methodists and the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. have charity wards caring for the needy. In every case of course the individual case is checked and if it is a matter of either illness or inability to secure suitable employment steps are immediately taken to correct this.

Regarding the San Francisco dance this is a broad subject as this city is world renowned for its dance entertainments. Everybody dances, young and old alike. It is not uncommon to see men and women with hair as white as snow and undoubtedly up in the 70ties dance and cavort with a rhythm that could be envied by a high school girl. Dance halls and night clubs are numerous in every district in the city. The largest public dance halls are The Elpatio and The Balconades on Market street and these accomodate from 200 to 400 couples. Dancing at the different halls are carried on every night of the week. The prices are very moderate and even free passes are handed out generously. Beer and wines may be sold at dance halls under the present state and city laws, and the closing time is 1:00 o'clock.

As many Scandinavians back home will read these articles I may state that the old type of Swedish custom dancing is very popular in San Francisco, and many halls devote exclusively evenings every week to the old Swedish "Hambo", "Boston", "Tag-mig-fatt-vals", "Polska", "Schottische" and others, and indeed they draw full houses, not only of Scandinavians but of others who do not understand the words when sung, but hum the tunes and love the rhythm of the music. Unlike back home churches here give dancing entertainment for their young folks even dancing at Christmas trees and New Years wake. I mentioned this comparison one day to a pastor with whom I had become acquainted and his reply was that he would sooner see the young folks of his parish at a clean supervised dance at his church, than to have them scattered at all four corners of San Francisco amusements while he stood talking to a few gray haired members in the rear seats of his church. I offer no comment here but state the conditions leaving the comment open. I am satisfied the condition is food for thought.

A girl back home wants to know what dance tunes are the most popular in San Francisco this winter. According to the Elpatio broadcasts the following are in lively demand just now: "If you're mine", "Keep your fingers crossed", "How do I rate with you" and "You took my breath away". Song favorites also include, "Home on the range", "When I grow too old to dream" and "I sailed for Treasure Islands". San Francisco boasts to be the birthplace of the modern dance, and claims that more new popular tunes are created and tried out in California than in any other state in the world. However a great majority of them are short lived and never have time to become real popular before they are succeeded by something better. It is a matter of "Eat live and be happy today, tomorrow you might have toothache."

Forks Were Being Used in Europe Back in 1603

It is difficult to believe that during the time of Shakespeare and Bacon few Englishmen used the table fork, and that the majority of them knew nothing of it, but a writer of old time customs tells us that this is a fact, notes a writer in the Montreal Herald.

Thomas Coryate, an English tourist and writer who lived during the reign of James I, fixed approximately the date when the fork first came into use. He set out on a tour of Europe in 1603 and on passing into Italy the traveler encountered the fork for the first time, and listed it as a great curiosity.

In his journal of the tour, he said: "The Italians and also most strangers who are residents in Italy do always at their meals use a little fork when they cut their meat; for, while with their knife, which they hold in one hand they cut the meat out of the dish, they fasten their fork, which they hold in the other hand, upon the same dish of meat, so that whatsoever he be that, sitting in the company of any others at meat, should unadvisedly touch the meat with his fingers, from which all at the table do cut, he will give occasion of offense upon the company as having transgressed the laws of good manners; in so much that for his error he shall at least be browbeaten if not reprehended in words."

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

So. St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 24: With roads opening up and weather moderating, livestock receipts both here and elsewhere increased materially at this week's opening and prices declined. Slaughter steers and yearlings were fully 25c lower, bids frequently 50c off, with many unsold late. Most plain and warmed-up steers and yearlings were salable at $5.25-6.50, some medium to good short-feds $6.75-7.50, cattle around $7.50 being similar to kinds selling at $7.75-8.00 last week. She stock was 25c-50c lower, common and medium butcher heifers earning $5.00-$6.00, some desirable short-feds $6.50, beef cows $4.75-5.50, very attractive grain-feds up to $6.00, cutters and low cutters $3.75-4.50. Bulls were 25c lower, bulk sausage bulls $5.50-6.25. Vealers were 50c lower than Friday, better grades $8.00-9.50, cull and common $4.50-6.50. Medium to good yearling stocker steers earned $5.50-6.50, on a weak market.

Hogs were mostly 15-25c lower than Friday, bulk 160-200 lb $9.50-9.75, top $9.85, 200-325 lb, $9.25-9.60, heavier weights down to $9.10, desirable 140-160 lb. $9.00-9.85, pigs $8.75-9.25, sows $8.65-8.85, stags $8.00-8.50.

Fat lambs opened weak to slightly lower, a few good to choice lambs selling at $9.60 with bulk of the fed lambs held around $9.75. Fat ewes sold strong to 25c higher, medium to good natives $4.00-4.75, good to choice fed ewes $4.60-5.10. Better native feeding lambs sold steady at $8.00-9.00, five decks of fleshy 78-85 lb. westerns $9.60.

First Efforts to Lay Atlantic Cable Failed

The American capitalist, Cyrus W. Field, was the moving spirit in the first effort to establish telegraphic communication across the Atlantic. Shorter cables, across the English channel, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and other waters had already been placed in successful operation. Mr. Field was therefore able in 1856 and 1857 to raise capital for his Atlantic Telegraph company.

The laying of a cable was begun from Valentia, Ireland, on August 6, 1857, but some distance at sea the strands parted, and the effort was abandoned until the following year. The first effort in 1858 was also a failure, says a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, but a third try was begun in midocean on July 29. The U. S. S. Niagara steamed toward the Newfoundland coast with one end of the cable and H. M. S. Agamemnon toward Ireland with the other.

On August 17, 1858, complete connection with the land lines was made, and the following message was sent over the wire: "Europe and America are united by telegraph. Glory to God in the highest; on earth, peace and good will toward men." Messages and replies from queen to President and between other officials followed and the event was celebrated enthusiastically on both sides of the Atlantic.

After two months the cable ceased to function, and this disaster discouraged further effort for several years. In 1866, however, two cables were carefully placed.

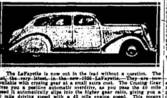
Farm and Implement News

LaFayette Now With Cruising Gear



The LaFayette is now out in the lead without a question. The last, the very latest, in the new 1936 LaFayette. They are now available with crusing gear at a small extra cost. The Crusing Gear gives you a positive automatic overdrive, as you pass the 40 mile speed it automatically slips into the higher gear ratio, giving you a 60 mile driving speed with a 40 mile engine speed. This means 60-70 miles an hour with your engine only loafing along. There's no noise from the motor, no strain. Then when you slow down to about 30 miles it again automatically shifts back to conventional high speed, for unusual power in hills and quick get-a-way in traffic.

Actual tests have proven by reducing engine revolution at high speeds as in this LaFayette Crusing gear, gasoline mileage is increased up to 25%. Saying nothing about the reduced wear on the motor as the car grows older and the life of the motor and car increased, with perhaps better than 50% oil mileage increase.

Out to Win America on value alone, is the Nash LaFayette slogan. The LaFayette is in the lowest priced field of 1936 automobiles, and aside from the available crusing gear it is outstanding in that it has All Steel body, seamless all steel top. It has hydraulic brakes as large as 1½ ton trucks. It has seven bearing crank shaft, four piston rings, Invar Struts Aluminum Alloy pistons, full pressure oiling system. It is the only lower priced car with a high priced engine. It is a full six passenger sedan. Only a few of the high priced cars have so much room. The New LaFayette has everything that the high priced automobiles have and much they have not, and it is down in price with the lowest. We invite you to ask our new satisfied owners. We invite you to come and see the new models. Check and double check. You will be surprised.

A NEW MODEL INTERNATIONAL TRUCK

There is a new model International truck in our show room. Ten wheels, a double dual rear. A truck designed to take an important place for heavy load hauling without the use of semi-trailers. It has been tested and tried, proven a most successful truck design, with all the usual time tried and tested International truck motor and construction throughout.

SPRING IN ALL ITS GLORY

Sure Spring is just around the corner and into the fields we go and what greater satisfaction in tilling the soil and sowing the grain than doing just that with new dependable tools and equipment. The McCormick-Deering harrows, discs, plows and grain drills will give you satisfaction in performance and lasting quality and no greater satisfaction to any farmer than knowing he can get quick repair service on his farm machines. We will give you just that in McCormick-Deering.

Last spring and throughout the year there was a great shortage and we could not fill the demand for McCormick-Deering Tractors and farm machines of all kinds. There is a possibility of that same shortage next spring. In all corners of the globe there is demand for McCormick-Deering equipment and only the early buyer can be assured of being supplied. So we urge now that you plan for your spring equipment and we shall be very happy to figure the best possible deals with you right now.

We can trade in a few good farm horses now as we have demand most every day. So if you have horses to spare, now is a good time to figure a trade deal. We also have place for a few good milk cows. There is always a demand for second hand grain drills, so if yours is too small or too large, or you know the value of a good new drill investment we will gladly figure with you on a drill trade. We have liberal payment plan on farm equipment and also liberal discounts on cash deals.

March 19th and 20th will be demonstrations and showing of new equipment, tractors, automobiles and trucks and interesting discussions at our place. March 21st will be the day of our formal opening and dedication program of our new building. And the same day marks our 25th anniversary in business, so the 21st will be our big day, if you come and help us make it so. All three days will be of interest to many if not all. Several hours of moving pictures will be shown each day.

For each day and every day of all the years to come, we invite you to come. We want to be at your service.

DECLARE ADDED FEDERAL RELIEF MONEY IS NEEDED

Local Units Cannot Carry Load, St. Paul Meeting Is Informed

Minnesota must have money from the federal government for direct relief, nearly 100 representatives of cities, counties and the state decided in an emergency relief conference Tuesday in St. Paul.

L. P. Zimmerman, state relief administrator, voiced the general opinion that the state and its subdivisions cannot meet present relief requirements without the aid of the works progress administration.

Zimmerman foresaw a shortage of at least $5,625,000 this year. He said his December estimate that $16,000,000 would be needed this year now appears low. In addition, he pointed out, the legislature refused to appropriate the amount needed to make up that $16,000,000.

Municipal and county representatives echoed Zimmerman's statement and supplied facts and figures to establish they could not maintain the present system of relief without more federal direct relief funds.

Early Settlement of Mud Lake Cases Asked

Marshall County officials who conferred with E. V. Willard, Minnesota Commissioner of Conservation in St. Paul last week, report that progress toward a definite settlement of Mud Lake appeal cases must be made by April 1 in order to assure completion of the project, it is reported this week by the Warren Sheaf. The county board is working on a program of adjustment of delinquent taxes which it is hoped will lead to an early settlement of the appeal cases, the report states.

Local Stock Shippers Group Has Good Volume

Since April 1, 1935, when the Thief River Falls Shipping Association started hauling their stock to market in the association truck, nearly one and one-quarter million pounds of stock, mostly cattle and calves, have been marketed says the Cooperative Shipper, South St. Paul publication. Ray Nelson of Nelson Brothers, truckers, states that the membership of the Thief River Falls Association has shown material growth since April, and prospects for continued frequent shipments from the community look promising for 1936.

World War Veteran Dies at Oakland Sanitorium

Oscar Brandt, World War veteran, died Feb. 14 at Oakland Park Sanitorium where he had been a patient for several months from disabilities sustained in the war. Funeral services were held Feb. 19 in Argyle at Our Saviors Lutheran Church with Rev. John Skepstad officiating. Military rites were conferred by the members of the Emil Hogberg Post of the American Legion. Oscar Brandt was born in Alma township in 1892 where he grew to manhood. In February, 1918, he enlisted in the World War and went overseas in April where he saw active service in four major offensives.

Surviving are his wife and two children, his father and two sisters.

Indian Scout Dies on Red Lake Reservation

Funeral services were held Feb. 16 from the Catholic church at Red Lake for Nah-Ah-Tah-Wah, 93 year old resident of Red Lake and one of the few remaining old timers, says the Northland Times of Bemidji.

The aged Indian bore scars on his hands at the time of his death from wounds inflicted by poisoned arrows while he was serving as a scout under General Sibley during the Indian uprising. He had served as chief of police on the reservation for a quarter century and resigned from that position some fifteen years ago.

Nah-Ah-Tah-Wah is said to have been a chief in his tribe and one of the pensioned scouts who served with General Sibley, and is survived by five generations. There is one surviving scout on the reservation at the present time, Anton Blue.

Pain Is Only Symptom and Not Disease, Says State Medical Group

Treat pain as a friend instead of an enemy is the advice offered in this week's bulletin from the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Pain is not a disease; it is a symptom, the bulletin warns, and its true value is seldom appreciated. Instead of being treated as an enemy that should be silenced at any cost, the treatment most often accorded, pain should be considered as a friendly danger alarm.

When pain is present it should not be simply dulled with drugs; it should serve as a notice that something is wrong and needs to be investigated. Pain is not the only nor the principal symptom of many diseases and there are many serious diseases in which pain is slight or entirely absent; therefore, it should be even more appreciated when it comes as a warning.

Headaches, rheumatic pains and the "common cold" are the principal symptoms which are usually doped, often with frequent and large doses of drugs, which, because of the pain-relieving effect the sufferer believes are actually producing a cure.

Instead of curing, the underlying cause is being obscured and forgotten while the sufferer works over the outward signs and neglects the inner causes of his trouble.

Sleeplessness is another symptom often treated by drugs and when sleep is produced the victim thinks he has accomplished all that is necessary for his comfort and well being.

Not only do the drugs producing sleep keep the patient from seeking the real cause, but they may produce harmful effects in themselves and may also prove habit forming.

In all cases where persistent aches and pains and discomforts occur, the victim should treat these as friendly signs and seek his real enemy, the disease producing these symptoms.

INTERMEDIATE HOCKEY LEAGUE RESUMES PLAY

Final Playoff Scheduled for March 8th, Weather Permitting

The Intermediate hockey teams took advantage of the lull in the weather to play three games last week. If weather conditions permit it is expected that all six remaining games will be played next week and the final play-off will be held Sunday, March 8.

Saturday Al's Coffee Shop lost to the Bridgeman team, under the leadership of Ray Olson, 2-0. The Bridgeman team lost to the Rexalls on Sunday to the tune of 2-1. Tuesday night the Bridgeman team burned up the ice and sunk the puck in the net six times while the Rexalls managed to get past the goalie thrice.

At the present time the Rexalls lead the league with 11 points, the Coffee Shop follows closely with nine and the Bridgeman's bring up the rear with four.

Last Rites Saturday for Mathew G. Kirby

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 at the Larson Funeral home for Mathew Gust Kirby who died February 23, Rev. E. L. Tungseth officiating. Interment will be made at Viking cemetery. Mathew Kirby who was 78 years old at the time of his death had formerly lived in Thief River Falls, Viking, Holt and Middle River.

He is survived by six step children, E. R. Kezar of Warren, A. C. Kezar of Oslo, Clarence and George Kezar and Mrs. Hartvic Larson all of Viking and Mrs. A. E. Mattson of Thief River Falls; also a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Kirby and grand daughter, Margaret Kirby of Vancouver, B. C. and a brother, Harvey L. Kirby at Middle River.

Preceding him in death are his wife who died in 1934 and a son who died in 1932.

New Sales Manager for Land O'Lakes Creameries

Appointment of Frank Stone of Shawano, Wis., as director of sales of Land O'Lakes Creameries, to fill the position made vacant by resignation of H. M. Meyer, was announced today by John Brandt, President of Land O'Lakes Creameries.

In making the announcement, Brandt said Stone, born on a North Dakota farm, has been associated with agriculture and the cooperative movement all his life.

Stone took a prominent part in organization of the Twin Ports Cooperative Dairy Association at Superior, Wis., and later became its manager. From Superior, Stone went to Shawano as general manager for the consolidated Badger co-operative. He assumes his new duties March 1.

Pistols and Revolvers, "Small Time" Fire Arms

Pistols and revolvers, never considered anything more than supplementary arms in the serious business of war, always have had ranges considerably less than their contemporary muskets and rifles, notes an authority in the Chicago Tribune. The muzzle velocity of the side arm of the American army, the .45 Colt automatic pistol, is only about one-third that of the Springfield rifle, and, because of its relatively weak charge and short barrel, it is doubtful whether it will shoot as far as some of the better types of old time smoothbore muskets. It is intended for close action only and not for sniping.

A bullet popular long ago was the Minie ball, which, despite its name, was not a ball at all, but a heavy calibered bullet similar in shape to certain bullets still used in low-powered sporting rifles. Guns in which the Minie ball was used generally were sighted to 1,000 yards, were accurate at a distance of about 500 yards, and had a maximum range of about a mile.

The Germans and other Europeans were experimenting with rifling as early as the Sixteenth century, though it did not come into wide use until the Nineteenth century, and it was not until 1842 that the military musket made by the United States government for its infantrymen was produced with a rifled barrel.

Owing to unfavorable weather the meeting of the Steiner Community club has been postponed to Friday evening, March 6, it was announced today. In addition to numbers previously announced, the program will include a reading by Harold Halvorson and a small puppet show.

Governor Olson Goes to Texas on Vacation

Gov. Olson, recently returned to his office from St. Mary's hospital, Rochester, left Monday for a three-week convalescent trip to Texas. He will return to attend the Farmer-Labor convention in St. Paul, March 27. The governor underwent an exploratory operation at the Mayo clinic shortly after Christmas, when it was decided that a planned operation for removal of a stomach growth could not be accomplished at that time.

PIGEONS DELIVER LIGHTHOUSE MAIL

One of the strangest postal services of today is that between Ailsa Craig lighthouse and the Ayrshire mainland, says the London Post. It is carried out by a flock of pigeons, whose homing instinct becomes of inestimable benefit to lone watchers out at sea.

The sea beacon is situated nine miles off Girvan, and its doughty watchers have no regular mail service. Their extreme need for communication has led them to resort to these avian carriers.

There are four lightkeepers at the lighthouse. When these officers desire a private or commercial message to be taken to Girvan they attach it to one of the birds, which, if the weather is favorable to flight, makes for the correspondent's required destination. Their boatman brings four pigeons from Girvan every Tuesday should the weather allow him to cross.

There are also two families of people who make curling stones in the quarries on the island. These, too, are linked up postally by means of this strange mail.

This mail service has, like other mail services, its occasional mishaps. Sometimes hawks nesting on Ailsa Craig pounce on the letter-carrying pigeon, resulting in the "mailman" and his charge being lost.

Electricity Made From Sun, Scientists Assert

Science has devoted considerable time lately to the job of perfecting a practical method for capturing the sun's power, relates Pathfinder Magazine. Photo-electric cells have been used to change sunlight into electric current which then ran tiny electric motors and registered on dials. Dr. Colin Fink, of Columbia university, has now made a cell which changes enough of the sun's rays into electricity to light an ordinary light bulb, and he visions the day when the home will be heated, cooled and lighted by solar electricity.

But millions of years before the time of Doctor Fink and the rest, nature was on the same job. The tree that stands in your front yard is a machine for seizing the sun's energy. Each of its leaves is a cell similar to those used by scientists. And while the scientist is somewhat discouraged by the fact that his cell will convert only 2 per cent of the sun's light, that is also the greatest efficiency of which the leaf can boast. Yet with that much power it takes gasses from the air and converts them into lumber, etc. When we burn coal we are releasing heat and light that was captured from the sun ages ago by this same method. The light of a firefly came originally from the sun, and even man himself operates on solar power which he gets indirectly from plants.

One of the hazards now is a sudden thaw.

Garden Valley Phone Company Issues Report

A splendid annual report has just been issued by the Garden Valley Telephone Co., the world's largest cooperative of its kind, which shows the earnings and expense for the year 1935, says the Bagley Farmers' Independent. The statement was made as of Feb. 1, 1936. The credit balance or actual worth of the company is computed as $330,043.41, and the statement says that the value of the stock dollar is now about $2.50, showing a gain of 11 cents for the year. The $330,043.41 shows an increase for the year in the sum of $14,656.56.

There are no notes payable now, Thomas Vollom, general manager of the company points out, as the $15,890.30 owed a year ago was all paid before Feb. 1.

State Tax Conference in Minneapolis March 6-7

The Minnesota Tax Conference, an open forum discussion group, will hold its twentieth annual meeting March 6 and 7 at the Curtis hotel in Minneapolis. Otto W. Kolshorn of Red Wing, president, will be in charge and will introduce a number of prominent speakers, including Mrs. Blanche La Du, chairman of the state board of control; Mayor Thomas Latimer of Minneapolis; and George E. Wallace, chairman of the Minnesota tax commission.

Fake Fingerprints

Fingerprints of different people, as we know, are never the same. But it is possible for a crook to imitate a genuine fingerprint so that the suspicion of the police can be diverted, says Pearson's Weekly. How this can be done has been shown by Dr. Harold Cummins of the Tulane university of medicine, Chicago. Taking an original genuine fingerprint, he had it engraved, and made a three dimensional negative in wax. Then he took a cast in gelatin from the negative and stuck the gelatin on a dummy finger. Twelve of the 32 prints he made with the dummy finger were declared by fingerprint experts to be genuine. Though this proportion is not very great, the United States authorities believe it is sufficient to allow criminals many opportunities to put the police on false trails.

Meaning of Kidnaping

Kidnaping has a broad meaning in criminal law and many who have committed this crime unknowingly have been sent to prison. In most states "intent" is not necessary and, secondly, the offense includes "keeping or detaining" anyone against his will. One odd case on record is that of a man who was convicted of kidnaping his wife because he forced her to accompany him on a journey.—Collier's Weekly.

Some Indians Called Cannibals

Proof that cannibalism was practiced among American Indians is claimed by Lloyd A. Wilford, anthropologist of the University of Minnesota. An Indian burial mound at Laurel produced skeletons with arm, leg and skull bones crushed to permit drainage of bone marrow, which was used, he believes, either for food or tanning purposes.

Absent-mindedness has been found to be more common in college professors than with any other class. You had probably concluded already that those who framed most of the new deal legislation had entirely forgotten that there is a supreme court.—Charlotte (N. C.) Observer.

Municipal Light Plant Voted Down in Bemidji

Bemidji residents, who cast the largest vote in the history of the city at the annual election Feb. 18, favored a new franchise with the Interstate Power Co. instead of operating a municipal generating plant and distribution system.

A total of 1,617 votes were cast for the new franchise, while 1,285 favored the municipal plant. F. G. Troppman, Bemidji merchant, was elected mayor to succeed Arthur H. Knutson.

Four aldermanic candidates supported by the municipal ownership group were elected, including John Falney, C. B. Hoyt, W. C. Batchelder and Arthur M. Johnson.

SUBDISTRICT CAGE TOURNEY OPENS TODAY

Following the subdistrict basketball tournament at Warren today and Friday, the district tourney will be held at Crookston next Thursday and Friday, March 5 and 6, and the regional event will be conducted at Bemidji the following week.

102 STUDENTS TO OBTAIN DIPLOMAS AT N. W. SCHOOL

Commencement Week Scheduled in Crookston Late in March

Plans are now being made for Commencement Week activities which will be held on the Northwest School campus the closing week in March. According to Superintendent A. A. Dowell, 102 students are listed for graduation this year. This will bring the total number of diplomas issued through the school since the first class graduated in 1909 to 1571. Over 5600 young men and women have been in attendance for one or more years.

Enrolment records show a steady increase from 31 students during the first school year 1906-07 to a new record of 394 during the current year. Attendance at the Junior Short Course has likewise increased steadily from 21 in 1911-12 to approximately one thousand during recent years. Other short course activities in which the school participates include the women's short course and the Northwest School Farmers' Week and Red River Valley Winter Shows.

Commencement Week activities will open with inter-class athletic events Saturday, March 21. The baccalaureate exercises are scheduled for the following day, with the declamatory contest to be scheduled for Monday; the superintendent's reception to members of the senior class on Tuesday; the annual music recital on Wednesday, and the senior class exercises and commencement program Thursday, March 26.

With the close of the term, students will return to their farms and farm homes scattered thruout fourteen Northwestern Minnesota counties where they will be available to assist their parents thruout the six months crop growing and harvesting season.

During the past season dormitories and class buildings have been taxed beyond capacity, thus bringing forcibly to the attention of school officials the necessity for added facilities.

Favorable Outlook for Sheep and Lamb Market, St. Paul Co-op. Reports

A favorable outlook for the sheep and lamb markets is indicated statistically in view of the fact that there is a decrease of nearly 5½ per cent in the number of lambs on feed compared with a year ago, and a falling off of 8 per cent from the five-year average for the years 1923-4 says the Livestock Market Digest, issued by the Central Co-operative Association, farmer-owned livestock selling agency at So. St. Paul.

On January 1, this year, 5,260,000 sheep and lambs were on feed compared with 5,561,000 a year ago. The average number on feed for the 1930-1934 period was 5,692,000 head, and the average for 1925-1929 was 4,448,000 head.

In spite of the reduction in numbers of lambs and sheep on feed over the last few years, there is a substantial increase in lamb feeding compared with the pre-depression years. The number of lambs on feed now is 20 per cent greater than ten years ago and 18 per cent greater than the average pre-depression period for 1925-29.

TRANSIENTS DRINK BAY RUM, ORDERED FROM CITY

Detroit Lakes.—Becoming intoxicated after they had tossed off two bottles of bay rum and were well on the way to emptying a third, a trio of transients were arrested in Detroit Lakes and brought in municipal court where they were admonished and ordered to leave town. Judge Dennis had the two empty bottles of face tonic returned to the local store where they were purchased with the directions that no more of the lotion should be sold to people who might seem disposed to use it for a beverage.

State Calls for Bids on Marshall County Highway Projects Friday, March 6

Bids on 57 state highway and county road construction jobs to cost approximately $800,000 have been called for March 6 by N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. The work, to include grading, gravel surfacing and bridges, is in 32 counties. Jobs for which bids have been asked include the following in Marshall and Clearwater counties:

Marshall County—Gravel surfacing: State Aid Road No. 4 between S. A. R. No. 9 and 5 miles east, 5 miles, 6,000 cubic yards of gravel surfacing; S. A. R. No. 6 between 3 miles west of Stephen and 6 miles east of Stephen, 4,565 cubic yards of gravel surfacing.

Clearwater County: Bridge: T. H. No. 1, 16 miles west of Redby, 45-foot concrete deck girder span.

Membership of State Farm Bureau Reaches Half-way Quota Mark

With less than two months of 1936 gone, the 24,000 membership quota of the Minnesota Farm Bureau is more than half filled, with 12,694 farm families already enrolled on the paid membership list of the Minnesota and the American Farm Bureau Federation. As soon as snow-blocked roads open up, additional thousands of memberships will be collected and transmitted, says A. G. Mereness, director of organization.

The 1936 quota calls for an enrollment of at least one out of five farm families. In some counties this figure has already been passed. Taking into account the financially-distressed condition of agriculture, with many farmers below the poverty line, a 20 per cent sign-up in an organization that helps non-members as well as members is considered a high mark of achievement. The main factor mitigating against a much higher enrollment is the general feeling among farmers that the Farm Bureau will work for them, whether they join it or not, Farm Bureau officers declare.

Officers of the federation point out, however, that Farm Bureau members receive enough specific advantages to more than repay them for the dues they advance.

Nationally the Farm Bureau was active this month in working for passage of the soil conservation act, to replace the AAA, also in working to block imports for foreign farm produce. In Minnesota the organization is doing much work on the Rural Electrification program, and at the present time is helping to handle a difficult seed situation.

FINDS $500 IN CASH IN SNOW; RETURNS TO OWNER

Sauk Rapids—In these times most people complain that money is hard to find, but for Kenneth Meyer, 10-year old son of Alfred Meyer, it seems to be comparatively easy. Crossing the street in Sauk Rapids, Kenneth picked up what he thought was a roll of "stage money" in the snow. Putting the money in his pocket, he proceeded to the Edson Grocery store, where Mrs. Edson examined the roll, found it was real money, and reasoned that it was no doubt lost in some way by the bank, as people do not often carry (amounting to $500) that much on their persons. She was right. And to say the bank was glad to get the money back is putting it mildly. As a reward for Kenneth, he was taken to a clothing store and fitted out with a complete new outfit, including suit, in addition to a cash reward.

FIRE LOSSES DECLINE: WILL THEY STAY DOWN?

For the fifth successive year, fire losses in the United States decreased in 1935. The total losses in 1930 were $501,000,000, dropping to $451,000,000 in 1931, $400,000,000 in 1932, $271,000,000 in 1933, $263,000,000 in 1934 and $249,000,000 in 1935. Some fire insurance officials look for greater losses in 1936, on the theory that chances for fire are greater when commerce and industry are at work and plants and mills are active.

GOODRIDGE PLANT SHOWS INCREASED VOLUME FOR 1935

Cooperative Creamery Produces 177,592 Pounds Butter in Year

With moderate temperatures prevailing, a large attendance was recorded at the annual meeting of the Goodridge Cooperative Creamery association Saturday afternoon.

The annual report submitted to shareholders revealed another substantial gain in butter production over 1934, which in turn was well in excess of the 1933 total. Butterfat received amounted to 143,418 pounds, from which was churned 177,592 pounds of butter, the overrun amounting to 23.85 per cent.

The average net price paid for all butterfat was 27.33 cents, and the total manufacturing and general expense per pound of butter was 2.96 cents. The plant showed a net income for the year of $1,411.26, major items being $204.91 from dairy products, $354.83 from sales of flour, feed, seed, salt, etc., and $749.36 from the service station.

A. Wilkens was reelected to the board of directors, while A. Wells and J. Swanson were named to succeed Ole Gevlag and E. Grinley. Members holding over are Carl Liedberg and Clausen. Lloyd Nelson serves as buttermaker of the institution.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

The Governor was at the Capitol last week clearing his desk of a mass of accumulated business, preparatory to his departure for a month's stay in the southern sunshine to recover his health.

Cheered on by the report of his physician that his health is being restored, and gaining in weight and strength rapidly so that he already is close to his normal self, Governor Olson is preparing to wage his campaign for the United States Senate with all his old-time zeal and fight, asking no quarter and giving no quarter, but conducting a clean and intelligent fight on real issues. His political enemies who have been hoping for an Olson let-down are due for surprise and disappointment.

During his convalescence, the Governor kept a close tab on both state and national events. He declared his dissatisfaction with the old age pension bill passed by the special legislative session, believes its provisions inadequate and referring to it as "an old age relief bill rather than an old age pension bill." He called the special session in the hope that a real old age pension bill would be passed, and he was able to force only a semblance of such a bill through a reactionary Legislature. This is certain to be an issue in the next state campaign, which the Governor will find time to aid despite his campaign for a national office.

This column has always maintained that the so-called Minnesota Law and Order League is a fraud, carrying out a political plan under cover of a lofty sounding name. Unquestionably many who belong to the league are motivated by honorable intentions, but there seems to be little doubt that its real purpose is to discredit liberal movements.

Last week Al Hansen, chairman of the Hennepin County Farmer Labor association, demanded an investigation of the League. Among other things he charged that its intentions are political and not civic; that its origin springs from the labor-baiting Citizens Alliance, which has demonstrated that it is more interested in continuing strikes than in promoting industrial peace, and that it uses as figureheads a few unsuspected dupes to give it the appearance of genuineness.

Demands of investigation of alleged subversive activities of certain groups generally springs from the same reactionary crowd that created the league, but it is time that the spotlight of investigation be turned on the activities of such organizations as the league.

Quietly, without fanfare of publicity, the Minnesota State Highway Department has conducted one of the most gigantic battles against nature in her most intractable mood in the last ten days. A record breaking snowfall, plus the coldest spell in the history of the state, plus a strong west wind, buried roads under drifts that in many places were more than 20 feet deep and so solidly packed that dynamite for the first time in the history of the state was necessary to dislodge them. Railroads were blocked, trains stalled, villages short of fuel. And all the time the thermometer flirted with 30 below. Yet highways were opened before railroads, and in less than 12 hours in most cases they were in better driving conditions than city streets.

Southern Minnesota seemed hardest hit. Previous heavy snowfalls had lined roads with drifts, and ordinary V-type plows were useless, despite heavy trucks and pushers. The snow plow merely buried itself in a drift like a mole in his burrow. Rotary plows were necessary and perhaps the most welcome sight that many a town has seen this winter was the spout snow cast 50 feet in the air and 200 feet to the side of a highway, as one of these marvelous machines cut a swath thru the drift.

Just around the second corner—the opening game of the base ball season.

More About Miss Davies

On the night of Oct. 19, 1892, the Great Northern hotel in Thief River Falls was the scene of what the old timers called a "gala" event. The occasion was a banquet marking the laying of the rails to the city and the arrival of the first carload of freight by rail.

Miss M. Helen Davies, the pioneer teacher about whom we wrote last week, attended the banquet.

"Yes," Miss Davies explained, "it was a great occasion. The business men of the village (it was a village then) were remarkably progressive. As I look back I realize that they accomplished a great deal with the facilities at hand. That banquet, for instance, it was a really pretentious affair, worthy of much larger places in a much later period. There was a large crowd of us and everybody was in a gay mood. The town was young and we were young—most of us anyway—and those who were not young in years were in spirit, for the exuberance of youth was contagious".

Miss Davies recalls that "Hank" Murray, the conductor of the train that had brought in the first carload of freight was presented with a conductor's lantern and the engineer, M. H. (or M. R.) Milligan a locomotive clock. She does not remember the menu, except that it was very good (and Miss Davies, incidentally, is recognized as an authority on banquet menus.) But she does remember that there was a great deal of speech making and hand clapping.

The first train arrived Oct. 6 apparently. Records will show, but the writer's notes say: "The track laying was completed on October 6 and the day was a memorable one. As soon as possible after the laying of the rails into town, and on the same day, the first carload of freight was brought in from St. Hilaire and consigned to Evenson Brothers."

"I don't recall", the former teacher said, "whether school was closed all day when the first train came in, but I know classes were dismissed at the time it arrived and everybody went down to the track to see it come in. There was a great deal of shouting and laughing. The people seemed to think that the millennium had dawned with the advent of that first train. It was a splendid gesture in optimism and faith in the town and I think that spirit was chiefly responsible for the city's steady growth to its present fine status. I visited it last fall and although I have been there many times since my teaching days in the young village, I was impressed with the evidences of its metropolitan status. The city certainly has progressed since 1892.

There was reason for rejoicing on the part of business and, incidentally, by their patrons, for until the railroad was built freight was transported by team from St. Hilaire at the rate of $1.00 per 100 pounds. To be sure, the rail tariff was not light and it is probable that efforts to have it lowered have been made many times since, but in the circumstances—of 1892—it was a welcomed improvement. By the way, the city gave the railroad a bonus of $750 to extend the line to this point.

Miss Davies says business boomed astonishingly with the advent of the railroad. New enterprises sprang up and before winter set in the staccato sounds of carpenters' hammers and the whines of saws were heard from morning till night and even late into the winter building continued. Feverish activities ushered in new chapters in the life of the city, the city officials felt their responsibilities keenly and the foundations were laid for existence on a more modern and a much larger scale.

"It seems to me", the pioneer educator mused, "that those early leaders of Thief River Falls were especially well equipped for their missions in life. Besides Mr. Kratka, Mr. Kretzschmar, Mr. Zeh, Mr. Lander and others I have mentioned, there were several that were especially active in religious matters. There was Dr. Grundy and a lawyer named Knox who were leaders of the Methodist church. This church was built like a little country school house. It and a Catholic church were the only religious edifices in the village. I was a Presbyterian and so was Mr. Lander. He tried to form a Presbyterian congregation but there were not enough prospective members. By the way, a fine large school later was named for Mr. Knox."

What appeals to the writer as decidedly unusual is that the Christian Endeavor society of that little Methodist congregation sent Miss Davies to New York City in the summer of 1892 as a delegate to the national convention of that organization. That was a very ambitious gesture on the part of that pioneer city. Miss Davies does not recall being asked about Indians in Minnesota, but the writer's aunt, Miss M. Beatrice Johnstone of Grand Forks, went from there to the same convention and was confronted with many astonished women who could not understand how people could live in North Dakota without being scalped sooner or later. Since Sitting Bull had been killed only about a year and a half earlier this was not surprising, after all, from the present perspective.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

BEEBE LECTURES TO LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Noted African Hunter and Explorer Tells of His Adventures

On Thursday afternoon at the City Auditorium Mr. Channing Beebe, world famous geologist and African explorer, addressed the students and townspeople on the subject of "From Ants to Elephants".

Mr. Beebe was accompanied in his travels in the Dark Continent by two women—first, his wife, who he said was a wonderful cook; and the other, a little lady whose name was "Wanga". She was a carved idol about a foot high and served as a padlock. No native would enter a hut when "Wanga" stood without. The Africans make their living from the Palm Tree—the fuzz is used to start fires; the oil is used on the body; the fruit is eaten for food; the sap is the African liquor; the leaves make the natives hut; the fibers are woven into a skirt for milady; and the shade of the tree is used to sleep in.

Mr. Beebe had many interesting articles on exhibition—a knife made from iron which his servant had tempered, pressed between rocks to flatten and finally sharpened with palm oil; a native war club called a knob carrier; elephant tusks and teeth; hippopotamus tusks; and a very interesting piece of wood about six inches square with some strings on it. This is the African piano. The natives are able to coax wierd sounds from it.

The red ants in Africa are one of the most dreaded of all insects and animals. An army of these ants can destroy a horse in two hours, leaving only the skeleton. One night Mr. Beebe awoke with the sensation of thousands of needles pricking him. By the light of a match, he saw that the tent was seething with these little ants. He rushed out and, after a frantic half hour, succeeded in getting the majority of them extricated. However, disaster was not at an end, for he heard a scream and out of the tent ran his wife. She, too, was fighting the ants. When Mr. and Mrs. Beebe succeeded in ridding themselves of the ants, the mosquitoes began biting them. In the interim the porter had secured the equipment and their clothes and burned the tents. That was the end of the ants.

Mr. Beebe regards the elephant as the most intelligent of all animals. The elephant's trunk is his most valuable piece of anatomy. An elephant can pick up a blade of grass with his trunk or he may uproot a tree. It contains no bone and is therefore very flexible. One elephant in particular weighed 17,000 pounds, its waist was 18 feet around, and the circumference of its foot was six feet. He described very realistically his attempt to hunt and kill this animal. Needless to say the elephant was killed and skinned. The skin was found to be about three inches thick.

We all knew that warm weather was coming—the grade school kids have been playing marbles for three weeks.

Next time you go to a party, "Babe", don't fall in the ash can.

Who were recently judged the biggest flirts in high school?

Hey, Lorraine, what did the boys find in your muff down at the Pharmacy the other night?

Pomeroy, that boy who tried trapeze acronautics with ill-feeling results ought to apply the right-handed rules on the basement stairs.

Well at least Jean and Mona believe in Leap Year. Leap Year Saturday isn't until this Saturday. But then, there's that saying—"The early bird catches the worm—or is it fish?"

Good expression—as "dumb" as a sophomore.

At least we've had results from two editorials. Editorial on fire prevention—result school fire; on booing—result more booing.

Pep Squad Appears for Last Time Wed.

The pep squad, which made its appearance at the last home game with Grand Forks Central, is continuing its practices in hopes of going to the district basketball contest which will be held in Crookston, March 5th and 6th. The pep squad hopes to follow the Prowlers on through the regional and state contests. The pep squad has been appearing during the halves of the Crookston, East Grand Forks, Warren, and Grand Forks' games.

The pep squad always forms the "P" for Prowlers, giving several yells. They also form the letter of the visiting team, giving a few yells.

SUB-DISTRICT DECLAM CONTEST HELD ON FRIDAY

Alvarado Captures Two First Places; Thief River Gets One

The subdistrict declamation contest was held in the Lincoln High School Assembly on Friday, Feb. 21. Warren, Alvarado, Oslo, and Thief River Falls participated in the contest. In the oratorical division, Robert Bystrom of Alvarado won first place. His reading was "The Munitions Manufacturer." Oscar Bickley of Thief River Falls placed second in the oratorical division. Alvarado again won first place in the dramatic division of the contest. Arlys Anderson, giving "White Lilacs", was Alvarado's representative. Ethel Schere from Warren was given second place. In the humorous division of the contest, Marjorie Matheson of Thief River Falls, reciting "Good-Bye Sister", won first place. Theodore Mosky of Alvarado ranked second. Alvarado carried off the honors of the contest with two first places and one second.

The judges of the contest were Superintendent F. W. Chase of Warroad; Principal W. W. Richardson of Warroad; and Miss Myrtle Mellroom of Warroad.

While the judges were deciding upon the winners, the reed ensemble, including Jack Bouren, Robert Bouville and James Hoffseth, played three selections. The high school Boy's Double Quartet also sang two selections.

SCHOOL ANNUAL BEING COMPILED

Juniors and Freshmen Will Help Finance Publication

Rapid progress is being made in the production of the 1935-36 Prowler. In recent class meetings which have been held, the sophomore class is the only division which voted negative toward reserving a two-page division of the Prowler for class pictures and activities. The Juniors will receive three pages for their class pictures and activities besides a picture of the cast of the class play. A two-page division will be devoted toward freshmen class pictures and a write-up of their class activities.

A dummy edition of the school annual will soon be published. The following is a list of the Prowler typists: Edna Swanson, Helen Rice, Helen Reierson, James Hoffseth, Celeste Crown and Jean Gustafson.

Auntie Carolyn's Column

Dear Auntie Carolyn:

You have helped so many people I just know you will give me good advice that I need in solving my present predicament. I am about to start high school and I want to know just what I should say and do when I enter. Please advise me as I am so worried.

D. C. M.

Since I was once in high school, even if it is ancient history, I feel that I can advise you in your trouble. First of all, as you are just entering high school, you should choose all your clothes in the shade of green that best suits you as that is what everyone else will be wearing. Then always look as if you were thinking. Even if you can't, it will impress your future teachers. Run up and down the halls, so they will think you are in a hurry, and also to annoy the teachers on hall duty. In class, node at the teacher, so she will think you really care about her and the subject she teaches, even if you are thinking about that latest joke Mary told. Every once in a while, frown deeply so it will look as if you are concentrating, even if you are wondering if you properly impressed that new boy at the party last night. Impress everyone with the tales of how perfectly wonderful everyone was in the last town you were in, even if you were tickled pink to get out of that little burg. Chew gum loudly, just to show them you can, and if asked to throw it out, give a longwinded argument on the rights of pupils according to the Constitution. It will no doubt impress them, even if not in such a good way. Take these, and a few other hints that I am sure you will find come natural, and you will be no different from the rest of us.

BEMIDJI WINS FROM PROWLERS FRIDAY 22 TO 20

Lumberjacks Tie Locals in Last Minute; Win in Overtime Period

In a game filled with excitement and thrills from beginning to end, the Bemidji Lumberjacks defeated the Prowlers 22-20 in an overtime period.

Jung scored the opening basket but Bemidji soon took the lead 6 to 2. The score was run up to 8 to 4 at the end of the first quarter. In the second period the Prowlers came back strong and scored nine points, meanwhile holding Bemidji scoreless. Four of these points came as a result of spectacular shots by Mickelson.

The second half started out to be just as fast and rough as the preceeding period. Bemidji came up fast, making the score 17 to 14 at the end of the third period.

The final quarter turned out to be the roughest and hardest fought one. First Bemidji, then the Prowlers scored until the score was run up to 18 to 16 in the Prowler's favor. At this time there was one minute and ten seconds left to play. Nesse scored a field goal with one minute to play. Then came the surprise of the night. The Bemidji sharpshooters started, and in one minute scored five points to tie up the game at 20-20 as the final whistle blew. In the overtime, the referee seemed to be calling fouls more closely and called one on Bud Nelson, but this was awarded two gift shots on Mickelson and connected on both of them winning the game 22 to 20.

The game was rough and hard fought throughout. At one time as many as six of the ten players were on the floor. Mickelson starred for the Prowlers, and Johnson was outstanding for Bemidji.

Below is a box score of the game:

Prowlers	FG	FT	PF
Bud Nelson	1	2	0
Lorentson	1	2	0
Mickleson	4	1	3
Nelson	0	0	4
Jung	1	0	1
Nesse	1	1	3
Bemidji—
Molander	1	4	0

The Amateur Pen

(Editor's Note—The following poem, written by Oscar Bickley while a junior, represents one student's attempt at writing poetry. Because of its unusual quality, we are printing it for the enjoyment of our readers.)

It seems I'm no poet—I've such a hard time
In trying to hammer the thing into rhyme.
And then I misspell or mix person and tense;
If I get it to scan, it will never make sense.

The rhythm, quite often, will fall into place
If I kick it and shake it and glare in its face;
But a beautiful poem must have rhythm and rhyme,
And I can produce only one at a time!

Blank verse? Mere evasion I call it—too lax!
Whose author can't rime it and still won't confess
That he hasn't the genius to make deeds and men
Flow smoothly at will from the point of his pen.

But since I can't rime mine, unless it's by chance,
This much I will say in blank verse's defense:
When I'm in the midst of a satiric jest,
I must scoop out a place for another word "jest"?

I'll never be willing to break up the swing
For no other purpose than timing the thing.
So though your true poets make catcalls and hiss,
If it won't rime itself I'll just drop it like this!

—Oscar Bickley

Good Government Week

February twenty-second not only marked Washington's birthday but also had a slightly different meaning this year. It initiated Good Government Week, and not a bad idea at that! We, as high school students, may or may not read the papers and get the general gist of politics as dispensed by partisan and other newspapers.

In the senior course we study government as Good Government. The course begins with the Constitution and includes all the types of governments in the United States. We study the government in high school in order that we will have an inkling of what it's all about when we become the voters and office-holders of the United States of America.

Good Government Week may have its purposes and aims, but, as the Minneapolis Star says, what good is it if it stops there at the end of the week? Good Government Week—may it do some good!

HANSON TEAM IS WINNER IN GIRLS' BALL TOURNEY

Winning Team to Receive Unknown Reward by Miss Hellquist

The play-off of the Captainball tournament was played between the Mulry and Hanson teams on Tuesday night. The members of Florence Hanson's team are Margaret Gustafson, Mary Margaret Cosgrove, Ruth Goethe, Merten Ward, Gwenyth Evenson, Virginia Bickley, Oline Skaar, Thelma Sandland, Bertha Holten, Ardith Gulseth, Jeanette Ness, and Virginia Dow. Members of Bernadette Mulry's team are Joyce Hennes, Leona Brattland, Margaret Altoff, Mary Alice Biederman, Mary Dywater, Lucille Thomas, Eleanor Craver, Mae Langevin, Ruby Erickson, Anna Hansen, Hazel Gulseth and Rose Gulseth. All of Bernadette's team are freshmen.

The game was played quickly and cleverly with the teams being tied at the end of the half and at the end of the game. Two overtime periods of two minutes each were played. In the second, Florence's team made two points, the score being four to two, making Hanson and her team winners of the Captainball tournament.

The reward, "the mystery reward," about which we've talked, written, and read for so long, will not be known until it is presented to the Hanson team during the sixth period today. It has remained a mystery as long as possible, so now Miss Hellquist will share it with us.

ETIQUETTE

There is always someone who takes the joy out of life by making some very uncalled-for personal remarks. It is very unkind to say, "Hello. You have a new hat. I don't like it as well as the one you had last season. I just don't know why, but it seems a bit heavy for you."

There is nothing kind about that! It is rude and no matter how young or old the offender, it is inexcusable. No one asked for any opinion. Even if one had, it would not have been necessary to take the joy out of the new apparel. It should never be a pleasure to sow seeds of dissatisfaction.

Why make a person uncomfortable if he has offended to the extent of eating onions when going out among people? "I know what you had for dinner; onions!" This remark isn't desired by anyone.

Why not tell a person kindly that there is a little spot on her face instead of saying, "I bet you had eggs for breakfast!"

Making comments about another's weight is equally unwanted. Even though they appear to be complimentary, they have a catty flavor. Such a remark as, "You're thinner, aren't you? You look much better," isn't flattering to the individual.

Thinking before speaking usually warrants one of carrying on an enjoyable conversation.

Progress Reporter Interviews Mr. Beebe

(Editor's Note—Channing Beebe, African explorer who spoke at the City auditorium last Thursday, presented the following interview to a reporter of the Progress Staff.)

Name: Channing Beebe
Home town: Ashland, Oregon

How long have you explored in Africa? Eight years.

How many trips have you taken to Africa? Only one.

What was the warmest temperature that you ever experienced while in Africa? 126 degrees in the shade. This cold weather you have makes me wish I were there now.

Did you ever have any battles with cannibals? Yes, I killed six cannibals. They killed four of my men.

What gave you your biggest scare? Cannibals. I got gray hair over them.

How large are the cannibals? They are average size men.

What animal do you like the best? The elephant.

How many years have you been touring the United States? Two years.

What animals do the African natives fear most? The lion.

What is the most dangerous animal of Africa? The buffalo is the worst. It is so very intelligent.

How many servants did you have? Seven servants and one hundred natives.

How does Thief River Falls impress you? Oh, I was here last summer working on the wheat control. Mr. Douglas and I are good friends. Thief River Falls is the best town in this entire vicinity. It's got Crookston and Warren all beat.

What is your favorite mode of travel? Airplane.

What happened to your pet? It died in the Bronx zoo.

LOCALS LOSE TO CASS LAKE TEAM SATURDAY NITE

L. H. S. Team Is Unable to Defeat Lake Quint On Their Floor

With less than a day's rest after their overtime struggle with Bemidji, the Prowlers traveled to Cass Lake where the Lakers defeated them 29 to 21.

The Prowlers took the lead with baskets by Mickelson and Jung and a free throw by Bud Nelson before Cass Lake counted on a field goal by Patsko. Cass Lake then came up strong and took the lead which they lost only once after this during the game. At the half the Prowlers trailed by a twelve to eleven score.

In the second half the Prowlers came out to take the lead on a shot by Mickelson, but Cass Lake took the lead right after this and kept it all the rest of the way.

The Prowlers' offence was not functioning as well as it did at Bemidji. Coach Lee's team had to rely mostly on long or middle distance shots. They seemed to be somewhat handicapped by the fact that the ball could not be worked in through their elongated opponents on the small Cass Lake court. Captain Patsko was the outstanding Lake player as well as being high point man with 12 points. For the Prowlers Mickelson, even though he went out on fouls, was the best player on the floor.

Below is a box score of the game:

Prowlers	FG	FT	PF
B. Nelson	0	4	1
A. Lorentson	0	1	3

Many of the children in these districts are quite small and have far to come.—Mrs. Ole Dahle was a shopper in Thief River Falls Saturday. She also sought medical aid for some eye ailment.—Alvin Loyland came on Friday from Red Lake Falls where he has been employed for a visit with the home folks.

Sophomore "A" Team Leads in Contest

The sophomore "A" team is leading all of the other teams in the race for the championship. Thus far, they have kept a perfect record, winning eight games and losing none. The senior "A" is a close second with six wins and only one defeat.

All of the players on the various interclass teams display a great deal of interest in the games. Competition is apt to be keen before the end of the season.

The freshmen took the lead last week, winning four games and losing one. The following is a record of last week's games:

Frosh A, 31—Eighth grade 13.
Frosh A, 16—Junior B, 14
Frosh D, 25—Soph C, 22
Frosh B, 40—Seventh Grade, 8
Frosh E, 11—Soph E, 29
Soph B, 22—Senior B, 12.

DISTRICT DECLAM CONTEST HELD AT WARREN TUESDAY

M. Matheson Represents T. R. F.; Red Lake Wins Gold Cup

The district declamation contest for district 31 was held in the high school auditorium at Warren Tuesday, February 25, at eight o'clock. Marjorie Matheson represented Thief River Falls in the humorous division. Alvarado, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls participated in the contest.

East Grand Forks won first place in oratory with the selection "Profit in Loss." Alvarado captured second honors with "The Munitions Manufacturer." In the dramatic division, Crookston placed first with "Mary Stuart." Second place was awarded Red Lake Falls. Red Lake Falls won first honors in the humorous division with the selection "Tipping Off Teacher." The selection "Life on the Ocean Wave" by an East Grand Fork's contestant was awarded second place.

The judges for the contest were Mr. Ray Scharf, Grand Forks; E. W. Butler, Grand Forks; and Miss Dorothy Zimmerman, Grand Forks.

The school which wins the most points in the subdistrict and district contests is awarded a cup. Five points are allowed for winners in the subdistrict contest, while first place in the district warrants ten points. Red Lake Falls had three entries in the district and won one first and one second, thus securing thirty points. The Red Lake Falls coach was awarded the gold cup.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Monday, March 2—Assembly program at the City Auditorium.

Thursday and Friday, March 5 and 6—District basketball tournament at Crookston.

March 12—Regional basketball tournament at Bemidji.

Thursday, March 19—State basketball tournament at Minneapolis.

Origin of Name "Jayhawker"

The name "Jayhawker" originated in Kansas during the slavery and anti-slavery warfare and was applied to a few free state men who organized a system of retaliation against pro-slavery outrages. Governor Lane of Kansas in 1861 declared that "the people of Kansas were neither thieves, plunderers nor Jayhawkers."

BEN BERGER TO ENTERTAIN MONDAY, MAR. 2

Professional Magician Will Display His Talent at City Auditorium

At three o'clock on Monday, March second, a program will be presented by Ben Berger. Although he is just a young man, his years of professional experience have made him an accomplished artist. The program will consist of the latest things in magic. Through his tricks you will be fully convinced that the hand is quicker than the eye. The colorful stage settings and the way in which Mr. Berger arranges his equipment proves him to be a master of the art. His "experiments" are composed of those which magicians have used through the ages. All of his audiences are baffled by his card manipulations because they are so simple, yet not easily understood. The leading theaters throughout America have known Mr. Berger as a very satisfactory worker. All in all, Mr. Berger's program is all that anyone can expect in the most up-to-date of magicial shows.

This is the sixth in a series of programs to be presented by the Northwest Assemblies Association. Previous to this, Lincoln High School students have been entertained by Frank P. Douglas, Channing Beebe, the Lombards, the Faubell Duo, and the Shakespearean Actors. Two more features will be presented in this group of programs before June first.

NORMAL TRAINING NEWS

Normal Training students are to be out in the rural schools for their annual rural practice from February 24 to March 6. The students and teachers whose places they will take are as follows: Alice Anderson—Miss Helen Jacobson, Pennington District No. 133; Corlan Dokken—Miss Eva Hanley, Pennington District No. 54; Kathe Doran—Miss Thelma Ristelgen, Marshall District No. 61; Betty Fladeland—Miss Ellen Loren, Grygla; Marion Hervy—Miss Theodora Vigero, Okleo; Ethel Kivle—Miss Elisabeth Jorde, Pennington District No. 219; Eleanor Larson—Miss Gena Sjolsvold, Marshall District No. 20; Ila Moe—Miss Thelma Loberg, Pennington Dist. 57; Anna Ose—Miss Leona Davis, Marshall District No. 84; Beatrice Ostmoe—Mr. Glenn Christie, Pennington District No. 157; Clarice Plymire—Miss Josie Joyce, Pennington Dist. No. 64; Charlotte Roberts—Ethel Maquin, Pennington District No. 38; Agnes Sandland—Mr. Manford Stennes, Grygla; Ines Warham—Mrs. Agnes Markus, Pennington District No. 165; and Judith Wold—Miss Raca Woolson, Pennington District No. 28.

Miss Stapelton entertained the students at a party in the Training Department last Friday before they left for their two weeks' practice teaching.

On Valentine's Day the students also had a party. The lunch consisted of fudge, divinity, and popcorn which they made themselves.

The students have a tulip and a hyacinth blooming in their room.

We regret to say that Erling Mellby has had a sudden relapse. For this reason the students and friends in the sophomore class are raising a sum of money for a sympathy card and a bouquet of flowers with hopes for his speedy recovery.

WOODPECKERS FREEZE TO SIDES OF TREES

Red Wing—Tragedies in bird life have been the common thing this winter with record breaking cold weather. From Wacouta comes a report that numerous woodpeckers have been found clinging to the sides of trees, frozen to death. They died while attempting to pick from frozen trunks the worms which provide for their sustenance. It has been impossible for birds to find food and to keep warm during the recent cold spell. Hundreds of people are clearing a space in their back yards of a few feet in diameter and placing scraps of food in the clearing where the birds are able to get them easily. Those who have done so are finding it a good deal of fun to watch the birds and realize that they are doing their part to make life a little more enjoyable.

"LOOK OUT, LIZZIE" THREE ACT PLAY WILL BE PRESENTED MARCH 13

"Look Out, Lizzie" a rural farce in three acts will be presented on Friday evening, March 13, at the high school auditorium at eight o'clock. The proceeds are for the Athletic Fund for the high school. The cast of characters are as follows:

Silas Long, an old farmer—Guy McEnelly

Sarah Long, his wife—Mrs. Henry Iverson.

Hazel, their daughter—Emma Swanson.

Lizzie Blanks, hired girl—Mrs. Elmer Peterson.

Hank Blinks, hired man—C. A. Noer.

Minnie Hall, the neighborhood gossip—Mrs. Ed. Barstad.

Richard Gilmore, a stranger—Floyd Olson.

Dave Tinkle, an old miser—T. A. Dienst.

Place, the sitting room of the Long Farm House near Centerville, Indiana.

Time, midsummer.

The play is being coached by Mrs. A. H. Josephson and Mrs. Floyd Olson. Be sure and come and bring your family and friends. Friday, March 13.

CREAMERY BOARD HELD SATURDAY

The following members were elected on the creamery board at the annual meeting which was held on Saturday afternoon at the school house, Andrew Wells, J. N. Swanson, and Albert Wilkins, the first two are new members, while the latter has been a member and was elected again. Following the annual report which was read by Lloyd Nelson, manager of the creamery, talks were given by H. M. Aalia, W. E. Dahlquist and John Tauer all of Thief River Falls, the latter is a fieldman for this district. Lloyd Nelson also gave a talk, and a reading was given by Agnes Johnson and a vocal duet by Floyd Olson and Ernest Swanson.

OPERETTA MAKES HIT AT COMMUNITY CLUB

A packed house attended the Community Club meeting on Friday evening. A short business meeting was held before the Operetta, "The Wedding of the Flowers" was presented by the grade children of the school. It was a very nice program, and enjoyed by every one there. The bride, Layne Olson and the groom, Donald Stephenson and the minister, Raymond McEnelly, were too cute for words. All of the children did very well, and it would be impossible to mention each one. A lot of time and work was spent to prepare such a program, but there is no doubt it was all appreciated.

The program committee for the next meeting, which it is be March 20, is Theodore Stall, J. A. Christianson, Ludolph Urdahl. The lunch committee will be Mrs. Roy Wiseth, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. Arne Markeson, Mrs. Obed Sabo, Mrs. J. Fayne, Mrs. Fred Urdahl.

TWO HOME MANAGEMENT PROJECTS ARE ORGANIZED

Two groups were organized for the Home Management project which is to start in March. Miss Miller of the Extension Division of the University of Minnesota will be the specialist who will give the lessons to the group leaders, the ladies who have joined are, Mrs. Elmer Peterson, Mrs. Floyd Olson, Mrs. Theodore Beulke, Mrs. Obed Sabo, Mrs. Ole Easthouse, Mrs. John Hope, Mrs. Clifford Nyhus, Mrs. Owen Olson, Mrs. A. H. Josephson, Mrs. Henry Iverson, Mrs. Olga Peterson, Mrs. C. A. Noer, Mrs. Arne Froslahl, Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, Mrs. R. H. McDonald, Mrs. O. O. Bjorgan. The leaders will be Mrs. Ben Hulsebush, Mrs. Gust Ristau, Mrs. Ed Barstad and Mrs. Dave Day. County Agent R. M. Douglass assisted with the organizing. He was accompanied by Mrs. Douglass.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Geving and daughters of Thief River Falls visited on Sunday at the home of the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Swanson. They were accompanied by Miss Roberts of the Training Department of the Thief River Falls high school who will do practice teaching in Dist. 25, under the supervision of Ethel Moquin.

Ben Ommodt of Minneapolis and Lars Larson of Oklee started to audit the books at the local creamery for the annual meeting. Mr. Ommodt was called home on account of the illness of his child, so was unable to finish. Fred Wengler and Clarence Sande came out from Thief River Falls and finished the check up.

Lori Hawkins of Ruxton, S. D., was in town Tuesday enroute home after visiting his mother who is in poor health and other relatives at Grygla.

Misses Anne Mandt and Rachel Anderson were shopping in Thief River Falls Tuesday. —Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Josephson attended to business in Thief River Falls on Monday. —Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Prestaback and sons Mervin and Clement and Mrs. Hannah Prestaback all of Thief River Falls were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Prestaback on Sunday. —Mrs. Fred Solley returned home on Saturday from Kennedy where she had visited relatives the past six weeks.

Martin Engen was a visitor in Thief River Falls on Friday. He was accompanied home by his wife who had visited there with relatives since Thursday. —We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Roy Wiseth is in Thief River Falls receiving medical treatment.—Loren and Portus Christianson, Ivor and Arnold Gomnering, Vernon Stephenson, and Olaf Bratland were visitors in Thief River Falls on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson and children visited at the homes of the former's brothers Norris and Norman Nelson, and mother Mrs. Ida Nelson at Bagley on Sunday.

Clair McEnelly and Howard Frodahl were visitors in Thief River Falls on Saturday evening. They were accompanied home by Gerald Frodahl who has been employed there the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Day and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barstad attended the show in Thief River Falls Sunday evening. —H. T. Rod was a business caller in Thief River Falls on Tuesday. —Miss Olean Hanson returned to her home at Erie Monday morning after spending the week end with her friend Ruby McEnelly. —John Gomnering spent the week end with his family here. He returned to Grygla Monday morning.

Mrs. Ole Easthouse was a visitor in Thief River Falls Wednesday. —J. A. Christianson attended to business in Thief River Falls on Monday. —Pete Nelson left Monday for Thief River Falls on business. —Miss Emma Swanson returned here Thursday after visiting at the home of her sister Mrs. Ed Geving in Thief River Falls a short time.—B. O. Norby of Thief River Falls attended the annual creamery meeting here on Saturday. —Peter Poppenhagen of Thief River Falls who has been visiting his brother George and also taking his place at the Filling station during his absence, returned home Sunday.

Basketball Tournament

There are seven class A high schools in this sub district. Out of the seven, the six last ones are to take part in the tournament at Warren this weekend. Since Goodridge defeated St. Hilaire, St. Hilaire is left out.

Operetta

The operetta, "Wedding of the Flowers" was given at Community club last Friday evening. It was directed by three teachers, Mrs. Brandt, Miss Haloppa and Miss Erickson. Some 42 grade pupils took part in it. Mr. Wally, a photographer from Thief River Falls, took a group picture of it. The proofs will be out next Community Club meeting. There were all sorts of flowers from dandelions to roses. The dandelions were four little boys with crepe paper blouses and trousers, and they wore yellow top-hats. Each group of flowers did a dance and sang a song. After each group of flowers was present, the bride and groom came in. The groom was Johnny-Jump-Up, played by Donald Stephenson and the bride was Lily of the Valley, played by Layne Olson.

Declamation

The subdistrict declamation contest was held at St. Hilaire, February 18. It represented four schools, Red Lake Falls, Plummer, Goodridge and St. Hilaire. All first places went to Red Lake Falls.

Selections from Goodridge were, dramatic, Jean Dierud, "The Angelus"; humorous, Agnes Johnson, "The Last Day of School"; oratory, John Swanson, "The Masterful Man of the Ages. The winners from the subdistrict contest went to the district contest at Warren this week.

We were glad to have Mr. Stall back with us Monday, after an absence of ten days, due to the flu.

KNIGHTS OF GRIP FORM STUCK-IN-SNOW GROUP

Pipestone.—A new order of the Knights and Ladies of the "Stuck-in-the-Snow-Bank" Club was organized in Pipestone, when travelers of the road found themselves marooned in that village with snow blocking roads and railroads. The Knights and Ladies of the road, determined to make the best of their enforced visit, drew up a charter, which was signed by 26 people, representing five states and Canada. Stock in the new corporation was issued to each, dividends payable to themselves "and posterity in grins, smiles, and memories at any time upon the recollection of our experiences." E. D. Stalsaard of Mankato and H. L. Fastlund of Glenwood were elected president and secretary of the said Stuck-in-the-Snowbankers. The date of the charter was given as the year of the Great Blizzard, the First.

A new world's record in the 100 yard breast stroke was set by Ed Haapaniemi of Virginia, swimming with the Gustavus Adolphus college team in a match at St. Peter.

SEED LOAN BILL STILL PENDING IN WASHINGTON

Conferees Agree to Reduce Appropriation to $30,000,000

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, said Monday Washington sponsors of the $50,000,000 seed loan bill have agreed to reduce the appropriations to $30,000,000 to conform to President Roosevelt's views.

Senator Robinson added the chief executive had agreed that, if the appropriation is reduced to $30,000,000, and the crop loan limited to $200 per farmer, he would approve the $50,000,000 measure in order to permit immediate loans.

Even under the plan agreed to by the President, actual loans can not begin until further action by congress. The measure now on Mr. Roosevelt's desk authorizes the loans but appropriates no money to make them.

New Institution at 'U' Will be Devoted to the Study of Mental Cases

Ending a campaign that has been pushed off and on for about ten years, arrangements have been made for the construction of a psychopathic unit as an addition to the hospital group at the University of Minnesota.

Increase in borderline cases in the nervous and mental field has made that branch of medicine increasingly important, not only in Minnesota but throughout the country, but up to now there has been no provision for hospitalizing any such cases at the University of Minnesota hospital.

The psychopathic unit on the campus would be used to further the study of such cases on the basis of persons recommended for admission to the unit by authorized officers, including the State Board of Control, under which the state hospitals for all severe mental and nervous case are conducted.

Although construction has been authorized, no provision for support of the new unit was made by the special session of the legislature. The structure, however, will be built at once, with funds amounting to $58,690 which have been provided by the Public Works Administration. Contracts for the construction were let by the Board of Regents at a recent meeting.

Helping Mothers to Cut Down On Family's Colds

Unique Formula for Nose and Throat Helps to Prevent Colds—And to Throw Off Head Colds at the Start.

SOON CLEARS "STUFFY HEAD"

Mothers are so often worried about their families' colds that they find special comfort in this unique aid for preventing colds —Vicks Va-tro-nol.

Especially designed for nose and upper throat, where most colds start, Va-tro-nol stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

Used in time—at the first sniffle, sneeze or nasal irritation—just a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to avoid many colds.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Va-tro-nol spreads through the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

A Practical Guide for Mothers

Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds, shorter colds and milder colds by following Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use throughout the country. Full details of the Plan come in each package of Vicks Va-tro-nol.

No Trunk Highway Will Go Thru Grand Portage, N. W. Elsberg Asserts

There is no danger of a state trunk highway being routed through the historic old village of Grand Portage on the north shore of Lake Superior, N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, announced today.

"Apparently many persons have the impression that the highway department plans eventually to route U. S. 61 through Grand Portage", Mr. Elsberg said. "This is not true. A permanent location has not been established for No. 61 from Reservation river to the Canadian border, but the route proposed by the highway department would not take the road within three-quarters of a mile of Grand Portage.

"This will permit the village, considered one of the earliest settlements founded in this territory, to remain secluded and primitive as it is today.

"North of Grand Portage we propose to swing the highway back toward the lake shore, developing the road purely as a scenic thoroughfare so that the tourist may view the splendid beauties of the area without being confronted by billboards or 'hot dog' stands.

"We propose to cross the Canadian boundary about a quarter of a mile below the beautiful High Falls of Pigeon river. This route would provide a fitting climax of beauty for the already famous North Shore drive, and would give Minnesota one of the outstanding scenic highways of America."

Snowbound .. but Telephone Roads kept open

During the blizzards and subzero weather of recent weeks, families everywhere have depended upon the telephone more than ever before. Travel was difficult —for many it was impossible. But the telephone kept snowbound families in touch with relatives, friends, doctors and places of business.

Nearly everyone increased their use of the telephone. The daily number of calls went up... 40... 50... 60 per cent... in some cases tripled. All-time records were broken in both local and long distance calls. With this tremendous increase in use of the telephone, service was sometimes slower than usual. But practically all telephone "roads" were kept open.

The telephone helped highway workers, railroad men, police, firemen, doctors and others to carry on. In countless ways it was an invaluable messenger in time of need.

How the Telephone Helped

The stork "walked telephone wires" into several homes. Doctors, unable to reach these homes, gave directions by telephone.

In many cases of illness and accident, it was impossible for doctors to reach patients. Treatment was prescribed by telephone.

Travelers in blocked trains and automobiles sought shelter in nearby homes... telephone calls flashed home news of their safety... enabled them to cancel appointments... make new plans.

Schools were dismissed in many places because of blizzard conditions. Parents were notified by telephone so that they might come for children.

Homes and communities threatened with fuel and food shortages sent word by telephone so that snow plows and highway crews could open the roads and bring supplies and medical aid.

Hundreds of persons suffered from exposure. But millions of trips were made over telephone wires by persons warm and comfortable within their homes.

SPRING SHOW WILL OPEN IN CITY MARCH 19

Ninth Annual Spring Exposition and Auto Show on for Three Days

CAR TO BE AWARDED ON FINAL EVENING

Style Show First Night and Vaudeville Last Two Evenings

Three days of varied entertainment and educational features are in prospect for residents of Northwestern Minnesota March 19, 20 and 21 when the ninth annual automobile show and spring exposition sponsored by the local Legion post will be in progress at the Auditorium. Committee chairmen announce this week that program details are now complete in all save minor details.

The program the opening night, Thursday, March 21, will include a style show in which eight local stores will cooperate in presenting 34 models showing the latest fashions for men, women and children. Chairman S. P. Orwoll of the style show committee announced that the participating stores include Montgomery Ward's Oen's, Penney's, the H. & H. Style Shop, Lein's, Lieberman's, Olaf Winger and the Bootery.

Seats will be provided this year for the audience for the style show, it was announced, and musical accompaniment will be supplied by Abbie Andrews and his eight-piece orchestra of Fargo, which will also furnish music for dances which will be held following the programs each of the three evenings. A 1936 model automobile will be awarded at midnight Saturday, March 21.

An even better array of attractions for the vaudeville programs Friday and Saturday evenings has been arranged than the numbers offered last year which met with much popular approval, according to O. C. Paulson, chairman of the entertainment program. In addition to four complete acts, he said there will be a revue billed as the "Early Steppers of 1936", including a double chorus of sixteen attractive girls; Darlene Agrell, Spanish dancer; Elsie Ryan and Merlys Geraghty, character dancers; Mary Ilene McKoene, blues singer; Lenore Henley, ballad singer; and Nicky Colby, three-year-old tap dancer.

A committee headed by Alex Cloutier is arranging for the automobile exhibits which will occupy the main floor of the Auditorium. All local dealers are cooperating, and it is indicated that there will be a dozen different lines of cars on display.

Palmer Tommerdahl, chairman of the committee in charge of industrial exhibits which will be placed in the Civic and Commerce and Legion rooms in the basement of the Auditorium, announced that approximately fifteen local business places will be represented by displays of household appliances and other products. A prize will be awarded each day to some lucky visitor in this department of the exposition, Mr. Tommerdahl said. The list of participating business places will be announced next week.

MAYOR JOHN QUEEN

Of Winnipeg, who will address a public meeting at the Auditorium Friday evening under the joint sponsorship of the Sons and Daughters of Norway and the Civic and Commerce association. Mayor Queen, a native of Scotland and a member of the Labor party, was elected to his present office last year after having served sixteen years as a member of the Manitoba legislature and five years as alderman in Winnipeg.

Superintendent Addresses Parent-Teacher Group Monday Evening

At the March meeting of the Parent-Teacher association Monday evening in Lincoln high school, Supt. Morris Bye presented an enlightening discussion of educational progress in Thief River Falls, tracing the development of the local school system from the time of the establishment of the high school in 1901.

The program opened with a short concert by the Lincoln high school band under the direction of S. P. Orwoll, and also included a group of selections by the Land O'Lakes quartet composed of Clarence Sande, Douglas Booren, Carl Brahs and Clarence Veves. A. M. Senstad, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Mr. Bye stated that the school buildings in 1901 comprised a four-room frame structure in Knox's addition, half of the present Central school and another one-story building. Beginning in 1902 with the erection of the Washington building for high school purposes, this was followed in 1910 by the Lincoln building, in 1917 by the Northrop school and in 1921 by the Knox building.

Thus, he said, virtually the entire present school plant was built within a period of 20 years. At the end of that time, he pointed out, the bonded indebtedness of the district had reached its peak of $295,000, which figure has since been steadily reduced to its present total of $118,000. Charts also were presented showing the changes in enrollment from year to year, as well as in tax rates and assessed valuations.

Mr. Bye cited as results of the local educational system the fact that 67 graduates now attending colleges and universities are virtually all making excellent records, and that many graduates of Lincoln high school are now filling positions of responsibility in this city as well as in other communities. In closing he said it is a public responsibility so to develop the talents of the young people that they can make the best possible use of the manifold opportunities offered by this country.

Lunch was served as usual by a committee of members following the close of the program.

MAYOR QUEEN OF WINNIPEG SPEAKS IN CITY FRIDAY

No Admission Charged for Program at Municipal Auditorium

Residents of Thief River Falls Friday evening will have the opportunity of hearing Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg give an address at the city Auditorium. He is appearing in the city under the joint auspices of the Sons and Daughters of Norway and the Civic and Commerce association. Mayor W. W. Prichard will preside, and it was announced that no admission fee will be charged.

Mayor Queen, who will speak on a topic of his own selection, last year was elected to his present office in the Manitoba city on the Labor ticket. Previous to that time he had served as a city alderman from 1916 to 1921, followed by fifteen years of service as a member of the Manitoba legislature.

The Winnipeg mayor will be accompanied here by Bjorn Balchen, baritone soloist, who will contribute a group of selections. Mr. Balchen is a cousin of Bernt Balchen, aviator noted for his exploits in the polar regions.

'Audioscopics', Screen Novelty at the Avalon Wednesday, Thursday

And now "Audioscopiks".

That is the new sensation in moving pictures which will be shown as a feature short at the Avalon theatre Wednesday and Thursday, March 11 and 12.

"Audioscopiks" is in reality the third dimension in sound film. For the convenience of moviegoers all are furnished special glasses as they enter the theatre.

And this is what you'll see—mice nibble on the end of your nose, streams of seltzer splatter your shirt front, a baseball land smack in your eye, skeletons chuck you under the chin, slide trombones whiss close to your cheek and lovely girls swing out of the screen until the last seats in the house become bald-headed row.

In connection with the novelty will be presented a full-length picture, "It Had to Happen", featuring George Raft and Rosalind Russell.

For next Sunday and Monday Manager A. M. Holte will offer Harold Lloyd in his latest comedy production "The Milky Way", the supporting cast including Adolphe Menjou, Veree Teasdale, Helen Mack, George Barbier and Dorothy Wilson.

Firemen Summoned by Two Chimney Blazes

The fire department was called out by two chimney fires this week, no damage resulting in either case. The first alarm was turned in Monday from the Tom Gulseth residence at 310 Crocker av. N., followed Wednesday by a call at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Thoil at 723 Knight av. N.

PENSION PLANS AWAIT ADVICE FROM CAPITAL

County Board Defers Action Until Assured Funds Are Available

TO POST STATE AID ROADS THIS SPRING

To Put Same Restrictions in Effect as on Trunk Highways

After devoting most of its attention at its March session this week to a consideration of the old-age pension situation, the county board decided to take no action in the direction of proceeding under the plan until assured of state and national contributions of funds to make the payments possible. In the meantime the board is going no farther than to make a preliminary check of the 125 or more applications filed to date with County Auditor A. M. Senstad.

The board decided at its meeting to post Pennington county state aid roads during the spring break-up season with the same load limits on trucks as those in effect on the state trunk highway system. It was pointed out that last spring the county roads were badly damaged thru the operation of heavy trucks seeking to avoid the posted trunk highways. Sheriff Arthur Rambeck will be instructed to deputize each maintenance patrolman to aid in enforcing the regulations.

A revised plan for Minnesota's old age pension system, which state board of control members are confident will receive federal approval and permit the state to benefit from approximately $4,000,000 in government aid, in the hands of the national social security board not later than Wednesday state officials said Monday.

Only minor revisions in the plan originally submitted are being made and it is believed these will meet any objections voiced by the national board, control board members stated. They declined to disclose the nature of the changes, stating that publicity might cause misunderstanding.

Reports from Washington last week were that the regulations and budget submitted by Director Kenneth C. Haycraft of the state old age assistance division, did not permit a sufficient amount for administrative expense. Control board members said they believe the explanation being forwarded to Washington by air mail with Attorney General Harry H. Peterson's interpretation of several provisions in the new law, will make the Minnesota system satisfactory to federal officials.

Field Man Reports on Progress in District

Lager Submits Figures at Land O'Lakes District Meet Wednesday

A detailed report on operations of the 41 creameries in District 17, Land O'Lakes Creameries, was submitted Wednesday morning to the annual district meeting in the Auditorium by John Lager, fieldman.

While the total amount of butter shipped by the creameries in 1935 showed an increase of 377,722 pounds over 1934, Mr. Lager reported that the number of pounds scoring below 93 decreased by 126,503 pounds, thereby reducing the loss in value $1,043.55 under the figure for the preceding year.

Figures also were submitted on cream grading, distribution of moisture and salt in butter, fat content, yeast and mold and ratings of operator's efficiency.

The report covering operations of the local Land O'Lakes poultry plant showed that in 1935 the institution handled 34.18 carloads of eggs aggregating 410,187 dozen; 20.91 carloads of dressed poultry or 418,237 pounds; 250.61 carloads of feed and flour; 47.69 carloads of dressed turkeys or 667,484 pounds; 206,523 pounds of cheese; 14,071 gallons of ice cream; 130,930 chicks, and 2,674,819 pounds of sweet clover, alfalfa, timothy and other seeds.

The Lakeshore Cooperative Oil association, affiliated with Land O'Lakes Creameries, reported a volume of business aggregating $190,765.83 in 1935. Substantial increases over 1934 were reported in sales of gasoline, kerosene and distillate.

PLUMMER QUINT WINNER OF CLASS A TITLE IN WARREN

Outclasses Rivals in Tourney Held in Warren Last Week

Completely outclassing all opposition the Plummer high school basket ball quint won the first District 31 Class A basket ball championship at the tournament played on the Warren high school floor Friday and Saturday, says the Warren Sheaf.

The tournament, originally scheduled to be played Thursday and Friday, was postponed one day because of the heavy snow last Wednesday which blocked practically all roads, making it impossible for the basket ball teams and fans to come to Warren. However, late Thursday afternoon Supt. E. M. Weltzen and E. A. Johnson conferred with the district chairman at Crookston and arrangements were made to start the tournament the following afternoon.

The Plummer quint was easily the class of the tournament, defeating Oslo in the semi-finals 40 to 13 and turning in a clean-cut victory to defeat Fisher in the championship tilt by a 29 to 15 score. Both finalists will compete in the district tournament at Crookston today and Friday.

Civic Group Gets Report of Industrial Chairman

Following the luncheon of the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday, W. E. Dahlquist spoke in behalf of the industrial committee, of which he is chairman. He suggested that the committee take for its objective the year the work of familiarizing residents of Thief River Falls with industries now operating in the community, together with their contribution to local well being instead of working primarily to attract new industries to the city.

JURY DISMISSED AFTER 2D DAY OF DISTRICT COURT

City Condemnation Award Increased Slightly by the Jury

The petit jury in Pennington county district court was dismissed Tuesday at 4 o'clock after hearing only one case, the other two actions scheduled for jury trial having been settled out of court.

In the appeal of Olga Stewart et al. from a condemnation award on six lots west of the court house the jury awarded total damages of $851, compared to $800, the amount of the original award. The jury allowed $108 for each of four inside lots on which delinquent taxes had been paid. The jury was out nearly three hours.

Actions settled out of court included those of Arthur Simonson vs. H. O. Tommerdahl and the Larson company vs. K. E. Dahl. The personal property tax case involving St. Lukes Hospital association was dismissed by order of the court. Judgements for the plaintiffs were entered in the cases of C. A. Nuebler vs. Ed Hill and LaSalle Extension University vs. L. A. Anderson.

BRANDT URGES CO-OPERATION AT L. O' L. MEET

Tells of Marketing Achievements of Land O'Lakes Organization

DISTRICT MEETING IS WELL ATTENDED

Field Man Lager Awards Prizes to District Creamery Operators

Altho the attendance was cut down by the poor condition of the highways and side roads, a gathering that filled the main floor of the Auditorium was present Wednesday at the annual meeting of District 17 of Land O'Lakes Creameries and heard an address by John Brandt, president and general manager of Land O'Lakes, as well as a variety of other numbers.

Speaking in his usual dynamic fashion Mr. Brandt condemned vicious propaganda designed to create dissention in cooperative organizations. He outlined the conditions that led to the organization of Land O'Lakes Creameries fifteen years ago, and told of its achievements in promoting quality products and efficiency on the part of individual creameries.

Mr. Brandt presented a series of charts showing the improvement in butter marketing conditions since the organization of Land O'Lakes, and pointed out how the spread between local and New York prices has been reduced.

Referring to the national share-the-wealth movements, Mr. Brandt said the best way to divide the wealth of the world is not to allow it to accumulate in the hands of a few. This, he said, can best be accomplished thru support of the cooperative movement.

John Lager, district field man, announced the following results in the creamery operators efficiency contest: First; O. B. Stamnes, Halma, score 99.09; second: Norman Aslakson, Bronson, 99.03; third: Carl J. Lindberg, Warren, 99.02.

In the cream grading contest Norman E. Olson of Leonard was awarded first place with a score of 98.51, followed by Ed J. Evans of Eddy creamery, second, 96.98; and Hjalmar Martin, Newfolden, and Otto Bakken, Oklee, tied for third, 94.60.

C. M. Peack of Crookston, state dairy and food inspector, spoke briefly, announcing a 4-H dairy team program planned by the Red River Valley Dairymen's association for this year. Mr. Mathun of Minneapolis also discussed the consumer's viewpoint of advertising.

Musical numbers were provided for the program by the Roseau high school band, the Glen male chorus and the Land O'Lakes quartet. Delegates were served lunch during the noon hour in the Auditorium basement.

In the morning session, with Stuart McLeod presiding, reports were submitted by Peter Engelstad, district secretary; E. D. Rydeen of Clearbrook, treasurer; John Lager, field man; and B. O. Norby, Clarence Sande, Carl Brahs and Gorman Thompson of the local Land O'Lakes plant.

In the annual election of members of the District 17 board conducted late Wednesday afternoon, all incumbents were retained, including Stuart McLeod, chairman; E. S. Eidsmon, Red Lake Falls, first vice chairman; Elis Grahn, Roseau, second vice chairman; Peter Engelstad, secretary; and E. D. Rydeen, Clearbrook, treasurer.

Walking Is One of Best Preventives of Sickness, State Medics Declare

Walking as an inexpensive and healthful pastime is highly recommended to residents of Minnesota in the weekly bulletin of the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association issued this week.

Daily walks form an often successful remedy for two common ailments, the doctors say. Walks will often overcome chronic constipation and in many instances will end insomnia. In the latter case they do double duty by doing away with the need of using sleep-producing drugs that may contain narcotics and are sometimes dangerously habit-forming.

"Walking has no equal among forms of exercise suited to old and young alike as a general preventive of ill health," the bulletin states. "Coupled with sensible rules of diet, a daily walk tends to delay the onset of organic disease and to build up a strong resistance to infectious diseases."

The automobile has to a large extent put an end to walking as an universal recreation. That is why physicians urge an intensive revival of the old-fashioned daily walk as a most healthful exercise.

Hundreds and hundreds of persons permit an auto ride to take the place of daily exercise. In doing this they forget that a little muscular action is as important as fresh air for their well being.

Although golf and other such pastimes may take the place of the daily walk in bringing good health, they are only available to those who can afford them. Walking is available to everybody.

In Memoriam

In memory of Charles Krause who passed away one year ago. In memory of a loving father,

A dad so kind and dear
Who passed from out this world of pain,
And left our lives so drear.

We miss you no less as time passes on, than we did on the day of your going. For absence can never close the door of our hearts, and the lamp of our love for you is still glowing.

Your smile was the sweetest in all the wide world,
Your voice the best to recall.
For no one on earth could take your place.
You are sadly missed by us all.

Dr. F. M. Archibald of Mahnomen Dies Sunday; Lived Here at One Time

Funeral services for Dr. F. M. Archibald, pioneer physician of Mahnomen, who died at his home Sunday at the age of 70 years were conducted in Mahnomen Wednesday.

Known throughout the Red River Valley, Dr. Archibald was one of the first physicians in this part of the state. Never in his long career did he refuse help because, of blocked roads in winter or because the patient was without funds. He served everyone.

He is survived by a son, Frank V. of Fargo and a daughter, Adelaide, of Mahnomen.

Dr. Archibald lived in Thief River Falls for a few years about 25 years ago, living in the house now occupied by Judge M. A. Brattland.

Funeral Rites Held for William F. Koepp

Funeral rites will be held this afternoon at the Erickson and Lund Funeral home for William F. Koepp who passed away at the Oakland Park Sanatorium March 2. Rev. E. A. Cooke will conduct the services. The remains will be taken to Paynesville for final services and interment.

William Koepp was born June 30, 1861 in Wisconsin. From 1885 until 1914 he lived in Paynesville from where he moved to Marshall county where he had since made his home.

Surviving him are his wife and three daughters, Mrs. Earl Todd of Gallup, New Mexico; Mrs. Olaf Ankhus of Effie and Mrs. Herbert Johnson of Middle River; three sisters, Mrs. Herman Marggquardt and Mrs. Anton Wartenberg both of Paynesville, and Mrs. Emil Miller of South Haven; two brothers, Gustav of Fargo, N. Dak. and Richard of Paynesville and four grandchildren.

Funeral Services Saturday for Albert F. Strylund

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Viking for Albert F. Styrlund who died March 2 in a local hospital. Rev. Myhrer of Newfolden will officiate.

Albert Styrlund was born in 1874 in Sweden coming to the United States in 1879. After living for two years each at Ishpeming and Iron Mountain, Michigan he moved to Rosewood and in 1905 moved to Viking where in 1912 he was married to Esther Lindquist and where he has since lived.

He is survived by his wife, two sons and one daughter, Earl, Ruben and Edythe all at home.

For Your Cook Book

Hot Cross Buns

File this recipe away for Easter time: One-third cup sweetened condensed milk, one cup hot water, four tablespoons melted butter, one teaspoon salt, one yeast cake, flour (about four and one-half cups), two teaspoons cinnamon, one-fourth cup currents, one-fourth cup raisins, chopped. Dilute sweetened condensed milk with hot water and bring to scalding point. Add butter and salt. Cool to lukewarm, then add yeastcake dissolved in one-fourth cup lukewarm water. Beat in thoroughly about half the flour, the cinnamon, currants and raisins. Then add the salt and the remainder of the flour, or enough to make a dough. Knead well, place in a greased bowl, cover and let rise for an hour and a half, or until double in bulk. Shape into buns and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Decorate each bun with a cross made of confectioners' (4x) sugar frosting.

Chicken Souffle

Two tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour, one-half cup chicken broth, one cup evaporated milk, one teaspoon salt, dash of nutmeg, four eggs, one and one-half cups cooked chicken, cut fine; one-half cup coarsely chopped almonds.

Make a thick sauce of the butter, flour, broth and milk. Season with salt and nutmeg. Remove from heat and beat in egg yolks one at a time. Set over boiling water and cook three minutes longer. Fold in chicken and almonds, then the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a buttered baking dish, set in a pan of water. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until set, about 40 minutes. Yield: Six to eight servings.

The almonds may be left out if desired, but we think they add a touch which appeals to everybody.

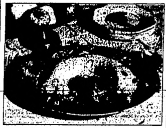
Beans and Sausages, Baked

One-half pound link sausages, 2 cups cooked navy beans, 1½ cups bean stock, ½ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon chopped onions, ½ teaspoon mustard. Cut sausages into one-inch pieces. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into bean pot or baking pan. Cover and bake slowly for 2 hours. Uncover and bake 10 minutes to brown top.

INSTALLS ALARM CLOCK TO WAKEN COWS FOR MILKING

The drowsiness of the College of Emporia, Kansas, dairy herd got to be too much for the milker, Freshman Norman Lindbloom. It took as much time to awaken the animals as it did to milk them. But Lindbloom found a solution. He put an alarm clock in the barn.

SALMON CRASHES BEST PARTIES!



A salmon's life is NOT a happy one! Not generally speaking! For, in the course of a typical salmon-life, he travels from river-bed to ocean and back again to the home river, battling his way upstream only to die!

But a happier fate awaits those thousands and thousands of salmon each year who, in the prime of their ocean existence, in the icy waters of Alaska, are caught and canned for American table delicacies. They are endowed with a pleasant immortality—and are destined to be featured in the leading role of many a memorable salmon dish.

Canned salmon has long been a great American favorite—a food packed with high protein value, rich in vitamin D, iodine, calcium, and other minerals. Economical and nutritious, it deserves an even greater use on daily menus.

In fancy dress, for party salad service, canned salmon is a happy suggestion. Nothing so festive was ever more economical, or easier to prepare than a salmon mold. Made in a fish mold, the finished salad is humorously lifelike, colorful and delicately flavored as the most particular hostess could desire.

SALMON MOLD

Soak 2 tablespoons gelatin in ½ cup cold water. Then dissolve in 1½ cups boiling water. Cool. Add 3 tablespoons lemon juice, the contents of one 1-pound can salmon, skinned, boned and flaked. Chill until beginning to set, then fold in 1 cup mayonnaise and heap in a damp fish mold. Chill until set, unmold on chickory and garnish with quartered tomatoes.

Other equally attractive party dishes with salmon are easily made as follows:

SALMON CLUB SANDWICHES

Slice 12 pieces bread, ½ inch thick, to make 4 sandwiches, three tiers high. Toast bread as needed, making the 4 sandwiches at once. On first slices spread melted butter. Next a crisp lettuce leaf wiped dry. Next, slices of bacon crisply broiled. Next, dry portions of canned salmon. Next, place a slice of previously peeled, red ripe tomato. Sprinkle with salt, paprika and mayonnaise. Place another slice of toast on this filling and proceed as with first filling. On top of filling No. 2 place a third slice of warm toast. Cut off crusts and protruding filling with sharp knife. Cut each sandwich in two diagonally, and serve on individual plates garnished with lettuce leaf.

SALMON A LA KING

Simmer 1 can mushrooms, drained and 1 small onion, chopped, in butter. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour. Add 1½ pints milk and 2 egg yolks. Cook slowly until thick. Add one 1-pound can of salmon, shredded. Add 1 pimento, dash of lemon juice and paprika. Serve in patty shells or on buttered toast.

SALMON AND RICE CASSEROLE

Mix 2 cups cooked rice with 1 minced green pepper, 2 teaspoonfuls salt and one pound canned salmon, boned, skinned and broken into small pieces. Mix with 2 cups thin white sauce and pour into casserole. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) until brown and bubbling—about 25 minutes.

SALMON AND CORN SOUFFLE

Mix one pound canned salmon, flaked, with 2 cups thick white sauce. Add lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce and season. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites, and pour half of the mixture into a buttered baking dish. Pour in 1 cup canned corn, sauted slightly, then the rest of the mixture. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes. Serve with a pickle relish.

STUFFED SALMON

Place 3 slices salt pork on bottom of flat baking pan, arrange one-half pound canned salmon on it, shaped like a steak. Cover with dressing, and then another layer of the salmon. Put three more slices of pork on top and bake ¾ of an hour. How to make dressing: 1 cup bread-crumbs, ½ cup cracker crumbs, 1 small onion, sliced, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup hot water, ½ cup melted butter, 1 beaten egg, pinch of sage. Lightly brown the onion in the butter, add hot water, and pour this over the bread and cracker crumbs. Season, and stir in the egg. This will serve 6 persons.

ONIONS STUFFED WITH SALMON A LA MEXICANA

10 medium sized onions; 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper; salt and pepper; one pound canned salmon; 1 tablespoon melted butter; 2 eggs.

Boil onions for half an hour or until tender, drain, remove centers and fill with salmon, sweet pepper, butter and seasonings. Dredge each onion slightly with flour, dip into well-beaten eggs and fry in deep fat until a golden brown. Serve with tomato sauce.

BAKED SALMON AND SWEET POTATOES

Bake 6 medium sized sweet potatoes. Mash, season with salt, pepper and butter. Add ½ pound of finely flaked canned salmon. Mix all together. Place in buttered baking dish, spread top with melted butter, garnish with ½ pound canned salmon. Heat 5 or 6 minutes and serve.

SALMON PIE

Chop 1 cup canned salmon fine, add 2 cups riced potatoes and ½ cup milk. Put in greased baking dish. Spread with 1 egg beaten lightly. Cover with ½ cup cracker crumbs into which 2 tablespoons butter have been melted and sprinkle with ½ cup grated cheese. Bake until brown.

THROWN FROM CAR WHEN HE LOOKS AT REAR TIRE

Elk River.—Leaning out of his truck cab to see whether a tire was flat, A. E. Taplin lost his hold and was thrown to the pavement and instantly killed near Elk River last week. Taplin had gone to Onamia in a beer truck driven by Bernard Vail, his daughter's brother-in-law, and the two were returning to Elk River when the accident happened. Taplin believed the truck had a flat tire. Opening the cab door he leaned out in an attempt to look at the wheels of the truck, when he suddenly lost his hold and was thrown out. His head struck the pavement, fracturing his skull, and it is believed the truck passed over part of his body, as he was otherwise bruised and injured.

FROZEN WATER COIL IN RANGE CAUSES EXPLOSION

Howard Lake.—A frozen water coil in the kitchen range in the Mrs. Rose Rausch house at Howard Lake, occupied by the Gus Vogel family caused an explosion which threw broken parts of the stove in all directions. The whole east side of the range is said to have been blown out, striking and breaking the wood work and then bounding back into the room. One piece of iron about three inches wide by 10 inches long was imbedded in the wall. Two round holes in the ceiling show where the stove lids struck. Fortunately, no one was in the room when the explosion occurred.

Growing With Your Child

GROWING WITH YOUR—
How Good Sleep Habits May Be Established

1. Regularity from infancy on is important to the setting up of good habits of sleep.

2. Conditions must be favorable for muscle relaxation.

a. Children should be put to bed alone, in a comfortable bed, neither too hard nor too soft.

b. Clothing must be light and loose. Undressing is conducive to relaxation and the nap habit is likely to continue longer if the child is accustomed to having his clothing removed.

c. We cannot relax thoroughly unless we are lying down; hence the very little child who is extremely active may be better off when he is helped to gain muscular repose by being wrapped in a blanket pinned to his crib (with plenty of freedom for turning over), or held loosely by means of a harness of wide bands, fastened to the sides of the bed. The child should never be bound tightly, should always be free to move, but is often aided in going to sleep by not being able to stand up and move about in a lively fashion.

3. Conditions should be such that there is a decrease in the number of things stimulating the child.

a. Heat or cold; a stomach distended with gas or food; tight clothing; bodily discomfort of any kind will act as stimulants to keep a child awake.

b. Noise, light, conversation, music, all are stimulating to the child. We can build up the power of being unaffected by things that go on around us; but we should not subject the child to too many or to violent stimuli while he is learning sleep habits.

It is possible, however, to free the mind from all the things that might interfere with sleep. If from the early months we have not pulled down all the blinds in the baby's bedroom, have not tip-toed when he is asleep, and hushed everyone who came in, he will have become accustomed to disregarding immediate conditions. While great regularity in hours is necessary, it is not desirable to accustom the child to the same bed, the same blanket, the same room, or a particular toy when going to bed. We can see from the habits which some children have acquired of being unable to fall asleep unless rocked or sung to, that it is undesirable that any one stimulus should become necessary to bring about sleep. We should be sure that the child is comfortable, and then leave him alone.

4. The attitude of children toward sleep should always be pleasant. Going to bed should never be connected in the child's mind with punishment. He should not be punished by being put to bed, nor should punishment occur at bed time.

Because children take suggestions easily, they should never hear adults talk about being unable to sleep. They should have no fear of being alone, or of the dark. If such fears have arisen, they may be corrected by introducing pleasant associations in the child's mind; a flashlight in the pajama pocket has helped some children to feel secure. We cannot drive out fear without putting something positive and desirable to think about in its place.

CHECK FORGER 'WORKS' TWO TOWNS AT ONCE

Waseca.—A forger who apparently has the time to develop the technique of his job "worked" Waseca last week. Claiming to be a farm hand employed in St. Mary township, the forger called at a store and bought a few dollars worth of clothing. He gave his name as Elmer Schultz and stated he was employed on the John Grunwald farm, asking to have the goods put away until he got his check the following Saturday. He came in on Saturday afternoon, presented a check for $20 and left with the goods and the balance in cash. A similar stunt at another store was pulled at the same time, and a third attempt failed when the proprietor of still another store started questioning him about the Grunwald farm and the forger apparently got "cold feet." The forger also worked the town of Waterville the same way, and at practically the same time, apparently driving back and forth between the towns and working double shift.

FARMER LOSES HORSE IN FREAK ACCIDENT

Observations on Trip to California
By Joel E. Sholberg

The auto drivers license issued by the California state highway differs materially from that of Minnesota. The first procedure upon application is to fill out a brief questionnaire in your own handwriting giving your name, address, age, driving experience and any physical disability which would make you unfit to drive a motor vehicle. This form is checked at a certain window, and there your eyesight and hearing is given a test. If satisfactory you receive an OK, and are directed into a room where upon the wall is tacked a ten thousand word treatise upon the California laws covering auto driving both rural and in the cities. You are told to read this over carefully until you are prepared to answer any question in connection therewith. Finishing this you are given a blank containing 21 questions on auto driving and seated by a table alone you must answer all these questions in writing and turn them over to a clerk who checks your knowledge. If your mistakes are only minor you are instructed as to where you failed, and an OK is attached also in this room, and you are given a ticket entitling you to a trial driving test. In this an officer sits by your side and directs you to drive thru about ten city blocks of rather heavy traffic to drive up and down hills, park on both up and down grades, to make left and right hand turns ahead of approaching street cars, what and what not to do when an ambulance police or fire siren sounds, how to distinguish the different crossing signs and so on.

Some of these officers I am told are quite cute and will give you just the opposite directions from what you have learned just to see how you will react in an emergency or traffic stall. The young fellow with me however was a very friendly chap, and we enjoyed the little trip, talking more socially than about traffic rules. Upon finishing this test my drivers license card was issued to me, and holds good for two years. Strangely enough the whole procedure was completed without any cost. The California automobile license costs $3.00 with an additional personal property tax of $1.75 for each $100 valuation of the car.

Driving in a Big City

I have been asked by many if auto driving in a big city is very difficult. To this I will answer both yes and no. True where traffic is congested, and this usually is between the hours of 5 to 7 in the afternoon, and Saturday afternoons in the business districts especially, and Sunday afternoons on the beaches and in the parks, and the cars run in a continuous stream about ten feet apart, one must be cautious not to bump into each other. However as practically all busy corners are either police patrolled or time signaled with red and green lights, as soon as one has learned to watch the signals it is really not very difficult. There are three left hand arm signals on pedestrian use, the arm extended straight, a left hand turn, arm out with hand pointing upward right hand turn, and arm out pointing down, stop. The traffic police whether horse mounted or on foot blows a whistle every time he changes the light, and the bell light rings a bell a few seconds before the light turns.

In what is known as the shopping center from the third to the sixth block on Market street where there is an almost continuous stream of people at all times of the day, traffic police stands all pedestrians before the intersections and mounted police in the center of the intersection. No left hand turn is permitted on Market street during the busy hours and the parking limit is 20 minutes.

During rainy weather the street car tracks are a source of considerable danger as rubber tires will not grip on wet steel and you can get into all kinds of predicaments. Going down a steep hill if you get your tires on the car rails, goodbye, down you go with all four wheels standing still, going up, well you don't go thats all. Sometimes a heavy loaded truck gets on such rails on a down grade and with a stop signal or police at the bottom, and there may be half a dozen cars ahead of him waiting for the go sign. The truck comes pushing car after car into each other and down they go, past street cars policemen and what not until they reach level ground.

PLUMMER

PLUMMER TEAM WINS CLASS "A" TOURNAMENT

Last Saturday night the local quint carried off the District Class A Basketball Championship by virtue of a 29 to 16 win over Fisher in the finals of the tournament at Warren.

A handsome trophy was awarded them.

On the previous night they had defeated Oslo by a 40 to 19 score to gain entry to the finals.

This is a complete summary of the tournament.

First Round — Alvarado 25, Goodridge 21; Oslo 32, Climax 29.

ANOTHER BILLION IN TAXES

In serving notice on Congress that some over a billion dollars in new taxes would have to be provided for by the present session, President Roosevelt probably was not motivated by any desire to punish his subservant spendthrifts among the law-makers. The President undoubtedly had hoped, as he expressed himself to Congress in his "state of the nation" speech, that the need for additional taxes could be postponed until after the coming campaign. It is fair to assume, therefore, that his demand for increased revenue was prompted by necessity in order to maintain government credit.

The factors which enter into government credit are fundamentally the same as those which determine the credit rating of an individual. A credit rating is not based entirely on the ability to pay. Another factor, almost as important, is the willingness to pay. Creditors want to know that their debtors are making definite provision to meet their obligations.

That is why a balanced budget is so important to the credit of a government. If expenditures are not limited to income, then definite steps must be taken to increase income sufficiently to cover expenditures and provide for a definite program of debt retirement. If this is not done, the government's credit suffers, its debentures become less desirable and it becomes increasingly difficult to borrow money.

And that is the condition President Roosevelt probably fears and which has prompted him to demand that Congress provide an additional billion dollars in tax revenue. This increase will tide the government over temporarily. Further increases will have to be made later on but they can wait until after election. In the day of final reckoning the people will carry a burden of income and sales taxes such as they have never experienced before, but the immediate problem is the coming election. For this purpose there will have to be enough of a tax increase to keep the government's credit good, but not enough to make the voters realize that they are going to have to pay back in hard earned dollars all of the money the government has distributed on so lavish a scale during the past three years. That little joker in the New Deal deck will be turned up in due course of time.

ONE POSSIBLE SOLUTION

There is pending before Congress what is known as the O'Mahoney-Ramspeck bill which would extend the civil service to include all first, second and third class postmasters. Under this bill postmasters would be selected strictly on their qualifications and would hold the office for life or until removed for cause. It is understood that the President and Postmaster General Farley favor the bill and if this is true it probably will be enacted into law.

While most people will agree with the spirit of the bill, there probably is some justification for the objection that in passing it, the present administration is inspired not so much by a desire for reform as it is to provide permanent jobs for the present crop of democratic appointees. It has been suggested that this objection could be very easily met by postponing the date of application a number of years, to along some time in the early forties. This of course would be unfair again to the Democrats, who never expect to remain in power more than eight years in a stretch. A more satisfactory solution probably would be to provide that on a certain date eight or ten years from now, all postmasters holding their office by virtue of political appointment shall be shot before breakfast and that vacancies shall be filled from the ranks of postal employees, the three best qualified to be determined by examinations, and the final selection to be made by the votes of post office patrons.

OF, BY AND FOR

One of the principle objections raised by Washington officials to Minnesota's old age pension law is the limited allowance for administrative expense. Only $75,000 was allowed by the state legislature to take care of the administration costs. And of course that isn't very much money in an election year when it is so necessary to have campaigners in the field. It just goes to show how a bunch of old mossbacks can gum things up. A lot of old fogies in the legislature probably had the idea that old age pensions should be provided primarily for the benefit of the aged. They did not realize that our government is a government of, by and for the bureaucrats.

WHO IS THE "LIBERAL"

Hjalmer Petersen, Lieutenant Governor at present, and one of the leading and most able contenders for the Farmer-Labor nomination for Governor in the coming primary, is also editor of the Askov American, in which capacity he of course does what he can to advance the interests of his party. In his last week's editorial summary of the accomplishments of the party in its management of the affairs of Minnesota we were a little surprised to see that he claimed the reduction of the minimum in automobile taxes as a "liberal" victory. Now it is possible that our memory is playing tricks with us again, but according to our recollection this reduced minimum was suggested by Mike Holm and was vigorously opposed by Governor Olson, the Governor's argument being that the highway department needed the funds. Or perhaps in Editor Petersen's opinion Mike Holm is a "liberal" and Governor Olson is one of those "reactionary leaders." At any rate, the thing isn't quite clear to us.

As elections go the annual township meetings are anything but sensational, but they are important nevertheless. They are an example of Democracy in its most simple form. At these meetings the taxpayer has a direct voice in determining tax levies. This probably is the principal reason why township governments throut the country have made such notable progress in tax reduction. There is much talk about township government being no longer necessary, that the need for such a small unit of administration no longer exists. And such arguments are advanced not without good reason. But these smaller units do serve a useful purpose in the general scheme of things and should be preserved if for no other reason than to retain their wholesome influence as a school of instruction in the art of self government. They emphasize the very direct relation which exists between spending and taxing and that public improvements, no matter how desirable, must be limited to the ability to pay. In Minnesota the township elections will be held next Tuesday. They should be well attended.

Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg, who will deliver an address at the Auditorium Friday evening, should be an interesting speaker. For many years he has taken an active part in the government of his city. In many respects our Canadian neighbors seem to do a better job of governing themselves than we do down here in the States. Crime seems to be less of a problem among them. They came through the depression without any serious bank failures. And during the past three years their unemployment has decreased 42% compared to a 10% decrease on this side of the line, a record attained apparently without reckless public spending. On these questions and many others, Mayor Queen could probably present an interesting point of view.

We really are ashamed to admit it, and we're probably the only people in town so dumb, but for the life of us we can't figure out why the water tank didn't freeze up into a solid cake of ice during the long siege of cold weather we had last month.

Lud Roe of the Montevideo News thinks people down in that country will stop cussing the ditch builders this spring. It may even come to pass up in this country that people will regret having dammed the drainage systems.

OVERLOOKING THE TARIFF
(Long Prairie Leader)

Official figures just released reveal that during the first eleven months of 1935 more perilla and hempseed oil, which are substitutes for flax seed, were imported into this country than the entire flax seed crop amounted to in 1934.

These imported products paid no duty and were used extensively in the manufacture of paint, linoleum and other products that usually provide a market for linseed oil. The effect of the huge imports, which came largely from China, Manchuria and India, was to undermine the market for home produced flax, depress the price and make the crop unprofitable.

There is no reason why the country should not grow its flax seed requirements and a proper tariff on these substitutes would encourage the farmers to put more of their acres into flax, thereby growing a crop that under ordinary and noncompetitive conditions is profitable and at the same time help to solve the surplus problem by growing less wheat, corn and other surplus crops now grown on these acres.

Strange that the brain trusters who are now running around in circles in Washington, trying to figure out a farm program that is legal since AAA was knocked out, do not think of the tariff. It would have taken the product of 50,000,000 acres to produce all the farm products shipped into the country in 1935 from foreign countries. These figures do not refer to coffee, tea and such products that cannot be produced in the United States. They refer to products that can be grown on American acres. Think of the absurdity of taxing the people to pay bonuses as rewards not to raise crops, when the effect of this getting rid of surpluses is nullified by farm product imports! Only a college economist could father such a program.

FAR OFF HILLS ARE GREENEST
(Chicago News)

An Iowa farmer likes to buy shares in the Drake estate, or in the secret hoard of the Spanish prisoner. Failing that, some Florida lots, shares in Alabama cement mills or Canadian platinum mines will do.

Mr. Lawler seems to have learned, in his Halsted street barber shop, of the British hankering for African mining stock. Americans used to sell Londoners branches in states about to adopt prohibition, street railways in cities small enough for exclusive pedestrian traffic, and railways running between those great terminals, "Any Old Place and Nowhere."

Frenchmen formerly had a great yen for the bonds of Slavic czars and Moslem sultans. Later they went in for interoceanic canals, profitable at Suez, disasterous at Panama. It appears that the last fast one put over on the Frenchmen was a home-grown swindle in municipal pawnshop bonds. But it required the slick foreigner, Serge Stavisky, to sell them.

Distance lends enchantment to the prospectus everywhere, but nowhere is the mirage more alluring than in Wall Street. Ivar Kreuger, who failed as a real estate salesman in Chicago walked right into Wall Street one day. He walked right in, he turned around, and he walked right out again with $[illegible] of so-called wise money.

Storage Stocks of Pork Hit Record Low Feb. 1

Stocks of pork and lard held in storage in the United States on February 1 this year were the lowest on record for that date, says the Livestock Market Digest, issued by the Central Co-operative Association, farmer owned livestock selling agency at South St. Paul. Pork held in storage on that date totaled slightly less than 436 million pounds or 35 per cent less than a year ago, when the total was nearly 668 million pounds. Compared with the five-year average for that date at 675 million pounds, stocks are now 36 per cent smaller.

Lard stocks also are small, the February 1 total being 76 million pounds compared with 113 million pounds a year ago and 93 million pounds for the five-year average. This was equivalent to a decrease of 33 per cent from a year ago and a loss of 28 per cent from the five-year average.

Stocks of frozen and cured beef also show a drop from a year ago but a substantial increase over the five-year average. On February 1 this year there were [illegible] million lbs. of beef in storage, [illegible] 15 per cent less than a year ago and 42 per cent more than the five-year average.

Capitol News Review
By A. I. Harris

Kenneth C. Haycraft, Director of Old Age Assistance, has returned from Washington where he has been in consultation with administration officials of the Social Security Act. State and county forces were in readiness to function when the old age assistance law went into full force and effect on March 1.

The cost of assistance granted to the aged needy is shared jointly by the national government, the state and the county. The federal government pays one-half, the state one-third and the county one-sixth. For example, if the total grants for old age assistance in any given county should be $30,000.00, the cost would be divided as follows:

Paid by Federal Funds	$15,000.00
Paid by State Funds	10,000.00
Paid by County Funds	5,000.00
	$30,000.00

Of the total amount of $30,000 distributed during the year to needy persons in such county, under the law, $25,000.00 would come from outside of the county itself.

The Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission has notified the Interstate Commerce Commission that it will adhere to its previous order permitting no increase in intrastate freight rates, according to a statement made last week by Knud Wefald, member of the Minnesota Commission.

"In the spring of 1935 the Interstate Commerce Commission allowed the railroads to levy an emergency surcharge on most classes of freight except grain in interstate traffic," Mr. Wefald stated. "The railroads also made application to the various State Railroad Commissions to be allowed to make this increase on intrastate traffic. Most of the State Commissions acceded to the request of the railroads, but the Minnesota Commission did not.

"In an order made by the Interstate Commerce Commission bearing date of February 10, 1935, the Railroad and Warehouse Commission of Minnesota is ordered to put the surcharge rates in effect on intrastate traffic, or, if the Commission did not choose to do so the Interstate Commerce Commission would declare those rates in effect.

"The Minnesota Commission presented evidence based upon the records in its office to show that the railroads operated cheaper in Minnesota than in any other state in the Union, to which statement the railroads made reply that the claim should not be given credence because it was worked out on a basis of figures submitted to the Minnesota Commission by the railroads, and that the railroad's figures were not reliable.

"The Minnesota Commission has notified the Interstate Commerce Commission of its intention to adhere to its previous order because the justness of the intrastate rates in Minnesota are established.

"The increase in the freight rates that the shippers in Minnesota will have to pay due to the freight surcharge on interstate traffic is estimated to be $1,479,000 per year. The increase in the amount of freight to be paid on intrastate traffic due to the emergency surcharge order of the Interstate Commerce Commission is estimated to be $228,000, which will mean more than $1,700,000 a year increase over what it was before the surcharges were allowed.

"In the meantime the Interstate Commerce Commission states that the order of the Minnesota Commission has resulted in a loss to the railroads of $150,000 by the time that its last hearing was held. This is no loss of revenue to the railroads, but it partakes of a saving to the shippers of freight in Minnesota, and, at this time, the saving stands at $190,000.00, or, $19,000 per month.

"The only other state in the Union that has taken a similar attitude, which now refuses to put the Interstate Commerce Commission order on intrastate traffic into effect, is the State of Georgia. Practically every other State Commission throughout the whole country has fallen in line."

Tall Tales
As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Trolling Frog Tragedy

BECAUSE he's so desperately fond of frog's legs, Albert Mackey of Detroit once owned the biggest bull frog that ever croaked a love-song. He landed it near Grass Lake, Mich., and it measured 28¾ inches and weighed precisely three pounds, four ounces. He named it Frenchy.

When Albert owned Frenchy 29 days to the hour he permitted the frog a daily swim in the lake. When he gave a certain peculiar whistle, here the frog would come, plowing the water like a destroyer.

An adventurously hungry fish followed Frenchy home from his swim one day, nipping at his aft propellers and spurring Al's pet leviathan to strenuous efforts. That gave Al an idea and it wasn't long until a little harness was fitted on the frog's body. Then Al attached two short lengths of fishing line and a couple of good-sized hooks with spinners and sent Frenchy out trolling.

The very first trial, a two-pound bass struck. Al whistled and Frenchy, churning the water desperately, beached his prize. It was easy then. Frenchy learned to troll the most likely places, edges of weed beds, around lily pads and windfalls—he'd even dive into deep holes where bass lurked.

Course, nothing's permanent. Unknown to all, a fierce muskellunge inhabited Grass lake. Al had sent Frenchy foraging when he saw the muskie dive at the frog, gulp mightily and vanish with him.

"I'd a-whistled him home," said Albert sadly, "But we'd put out some persimmons on ice and I was testing them. Darn it all, my lips puckered on me."

And, it's well known in Detroit that out of respect for his frog, Albert Mackey hasn't eaten another persimmon since that dreadful day.

Northwest School Tests Comparative Values of Grains for Laying Hens

The comparative value of common grains for laying hens was studied in two 365-day trials conducted at the Northwest Experiment Station under the direction of A. M. Pilkey, poultryman. The grain combinations consisted of equal parts by weight of wheat and barley, wheat and oats, wheat and corn, barley and corn, barley and oats, and corn and oats. All hens were fed one-third of their daily allowance of scratch grain at 6 a. m. and two-thirds one hour before sundown. A dry mash consisting of equal parts of the two grains used in the mixture ground plus protein supplements was available in open hoppers at all times. A moist mash made up of the dry mash mixture to which sufficient milk was added to moisten was fed daily at noon—Grit and oyster shell were also before the birds at all times.

According to Professor Pilkey, the wheat and barley combination proved to be the most efficient from the standpoint of egg production though the mortality rate was slightly higher than in the other groups. Mortality appeared to increase with the increase in egg production. There was little difference in fertility which varied from 90.7 to 92.4 per cent while hatchability varied from a minimum of 62.5 per cent in the corn and oats group to a maximum of 68.1 per cent on wheat and corn.

In other trials the addition of one per cent cod liver oil to a standard laying ration, consisting of a mixture of two parts wheat, one part of corn, and one-half part each of barley and oats, resulted in an increase of six per cent in egg production, 14 per cent in fertility, 19 per cent in hatchability and reduced mortality 1.1 per cent. In these trials the grain ration was fed in a deep litter of straw twice daily, while a mash made up of the same mixture ground plus 20 per cent meatmeal, 2 per cent charcoal, .5 per cent salt, with 1 per cent cod liver oil was placed in open feed hoppers and kept before the birds at all times. Grit and oyster shell were also available throughout the trial. Later trials indicated that burbot fish oil, which is produced in limited amounts in northern Minnesota, is equal to cod liver oil as an antirachitic addition to the poultry ration for laying hens and growing chicks.

EMPTY CAR DOES RUNAWAY STUNT

Perham.—In the old days runaway horses furnished a good deal of entertainment for villagers. Now runaways of that sort are unusual, but last week a new feature was added to the possible thrills at Perham, a runaway car. Math Schmitz was working on a car in the front part of the garage, which had just been brought in and parked near the front door. In order to test the engine, Math applied the crank. The driver had left the car in reverse gear. There was a spluttering roar, and the car jumped back. It crashed the door open, shattering the glass, and turning obliquely, shot across the street. It missed a parked car by inches, bolted over the sidewalk, crashed open a gate of a monument yard, ran about 15 feet into the yard and stalled in the snow. Very little damage was done to the car, considering its wild charge.

A NEW FIELD CULTIVATOR

The new McCormick-Deering Field Cultivator is a big improvement in construction for better work in the field and lasting quality. Special features added to this machine, depth regulator, high lift for plenty clearance with proper angle of shovels and regulating pressure range, makes this a most ideal machine for preparing seed beds and summer fallow weed killer. Any type of shovel furnished.

SOIL PULVERIZER

Very few realize the benefits, the difference between a bountiful and a short harvest usually rests upon the availability of the plant food. Natural soil is a reservoir of energy. There may be enough food in a single clod to grow a healthy, productive plant, but so long as it stays locked up in a clod the little, tender roots of the plant cannot obtain the use of it. The McCormick-Deering double gang soil pulverizer renders this food available by pulverizing the clod and by preserving the moisture in the soil.

GRAIN DRILL

It is possible to increase your crop yield in any one year with a New McCormick-Deering grain drill as compared with an old badly worn grain drill to the extent that the increase yield will pay for the cost of a new drill and added profits besides.

There are so many special advantageous features in the new McCormick-Deering grain drill we could not begin to tell here, so we invite you to come and see the drill on our sample floor.

USED AUTOMOBILES AND TRUCKS

We have a very large stock of exceptional values in used automobiles and trucks now, with many 1934 and 1935 models besides the large number of older models which we are pricing at special low prices. Many favorable comments on our used values every day. Soon they will be going fast as spring arrives. Buy now and get a better choice.

In next weeks issue we expect to announce our complete program for our twenty-fifth anniversary and three day demonstration of March 19th, 20th and 21st.

Master Six 4-Door Touring Sedan—$745*

Impressive victory in famous economy run officially confirms Pontiac's superior economy!

THE annual Yosemite Valley Economy Run is the year's big test of economy claims—and here is what it revealed. Under American Automobile Association supervision, the 1936 Pontiac traveled 352 miles at an average of 21.9 miles per gallon (no oil added), defeating all entrants in its class*.

That settles the matter of Pontiac's thrift. Pound for pound, you can't do better. Buy a Pontiac to save. Buy it for dependability. Buy it for anything else you value most in a car. You won't be disappointed, for Pontiac asks no odds of any car at any price.

A Holding Company

A government official defined the holding company as follows: "The holding company may be defined as any company which, by virtue of its ownership of securities, is in a position to control or substantially influence the management of one or more other companies; that is, a holding company is different from a mere investment company. An investment company buys securities as an investor would do and without any purpose of determining the policy of the management. But when a company by virtue of its ownership of securities is in a position to control or substantially to influence the management of another company it is properly classified as a holding company."

FEW MISHAPS MAR WPA RECORD, SAYS VICTOR CHRISTGAU

Only 378 Injuries Reported to February 1, Says State Director

Less than 19 lost-time injuries in every 1,000,000 man-hours worked is the record of the Works Progress Administration in Minnesota, figures from the office of Victor Christgau, state WPA administrator, revealed today.

Results of a survey by the WPA safety department which compiled the statistics for work up to February 1, showed project workers credited with 19,900,000 man-hours of work. This, according to R. J. Moore, state safety consultant, is the equivalent in the operation of private industry employing 1,000 men steadily, 8 hours, six days a week, for close to nine years.

From the beginning of the WPA program in Minnesota, to February 1, 378 lost-time injuries and two fatalities have been reported. Since February 1 there has been one additional fatality.

Mr. Moore explained that lost-time injuries under WPA regulations are those which prevent workers from returning to their regular work on the next shift, whereas in private industry, compensable injuries almost invariably are considered to be only those which make it impossible for the worker to return to his job at the end of the compensation period, usually seven days. In cooperation with the state medical society and county medical societies, more than 1,100 Minnesota physicians located in practically every town in the state have been selected to treat WPA injury cases. Fifteen safety inspectors are employed to make regular inspections of all projects and equipment.

According to the U. S. Employees Compensation Commission of the total of 12,605 compensable lost-time cases charged to WPA, nationally, only 1.8% occurred in the Minnesota set-up now employing more than 65,000 workers from relief rolls.

TRAFFIC SAFETY CONTEST AWARDS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Plaques to be Presented to Winning Counties and Cities Apr. 14

Winners of the 1935 Minnesota Traffic Safety contest were announced today by A. V. Rohweder, chairman of the Minnesota Public Safety committee, sponsor of the contest. Bronze plaques will be presented to representatives of the winning cities and counties at a dinner Tuesday, April 14, in the Hotel Lowry, St. Paul.

The winners of the Group "B" section of the contest for cities with populations exceeding 100,000 are St. Paul and Duluth each city being awarded equal honors. Austin and Brainerd are the winners of the Group "C" classification for cities of 10,000 to 100,000 population. Plaques will be awarded both these cities.

In the Group "D" classification for cities having populations of 5,000 to 10,000 Fergus Falls and Owatonna were named the winners. Honorable mention is given Red Wing, Bemidji, Cloquet, Ely, Fairmont and Hastings. Red Wing ranks first on the basis of its traffic fatality rate alone, but failed to win a plaque because of lack of reported public safety committee activity.

Rice county is the winner in the Group "A" classification for counties with populations of 20,000 or more, with Faribault and Pine counties receiving honorable mention. Cottonwood county is the winner of the Group "AA" classification for counties having 10,000 to 20,000 population. In the Group "AAA" classification for counties with less than 10,000 population, first honors went to Big Stone county. Honorable mention is given Grant county and special honorable mention is given to Lake county for outstanding safety activity.

In naming the winners, the award committee gave equal consideration to the traffic accident rate per 100,000 population and to public safety activities conducted by organized and approved public safety committees in the cities and counties.

The award committee was headed by N. W. Elsberg, state commissioner of highways, as chairman, and included G. W. Lawson, secretary of the state Federation of Labor; C. E. Carlson of Duluth; Dr. C. H. Mayo of Rochester; Irving Todd of Hastings; Julius Schmahl, state treasurer; R. J. Dunlap, managing editor of the St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press; M. Hildard of Duluth; H. I. Tyson of Minneapolis; C. C. Schaub of St. Paul; Jefferson Jones of the Minneapolis Journal and L. G. Foley, chairman, state board of control.

HIGHWAY WORKERS WILL OBTAIN RED CROSS TRAINING

Members of Patrol to Give First Aid to Accident Victims

In co-operation with the American Red Cross, the state highway department will train many of its employes to give first aid to accident victims, according to an announcement by N. W. Elsberg, highway commissioner.

The highway department also is co-operating with the Red Cross in its program of establishing roadside first aid stations in Minnesota, and will erect the official signs marking such stations, Mr. Elsberg said. Traffic flow data has been given the Midwest office of the Red Cross at St. Louis to aid it in determining the Minnesota trunk highways which should receive consideration in the establishment of the emergency stations, he stated.

"The Red Cross will assign an official first aid instructor to the highway department this spring," Mr. Elsberg said. "This instructor will teach first aid practice to selected men in every maintenance district throughout the state. After their training, these men in turn will teach other employes. The highway patrol, whose members already are proficient in first aid, also will assist in the work.

"Highway department employes who are constantly on the roads should be capable of giving intelligent first aid in any emergency. With the co-operation of the Red Cross, we expect many of them will receive the necessary training this coming summer. Death or permanent crippling often can be averted if an accident victim receives proper first aid before medical help arrives."

R. A. Jakoubek of St. Louis, first aid and life saving field representative of the Red Cross, made the arrangements with Mr. Elsberg for the participation of the highway department in Red Cross activities.

The Scotch-Irish

Scotch-Irish are chiefly of Scotch descent, though they came to this country from Ireland. In 1611 King James I began colonizing Ulster, a barren and neglected part of Ireland, with people from Scotland and the northern part of England. They began migrating to America about the year 1730, and at the outbreak of the Revolutionary war about one-sixth of the population of the colonies was Scotch-Irish.

Origination of Sweet Corn

Sweet corn is thought to have been cultivated in the United States in the first half of the Nineteenth century. It is apparently an offshoot of field corn, whose accidental sweet grains the Indians did not trouble to propagate. Only the white man noticed the delicate difference and grew sweet corn for his own use, leaving the field corn for animals.

BRATRUD CLINICS AGAIN GAIN LEAD IN BOWLING LOOP

DuChamp Sets Six-Year High Mark Last Week With Score of 287

The Bratrud Clinic team took three straight games from the Times last Monday night to resume the lead in the local bowling league. Wally DuChamp was high man for the Clinic team with 223, and A. W. Mickelson was high for the Times with 192 pins downed. On the preceding Friday the Times won a bracer from Land O'Lakes with Mickelson at 198 and Andrew Grendahl at 192 being high for their respective teams.

The Glucks lost three to Bridgeman's on Wednesday with Carl Wennberg at 161 for the losing team and Gordon Sterholm at 193 for the winners. Hamm's won two out of three from Borchert and Johnson to bring them in tying position with Glucks for seventh place. John Ward was high man for Hamm's at 218 and Walter Gulseth at 202 was high for the losing team. Present team standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Bratrud Clinic	36	15	.705
Grain Belt	32	15	.681
Borchert-Johnson	27	21	.562
Bridgeman	28	20	.583
Times	23	28	.451
Land O'Lakes	19	29	.395
Hamms	15	33	.312
Glucks	15	33	.312

The highest score bowled in the local alleys for the past six years was made last week by Wallace DuChamp when he downed 287 counters in one game.

There will be a bowling tournament in the local alleys on March 7 and 8 with six cash prizes to be awarded to the single and double entries. An entry fee of one dollar will be charged those competing in each class.

100 DRIVERS LOSE LICENSE IN MONTH FOR INFRACTIONS

Persons Without Licenses Warned to Secure Them Without Delay

More than 100 motorists guilty of serious traffic offenses forfeited their drivers licenses during January as a result of revocation or suspension actions by the drivers license division of the state highway department.

Although operating with only a skeleton crew because of lack of funds, the license bureau is carrying on the essential duties established by the drivers license and financial responsibility laws, according to a highway department announcement.

In fact, 11 more licenses were revoked and suspended in January this year than in the same month of 1935. The number revoked last month was 60 and the number suspended was 41. Practically all of these were the result of court convictions and court recommendations.

Persons without drivers licenses, or those who wish to obtain duplicates by reason of change of address, illegibility of the original, or for other reasons, should apply to the state highway department in St. Paul or to any county clerk of court. The charge is 25 cents if St. Paul. County clerks are authorized to charge [illegible] cents to pay their expenses in the work.

LOCAL CHEVROLET GARAGE SHARES IN JUNKING OLD CARS

Cooperates in National Campaign by Junking 32 Old Cars

Some idea of the contribution which the Chevrolet Motor Company's present old car junking program is making to the cause of traffic safety all over the United States may be gained from the fact that L. C. Lust, Chevrolet district manager, yesterday scrapped the 32nd old car to be scrapped in Thief River Falls since the inception of the program Jan. 1.

"When you realize that scenes like this one are being enacted all over the country," said D. H. Smith, zone manager, "it isn't hard to see the effect which the program will have on street and highway safety. At least 25,000 cars whose further operation would be a menace to their owners and the public at large will be retired permanently this month, and the probabilities are that the figure will run even higher, for dealers are cooperating with a will.

"Here in Thief River Falls, F. A. Hinkel, Chevrolet dealer, has been especially active. The removal of 32 dangerously old vehicles from the streets, in a city of this size, should definitely reduce the hazard from traffic mishaps, for next to the driver himself, the condition of the vehicle is the most important factor in traffic safety."

American Telephone and Telegraph Company Has Business Gain Last Year

A gain of 466,560 telephones in the Bell System last year, making a total of 13,844,000 telephones in the system, is reported by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in its annual report for 1935 which has just been released. This company is the parent company of the Bell System of which the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company is a part.

In addition to the telephones owned and operated by the Bell System, there are about 3,566,000 telephones operated by 6,600 other companies which connect with its lines, making a total of about 17,350,000 telephones in the United States or more than half of the telephones in the world. Practically any one of these telephones can be connected promptly to any other.

At the end of the year there were 657,000 stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. More than half of these stockholders are women. No stockholder owns as much as one per cent of the total stock. The average number of shares per stockholder is 28. More than one-third of the Bell System employees own stock.

The stockholders receive a $9 per share dividend during the year on stock held, which represented a return of 6.7 per cent of their investment of $133.42 per share in the business. However, earnings fell short of meeting the dividend paid by $33,165,693, which amount was taken from surplus.

The Bell System have over 270,000 employees at the end of the year. The increase in payroll over the preceding year amounted to $18,875,000.

At the end of the year the total assets of the Bell System were $5,059,000,000. There was a net increase in plant investment during the year of $18,000,000.

No Open Muskrat Season in Pennington County

The 1936 open season for muskrats, previously authorized by the Conservation Commission, will extend from March 25 to April 13 inclusive in designated counties, it was announced last week by A. C. Hanson, director of the division of game and fish. Pennington county is not included.

The open season applies to the following northern Minnesota counties only: Lake of the Woods, Koochiching, Itasca, St. Louis, Hubbard, Cass, Aitkin, Carlton and Wadena. The law provides that no person shall set or use more than 50 traps for muskrats and that no person shall set, visit, or remove any muskrats between 8 P. M. and 6 A. M.

ROAD CREWS OPEN PATH TO DOCTOR TO REACH PATIENT

Lakefield.—Three crews were put to work to open the road from Lakefield to the Adolph Husen farm, nine miles southwest of that town, so that a physician could visit a patient with a bad cut in her leg. Within two hours the nine mile stretch was open, and the doctor was able to bring the girl into town for necessary attention. Mildred Husen received a deep gash and a three inch cut across her knee cap by falling on a sharp object in the barn. The cut caused the blood to flow freely, and required urgent attention by a physician.

NEW FARM PLAN IS SIGNED SATURDAY BY THE PRESIDENT

Details of $500,000,000 Program Will be Announced Soon

Secretary Wallace Monday placed himself at the head of a list of government farm officials who will launch the new $500,000,000 soil conservation-subsidy program at regional meetings this week in Memphis and Chicago.

The AAA, declining to divulge details in advance of the conferences with farmers and farm representatives, said the agriculture secretary would leave for Memphis after a cabinet dinner Wednesday night.

The new soil bill, signed into law Saturday night by President Roosevelt, replaces the invalidated agricultural adjustment act as the administration farm-relief program. It authorizes paying up to $500,000,000 a year in federal subsidies to farmers for "economic use" of land. The AAA hopes thru it to retire 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 acres from commercial crops this year.

On capitol hill, the senate agricultural committee deferred seeking a vote to override President Roosevelt's veto of the $50,000,000 seed and feed loan bill pending an investigation to determine whether the executive's ear-marking of $30,000,000 in relief funds for this purpose will meet farm needs.

Government of Seventy Towns in Minnesota to be Surveyed Under WPA

A survey of local government in Minnesota cities of between 2500 and 25,000 population will be made by the Municipal Reference Bureau in cooperation with the League of Minnesota Municipalities, it has been announced by C. C. Ludwig, secretary of the league.

The survey will fall under three main heads, in which studies will be made of finance, including receipts, expenditure, debt and the like; personnel, covering the duties, salaries, tenure, method of appointment and so on of public officials and employees, and administrative procedure, covering the methods by which municipal business is conducted.

About 70 communities fall into the class of towns to be surveyed, Professor Ludwig said. Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth excluded, and also towns of less than 2500 population, but all other Minnesota cities are included.

Funds for the survey are being provided by the Works Progress Administration and amount to slightly more than $26,000. Work will begin at once and will be started in the communities nearest to Minneapolis, where the Municipal Reference Bureau maintains headquarters on the campus of the University of Minnesota.

SHOT BY STRAY BULLET WHILE ASLEEP IN BED

Sebeka.—Peter Doty, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Doty of Sebeka, escaped serious injury and possible death when accidently shot through the right arm while asleep in his bed at home there. The bullet missed his head by a fraction of an inch. His seven-year-old nephew, Jack Bloomquist, had found a high powered rifle and while playing with the gun, it was accidently discharged. The bullet went through two bedroom walls, a wooden box in the boy's bedroom and then through a mattress before it struck its victim. He will recover, though the bullet tore an ugly hole through his arm just below the shoulder.

FEDERAL AGENCY TO AID IN FEEDING N. W. GAME BIRDS

Youth Administration Now Cooperating with Game Wardens

Aid to Minnesota's suffering game birds is continuing in all parts of the state, according to George A. Selke, director of the National Youth Administration, which has made available the services of a number of youths for building shelters and distributing food.

In the seventh district, N. A. Thorson, district supervisor of the NRA, has sent letters to game wardens located in the county seat towns, informing them of the number of youths who have been assigned in their county and authorizing the release of these youths for conservation projects now being instituted by wardens and sportsmen's clubs. Where these youths are already working, the approval of the co-sponsors is necessary.

The counties of Kittson, Clearwater and Polk have already availed themselves of the opportunity to use these youths in the erection of shelters, building hoppers and distributing feed. Organizations and others are advised to contact their local wardens if they wish to make use of these youths on the game conservation program.

"Although a break in the subzero temperatures brought some relief in the situation," Mr. Selke stated, "the work must continue in order to prevent further deaths among the birds which are in exhausted and weakened condition. The feed problem for the birds remains as acute as ever because of the heavy snows."

This work is one phase of the Youth Administration's conservation and nature study project being carried on in cooperation with the state game and fish department, local sportsmen's clubs and civic groups.

Local Men Start Taxi Line in Detroit Lakes

Detroit Lakes has a new business firm in a taxi company which has set up its stand at the Colonial hotel, says the Tribune of that city. The company will be known as Radio Taxi. H. G. England, formerly of Thief River Falls, is manager while his assistant is R. A. Hugge, also of Thief River Falls. They will run two cabs.

Sees Danger of Floods in Southern Minnesota

Unusually heavy snows and intense cold have provided an ideal setting for an old-fashioned flood in southern and southwestern counties of the state, according to E. V. Willard, commissioner of conservation. The protracted cold has frozen the soil to a considerable depth and will interfere with normal absorption when the snow begins to melt, Mr. Willard said. The situation is likely to become aggravated because many of our streams have not functioned except for extremely low flows for the past ten to fifteen years. As a result, trees and bushes have grown up within the normal flood plains, which will retard flood discharges and cause waters to be held back.

Bronson Buildings Are Razed in $25,000 Fire Last Saturday Evening

Fire believed to have started from a defective chimney resulted in a $25,000 loss in Bronson Saturday night.

The blaze started in the Farmers Supply Co. store building, destroyed that structure and most of the stock, the Bronson hotel and restaurant and the former Farmers State Bank building. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Whipped by a high wind the fire for a time threatened the entire business section of the town. Burning embers set fire to the roof of the newly erected city auditorium a block away but that structure was saved from serious damage.

All of the burned structures were landmarks being among the first erected when the Soo Line railroad was built through here in 1905.

Supreme Court Holds Pedestrian Is Liable

The pedestrians who complain of the roads no longer being safe because of automobile traffic have no comeback for this.

Here's the case of a motorist who struck a pedestrian, but did not injure the pedestrian, instead running into a ditch, where he himself was killed. To make it even more unusual, his widow collected $7,500 damages against the pedestrian.

A state supreme court decision Friday revealed this mixed up situation in upholding district court decision, awarding Mrs. Joseph W. Vogel, Fergus Falls, $7,500 damages for the death of her husband on July 10, 1934, when his car struck Fred Johnson, Crookston salesman, then swerved into a ditch, killing Mr. Vogel. Claim was against the Nash-Finch Co., employer of Mr. Johnson on the contention that the salesman was on duty for the company at the time he stood beside his parked car when the accident occurred.

Mr. Johnson was found to be negligent in standing on the road.

Boulder Dam Project Completed and Handed to U. S. Government

Boulder dam on the Colorado river, one of the world's greatest engineering feats, Monday was the property of the United States.

The completed dam, which will impound 30 million acre feet of water from a lake covering 227 square miles, provides power for a vast southwestern area and will prevent costly floods in the Colorado river valley, was turned over to the government by representatives of Six Companies, Inc., the builders.

Ralph Lowry, U. S. reclamation bureau official, accepted the completed project without ceremony. It cost $100,000,000 and took six years to build. The government expects to get the money back from sale of power within 50 years.

MARSHALL COUNTY TO GET $47,000 IN MUD LAKE TAXES

Settlement Involves 27,000 Acres Not Appealed by Owners

Marshall county will receive about $47,000.00 in payment of taxes in the Mud Lake Condemnation proceedings effecting approximately 27,000 acres that were not appealed by private owners, according to Arnold A. Trost, county attorney, following action taken by the county board of commissioners Tuesday, says the Warren Sheaf.

The county commissioners entered into a stipulation with the State of Minnesota and its attorney general Harry H. Peterson agreeing that $54,191.02 be paid as final on the parcels of land on which no private owner has entered an appeal, said Mr. Trost.

Mr. Trost, in behalf of the board, filed an appeal from the awards of the Mud Lake appraisers on all parcels where the awards of the appraisers would not pay the taxes and ditch liens. Several weeks ago, the state agreed to increase the award by 71.2 per cent or a net gain of about $19,000 from the original figure.

The commissioners also are working on an adjustment of taxes basis with private owners who have appealed from the awards and hope to make a satisfactory adjustment so the project will get under way this year.

In the stipulation entered into between the board and Attorney General Peterson, the following statement was made, "This stipulation of settlement is made on the condition that if the state shall conclude not to consummate the condemnation proceedings, this stipulation shall be without prejudice to the right of the state to dismiss the entire proceedings or any part thereof and the state expressly reserves such right. It is expressly agreed that in the event of such dismissal, this stipulation shall shall create no liability of any kind or nature whatsoever on the part of the state."

State Takes 50 Per Cent Loss on Seed Loans Made in 5 Western Counties

Minnesota already has suffered a $144,506 loss from emergency seed loans to farmers in five western counties and the total loss will be in the same ratio, approximately 50 per cent, state school officials said Saturday in St. Paul.

The loans were made from a $2,000,000 appropriation voted by the 1935 legislature which provided that the loans would be made through the counties which would be reimbursed by the state for all losses.

The total amount loaned was $790,337 in 22 counties and the loss for the state will approximate $450,000, said Stafford King, state auditor, and seed loan administrator.

The amount of loans made in the five counties in which settlements have been completed and the loss paid by the state totaled $243,322.76.

The five counties are Big Stone, Brown, Rice, Traverse and McLeod.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

Early Day Indian Lore

Down in the southern part of the state oldtimers tell of hearing from the elders about the Indians graves that sometimes stood where city life now throbs. The graves are associated with the very earliest settlement periods and are so fantastic in modern eyes that they are gradually attaining a legendary, and hence an apochryphal, status in the eyes of many of the present generation.

But here in Thief River Falls the memory of Indian graves is vivid. They stood on or near the city site as late as the 90's. Miss Davies, the former teacher whom we have quoted recalls seeing them. They were Chippewa graves, of course and perhaps we are wrong in describing them as graves. The Sioux in the southern part of the state buried their dead on scaffolds built in trees or on poles. Sometimes the bodies were placed in caskets painted a bright red. But here, according to Miss Davies, the method was more simple and crude.

"We could look across the river", the veteran educator explained," and see bodies fastened to trees, usually to the trunks. They were simply lashed on with ropes or thongs, the bodies being wrapped in blankets or skins. They were gruesome, but in those days we were adjusted to unorthodox customs, or rather, accepted the unusual as orthodox."

The common practice was to place the bodies high enough from the ground to prevent molestation by animals. Sometimes the bodies were buried after a certain time and sometimes they were burned. When the influence of whites was absent they were left on the scaffolds. The Chippewa still erect small wooden structures over the graves of their noted dead. There may be much more burial customs of the Chippewa of the reservation that we have not touched on here, but we have confined our statements to authorities we have consulted.

The Chippewa who lived here in the 90's were proud of their ancestry and maintained their dignity against the encroachments of the white man's garb, or rather blended it with their own costumes for every-day wear they donned full Indian regalia on important occasions. Miss Davies recalls that a number of haughty Indian chiefs were on hand in headdress and other items of formal dress when the first train was welcomed here.

Even then the Chippewa profited by the interest of the whites in Indian curios and they sometimes did a brisk business in moccasins, beads miniature birch bark canoes and other articles. They were probably the principal patrons of the Wallin trading post. They traded pelts for supplies, including traps, ammunition and guns. We do not know what the reaction was here, but it would seem that it would have been unwise to sell the Indians guns in 1891 when the Indian scare in Kittson county in that year had resulted in frank appeals to the governor for aid and in the sending of guns and ammunition to different towns to be used in the event of Indian attacks. Perhaps Mr. Wallin sold guns only to the Indians he knew were friends of the whites.

In our interview with Miss Davies she did not mention the Indian scare of 1891 and it is probable that being a light-hearted young girl she did not pay attention to such things in those days. She remembered, however, that she was a good customer of the Indians buying numerous curios. "They had Indian names for Miss Wallin and I" she said, "but I can't think of either of them now."

Miss Davies, although of Welsh and not Scotch descent, exhibited frugal housewifely traits even as a young teacher. "One day", she confided, "I bought a huge box of cranberries from the Indians for 25 cents. I couldn't get fruit jars to put them in, so I bought a five-gallon crock churn and made cranberry marmalade. It was very good, too."

Those frontier days have long been gone. The attributes of civilization rapidly transformed the town and the Indians and their influences were relegated more and more to the background. Today we must journey to the reservation to witness scenes similar to those the pioneers here saw commonly. But the Indians, too, have changed and many of the Chippewa practices of the early 90's have been abandoned. They still have dances, of course, and they probably are much like those of nearly 50 years ago, but the old spirit is lacking.

By the way, we have been informed that the U. S. Indian department has altered its policy with reference to Indian religion to the extent of encouraging preservation of Indian pagan customs, not, however, as an indorsement of paganism but because of interest in ethnology. Christianity is fostered as strongly as ever among the Indians but it is hoped, the writer's informant said, that it will be possible to preserve the old rites and even revive some of those long abandoned.

GOODRIDGE

Farmer Labor Meeting

An organization meeting was held on Saturday evening for the Farmer Labor party, a set of by-laws adopted and officers elected. The officers are: President, John Vraa; Vice president, Flody Olson; Secy.-Treas., C. L. Noer; Directors, Tom Belland, Ole Olson; County directors—Lloyd Nelson, George Vraa. R. M. Aalbu of Thief River gave a talk and J. V. Hoffman of Erie brought out a few points.

Basketball tournament

The Class A basketball tournament was held at Warren on Friday and Saturday, instead of the Thursday and Friday as scheduled, due to the bad storm Wednesday.

The Goodridge boys were the only team to arrive on Wednesday evening, the Climax team arrived by train a day later and both Oslo and Alvarado were entirely snowed in, and had to wait for the roads to be opened.

Supt. T. A. Dierud accompanied the boys, Mr. Stall the coach not being able to make the trip, as he was just recovering from the flu. The boys who went were Rudolph Bjorgum, Stanley and Harvey Tollefson, Iver Gonnering, Curtis Olson, Olaf Bratland, and Vernon Urdahl.

The first game was played on Friday afternoon between Alvarado who ranked as the fourth team in the tournament, and Goodridge as the sixth team. The Goodridge boys were ahead at the end of the half by four points, but came out the losers, the final score being 25 to 21, not a score to be ashamed of surely. We are very proud of our boys in spite of the fact that they lost this game. They have suffered a lot this winter to get in their practise, by driving to Oklee or Plummer two and three times a week thru the snow and severe cold weather and then they were handicapped by their coach not being able to accompany them to the tournament.

The championship game was played by Plummer and Fisher, and Plummer was the winner, and will go to Crookston for the district Tournament on March 5th and 6th.

Mr. Dierud drove over to Warren on Wednesday evening, leaving here about four-thirty with the seven players, which was quite a load, considering the roads and the storm. They returned home on Friday evening after the games.

A few basketball fans braved the cold weather on Friday evening and drove over to take in the games. They were: Mrs. Alice Brandt, Misses Elizabeth Holanna, Dorothy Korstad, Lucille Felder and Beth and Jean McLeod, Edward Korstad, Jr. and Charles Josephson.

Home Talent Play

Keep in mind the play "Look Out, Lizzie," which is to be given on Friday evening March 13th, at the school house for the Athletic fund for the high school. Don't Miss it, or you will be sorry.

HAIR TURNING BLACK AS SHE ENTERS NINETIES

Morris.—Mrs. Anna E. Tuttle, who makes her home with Miss Bertha Pusher in Morris, celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary recently, and in honor of the occasion displayed a few new black hairs. Her hair, which was quite gray, is now turning definitely black. As a young woman Mrs. Tuttle had black hair, but for a number of years it was almost white. She is extremely active for her age. Some kind of a record will be established if her hair turns completely black as she nears the 100 year mark.

GRYGLA

Geo. Armstrong, mail carrier on the Star route to Malcolm spent the week end visiting friends and relatives at Fergus Falls. On his return he was accompanied by his sister who will visit here.

The annual stockholders meeting of the local creamery was held on Feb. 24th. An unusually large crowd was in attendance and a very satisfactory meeting resulted. Martin Sandsmark and Severt Askeland are new faces on the board, succeeding George Skarsten and Paul Olstad. Tilda Erickson was re-elected. Illus Magnuson formerly operator of the creamery at Four Towns has been engaged and on March 1st entered upon his new duties.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. McCoy accompanied by Ole Bilkom spent one day last week on business at the county seat. —Mrs. Johanna Pederson of Malcolm, who has been at Thief River Falls seeking medical attention, returned to her home greatly improved in health.

Due to the resignation of the "chief engineer" and "Cop" Ted Dalen, the Village Council at a special meeting tendered this dual job to Gust Austad who entered on his new duties March 1.—A very enjoyable party was had at the E. O. Berg home last Thursday evening by The Friendly Neighbor Circle. Mrs. Berg has been a very active member of the circle and now that the Berg family will shortly leave our midst her many friends wish her loads of good luck. Card playing proved the main source of amusement, altho correspondent learns that much singing and speaking was evident. A very enjoyable lunch was served by the self invited guests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Sandberg and Gertrude Engelbart spent last Saturday shopping at Thief River Falls. —A return engagement of the "Battle of Board of Trade" which was started at Goodridge a week ago, took place here Monday evening. Our friendly neighbors still much elated over the victory on their home grounds still on their chest, came to town some 20 strong. Competition was strong, bets were placed too high, and in fact before the session was over, nobody knew who really won, but a prediction is that the "Golden cup" got all there was. Come again Goodridge folks, the evening was most enjoyable.

Emil Englund's home was recently gladdened by the arrival of a baby boy. Mother and son are as well as can be expected.

Whist is an interesting game as well as a good past time and just to be sure that John Stolpe of Malcolm had not forgotten some of his old tricks a number of Grygla folks drove out to his home and spent a very enjoyable Saturday evening. LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

T. R. F. DRAWS BYE IN FIRST ROUND OF TOURNAMENT

District Basketball Meet to Be Held March 5-6 in Crookston

The Prowler's basketball center of interest shifts to Crookston today and tomorrow.

There the six best teams of District 31 meet in royal scramble for the title.

East Grand Forks is a slight favorite by the fact that it finished with highest honors in the race just finished. Either Crookston or the Prowlers are expected to give the Wave a tough time.

Two games will be played this morning with Warren meeting Plummer in a toss-up game and Crookston meeting Fisher. Tonight the semi-finals are played with the winner of the Warren-Plummer game meeting the East Side Champions. The winner of the Crookston-Fisher game meets the first round bye team, the Prowlers.

When Warren meets Plummer, a closely contested match is expected. Both teams boast high scoring aces in Engelstad of Warren and Schenaeur and Langlie of Plummer. In the other morning game, the Pirates are expected an easy win over Fisher, although an upset may occur even here. Fisher has one win over Crookston this year any may provide an upset.

In the semi-finals the Green Wave should be able to defeat either Plummer or Warren, who will have had one tough game already today.

Tomorrow evening the finals are played to select a team to represent District 31 in the regional tournament at Bemidji next week. With all teams boasting such stars as our own Mickelson, Crookston's Barnes, and East Grand Fork's Peterson and Rockwood, as well as many others, the tournament should be as hotly contested as any in the past few years.

The Prowler eight is expected to consist of Captain Mickelson, "Bud" Nelson, A. Lorentson, Jung, A. Nelson, Helquist, Nesse, and either D. Lorentson or Clark Mickelson.

The tournament schedule is as follows:

Warren-Plummer, Thursday, 10 a. m.

Crookston-Fisher, Thursday, 11 a. m.

East Grand Forks-Winner game 1, Thursday, 8 p. m.

Thief River Falls—Winner game 2, Thursday, 9 p. m.

Loser games 3 and 4, Friday, 8 p. m.

Winners 3 and 4, Friday, 8 p. m.

Below is a summary of the progress of the Prowlers basketeers for this season:

MUSIC NOTES

The following selections were played by the high school band under the direction of S. P. Orwoll, at the P. T. A. meeting, Monday evening: "O Light of Life", Bortniansky; "Andante" from "Surprise symphony", Hayden; "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman", Offenback; "Gypsiana" from "Themes from Hungary" arranged by Yoder; "Elves' Dance" from "Nut Cracker Suite", Tschaikowsky; and "Hall of Fame", Concert March, Olivadote.

Nights Are Light

Ben Berger Grants Progress Interview

(Editor's Note— The following interview was presented to a reporter of the Progress staff by Ben Berger, magician.)

Name: Mr. Ben Berger

Where did you get your idea for the show? That's hard to say. I've always liked magic tricks. I started doing tricks before I was even old enough to go to school. It might sound funny but it's true!

Have you been traveling long? I've been traveling all my life.

During the summers of my boyhood, I used to travel with theatrical troups and gradually got to produce a show of my own.

Do you travel alone? No, I have a driver. I do all my work alone.

Which trick do you like to do best? That's hard to say. I have had six complete two hour shows in the East.

Which trick is the most difficult? The one with the triple card flips is the most difficult. I am the only man in the world who can perform that trick.

Do you always have tricks with one or two boys? No, not always.

Do you ever try hypnotism? No. I think that belongs to shows, circuses, etc.

PROWLER "B" SQUAD ENDS YEAR'S SEASON

Second Team Completes Schedule Winning Eight of Nine Encounters

The Prowler "B" team ended its schedule after playing nine games and winning eight of them. During the course of the season they played St. Hilaire once, Alvarado twice, Newfolden twice, Middle River two times and Warren two times. They were also scheduled to play the Crookston "B" team on both floors, but for some unknown reason Crookston cancelled both games. They were also to meet Middle River again, but this game was called off because of bad weather conditions. The team played three games out-of-town, one at Middle River, one at Alvarado, and one at Warren. All of these games were won by the locals. Their one defeat was met at the hands of Middle River on the local floor early in the season.

It was noticeable in "B" team games that the scores with the same teams were nearly identical, proving that it was not merely luck that took the Prowler "B's" to the end of a successful season. This team also showed some excellent prospects for next year's varsity.

Auntie Carolyn's Column

Dear Auntie Carolyn:

I am a poor junior just wondering what to take up as my vocation. I've thought and thought and thought, but I just don't know what I'd like to be. Could you please help me?

I. M. Lost

Why of course, you poor dear, I know just how you feel. I also was once in just such a predicament. But just take a look around you in your own high school, and I am sure you will find a vocation. A general bureau of color information wouldn't be a bad idea. Really, just glance around and you wonder if some people ever look at their clothes. Have you noticed the autrocious color schemes that are used? For instance, a brown checked skirt with a black dotted blouse. Don't they look positively ridiculous? And boys are just as silly. And orange and pink—well, a better combination has been known!

Yes, a vocation may be hard, but just glance at people near and around you, and surely you'll find plenty to do.

Auntie Carolyn

LOCAL DEBATERS DEFEAT CROOKSTON BY 2-1 DECISION

Crookston Wins District Championship in Spite of Their Defeat

The last district debate was held Monday evening, February 24, at eight o'clock in the high school assembly. A Crookston all-girl team whose members were Hannah Dowell, Margaret Anne Clark, and Bernice Orvile, upheld the negative. The affirmative was supported by the local debaters, Fae Belcher, Oscar Bickley, and Morris Engelstad. The question debated was "Resolved: That the several states should enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense."

The decision as awarded by the judges, L. G. Thompson, E. W. Butler, and E. L. Scharf, Grand Forks, was 2 to 1 in favor of the affirmative. In spite of the fact that this decision was given to the Lincoln debaters, the district championship was won by Crookston.

Crookston has defeated both Warren and Red Lake Falls by unanimous decisions. The Lincoln team received a 3 to 0 decision in their favor in a Red Lake Falls debate but was defeated by 3 to 1 in a Warren debate. For this reason, Crookston has seven points while the local team has only six.

P. T. A. MEETING HELD MONDAY

Superintendent Morris Bye Addresses Assemblage

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher's Association was held in the high school assembly last Monday evening, March second, at eight o'clock. A varied program was presented to all parents and teachers who attended.

Superintendent Morris Bye, who recently returned from a convention at St. Louis, Missouri, addressed the audience on the subject "The Educational Progress in Thief River Falls' Schools." Miss Parsons, local school nurse, also spoke of the summer round-up clinic.

The Land O'Lakes' Quartet, composed of Douglas Booren, Clarence Sande, Clarence Veves, and Carl Brahs, sang a group of selections. Other musical numbers were provided by the Lincoln High School band, under the direction of S. P. Orwoll.

At the conclusion of the P. T. A. meeting, lunch was served by a group of women.

PARODY TO LINCOLN'S GETTSBURG ADDRESS

Nine score and one day ago the School Board brought forth in this city new teachers, conceived in knowledge and assigned to teach the same to the students of Thief River Falls. Now we are engaged in a great period of study, judging whether our brains, so worked and so taxed, can long endure. We are met at a great crisis of that period. We have come to decide whether it is best to go on, or, to cease our study. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. The many teachers, here and elsewhere, have decided it far above our poor power to do so ourselves. The world will little note or long remember us if we do not, and it can be aided only if we do. It is for us, the students, rather to prepare for the unfinished work, for which they who taught us have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great tasks remaining before us, that from these honored teachers we take increased devotion to the worldly causes for which they gave their last full measure of endurance, and we here highly resolve that these teachers shall not have taught in vain; that these students shall make a renaissance of learning; and that education of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth.

Monday afternoon, we were highly entertained by an adept linquist, a punster, and a magician on the side. This was another in the series of Northwest Assemblies, to which we are fortunate enough to have access. They always have some different idea for an afternoon's diversion.

But the magician appearing last Monday not only mystified by clever tricks of his trade, but also displayed somewhat a prodigious array of puns, some good, some bad, and a few that didn't "take."

We feel he did an excellent job of amusing, but, for the observing, he also showed what one could do with a little practice and concentrated effort. His finger exercise were good examples in this, line. In the industrial world of today, the minute divisions of labor open fields of endeavor for all who are skilled. By this system, one can become the best in his line and secure for himself a place in the setup of what is known as society.

This calls to mind the story of the man who made a better mouse trap than his neighbors and "the world beat a path to his door." But the experiences of others tell us that if we beat a path to the world and tell the world what we can do better, success will not be so lagging.

Nevertheless, the prerequisities to success are preparation and practice! Then, with skill acquired, sell your ability to your best advantage!

PUBLIC SCHOOL NEWS

Northrop School

During the last six weeks' period, the students studied and memorized "Your Flag and My Flag" by William Nesbit. As follow up work, some of the pupils wrote poems in free verse. A number of poems are printed below.

Our Flag

I love you, dear Old Stars and

Our dear old flag,
You are so bright and great—
Our dear flag,
Our dear old flag!

Billy Mickelson represented the third grade in the game, "Loco". Washington school carried off the laurels for the game.

The Northrop basketball team is composed of the following: Robert Carlisle, center; Lennerd Lorentson and Nick Christa, forwards; Philip Hess and Harry Long, guards. The substitutes are Donald Berg and Donald Johnson. This team played the Knox school on Friday and were victorious.

The fifth grade pupils who have made a straight line on their spelling graphs during this six weeks' period are: Donald Berg, Lucille Bouville, Vernon Eide, Joan Holmes, Orville Jeppru, Luverne Lian, Louise Olson, and Milton Reierson. Another spell-down will be held in the fifth grade this week.

A contest was held to see which group was capable of making the best product map of Minnesota. Mark Leverson's group was the winner.

MAKING THE ROUNDS

Miss Diebel's history classes have lately completed the unit on Civil War. They are now reviewing material that they have recently covered.

The General Science classes, taught by Miss Dahlen, have finished studying the unit in their texts on weather. While studying the unit, they compiled weather charts for a week.

The Home Economics I classes have finished a unit on child care. They made notebooks concerning the child from two to six years of age.

The bookkeeping classes completed practice sets last Friday. These sets required a six weeks' period to be completed.

Miss Steenerson's English II classes have finished studying the essay and have begun to study the drama.

Miss Lunder's Home Economic II classes are studying desserts, including cake and cookies.

Mr. Orwoll's history classes have been studying the unification of Italy. Soon they will begin to study the unification of Germany.

The Home Economics I classes are working on their cotton garments which include shorts, pajamas, and slacks.

The Latin II classes are starting the third book of Caesar's conquest of Gaul.

Mr. Chalmer's biology classes are studying grafting.

Miss Leavitt will complete all library lessons in Central school this week.

AMATEUR CONTEST IS FEATURED IN LAST PEP FEST

Several Grade Students Take Part; Dayton Silk Presides

Bob Allen and His Mighty Art Players contributed to the program held in the high school assembly Wednesday, February 26. Robert Wessling, rooter king, headed the program as Bob Allen.

Serving in the capacity of announcer, Dayton Silk opened the program. An amateur hour was the main feature. In addition to high school students, several children of other schools participated.

The Boys Double Quartette, singing "La Cucuracha", started the main part of the program. They followed by "Dutchy, the Kid" and "Jack, the Red" in reality Robert Douville and Jack Booren, who played a reed duet.

Lorraine Baken, Marcella Ruane and Roberta Dailey again entertained the student body in a tap dancing number. Coach Leo's small son "Pepper" received an ovation from the students when he made his first appearance in the high school. "Pepper" exhibited his talent as a public speaker. Attempts at vocalising "Coming 'Round the Mountain" resulted in the exit of Lorraine Amundson. Yvonne Anderson, Fae Belcher, and Margaret McKechnie received the gong when they endeavored to both play and sing several numbers.

Three young people from the lower grades also participated in the amateur hour. Doris Nelson of Washington school and Arlene Michaels of Knox School sang "Quicker Than You Can Say Jack Robinson" and "I'm Sitting High on a Hilltop", respectively. Exhibiting talent in tap dancing, Clayton Tripp, second-grader from Washington school, was greatly applauded by the students.

Alyce Frots, Helen Granum, Adele Holmstrom, and Robert Douville were accompanists to all musical selections of the program.

Dayton Silk dismissed the assembly with one of his advertisements regarding the purchase of cold snaps at home games.

ETIQUETTE

The sense of humor seems to express the characteristic common to all mankind. Daily you hear "She is nice; she has such a keen sense of humor."

It is pleasant to have the ability to see the funny side of things, but there are some occurrences in life that never should excite the risibilities. Still there isn't a day that one doesn't see the sense of humor displayed when it should be suppressed.

Would anyone with sense laugh at a person who, when the rung of a chair gives way, sprawls on the floor? Is there any sense in laughing at what seems to be a state of senility in a drunken person? How can anyone laugh at beastly, uncomplimentary remarks about another even if the person could correct his faults? Just what is humorous about the spectacle of a hat rolling nicely in a puddle of water?

Keep your sense of humor to yourself. When you laugh at the proper time, you will be considered intelligent.

Most high school students seem to possess the childish characteristic of laughing at a classmate's mistakes. No one is perfect in explanation and knowledge of all subjects. When a fellow student unconsciously makes a grave error, imagine yourself in his position and suppress the intended giggle.

A well-bred person seldom finds occasion to laugh at another's mistakes. Neither does he deem it necessary to giggle at unavoidable errors. A hearty laugh is enjoyed by all; a silly laugh is condemned by all.

The pep squad is planning to go to the district basketball tournament at Crookston on Thursday. They will perform at the game in which Thief River Falls plays at nine o'clock. The girls will make several formations, sing one or two songs and give several yells. This will be the last appearance of the pep squad this year. Special seats are being reserved on one of the school buses.

The conclusion is unavoidable that a lot of these people who say they speak their minds are boasting.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

Students of Three Schools Hold Meet

A contest of loco, called a "boy's-man" game, was waged between the highest point boys of three schools last week. The third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades of Knox, Washington, and Northrop schools were represented. Miss Helquist, physical education instructor of these students, explains that loco is a game played when football activities of these boys are concluded.

This contest of loco brought the following results: Third grade—Billy Bye, 60 points; Fourth grade—Myles Efteland, 60 points; Fifth grade—Donald Noel and Alvin Martin, tie; and sixth grade—Bud Gulseth.

Also competing for honors were Billy Mickelson, Robert Schmidt, Lloyd Johnson, Robert Lane, Sonny Helle, Daryl Ander, and Orrin Peterson, the latter deserving honorable mention for a well-played game. Wallace Williams and Jack Melby of Northrop school were unable to play.

MORRIS BYE ATTENDS MEETING AT ST. LOUIS

Superintendent Morris Bye attended the Superintendence Convention at St. Louis which opened Feb. 22 and closed Feb. 27. One of the things which greatly appealed to Mr Bye was the 74 above zero weather—quite a contrast to the weather which we were enduring at that time. The theme at the convention was the function of schools in a democracy.

Among the outstanding speakers was Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin; J. W. Studebaker, United States Commissioner of Education; Dr. Coffman, President of the University of Minnesota; Charles A. Beard, historian; George S. Counts, editor of the Social Frontier; Rabbi Abba Silver, Cleveland; Agnes Samuelson, State Superintendent of Iowa; Charles H. Judd, University of Chicago; Dr. George D. Strayer; Dr. William C. Bagley; and Dr. Thomas H. Briggs, Columbia University.

A very interesting session was the discussion on current national issues by the representatives of three leading national parties. The representatives were Norman Thomas, Socialist; former governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, Republican; and Senator A. H. Barkley of Kentucky, Democrat.

Another interesting session was the Public Forum Session, which was similar to the Town Hall program heard each Wednesday night over the radio. In this session J. W. Studebaker was chairman with Will Durant, philosopher and lecturer as discussion leader. Mr. Bye found this especially interesting because it was conducted in the panel form. In this form, the chairman and speaker are at the end of the table with three or more important personages on both sides. By this arrangement they, as well as the other people present, may ask the speaker questions.

BEN BERGER ENTERTAINS AT 6TH PROGRAM

Members of Northwest Assemblies Display Talent Monday

On Monday afternoon, March 2, Ben Berger, renowned magician, entertained Lincoln High School students at the City Auditorium.

The essential piece of Mr. Berger's equipment was his magic wand. The wand, which was placed and rolled in a newspaper, mysteriously disappeared. After much search, the wand reappeared in a linen handkerchief. After tearing a paper napkin into numerous bits, Mr. Berger twisted the shreds into a ball, blew on it, and produced a whole handkerchief.

A plain sheet of paper was then rolled into a ball. After placing bars of the spectrum in this roll, Mr. Berger put a white handkerchief in it. It came out in an array of colors. After putting several of these handkerchiefs through this routine, he pulled out a long scarf of many colors.

Mr. Berger then pantomined a smoker's nightmare. By reaching and securing lighted cigarettes from then air, he mystified the audience.

Mr. Berger did his finger exercise by having cards appear from nowhere. He performed the triple card trick, which only he can do. This was placing three piles of playing cards on his left arm, the first and third piles face down, and the second pile face up. He threw these cards into the air, changing them without having one card misplaced.

The feature attraction was performed with the aid of three students. "Bud" Nelson, the boy with the magician's profile was tied with two solid rings on his back, and two ropes going through his coat sleeves. These rings were fastened to the rope. After removing the rings, Mr. Berger had two helpers, Walter Gibson and Selmer Dicken, pull on the ends of the ropes, releasing the knots and setting "Bud" Nelson free.

Mr. Berger continued his program by donning a Chinese robe and accomplishing some Chinese handkerchief tricks.

Mr. Berger concluded his program by drawing a silk flag bearing the words "Ben Berger" from stripes of orange and puple ribbon. The program was greatly enjoyed by all students.

GYM GEMS

Maybe you won't believe it, but —you should have seen some of our sophisticated "josies" down at the gym on "Kindergarten Day". They liked it, too! They played jacks, jumped rope, played ball and even hopscotch, and rolled marbles.

Each class was divided into five groups. The girls alternated playing in each of these activities. The winner, the one who won in the most activities, received a bar. This day in gym was planned as a compensation for the hard work done by the girls in the Captain ball tournament.

The "mystery reward" was presented to the sixth period Tuesday and Thursday girls last Thursday. The members of Florence Hanson's team each received a bar and peanuts. They, too, spent the remaining part of the period in "that kinder-garten way."

COUNCIL HOLDS BUSY SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

Receives Nine Bids on Police Car; Defers Action Until Friday

CITY ASKED TO MAKE SNOW SHOVELING JOBS

State Board Urges Putting in Sewage Disposal Plant Here

A wide variety of matters came up for consideration at the regular monthly meeting of the city council Tuesday, action on several major items being deferred until an adjourned session Friday evening.

A group of local automobile dealers were present for the opening of bids on a two-door sedan for the use of the police department. Seven bids were received covering nine cars, quoted prices ranging from $655 to $1,028. After receiving the figures the council indicated it would act on the matter Friday.

City Clerk P. G. Pederson read a letter from Dr. A. J. Chesley, executive officer of the state board of health stating that the board's division of sanitation had made a survey of the local sewage disposal situation. The letter declared that pollution of Red Lake river cannot be continued and recommended the installation of a sewage plant. Action on the proposal was laid over for further consideration.

Earl Long appeared in behalf of the Workmans Protective league to suggest that the city engage a crew of unemployed men to clear the streets of snow and slush, which have made traffic hazardous this week. He said that fifty men are available for the work. The matter was referred to the street committee for action.

Building permits were granted to Gust Opseth to construct a small residence on State av. N. at a cost of $800, and to Leroy Favrow for remodeling his house at a cost of $75. A. V. Brodin asked for a permit to erect a garage and tool shed on the rear of a lot on Kendall av. near the Johnson st. boulevard, the matter being laid over for further investigation by the council.

The ordinance amending the fire limits in the city was given its second reading, as was the new ordinance licensing taxi drivers and requiring them to carry public liability insurance. Mayor W. W. Prichard suggested that the council take steps to limit the number of beer licenses issued in the city. He explained that there now is plenty of competition, and that limiting the number of places selling beer would tend to aid in law observance.

Mayor Prichard also outlined a national airway-marking program being carried out in Minnesota as a WPA project without cost to local communities, and the council agreed to permit the painting of the name of this city on the roof of the Auditorium.

Poor Overseer C. M. Evenson arranged with the council members to meet with him following Friday evening's session for a discussion of matters arising in his office.

LARGE GATHERING GREETS WINNIPEG MAYOR AT C. & C.

Visiting Official Cites Good Feeling Existing Between Countries

One of the largest attendances of the year at a Civic and Commerce association luncheon was registered last Thursday noon on the occasion of a visit from Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg and Fred Lawrence, member of the Manitoba legislature from St. Boniface. They were accompanied by Fred Furgeson, secretary to Mayor Queen, and David Campbell.

The Winnipeg executive, who was introduced by Mayor W. W. Prichard, pointed out the feeling of international good will between Canada and this country in contrast to conditions in Europe. Mutual understanding rather than armament is give security, he said.

Mr. Lawrence also spoke briefly, acknowledging the tributes paid by residents of this country to the memory of the late King George V. He also urged more visits between citizens of the two countries as a means of getting better acquainted.

CHIMNEY FIRE SATURDAY

The fire department responded Saturday afternoon to a call from the Martin Carlson residence at 209 Cooley av. S., where a chimney fire developed. No damage resulted.

Postoffice to Occupy New Building Sunday

Reappointed Monday

MORRIS BYE

Superintendent of the local schools, who has accepted an offer to continue in his present post for the eleventh year. The appointment was acted on at a meeting of the board of education Monday evening.

Fine New Home Stands Completed after 10 Months of Activity

The staff of the local postoffice Saturday will move its supplies into its new home in the federal building at LaBree av. and Second st., which now stands completed after having been under construction during the past ten months. Box-holders will find their mail in the new structure Sunday morning, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced, adding that the number of each patron's new box will be deposited in his present box Friday.

Mr. Anderson said that some of the furniture needed for the new quarters will not reach the city until about April 1, and that in the meantime part of the equipment of the present office will be utilized.

Saturday's moving day will be the third in the experience of the local institution in more than a quarter of a century. The office has occupied its present location in the Citizens bank block since November, 1927, and previous to that time was located for more than twenty years in the Dobner-Meehan block on Second st. During the years the staff has expanded with growing business until it now comprises 21 persons on a full or part-time basis, the full-time workers including four rural and four city carriers and eight in the postoffice in addition to a custodial employe.

The new building, 78 feet wide and 65 feet deep, of brick and stone trim construction, represents an investment by the federal government of approximately $60,000, the sum of $51,480 having been set aside for the building, while the site was acquired in January, 1933, at a cost of $8,250.

Cornerstone rites were observed August 10, 1935, the dedicatory address being delivered by William J. Dixon of Washington, D. C., superintendent of the division of postmasters.

Plans for the building, of modernistic design, were drawn by A. F. and Ray R. Gauger, St. Paul architects, who also designed the municipal Auditorium. The construction contract was awarded April 18 to the Carl G. Steen company of Grand Forks, with Fred Gardner serving as foreman in charge of the project. R. G. Rohdighero, construction engineer with the treasury department, has represented the federal government in supervising details of construction.

GUSTAFSONS WILL HOLD OPEN HOUSE 3 DAYS NEXT WEEK

Plan Joint Celebration of New Home and 25th Anniversary

The annual open house of C. Gustafson & Son, to be observed Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, this year takes on added significance, since the proprietors will celebrate not only the completion of their splendid new business quarters but also the attainment of the 25th milestone of their entrance into the local business field in March, 1911.

C. D. Gustafson, active head of the company, announced today that for the entertainment and instruction of visitors a varied program has been arranged, culminating in a dedication program on Saturday afternoon with Morris Bye presiding as chairman.

The three-day program, complete details of which will be announced in the next issue of the Times, includes talking motion pictures and demonstrations of farm implements and automobiles each morning, and short talks and additional movies Thursday and Friday afternoons. Numerous factory representatives will be present to aid with the demonstrations.

Snow and Wind Tuesday Night Blockade Roads and Halt Auto Traffic

Following thawing weather and rain Monday and Tuesday, a four-inch fall of heavy snow driven by a strong wind arrived in this locality Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning, and again tied up highway traffic. Many cars were stuck in drifts yesterday on highways leading in to the city, and with the wind continuing state highway department snowplows were having difficulty in keeping trunk routes open. The Soo Wheat Line trains continued to operate in spite of the fresh snowfall, altho running well behind schedule. Colder weather arrived this morning, the mercury reaching a minimum of zero.

Sheriff Rambeck Aids in Capturing Auto Thief

Following discovery of a wrecked automobile on Highway 1 halfway between this city and Warren Tuesday evening, John Melvie, living northeast of Viking, was held in Warren Wednesday on a charge of having stolen the vehicle from James Kilfoyle. Sheriff Arthur Rambeck of this city assisted Deputy Sheriff Marshall Kays of Warren in trailing Melvie to a point four miles from the wrecked car, where they found him suffering from exhaustion and loss of blood from a cut on his hand.

Major Bowes Amateur Unit Coming March 20

Local radio fans who listen Sunday evenings to Major Edward Bowes amateur hour broadcasts from New York City will be interested in the announcement by A. M. Holte, manager of the Avalon theatre, that a traveling group of amateurs who have appeared successfully on the radio program will appear in person at the Avalon Friday evening, March 20, presenting the acts which won acclaim for them from a nationwide audience.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET IN COUNTY CONVENTION APR. 4

Precinct Primaries to Name Delegates Set for April 1st

Acting on instructions from the Republican state central committee, Theodore Quale, chairman, and Mrs Tobias Reep, secretary, of the Pennington county committee today issued a call for the Republican county convention to be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the Auditorium Saturday, April 4, at 2 o'clock.

The official notice, published elsewhere in this issue, states that primaries for the election of delegates to the county meeting will be held in the various election districts Wednesday, April 1, at the regular polling places between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock in the evening.

The city of Thief River Falls will be represented at the county meeting by 25 delegates, including ten each from the first and second wards, six from the third and nine from the fourth. The principal business to come before the convention will be the naming of delegates to the district and state conventions of the party.

John Gullingsrud Sells House to New Resident

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud last Friday completed negotiations for the sale of his residence at 822 Second st. W., to Charles E. Wilson of Minneapolis, who has been transferred to this city to serve as railway mail clerk on the Soo Line between Thief River Falls and Kenmare. Pending the vacating of another house on West Second st. owned by Mr. Gullingsrud, he and his family are living at 504 LaBree av. N.

Skating Rink Was Closed for Season Last Sunday

The championship game for the intermediate hockey belt last Sunday was called off at the end of the first period because of the poor ice. The two teams in the final play-off were the Regals and the Coffee Shops. "Because of the poor condition of the ice," Alex Campbell announced today, "the rink is now closed for the season."

SUPT. BYE AND FACULTY ARE REAPPOINTED

Teachers Given Until April 4 to Sign or Reject Contracts

$5 A MONTH SALARY INCREASE APPROVED

Board Votes to Retain Teachers Training Department

Reelection of Supt. Morris Bye and the members of the teaching staff of the local schools constituted the principal business to come before the March meeting of the board of education Monday evening. S. P. Orwoll, member of the high school faculty for the past six years, informed the board that he did not seek reappointment as he had other plans in view. Another vacancy was created last week by the death of Miss Cary Johnson of the Central school teaching staff.

A general increase of $5 a month was made in salaries of teachers, who will be given until April 4 to accept or reject the contracts offered them.

Following a discussion by Mr. Bye of changes in the law governing state aid for teacher training departments, the board voted to retain the department in Lincoln high school for the coming year. It was brought out that the net aid from the state will amount to approximately $600, entailing a cost to the local district of about $1,000 for maintaining the department. The opinion was voiced that the service is rendered to young people of the community more than justified the cost.

The school health department reported that in February there were thirteen children out of school because of mumps, one with chicken pox and one family quarantined with scarlet fever. Numerous absences were recorded during the month due to colds and influenza, while others were kept away by the extremely cold weather.

Mr. Bye submitted to the board a comprehensive report on details of the convention of the department of superintendence of the National Education association which he attended in St. Louis late in February. The board granted the request of the local rifle club for permission to use the Lincoln gymnasium for target practice on Sunday afternoons.

East County Residents Keeping Wolf from Door

Residents of Eastern Pennington county have been busy this winter keeping the wolf from their door, it is revealed in a report from County Auditor A. M. Senstad to the effect that no less than 33 wolf bounties have been paid in the county since December 1, 1935. All were full-grown specimens, on which the bounty is $15, and most of them were bagged in Reiner, Star and Hickory townships.

Last Number on Local Lecture Course to be Given Monday, Mar. 30

The Sons and Daughters of Norway lecture course will come to an end for this season with the next number on Monday evening, March 30th. The subject of the lecture is "Contributions to world history by Norway and Norwegians", and the speaker is the assistant attorney general, M. N. Orfield, of St. Paul. The Bruge Chorus of Thief River Falls will furnish the musical part of the program. The committee asks that all who received pledge cards at the Mayor Queen Lecture return them before the next number, on the 30th. They can be left at either Neset's jewelry store, Rexall drug store or the Larson company.

WINNIPEG MAYOR ATTACKS PRESENT ECONOMIC SYSTEM

Does Not Serve Needs of Masses, He Tells Audience in Auditorium

Addressing an audience at the Auditorium Friday evening under the auspices of the Sons and Daughters of Norway, John Queen, mayor of Winnipeg and member of the Manitoba legislature, painted a gloomy picture of the outlook facing civilization in the event the present competitive economic system is continued.

The speaker criticized the existing social system, declaring that it does not serve the needs of the masses, and said it has outlived its usefulness. He asserted that a social economy must be planned on the basis of supplying the needs of human beings, and said there is danger of revolution if conditions are not corrected.

Mayor Queen asserted that the law of the jungle still prevails in economic and international affairs, and cited the danger of the competitive system as a cause of war thru fighting for foreign outlets for surplus goods. Another world war, he said, cannot be long delayed, and it will be waged against civilians.

Judge M. A. Brattland opened the program and introduced Mayor W. W. Prichard, who presided. Fred Lawrence, member of the Manitoba legislature, also spoke briefly, and Bjorn Halchen of Winnipeg, baritone soloist, presented two appreciated groups of selections.

Pennington F.-L. Meet Endorses Candidacies of Olson and E. Benson

Five delegates to the biennial state Farmer-Labor convention in St. Paul March 27 and 28 were named Saturday at the Pennington county convention in the court room in the court house. Those selected were Otto Rehm, Einar Jensen, H. Bjornaraa, Paul Hartie and H. O. Berve; while R. M. Aaby and J. V. Patton were named alternates. The county convention went on record as endorsing the candidacies of Governor Floyd B. Olson for the office of United States Senator, and Elmer A. Benson, now serving in the senate, for the post of governor of Minnesota.

$7,180 Apportionment to Schools Received Here

A check for $7,180.92, representing an apportionment of school funds for the current year, was received Monday by County Treasurer John Gullingsrud from state officials in St. Paul. The apportionment, which is based on 2,354.4 pupils average daily attendance in the county at $3.05 each, will be included in the March settlement to go out within the next few weeks.

COUNTY TO OBTAIN $26,250 GAS TAX FUNDS THIS YEAR

Also Will Receive $10,124 in One-Mill Levy for State Aid Roads

Minnesota counties will receive approximately $138,000 more for their local roads from the state road and bridge fund this year than last. The state board of allotment, consisting of Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg, State Treasurer Julius Schmahl and State Auditor Stafford King, has estimated the 1936 fund at $1,500,000 compared with $1,411,617 in 1935.

The board estimated 1936 receipts from the state one-mill road tax at $1,050,000 and from one-third of the state gasoline tax at $3,500,000. Receipts from these two sources constitute the state's contribution toward improvement of county roads. Distribution of the funds to the individual counties is based on a percentage formula established by law. The one-mill tax funds are used on state-aid roads and the gas tax funds on county-aid roads.

Amounts allocated by the board of allotment to the various counties include $10,124 each to Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake counties from the one-mill tax, $26,250 in gas tax funds to Pennington and Red Lake counties, and $34,500 to Marshall county.

NORTHERN TRADING COMPANY TO BUILD ON ATLANTIC AVE.

Work of Razing Present Quarters Getting Under Way This Week

Charles Fiterman, proprietor of the Northern Trading company, announced this week that he had secured a site on Atlantic av. at Ninth st. on which he will erect a warehouse 20 by 40 feet in dimensions as soon as weather conditions permit.

He said the work of wrecking his present building, a landmark on Main av. N., is getting under way this week following the transfer of title to the lots to the city. He added that he will establish an office and retail elsewhere in the business district.

Another project under consideration by Mr. Fiterman, he said, is the construction this year of a two family apartment building on Fifth st. at Atlantic av. The structure will be two stories 26 by 32 feet in dimensions and will be modern throut.

Stores Will Stay Open Saturdays Until 9:30

LOCAL AUTO DEALERS ALL TO EXHIBIT CARS

Industrial Exhibits to be on Display in Auditorium Basement

Residents of Northwestern Minnesota will be attracted to the Thief River Falls Auditorium Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 19, 20 and 21, by the ninth annual automobile show and spring exposition presented under the sponsorship of Elmer J. Eckland post of the American Legion.

In addition to a representative exhibit of the 1936 models of leading makes of automobiles on the main floor, two large rooms in the basement will be devoted to a varied display of household appliances and other equipment in which a dozen local dealers are cooperating.

The feature Thursday evening will be an elaborate style show with seven stores presenting forty models in the latest spring apparel for men, women and children. Further details of the event are outlined elsewhere on this page. Following the presentation there will be a dance with music provided by Abbie Andrews and his orchestra of Fargo.

The program for Friday and Saturday evening will provide a varied array of professional vaudeville acts, featuring the "Early Steppers of 1936", a tabloid musical comedy including a chorus of sixteen dancers and singers and numerous individual performers. In addition there will be six big time vaudeville acts including Lester Body, master juggler; Bjuhn and Parnquist, balancing novelties; Rollette Brothers, high perch thrillers; Morris and Betty, ballroom adagio dancers; Connie Nelson, lyric soprano prima donna; and Connie & Smith, comedy and songs. Ben Smith of Minneapolis will serve as master of ceremonies to keep the program moving along at high pitch. Following the vaudeville programs, which will commence at 7:45, there will be a gala dance both Friday and Saturday evenings.

Automobile dealers who will have cars on display at the Auditorium each afternoon and early evening include the Northern Chevrolet company, showing Chevrolet and Oldsmobile models; C. Gustafson & Son, Chrysler; Lund & Tonlerty, Ford and Lincoln Zephyr; Borchert & Johnson, Dodge and Plymouth; Thronson Motor company, Pontiac six and eight; Taxerans Implement company, DeSoto and Terraplane; and Wiener Body & Fender Works, Buick.

Business places sponsoring displays in the Civic and Commerce and Legion rooms in the basement include Bridgeman Creameries, the Larson company, Berry's Garage, J. & B. drug store, Thief River Pharmacy, Oen Mercantile company, John Lind Motor Supply company, Lloyd Alnes, Land O' Lakes Creameries, Thief River Grocery company and Red Lake Ice & Fuel company. Attendance prizes will be offered each day to persons visiting the exhibit rooms, it was announced.

Ward W. Long, general chairman in charge of the exposition, announced that tickets for the style show will be priced at 25 and 40 cents, with an additional charge for the dance following. For the vaudeville programs tickets will be 40 and 50 cents, with a fee of 25 cents for children.

Committee heads working with Mr. Long in making arrangements for the event include O. C. Paulson, entertainment; S. P. Orwoll, style show; Palmer Tommerdahl, industrial exhibits; and Alex Cloutier, automobile exhibits.

North Township Names R. Johnson Supervisor, Alfred Longren Clerk

The township election in the town of North Tuesday resulted in the election of Renold Johnson as supervisor; E. L. Swanson, treasurer; Alfred Longren, Clerk; Edwin Olson, constable; and Julius Knutson, justice of the peace. A township levy of $1,500 was voted, including $700 for the poor fund, $700 is due to the fact that there general revenue. The substantial increase over last year's levy of $700 is due to the fact that there was a large balance in the treasury at the beginning of the last year, which has since been depleted. Other returns from township elections in the county were delayed in reaching the city by the bad condition of the roads.

EARLY ORDERS FOR FARM WORKERS IS REQUESTED BY NRS

Numerous Men Now Available at National Reemployment Office

Early orders for farm workers are urged by representatives of the National Reemployment office at Thief River Falls.

A considerable number of farm hands, tractor operators, dairy hands, chore boys, herdsmen and maids from the eight northwest counties are registered and available for employment at the two employment offices of this district maintained respectively at Crookston and Thief River Falls.

Based on the seasonal rush of orders during the past two years, employment officials solicit the cooperation of farmers to place their orders at least two or three weeks before the spring work begins. This will insure a better selection of workmen and will avoid delay in the securing of men when actually needed.

A representative of the NRS is at Thief River Falls every day from 8:00 a. m. to 5: p. m. to take orders and new applications.

Dairy Farmers Invited to Hear Prof. Searles at Meetings Next Week

H. R. Searles, University of Minnesota dairy extension specialist, will discuss problems of interest to dairy farmers at meetings to be held at various points in the county on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, says R. M. Douglass, county agent.

Meetings will be held at the court House in Thief River Falls at 2 o'clock Tuesday, March 17th and at the Bilden-Olson hall at St. Hilaire on Wednesday, March 18th at 2 o'clock.

The outlook for dairy prices, breeding of dairy stock, feeding and management problems will be reviewed at these meetings. All interested in dairying are invited to attend.

LOCAL BOY ENROLLED IN MILITARY TRAINING

Walter Kinghorn, Thief River Falls, freshman in pharmacy at the North Dakota Agricultural College, is training with the Reserve Officers Training Corps unit at the NDC as a potential member of Uncle Sam's reserve army. Students with high scholastic averages in the first two years of military drill are eligible to take two more years of military training which will give them commissions as second lieutenants in the United States reserve army upon graduation. Has the President Abandoned Hope?

By W. G. Calderwood

Repeal is two years old. Records covering the whole period are not yet available. But there are some significant facts which are clearly established.

In spite of presidential assurance, the saloon is back, in the greatest in the nation's history, and in a much more vicious form than ever before. The President seems tacitly to admit his helplessness to cope with the liquor power, for he makes no attempt to protect his sentorian vow that under repeal the saloon should never return.

Little if any progress seems to have been made in the suppression of the bootlegger. After repeal was nearly a year old, Joseph H. Choate, Jr., the federal alcohol administrator, stated in the press that bootlegging had doubled since repeal, and some months later Secretary Murgenthau of the Treasury expressed regret that little progress had been made in suppressing illicit sale. The proponents of repeal had confidently predicted that bootlegging would die of starvation as soon as legal liquor was made available. It is not too much to say that the promise of repealists immediately to suppress bootlegging was a major inducement to many wavering voters to vote for repeal.

The drinking of hard liquor has not decreased, as was promised, under repeal. It has increased even more rapidly than the consumption of light malt beverages. Revenue figures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935 show an increase of 91% in the consumption of hard liquors, which is three times the increase made by malt beverages during the same period.

The monthly report of the Treasury for November 1935 reveals that during that month hard liquor had gained a still further advantage over beer, the ratio having advanced to 3.7 to 1. One of the chief pleas to the voters was that repeal would discourage the use of hard drinks.

The repealists made many promises, but these three were the major benefits presented as the basis for the assurance that repeal would save youth and motherhood for the debauchery which, they claimed had been brought upon them, not by alcohol, but by prohibition.

Many former repealists now definitely state that unless repeal can achieve these three major objectives it has failed.

Miss Verna Sagmoen spent the week end in Thief River Falls visiting friends. —The Rindal Luther League will meet at the Saugen home Friday. A program will be given and lunch served immediately after. Everybody welcome.

Misses Doris and Esther Hanson left for Hoople, N. D. Thursday morning, where they will spend sometime visiting with their sister, Mrs. Thom Brubakken.

Alvin Helquist broke down with his car on the way to Viking Monday. He left it in Viking to have it repaired. —Mrs. Jack Mills and children of Granite Falls are visiting with friends and relatives here a few days this week. —Mrs. Thom Holten and daughter Bertha visited in Crookston Monday with Mrs. Holten's sister.

Those that attended the funeral for Albert Styrlund at Viking from here were J. A. Helquist, Emil Bloomberg, Mrs. Anton Gulseth, Mrs. Albert Paulson, Mrs. Axelson, Mrs. Bernard Ranum and Mrs. Emil Mellem. Because of the heavy snowfall they had to return on the train that evening as the highways were blocked.

The Rindal Ladies Aid meets at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Helquist Tuesday, Mar. 17. —Mrs. Carl Bloom and son LaVern were visitors at the home of Mrs. Bloom's sister, Mrs. Lona Nordgaard in Viking Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Helquist entertained a number of friends Sunday in honor of their daughter Lorraine's second birthday. Those that were present were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bloom and son LaVerne, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson, Miss Myrtle Stromberg, Miss Lydia Helquist, Miss Irma Anderson and Miss Mavis Anderson, Alvin Helquist, Clifford Stromberg and Clifford Rye. Miss Lorraine received lovely gifts in honor of the occasion.

Clifford Stromberg and Alvin Helquist motored to Thief River Falls Saturday and did not return until Sunday, because of bad roads.

Mrs. Thom Holten returned home from Thief River Falls Tuesday where she visited with friends and relatives.

WELCOME THE SPRING SHOW

Next week, the end of next week, will bring us the first day of Spring, according to the calendar, and from the standpoint of the calendar there could be no more appropriate time for the annual Spring Show. The weather man may have other ideas. At best you can't depend on him and at this season of the year he is particularly unreliable. But regardless of what the weather man does about it, Spring will arrive officially, in all her splendor, next week, and the Spring Show will serve notice on all of us that it is high time we start thinking about all the fine things that a hardy race of people is supposed to think about at this season of the year. And so we welcome the Spring Show, not so much because of the event itself but rather because it is a symbol of what we have been looking forward to for many weary months. A few weeks ago we were not surprised when the thermometer dropped down close to the fifty below mark. That was as it should be. But we have survived that disagreeable season of the year and now we can look forward to more pleasant conditions. Summer is ahead of us. Our good friend, Old Sol, is getting back into our own territory and from now on we will see a lot of him. It is a proper season for rejoicing. And so, in spite of two feet of snow and a cold north wind, we rejoice. Welcome the Spring Show and the hopeful season which it heralds.

THE CAUSE OF WARS

About all that is needed now to convert all of Europe and Asia into a battle field is a careless rifle shot. One little explosion would probably be enough to start a war that would make the last little World War look like a teachers' convention.

And if war does result from the present strained relations that exist there, who would be to blame? We know from past experience that the politicians will blame it to everyone but the politicians. But in our humble opinion it is the politicians themselves who would be chiefly responsible. That is the politicians would be directly responsible. Indirectly the fault is with the people themselves for permitting themselves to be enslaved by political dictatorships.

That is the thing we have never been quite able to understand, why intelligent people will permit themselves to be governed by a dictator. But politicians are crafty. Right in this country we see the masses of the people blindly cheering them on as they usurp one power after another. Perhaps it is not so strange after all. Give the masses a straw man to hate and an unscrupulous leader can do with them about as he wills. And in Europe and Asia there are so many deep rooted international hatreds that it probably does not require much agitation to fan these smouldering sparks into flames. It is these smouldering hatreds and misunderstandings that politicians thrive on.

WE'LL TAKE AMERICA

Last week a Communist was permitted to speak over a national radio hook-up and given an opportunity to tell our good people that our "system" would have to be scrapped before we could hope to enjoy a full measure of happiness and prosperity. Which is fair enough. The American system encourages a free exchange of ideas and it wasn't at all out of order for the Communist to tell us his views. But the situation did cause us to wonder just a little how welcome a spokesman for another form of government would be in Russia under its Communistic political organization. Communism means dictatorship. Under such a system the state is everything and the individual is nothing. Such a condition may be satisfactory to a nation of Russians, who never had any liberty and who probably are better off now than they were under the Czar, but no American would be satisfied under such restraints. In this country things don't always suit us but we like to be able to express our opinions freely and a majority rules. For our part, we'll still muddle along with America. For those who like the Communistic idea, Russia isn't so far away.

THE WAY TO HAVE MORE

There is one thing that we could learn to our advantage from our neighbors over in Russia and that is that the way to have more things is to produce more things. Our present crop of leaders seem to have the idea that all of our wants are satisfied and that the thing to guard against is over production. Which leads to the fallacious reasoning that we should work shorter hours. And yet we strut around and claim to be an intelligent people. Why we can work eighteen hours a day for the next hundred years, and double the efficiency of our production methods, without any danger of reaching that stage where all people have everything they want. The way to have more wealth is to create more wealth. Greater efficiency in the production of any commodity means a lower cost of that commodity, and lower cost means more widespread use. In considering the number of hours we should labor, we must necessarily choose between having greater liesure or more of the things labor produces. Break down the many artificial barriers that are an obstruction to a free exchange of services among our people and there will be plenty of work for all of us to do.

Now we are discouraged. Last week we admitted dumbness in being unable to understand why the water tank didn't freeze up during the extremely cold weather. And yesterday in our fan mail we received an unsigned letter to this effect, "Dear Editor, You are not dumb, you are dumber. If you were only dumb you would know by smelling of it why the city water couldn't freeze up." There was more to this same effect in the letter. It spoke of the kerosene base anti-freeze solution which had been pumped into the water and concluded that it must be safe to drink because certainly no animal life could exist in leads.

Some towns do a better job of keeping streets in their residence section open during the winter months but as yet we have seen none that remove the snow from the streets in the business section more neatly than we do here in Thief River Falls.

ONE SOLUTION OF RELIEF PROBLEM
(Long Prairie Leader)

Investigation reveals that there are 2,000,000 aliens (men and women who are not citizens) in this country who are on relief and who are drawing a half-billion dollars annually from the government. Here are some of the facts disclosed:

It has cost the government $400,000 to support 2,500 aliens in Arizona since mines there closed permanently in 1932. They could have been deported for $5 a head, or $12,500.

Half of all relief in Arizona goes to aliens. In Laredo, Texas, three-quarters of those on relief are aliens.

Seventy thousand aliens are on relief in Massachusetts; 20 cents of every Cleveland relief dollar goes to foreigners.

Illinois has 800,000 aliens on relief; Los Angeles 60,000; 27 per cent of San Diego relief checks go to non-citizens, while they take one-quarter of the New York City relief funds.

On the country relief rolls as a whole one out of seven is an alien.

The relief bill of Texas, California, Arizona and New Mexico is in round numbers $15,000,000 a month and one-half of it goes to aliens.

It would seem that one place the government could strike in its general recovery effort would be to deport a considerable portion of its alien population. Most all European countries show marked reductions in unemployed. Germany has cut her unemployment by 871,397 the past year but since the armistice she has sent us 565,000 emigrants. England's unemployment has been reduced 188,614 since 1934 but she has sent us 171,812 of her citizens since the war. Italy's relief roll reduction has been 238,285 but 250,000 of her citizens have come to America within the past ten years.

We ought to welcome new citizens but when foreigners come here and do not become citizens, and apparently do not intend to become citizens, they ought to be sent back. Here in America they take jobs that our citizens desperately need, they assume none of the obligations of citizenship and if jobs fail they turn to the government for support. It is a ridiculous situation and in justice to American citizens, cries out for relief. No American could go to Europe and get on relief under any circumstances—in fact, he could not stay over there an hour if he was looking for a job.

Here is a situation that ought to be corrected. It offers an easier and quicker solution of our relief and unemployment problem than new and larger appropriations to find jobs for these people.

PLAYING TO THE GALLERIES
(Mankato Free Press)

If there was any inclination to feel that Governor Harold Hoffman, of New Jersey, may have been justified in granting the original reprieve that he gave to Bruno Richard Hauptmann, it has largely been dissipated by his statements and activities during the past few days.

In seeking to cast a reflection on the testimony on which Hauptmann was convicted; in raising doubts that have been quieted in repeated appeals to the lower courts, even to the supreme court of the United States itself, Hoffman is serving to convince the public generally that he is an unreliable headline-craving official.

No one doubts that there are details to the Lindbergh baby kidnapping and slaying that have not been revealed. No one doubts that there is at least one accomplice, perhaps more, who has not been revealed. But Bruno Richard Hauptmann alone can tell these hidden details, point the finger of accusation at these unknown accomplices. And thus far, even when faced by the certainty of death in the electric chair, Hauptmann has refused to talk.

Of his own guilt there seems not the slightest doubt. If he can mitigate or lessen his guilt any by revealing details of the crime that lie hidden in his breast, he has had ample opportunity to do so. If he persists in his refusal then the law can only take its course. But for a man in high office, a governor entrusted with the power of reprieve and pardon, to credit mere rumor to question established testimony, to raise his own unfounded suspicions above the verdict of jury and courts, is indeed an unusual procedure.

When Governor Hoffman granted Hauptmann a reprieve many were inclined to believe he sincerely sought an opportunity to secure more information, to perhaps give the accused more time in which to weigh the implications of his refusal to talk. Succeeding events have indicated, however, that the charges of his first critics seem warranted.

Governor Hoffman apparently is not seeking justice but merely embracing an opportunity to "play to the galleries."

BETTER QUIT EARLY
(Sioux Falls Argus-Leader)

Congressional leaders are seeking to complete their business so that they may adjourn by May 1. It will be fortunate for the country if the session is terminated by that time because the deliberations of Congress as the country moves into the excitement of a political campaign are not particularly constructive. By May, if not already, the eyes of virtually all members of Congress will be turned toward the fall elections and legislation will be considered on a purely political basis.

NO ROYAL ROAD
(Mineota Mascot)

There is no royal road to riches, for governments any more than for individuals. The only honest and the only sensible thing to do is to tax the people for the expenditures of the government. If it is impossible to raise enough money to pay for the expenditure of the government through taxation, then it is time that those expenditures were cut down to such a level as the country can afford. Inflationary measures such as those now before Congress would only open the road to chaos, complete destruction of our present monetary values and hardship.

THEY DISAPPEARED
(Kansas City Star)

As usual all the attention for the coming campaign is being centered on the presidential nominations; none on the vice presidential. Perhaps this is on the assumption expressed by a former vice president, Thomas R. Marshall, in his "Recollections": "Once there were two brothers. One ran away to sea, the other was elected vice president and nothing was heard of either of them again."

Topics of the Times

George Bernard Shaw speaks with more restraint than usual when he says that only ninety per cent of millionaires are crooks.

We trust Italy's Iron Man won't get rusty when the rainy season commences in Ethiopia.

The Wisconsin supreme court holds it is permissible to name a cigar after President Roosevelt. That's another way of keeping his name on the public tongue.

The use of the electric chair is what might be called a current topic, according to the Benson Monitor. Especially in view of what is going on in New Jersey.

Ted Christianson has filed as a candidate for the United States senate. He and Floyd Olson no doubt will exchange some interesting remarks during the campaign.

University scientists, we read, have found a way to save wild ducks from lead poisoning. The plan presumably involves the destruction of all shotguns.

The chief difference between Edward VIII and Henry VIII, we and given to understand, is six wives.

Here's hoping the federal government's word is better than its gold bond when it comes to making good on its old-age pension promises.

After being up in the air for a considerable period, the Republicans appear to have found a spot to Land-on.

Believe it or not—Last week the state of Texas set aside a day in tribute to mothers-in-law.

There's no denying, comments the Minneota Mascot, that our government is a system of checks and balances. There are plenty of checks, but the balances seem to be all overdrafts.

PUBLIC OPINION

Dear Editor:

Please allow space in your paper for a few remarks concerning the county old peoples pension and taxation. I was very much surprised to read in the Times the name of all those that were drawing pension. I think the county commissioners should investigate a little more the financial condition of the applicants before they allow such pensions. They ought to remember it is the taxpayers money they are distributing. I would also suggest that they call it with its right name, poor relief, because the name pension sounds so attractive that when people have reached a certain age they think they are entitled to it and proud of getting it even if they do not need it. I just wonder if it wasn't the relief system that brought this greedy spirit into some of the people. It seems to be too many that have lost all sense of honor and they are just after living high on somebody elses work. The taxes are getting to be an awful burden for us that pay our taxes annually because it is so many that doesn't pay their share.

A Taxpayer.

News and Comment
By R. W. Hitchcock

Alleged excessive expenditure of highway funds in the purchase of lands is now being adjudicated in the courts in two different cases. The most recent of these is the proposal of the highway department to pay Elsie F. Appleton of Redwood Falls $8,000 for property which she owns near state highway 19. The highway does not run over the Appleton property, but appraisers awarded Mrs. Appleton $3,000 damages. From this award the highway department appealed, declaring the award to be "grossly excessive, unreasonable and contrary to law" but later, notwithstanding its emphatic protest, the department withdrew its appeal and asked the state auditor to pay Mrs. Appleton $8,000 for the property. This Mr. King refused to do. Taxpayers at Redwood Falls supported Mr. King and secured a temporary restraining order against the issuance of the warrants. On February 10th the attorney general's office moved to dismiss the restraining order and declared that the commissioner of highways might well declare with Alexander Selkirk, "I am monarch of all I survey, my right there is none to dispute." The court proved unsympathetic to this plea, denied the attorney general's motion, and the matter was tried on its merits at Redwood Falls February 17th. The court's decision is awaited.

The other case had its inception when, about two years ago, the governor and the attorney general asked for some $40,000 with which to purchase land in the Minnesota river valley for the purpose of constructing transient camps. The people of the valley strenuously objected to the camps and the majority of the Executive Council turned down the request for funds. The governor and the attorney general declared that the money would be found and that the camps would be built anyhow, and they were later built.

In October 1934 Stafford King, state auditor, was asked by the highway department to issue a warrant for $7,409 to Patrick H. Donovan and others for lands in the Minnesota river bottoms. Believing that the purchase was not for highway purposes and suspecting that it was in payment of lands upon which the transient camps had been erected, and thinking also that the price was excessive, Mr. King refused to issue the warrants, and upon the refusal of Attorney General Harry H. Peterson to represent him as state auditor, Mr. King employed outside counsel. The attorney general denied the state auditor's right to employ outside counsel, took the matter to court, was defeated in the district court in Ramsey county, appealed to the supreme court, and on December 20, 1935 was defeated in the supreme court. The matter has not yet been tried on its merits.

In the regular session of the legislature in 1935 the departmental appropriation bill carried a clause to the effect that $1,500 of the attorney general's contingent fund of $26,000 might be used "to pay attorney's fees in litigation arising between departments of the state, where the attorney general is counsel for the department and where outside counsel must, of necessity, be secured for the opposing department."

Attorney General Peterson did not immediately discover this provision, but when he did, was he mad! He promptly sat himself down and wrote one of the intemperate letters for which he is becoming famous. The letter, under date of July 30, 1935, was written to Senator A. J. Rockne, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. It characterized the veteran senator as a "blighting influence upon the State Senate" and charged him with "political skullduggery—trickery, if you please." Senator Rockne, the attorney general heatedly declared, was "like the Grand Monarch himself, Louis XIV, who said that he himself was the state."

It seems that Senator Rockne had written to Mr. Peterson mildly suggesting to the attorney general that the bill to which he so violently objected was an act of the legislature and had been signed by the governor. Whereupon the attorney general took the senator to task for "your pretentions to mock righteousness", and said further, "Your letter reveals the same trickery, lack of candor and deceit, which your conduct as chairman of the Finance Committee of the State Senate did in arranging with the state auditor and others to make provision for $1,500 out of my budget to finance a political lawsuit brought by republican lawyers for political purposes."

Some months later, December 20, 1935, the supreme court soundly spanked the attorney general for this assertion by holding that the state auditor was clearly within his rights in employing outside counsel by declaring, "Where, as here, there is a dispute brought into court which involves the acts and duties of two state officials, affecting the rights of the state and the public, the attorney general cannot, in the nature of things represent both parties to the suit."

His violent intemperance of expression, repeatedly instanced of late, and his resort to the argot of the gutter in his official communications with other departments of the state, ill become the chief judicial officer of Minnesota; neither do they commend to the people his ambition to become chief justice of the supreme court. The sort of justice that would be meted out to the people if the court were composed of men so lacking in judicial temperament can easily be imagined.

Governor Floyd B. Olson has gone south to recuperate from his operation. With him go the earnest wishes of the people of Minnesota for speedy recovery. The responsibilities of the chief executive are heavy and the burden of politics in an election year is a grievous burden, but it is the earnest hope of the people of the state that these responsibilities and burdens may rest as lightly upon the governor as possible during the weeks while he is attempting to gain strength in the sunny south.

Capitol Custodian L. A. Johnson is just naturally tickled pink with the heat regulators which he installed at the state capitol last summer. When July showed a saving in coal amounting to $607.09 he was pleased; when each month thereafter revealed increasing savings he was vastly pleased; but when the month of January, notwithstanding the record cold, topped all savings to the tune of $2,990.88, even the confident custodian's eyes bulged with astonishment. The total savings effected in the seven months, Mr. Johnson reports, are $12,064.75.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK
(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., March 9, 1936 (U.S.D.A.): Increased receipts of cattle both here and elsewhere proved a bearish influence at the week's opening, and most slaughter classes averaged around 25c lower with stock cattle holding steady. Most plain, warmed-up and short-fed steers and yearlings turned at $6.00-7.65, a few good lots up to $8.25, medium to good fat heifers $5.50-7.00, most beef cows $4.50-5.25, practical top $5.75 cutter grades $3.50-4.25, bulk sausage bulls $5.25-5.75. Desirable vealers cashed at $7.00-8.50, cull and common $4.00-5.50. Common to medium stocker steers were noted at $5.00-6.25, a load of very good 820 lb. western feeder steers making $7.00.

Hogs were steady to strong, spots higher, most better 160-230 lb. weights earning $10.00-10.15, a few $10.20-10.25, medium to good kinds $9.50-9.85, good and choice 230-300 lbs. $9.25-10.10, heavier weights down to $9.00, better 140-160 lbs. $9.50-10.10, bulk sows $8.75-8.85, pigs $9.00-9.50.

Fat lambs were 25-50c lower at the week's opening, fat ewes steady. Good to choice native lambs sold at $9.25 to $9.35, a few loads of choice fed lambs making $9.50. Inbetween and lower-grade native lambs sold at $7.00-9.00. A load of good to choice 110 lb. fed ewes earned $5.25, some common kinds out at $3.50. Native feeding lambs sold up to $8.75.

CALL FOR DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION

Pursuant to the authority vested in me, as Chairman of the Democratic County Committee of Pennington County, Minnesota, and by direction of John F. D. Meighen, Chairman of the Minnesota Democratic State Committee legally composed of the majority of the Chairmen of the Democratic County Committees and representative Democrats of the State, I hereby call a Democratic County Convention of Pennington County, Minnesota, to be held at the Court House in Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on Thursday, April 16, 1936, at One o'clock P. M.

The purpose of this County Convention is to elect one delegate and one alternate at large, and fourteen (14) additional delegates and alternates to the Democratic State Convention legally called and to be held at the Auditorium in Saint Paul, Minnesota, on Tuesday, April 21, 1936, and also to elect a County Committee for Pennington County.

Party usage and custom in Pennington County does not require precinct caucuses, and the aforesaid County Convention shall be a mass convention, and as such, elect its county delegates to the State Convention and such County Committee.

Every legal voter in said precinct who affirms that he voted for Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for President, in 1932, and that he intends to vote for the Democratic nominee for President in 1936, and every legal voter who did not vote for President in 1932 and intends to vote for the Democratic Nominee for President in 1936, shall be eligible to serve as a delegate at the said mass county convention, and be eligible to serve as a delegate to the State Convention. However, no person who is not a legal voter in the County shall be permitted to vote at the County Convention.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

The City Council met in special session in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on February 25th, 1936, being called in due form for the purpose of taking formal action in the matter of Public Liability Insurance on which a coverage had been made by the Employers Mutuals of Wausau, Wisconsin.

The following members were present at the convening of the Board which was called to order at eight o'clock P. M.: Griebstein, Salveson, Baker, Mybrum and Christofferson and the member absent being Alderman Kinghorn.

After discussion of the matter a motion was made by Alderman Mybrum that the said insurance be left with the Employers Mutuals as per coverage made by that Company. The motion was seconded by Alderman Christofferson and carried.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned.

EMIL GRIEBSTEIN,
President of the Council.
Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

RESOLUTION

At a regular meeting of the City Council held February 11, 1936, Alderman Mybrum, seconded by Alderman Baker, introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, By the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, that

WHEREAS, The City Council having heretofore duly advertised for bids for an official paper and for the City printing for the year 1936 and such bids having been opened, and considered by the City Council at the time and place fixed therefor, and it having been found that the bid of the Thief River Falls Times is the lowest and best bid.

NOW THEREFORE, Be It Resolved, That the Thief River Falls Times be and hereby is designated as the official paper of the City of Thief River Falls for and during the year 1936, and that the amount of the bond of said Thief River Falls Times be and hereby is fixed at One Thousand ($1,000) dollars with surety to be approved by the Council.

The Mayor and City Clerk are hereby authorized to enter into contract with the Proprietor of said Thief River Falls Times for such City printing in accordance with the terms of said bid.

ROLL CALL

Aldermen voting Yes: Griebstein, Salveson, Baker, Mybrum, Christofferson, Kinghorn.
Aldermen voting No: None.
Resolution declared passed.

EMIL GRIEBSTEIN,
President of the Council.
Presented to Mayor Feb. 11, 1936.
Approved Feb. 17, 1936.
W. W. PRICHARD,
Mayor.
Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

Ammonium Nitrate

Ammonium nitrate, an explosive, is something of an anomaly. On the basis of theoretical considerations of heat measurements it should be highly explosive. Yet when pure it is non-inflammable and cannot be made to explode. But when mixed with other substances, such as aluminum powder or TNT, it can be touched off to give as good an explosion as the theory predicts. It is one of the ingredients of the safety explosive, nitramon.

Wolves Destroyed the Sheep

It was almost impossible for the early Ohio settlers to raise wool due to the abundance of wolves, which devoured the sheep.

Oldest U. S. Printing

The first piece of printing to be done in the United States was a broadside published in 1639. It was printed on the press of Stephen Daye at Cambridge, Mass., and was entitled "The Freeman's Oath."

Tall Tales
As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Steel Drivin' Man

HOEL S. BISHOP, who knows the history of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad backward as well as forward, and vice versa, has often heard the old-timers tell about the difficulties they had in driving a tunnel through Cruzee mountain. Among their negro laborers was a young fellow named Henry, a likely lad only seven or eight feet tall.

Right away they discovered that John Henry was a mighty good hammer man, even though he hadn't got his growth yet. He was so fast with his 12-pound hammer that he wore out its handle every nine minutes. He always had to have a boy standing by with a pail of water so he could keep the hammer from melting.

The result of this was that the C. and O. had to hire a gang of Tony Beaver's lumberjacks to log off the whole state of West Virginia in order to provide John Henry with enough hammer handles to keep him busy. Also they had to make the Potomac river run backwards so there'd be enough water to keep his hammer cool.

Just about the time John Henry began to wear out a handle every six and three-quarter minutes, a fellow showed up with a steam-driven drill and challenged John Henry to a drilling contest. "Boss man, how many days' start you-all want so's I won't ketch up with yu' too soon" asked John Henry. The steam drill man said they'd start at the same time, so at it they went. And, as everybody in the South knows, John Henry—

Beat dat steam drill down.
Rock was high, po' John was low.
Well, he laid down his hammah an' he died.
Laid down his hammah an' he died.

It was too bad that the contest resulted fatally for the victor. If John Henry had ever grown up to be a full-size man, he might have hung up some real records.

Meaning of the Name Hafiz

The Persian name Hafiz is really only a title meaning gifted with a good memory. It was bestowed upon the poet as a pupil because he could recite the whole Koran. It has clung to him by fame instead of his real name, which was, in full, Mohammed ad-Din, or Mohammed, the sun of religion.

Alps Not Mountains

Not every one knows that, strictly speaking, the Alps are not mountains, says a writer in the Boston Globe. An Alp is really a local name for the elevated and little inhabited meadow and pasture tracts of Switzerland and the Tyrol. It is really a lovely mountainous valley under cultivation.

Weight of Gray Substance

The gray substance represents 37 to 38 per cent of the total weight of the brain.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

March 3rd, 1936

Pursuant to law the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, Minnesota, met at the office of the County Auditor at 10:00 A. M. March 3rd, 1936.

Roll was called and all members were present.

The minutes of the meeting of February 4th, 1936 were read and approved.

Moved by Commissioner Muiry and seconded by Commissioner Mandt, that Sam Maesna be furnished round trip transportation from Thief River Falls to the University of Minnesota Hospital. Carried.

Moved by Commissioner Mandt and seconded by Commissioner Muiry that assignment of securities furnished by the Union State Bank of Thief River Falls, $10,000.00 U. S. Treasury Notes and $3,000.00 Wasera County Drainage Bonds, be approved. Carried.

Moved by Commissioner Bredeson and seconded by Commissioner Muiry that Ralph Eirikson be furnished round trip transportation from Thief River Falls to University of Minnesota Hospital. Carried.

The Members of the Town Board of the Township of North appeared before the Board and requested the graveling of a road in Rustad's Addition. This request will be given consideration when the Road Program for 1936 is laid out.

Petition of the residents of the Township of Silverton in regard to the extension of County Aid Road No. 4 was read and ordered filed to be considered further when the State of Minnesota has made the gas tax allotment.

A petition from the residents of the Township of Sanders and Rocksbury requesting the graveling and grading of County Aid Road No. 1, was read and ordered filed to be given further consideration when the State makes the gas tax allotment.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Roy who moved its adoption:

WHEREAS: Each year when the frost is leaving the ground, the Highway Department of the State of Minnesota has posted a gross load limit on the State Trunk Highways; and,

WHEREAS: Heavily loaded motor trucks have detoured on to State Aid Roads of Pennington County as a result of the State Trunk Highways being posted with a gross load limit; and,

WHEREAS: This has resulted in heavy damage to the State Aid Roads of Pennington County entailing considerable extra expense each year to again place these roads in condition for motor travel:

NOW THEREFORE: BE IT RESOLVED: That the County Highway Engineer be, and is hereby instructed to have signs made and post each State Aid Road of Pennington County with the same number of pounds gross load limit as is placed on State Trunk Highways in Pennington County, and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the Sheriff of Pennington County is requested to deputize each Pennington County Highway Maintenance Patrolman to enforce this regulation, and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the State Aid Roads in Pennington County will remain posted with a gross load limit until such time as the County Highway Engineer shall determine that these roads can again carry heavy loads without excessive damage.

The foregoing resolution was seconded by Commissioner Bredeson and on being put to a vote was unanimously adopted.

Moved by Commissioner Lee and seconded by Commissioner Muiry, that Ed. Korstad, Korstad Mercantile Co., located in Highlanding Twp. be granted an On Sale and an Off Sale Malt Liquor license for the year of 1936. Carried.

Observations on Trip to California
By Joel E. Shoberg

Christmas on the Coast

As with everything else, when a large city like San Francisco celebrates it does so on a larger scale, and more intensely, than we from the small towns and farms back east are accustomed to. Holiday preparations commenced about a week before Thanksgiving, the streets were decorated with thousands of colored lights, the store windows took on their festival attire, and the windows and entrances to homes and public centers became a glitter of lights, and colored decorations of every imaginable shape, size and form.

Evergreens to be used as Christmas trees are shipped here from the northern part of the state and from Oregon by the trainload. Three kinds are on sale, those with the round and the flat type of the bars, and those dipped in an aluminum solution to make them harmonize with the silver decorations. These latter then usually carry only silver ornamentation are illuminated with blue lights, and present a truly wonderful sight.

Few indeed are the San Francisco homes and family apartments who does not decorate an evergreen to heighten the Christmas spirit. At the entrance to the City Hall were three huge evergreens lit up with hundreds of bright colored lights and presented a very pretty sight for several weeks before Christmas.

The city every Christmas enact a very pretty outdoor memory to the birth recording of Christ, at the Golden Gate park where several hundred sheep are grazing. For a few nights at Christmas these sheep are kept corralled on an open space illuminated with floodlights, and a few men clad like the old time shepherds walk about among the sheep while a bright star is kept shining in the east. The scene is very beautiful and attracts large crowds.

New Years Night

Typical of all big cities, San Francisco celebrates the arrival of the new year in a boisterous way. Although 800 policemen were on duty that night they had orders not to interfere unnecessarily in any merrymaking or noise unless it became a public menace. Naturally this was hailed with delight and noise it was and more noise. Early in the evening we saw cars decorated in every fashion, streamers, cow bells, tin cans, horns, pipes and what not. Up one street and down the other they go, thru stop lights, blocking street cars up on the sidewalks and everywhere. Tons of colored confetti are strewn across the streets, and paper streamers entircle everything and everybody. Dance halls and night clubs are open all night. As the clock strikes midnight, one could just as well be in a mad house. Everybody hollers and yells at the top of their voice, cars toot, bells ring steam whistles blow and just everybody for a few minutes seems to want to make as much noise as possible. Even the policemen go goofy, throw confetti at each other, and fight among themselves like small kids.

Exactly one month after we celebrate our Christmas, the Chinese celebrate their New Year. And when we celebrate our new year one day the Chinese celebrate their new year one week, commencing on January 24 and continuing the remainder of the month. In the form of amusement on this occasion they have closely copied after the whites. They spend thousands of dollars on firecrackers and gun powder, and I really believe they outdo the whites in making noise. Their colored lanterns of course are illuminated everywhere, the small girls carry flowers in their hair and on the dresses, they sing and frolic about and are very happy. The boys play about noisily and bang everything together they can think of to cause noise. In the homes are parties of various kinds and they visit each other wishing friends and neighbors a very happy new year. Drink plays an important role as many believe they cannot celebrate properly and be happy unless they are at least half "stewed".

One of the favorite forms of amusement and also of heredity for the Chinese new year is the display of the dragon. A huge imitation dragon about 100 feet long is paraded through the streets suspended from the shoulders of 30 or more men. Inside the dragon is a man who takes care of all gifts and requests handed into the dragon's mouth as it is being taken thru the crowds. According to certain oriental beliefs by giving the dragon money and valuable presents the giver will be awarded certain celestial benefits such as the forgiveness of committed sins of the past, and becoming lucky in every undertaking he may contemplate for the future.

No Fear of Garnishee

The prohibition against garnisheeing the salary of a government official goes back to the theory that the government is not amenable to suit; therefore, government disbursing officers are free from proceedings of this kind.

Farmers Attention!

We are now in position to clean all kinds of seeds, such as Sweet Clover, Alfalfa, Timothy, Med. Red and Alsike, and Flax. Mr. Tommerdahl is doing the cleaning as usual, and you can depend on him to do a good job for you. Why not bring the seed in now that you are going to have cleaned, before the roads start to break up, it is surprising how fast the time goes, especially now when there is so many things to do before planting time.

CROOKSTON WINS FROM T. R. F. IN DISTRICT TOURNEY

East Grand Forks Defeats Warren Cagers in Same Round

Defeated by Crookston 34-22 in the second round of the district high school basketball tournament in Crookston last Thursday, the Lincoln high school Prowlers were eliminated as contenders in the regional event at Bemidji today and Friday.

This district, No. 31, will be represented at Bemidji by East Grand Forks, which Friday evening won the district title by defeating Crookston 19 to 17 in a thrilling contest. The Forks team will be opposed tonight by Ada, District 30 champions, while Bemidji, winner in District 29, will meet Greenbush, champion in Dist. 32.

The Lincoln school team won the consolation game from Warren Friday evening by a score of 25 to 21. Loren Stadum, freshman, turned in an excellent game for the locals, accounting for six baskets. Tournament officials placed Stadum in the center position on the all-district team, along with Panser of Crookston and Peterson of East Grand Forks, forwards; and Bossman of Warren and Kimblin of East Grand Forks, guards.

Foundation of Enclosed Rink Nearly Completed

With the pouring of concrete for the basement walls and footings of the huge enclosed skating rink now nearing completion, the work of building the hollow tile superstructure will get under way shortly. The city council is expected to make arrangements for bricklayers at a adjourned meeting Friday evening.

CONVENTION FRIDAY OF TOWNSEND WORKERS

Announcement was made today that the local Townsend old-age pension club is sponsoring a county convention to be held Friday evening in the court room in the court house.

Venturesome Robin Is Seen Near Goodridge

The time-honored harbinger of the coming of spring, the first robin, was reported seen Monday morning, by Frank Phelps, living three miles west of Goodridge. The same day Mr. Phelps saw a crow, likewise hailed as an omen. Ross Randall, Times linotype operator, also reports having seen several crows in the Horseshoe district Monday.

WINGER MAN DIES RIDING BLINDS ON SOO LINE TRAIN

Body of Olaf Holdahl Is Discovered in Ditch Tuesday

The decapitated body of Olaf Holdahl, 32, who rode to his death on the blinds of the Soo line train shortly after midnight Saturday, was discovered near Winger Tuesday evening by John Bakke, railroad section foreman.

Thrown clear of the tracks, the body had lain in a deep ditch, covered with the snowfall of the weekend, until Tuesday's thaw revealed a portion of the clothing to the rail workers and started a hunt which led to the discovery of the body.

Holdahl had come to Winger Saturday and spent the day there. That night he told the local station agent that he intended to "cop a ride" to Mahnomen and spend the Sunday there. He failed to heed the agent's warning of the hazards of riding the blinds.

Dr. H. E. Nelson, Polk county coroner who was summoned Tuesday evening after the body was found, expressed the opinion that Holdahl had fallen to his death unable to keep his grip on the small platform between the baggage car and the coal tender, where he is believed to have hidden.

Four Give Talks Tuesday at Rotary Club Meeting

Brief talks were given following the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon by A. J. Rau, A. C. Peterson, W. W. Prichard and Stanton Dahlen. Final action was deferred until the next meeting on a proposal by H. E. Nelson that the club sponsor a boys' turkey raising project as a means of promoting interest in this field of activity.

TRUCKER FINED $5 FOR VIOLATING STATE LAW

A member of the state highway patrol Monday summoned into municipal court another local truck operator charged with not having his selected zone of operation stenciled on the truck as required by law. Judge Lincoln Arnold fined him $5 and costs.

DRAWS $15 FINE

James Bjerken was fined $15 Saturday in municipal court on a charge of having committed a breach of the peace on the streets of the city Friday evening.

BOARD MEETING PUT OFF

An adjourned session of the county board scheduled for Wednesday was postponed as a result of the inability of rural members to reach the city following the snowfall Tuesday night.

WALLIE DU CHAMP SCORES 290 TOTAL ON LOCAL ALLEYS

Local Bowler Tallies Eleven Strikes in Row This Week

Wallace DuChamp, who ran up a bowling score of 287 last week, has since broken that score by three pins, scoring 290 or ten points less than a perfect score. In running up the nearly perfect score Wally spared in the first frame and then counted 11 perfect strikes to break his previous record score.

The Land O'Lakes took three games running from the Grain Belts last Wednesday with 168 being the high score of Severn Brandon of the "Lakes" and the same number of pins being downed by Andrew Grendahl for the Grain Belts. Borchert-Johnson lost three the same night to Glucks, Lester Ringstrand being high man for the winning team at 174 and Norman Johnson at 155 was high for the losers.

Thursday night Gordon Stortholm and Jack Ward tied at 171 for the high score when Bridgeman's won two out of three from Hamm's. The Hamms team lost two out of three again on Monday night to the Grain Belts, Oron Brandon bowling high for Hamm's at 181, and Emil Dostal at 178 high for the Grain Belts.

Present team standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Bratrud Clinic	36	15	705
Grain Belt	35	19	648
Bridgeman	30	21	587
Borchert-Johnson	27	24	529
Times	23	28	451
Land O'Lakes	22	29	431
Glucks	18	33	355
Hamms	17	37	313

In the tournament held at the local alleys last Saturday and Sunday Bob Johnson took the prize for the singles with a score of 603 for three games. Ben Froiland and Saul Larson totaled 1189 to take the first in the doubles. A similar tournament will be held here on March 21 and 22.

O. K. ON OLD-AGE PENSIONS IS SEEN BY END OF WEEK

Few Minor Changes Ordered by Federal Agency in Washington

Final approval this week of Minnesota's old age pension plan was forecast Wednesday by members of the state board of control on receipt of telephone information from the national social security board in Washington.

Chairman L. G. Foley of the board of control announced that Director Kenneth C. Haycraft, of the division of old age assistance, in a telephone communication with Washington officials received information relative to a few minor changes of the rules and regulations governing the administrative set-up revision as suggested by federal officials.

"These suggestions and recommendations made by Washington appear to be of minor importance," said Chairman Foley.

"We are assured by the director of the bureau of public assistance that the suggestions will be forwarded to us by airmail and we expect to receive them today.

"We are confident we will be able to make the required amendments to comply with the recommendations and will forward them to the social security board immediately. The board of control feels confident that we will have final approval of the Minnesota plan by the end of this week."

Funeral Services Held for Peter A. Johnson

Funeral rites were held today for Peter Adolph Johnson, one of the oldest settlers of the Goodridge community, who passed away March 7. Services were held at the home this morning with Rev. Hoyum in charge and at three o'clock at the Germantown church with Rev. Sabo of Mavie officiating.

Peter Johnson was born in Sweden and came to this country when about nineteen years of age, first going to Michigan where he lived a year and then moving to North Dakota where he farmed for eleven years. In 1900 he married Bertha Bagne at Crookston and they settled on a farm four miles north of Goodridge.

Surviving are his wife and nine children; Mrs. J. E. McCoy, Mrs. Gunder Grovum both of Grygla, Emma at home; Elmer, Arthur, Bennie, Oscar, Albert and John all at home.

Last Rites Held for Mrs. Bergit Stolaas

Last rites for Mrs. Bergit Stolaas who passed away Wednesday, March 4, were held Monday at her home in Deer Park township, Rev. O. O. Bjorgan officiating.

Mrs. Bergit Stolaas was born September 11, 1866 in Saterdalen, Norway coming to Fisher in 1891 where the following year she married Sjur Stolaas. After living in Clearwater and Garnes townships she moved to Deer Park township in 1904 where she since made her home.

Surviving are her husband and three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Halver Myrum of Oklee; Mrs. Theodore Hendrickson of Esplee, and Mrs. Gilbert Burstad of Erie; Berut of Grand Coulee, Washington; and Olaf of Oklee; also two brothers, John Steinlee of Michigan, N. Dak and Thrue Berg of Norway and twenty grandchildren.

THEODORE CHRISTIANSON
Member of the lower house of congress and former governor of Minnesota, who Friday announced his filing as a Republican candidate for United States senator. In a statement he said he classified himself as a liberal, but that he has no sympathy with the kind of liberalism which consists only in being liberal with the taxpayers' money.

S. P. Orwoll Car Makes Somersault En Route to Crookston Tournament

While driving to Crookston last Thursday evening to attend the district basketball tournament, S. P. Orwoll was forced to turn suddenly off the pavement four miles east of that city to avoid a collision with a truck parked on the highway, his car turning a complete somersault and landing on its wheels. The occupants of the car, including Mrs. Orwoll and three members of the high school faculty, escaped with minor bruises. A few minutes later a highway department snow-plow came along to pull the car back on to the highway, and the party resumed their trip. Several other Crookston-bound cars from this city were reported to have narrowly escaped running into the parked vehicle.

Taxpayers Group to Hold Annual Meeting

Nephew of Local Man Is Slain in Indiana

Oris Dokken, slain last week at Fort Wayne, Indiana, by a bandit who held up a social gathering, was a nephew of John Dokken of this city, it was learned here. Funeral rites for the slain man were held last Wednesday at Kohler, Wisconsin. He was a former Crookston resident, having left there about twelve years ago. The killer, Raymond Fortune, of Marion, Indiana, is a twice-paroled criminal.

"Anything Goes" Film at the Avalon Sunday

The film musical comedy "Anything Goes" will be the offering at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday, with Bing Crosby, popular screen and radio star, in the featured role. The supporting cast includes Ethel Merman, Charlie Ruggles, Ida Lupino and Grace Bradley. Numerous effective dance routines and popular song hits contribute to the success of the picture.

LAST RITES FOR OLE HALVORSON

Funeral services were held yesterday, March 11, at the Rosendahl Lutheran church for Ole Halvorson who passed away March 6. Rev. O. O. Bjorgan officiated at the service.

Ole Halvorson was born November 4, 1863 in Pope County. Ten years later he moved to Grand Forks, N. Dak. and later moved to Grygla. In 1906 he moved to Reiner township where he since made his home.

Surviving are two sisters and three brothers, Mrs. Knut Sordahl of Grygla; Mrs. William Rose of Rollette, N. Dak.; Torjus of Erie, Gunder of Grygla and Julius of California.

Dr. Billings Outlines Proper Methods of Rearing Turkeys

Modern methods of turkey production were discussed by Dr. W. A. Billings extension turkey specialist, at meetings held at various points in the county on Thursday and Friday of last week.

For a number of years it was possible to grow turkeys on open range with a fair degree of success, but with an ever growing disease problem, the importance of raising turkeys under confinement on clean ground away from chickens cannot be overemphasized, said Dr. Billings. Not only should turkeys and chickens be kept well separated, but turkey range should be rotated over a period of three years or more to cut down disease losses.

Although there is every reason to believe that production will be greater and prices lower this year than last, turkey growing will offer an attractive opportunity—to growers who will keep costs down by studying their problems, and employing approved methods.

A general plan for turkey production including care of breeding stock, incubation, brooding, and rearing of poults was outlined by Dr. Billings.

A breeding flock should have suitable protection from severe weather and must have suitable feed if early eggs are to be gotten. The breeding flock should have been receiving an egg mash ration at least since February. Such a ration may be purchased ready mixed or may be made by mixing equal parts of ground corn, ground oats, wheat middlings, wheat bran, and meat scraps, adding 3% cod-liver oil, 5% bonemeal and 1% salt.

Vigorous young toms are to be preferred to heavy, mature birds. Damage to hens may be reduced by fitting the toms' claws with pieces of small-bore rubber tubing. Convenient laying quarters should be provided.

Eggs should preferably not be stored over 10 days or two weeks and should be turned each day. A storage temperature of 50 to 55 degrees is desirable.

Incubator hatching is preferable to the natural method. Most of the incubators now on the market will give good satisfaction if instructions are followed. In this territory it is preferable to have hatching take place during the first two weeks in May.

The use of a brooder house and hover is preferable to hen brooding for the purpose of sanitation and economy. If hens are used for hatching, they should first be thoroughly deloused.

A brooder house of size 10x12 will house about 165 poults. Starting feed may be any good commercial starting mash or may be made up similarly in the aforementioned egg mash except that it should be finely ground and oat flour should be substituted for ground oats. One quart of cod liver oil per 100 lb is sufficient. A small amount of oyster shells and greens may well be provided. After a week a small amount of scratch feed, equal parts of finely cracked wheat and corn may be provided.

At about eight weeks of age, poults are removed to the rearing grounds, an enclosure on clean ground from one to two hundred yards from the buildings. An eighth of an acre is sufficient for 200 to 300 birds at this stage. At this time a growing ration of equal parts ground corn, ground oats, (hulled preferred) wheat bran, wheat middlings, and meat scraps with 5% bonemeal and 1% salt is provided. Oyster shells and bonemeal should be available also. Milk or water may be used as beverages, milk being preferred. If desired, this ration may be fed right up to the marketing time.

Turkeys of varying ages do not do well together, therefore groups from different hatches should be kept in separate enclosures. The enclosures should be changed to fresh ground as necessary, or about each month.

Growers should not yield to the temptation of letting turkeys out in the grain fields in the fall as the resulting disease problem may be disastrous.

For further information, it is suggested that farmers obtain Special Bulletin No. 124 "Talking Turkey", which is available at the county agent's office.

According to R. M. Douglass, county agent, an attempt is being made to have Dr. Billings contact turkey growers of the county at various times throughout the spring and summer. With this assistance, this community should before long regain its place among turkey growing regions that it relinquished the past few years.

Cary Johnson Rites Held Saturday Eve

Miss Cary M. Johnson, for ten years an instructor in the Central school, passed away March 7 after an illness of considerable length. Funeral services were held Saturday evening at the chapel of the Larson Funeral home, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiating. The remains were taken to Lake Crystal, her home, for last rites and interment.

She is survived by four brothers and nine sisters, Jens, Leonard, Nolan all of Lake Crystal and Howard of Eveleth; Mrs. Gena Jenson, Mankato; Mrs. Lena Francis of Minneapolis; Mrs. Nora Olson, Mrs. Pearl Leffler and Emma all of Lake Crystal; Alma and Clara of Sioux City, Iowa; Mrs. Anna Newgard of Derrick, N. Thorhult Couple Back From West Coast Trip

Mr. and Mrs. George Carlson and son of the Thorhult community returned last week from an extended visit in California, Washington and Oregon. In addition to operating his own 200-acre farm, Mr. Carlson rents several adjoining tracts, which he farms with the aid of two tractors, as well as maintaining a dairy herd of ten cows. He also finds time during the winter months to carry on extensive trapping operations, his catch this winter including 32 wolves, 25 mink and four bobcats.

Penalty on Cigaret Licenses Added Apr. 1

By an act of the legislature granting an extension of time on penalties applied to delinquent cigarette licenses, all persons selling cigarettes were exempt from these penalties until April 1, 1936. R. A. Trovatten, commissioner of the department of agriculture, urges all dealers to secure their licenses before April 1, 1936, as after that date the law will again require that a 50 per cent penalty must be paid on all delinquent licenses.

Ninth District F.-L. Convention at Erskine

The ninth congressional district Farmer-Labor convention will be held at Erskine Monday, March 23, beginning at 1 o'clock, it was announced today. Senator H. A. Bridgeman of Bemidji, district chairman, will preside. Pennington county is entitled to be represented by 20 delegates at the convention.

ATTENTION FARMERS!

Now is the time to plan on power for spring work. The seeding season no doubt will be shortened and by use of a good tractor either a new Case or a good used one should help you speed matters in getting the crop in as quickly as possible.

We have on hand several A No. 1 used tractors listed below, which we have priced far below cost. They have been thoroughly gone over and will give you many seasons of good service.

One Model "L" Case Tractor ---- 26x40
Three Model "A" Case Tractors ---- 12x20
One Model "K" Case Tractor ---- 18x32
Two Avery Tractors ---- 12x25
One Twin City Tractor ---- 17x28
One Twin City Model KT nearly new, plowed 20 acres

We also have several used smaller pieces of machinery such as plows, drills, discs, etc.

If you are planning on a new tractor or any other piece of farm machinery do not buy one without getting full details of the new Case line. The Case Co. have been making quality machinery for almost 100 years and in case you are not acquainted with the line, just ask the man who owns one and we are sure you will learn from him that he would not buy anything but a Case if he were buying a new piece of equipment. The Case Co. sells nothing but quality merchandise. It will pay you to buy the best.

LOCAL UNITS CUT TAXES 18 MILLION IN 5-YEAR PERIOD

Another $708,225 Lopped off in 1935, Taxpayers Group Says

Local governing units continue to contribute to tax reduction, assessing $708,225 less in taxes in 1935 than in the previous year. The state increased its levy on local property by $2,213,415.

In 1930, it cost taxpayers of Minnesota $112,502,004 to carry on all functions of local government, exclusive of the state levy. The levy for the same purposes this year is $93,506,182. In other words, it cost $18,995,822 less to conduct local government in 1935 than it did in 1930, according to a survey just made by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

The state levied $11,093,569 against general property in 1930 and $10,134,545 in 1935. State officials explain this is due to increased demands for public relief, etc., while it also suffered reduced incomes from gross earnings taxes, due to depressed economic conditions in the five-year period.

In 1935, local taxes increased in 60 counties, and went down still further in 20 counties, the report discloses.

Here are the Association's figures for each branch of government in 1935 compared with the year before:

State, increased	$ 2,213,415
Counties, increased	1,952,009
Townships, increased	355,410
Cities & Villages, decreased	1,160,669
School districts, decreased	1,854,975

The state contributed an increase of $2,213,415, while local governments reduced by $708,225.

APPEAL FOR FEED FOR DEER AS 20 FOUND DEAD

Park Rapids.—Sportsmen of the state were being aroused this week by frantic calls from Rod and Gun club members at Park Rapids, who have discovered twenty deer dead from lack of feed and severe weather conditions. H. V. Andersen, president of the club, has asked radio stations for a state-wide broadcast appeal, and Twin City and Duluth newspapers for a similar appeal in their news columns. Altho conditions are bad this year, it is stated that the deer would not have died if feed had been available. The Park Rapids men are the only organization in the field at present, and their funds are limited. Near Grand Rapids, Mike Brown reported a band of deer crossing the road, leaving one fawn behind, unable to get through the deep snow thrown out by snowplows. Brown approached the fawn, petted and stroked it, and even turned it around to face the highway without much objection on the part of the deer. When he carried it out to the road again, however, it showed its speed where the snow was not too deep.

BEGGAR HAD $120 IN CASH IN HIS POCKETS

Fergus Falls.—A stranger in a strange land, who sought and accepted alms and food from people in the Erhard neighborhood, near Fergus Falls, is in the Otter Tail county jail awaiting the disposition of immigration officials. The stranger who says his name is Andie Helmeci, is a Hungarian and speaks but little English. He became somewhat of a nuisance by loitering around Erhard, and the village constable brought him to jail, where he is being held without charge. Helmeci is bewhiskered and about 55 years old. He is said to have readily accepted the hospitality of Erhard people, who thought he was penniless. But Helmeci objected quite vigorously when he was brought to jail and the sheriff started to go thru his pockets. There was a reason for his objections—he had $120 in cash on his person.

University Plans New Type of Adult Training

With the aid of federal funds from the WPA the University of Minnesota is constructing a new adult education building that marks a wholly new departure in the adult education field. The plan is attracting national attention. President L. D. Coffman thinks that professional and vocational groups should make more intensive efforts to keep themselves strictly up to date in their scientific and informational fields. On this account he will have the university offer intensive courses, possibly of from two to four weeks duration, to groups which the professions will form to attend the university and live in the new building. Dentists, physicians, engineers, journalists, clergymen and the like, are among the professional interests which such "refresher" courses would serve. "The world moves so fast nowadays, particularly in the scientific fields, that right here on the campus we sometimes have to repeat for seniors in the medical school courses they thought they had finished as freshmen"—Dr. Coffman said. "Such conditions make continuing study a necessity." The building may be ready for use by next fall, though hardly sooner.

Ask Bids on $650,700 Road Jobs March 27th

Bids on highway jobs estimated to cost approximately $650,700 have been called for March 27 by the Minnesota Highway department. The 13 road projects included in the call for bids are divided among the following 11 counties: St. Louis, Goodhue, Itasca, Lake of the Woods, Koochiching, Nicollet, Lyon, McLeod, Wabasha, Stearns and Wright.

PROMPT WORK SAVES THOUSANDS OF FISH

Eveleth.—Thousands of fish were saved in Moose lake, 15 miles south of Eveleth, when game wardens, the Eveleth City council, and the Eveleth Sportsmen's club united to clear off the ice which threatened to exterminate all living matter in the lake. For three days employes provided by the council and club, working under game wardens, cut the ice away, making channels and air holes for the fish. The situation occurred when thousands of fish were forced to seek air in the springs located along the shore for about 200 feet, the ice locking them into this small area. Thousands died of suffocation and others were frozen into the ice, but the prompt measures of relief aided in saving the majority of the lake's finny tribe.
